RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE ADMINISTRATION AND USE OF THE WATERS OF HOT SPRINGS NATIONAL PARK

The following rules and regulations for the government of all bathhouses receiving water from the Hot Springs National Park were approved on June 21, 1937, to continue in force and effect until otherwise directed by the Secretary of the Interior.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF BATHHOUSES

Water Supply and Rentals

1. Bathhouses or hotels will be allowed such number of tubs as the Secretary of the Interior may, in his discretion, deem proper and necessary for the public service, and the amount of hot water will justify.

2. The constant flow of hot water, even during business hours, or the unnecessary waste of water in any manner, is strictly prohibited, and will, if continued after written notice from the superintendent to stop such waste of water, be considered by the Department sufficient grounds for the cancelation of the lease of such offending lessee.

3. Rentals must be paid quarterly, in advance, at the office of the superintendent, and if not paid within 5 days from the beginning of each quarter the supply of water may be cut off.

Sale, Transfer, and Refund of Bath Tickets, Signing of Permits, Complimentary Tickets, Etc.

4. The charge for baths at the different bathhouses shall be at the rates fixed by the Secretary of the Interior, and no bath ticket shall be sold for other than said rate, and then only to such persons as intend to actually use them for bathing. The rate or rates so fixed for baths shall include, without extra charge, the supplying of each bather with one clean sterilized sheet to envelop the body of the bather while in the bath hall and cooling room. No bath ticket shall be sold except at the office of the bathhouse where the bath is to be given, and tickets must show the date when issued, the serial number, the number of baths for which issued, the full name of the purchaser, and the amount paid therefor. Bath tickets shall be redeemable according to the redemption scale fixed by the Department of the Interior. A copy of the redemption scale must be posted in each bathhouse. No bath ticket or part of a ticket shall be reissued after having been redeemed. Bath tickets are not transferable and cannot be used by any person other than the one to whom they were originally sold. No bathhouse will be permitted to issue complimentary bath tickets, except that bathhouse lessees may, on written permission of the superintendent, issue complimentary bath tickets in such cases as in his judgment justify such action. The renting and selling of bath robes, towels, mitts, soap, toilet articles, or the solicitation for and sale of any other thing of value in the bathhouses is prohibited.

5. Children's tickets.—No reduction shall be made in the regular rates in the prices of bath tickets sold to children.

6. Transfers of bath tickets.—Bath tickets are not transferable and cannot be used by any person other than the one to whom they were originally sold. In case bath tickets are purchased by one person for use by another, the person for whom the ticket is purchased is considered the original purchaser and the ticket can be utilized by him or her only. Any unused part of a bath ticket will be redeemed upon demand to the original purchaser, in accordance with the regulations.

7. Refunds.—All refunds on bath tickets shall be made in accordance with the schedule submitted to each bathhouse on July 1, 1928, which is in accordance with the provisions of section 4 of the rules and regulations for the government of all bathhouses and which is approved by the National Park Service. A copy of the schedule must be posted in all bathhouses.

8. Complimentary bath tickets.—Rule 20 of the rules and regulations governing the bathhouses is referred to, particularly that part of it which reads as follows:

"No person shall be allowed to bathe without a numbered ticket being issued and a record of same being kept, and a report thereof duly certified by the manager filed with the superintendent on the first day of each month as paid, complimentary, or free baths * * *."

In order to fulfill these requirements, permission must first be had in writing from the superintendent when complimentary bath tickets are issued. Also, complimentary tickets must bear a serial number, and must be entered on the daily reports of the bathhouses. Unless so desired, they need not bear the same serials as paid bath tickets.

9. Bath permits.—All bath permits signed by bathers shall be numbered consecutively. Bathers purchasing single tickets on physicians' bathing directions may be considered renewals, and report must show the name of the physician. When a bather has discontinued bathing for a period of 7 days or more and resumes bathing, he shall not be considered a renewal, but shall sign a new permit or present new bathing directions. Bathers shall be considered renewals only when they purchase new tickets within 7 days after the expiration of the original tickets. Bathhouse managers or employees shall write plainly the name of the bather on the blank line of paragraph 3 of the regulation permit form.

10. Bathing directions.—Care shall be taken that the date, name of bathhouse, attendant, etc., are placed on each bathing direction presented, before it is sent to the park office. Directions should be complete in every detail before they are submitted for park office records. The bather must read, or have fully explained to him or her, the contents of the certificate upon purchasing a bath ticket. Then each section of the certificate shall be properly filled out. This applies to single bath renewals as well as to original purchases. Baths will be denied bathers who do not comply with these instructions, and the manager accepting incompletely filled out certificates will be held accountable. Attendants and bathhouse employees are not qualified and are not permitted to prescribe or suggest manner or methods of utilizing the baths. They must either follow physicians' directions or confine their treatment to the limits of the so-called "tourist bath." Deviation from this rule will subject individuals concerned to dismissal.

11. Changes in bathing directions.—Bath attendants are not permitted to make changes in the baths prescribed by physicians for their patients. Such directions are to be carried out explicitly, and no changes shall be made without the written consent of the physician.

12. Bather's address.—Frequently bathers have no local address when tickets are purchased at the bathhouse. As soon as a bather is located, the information should be furnished the park office. It may be put on the daily report in the form of a remark, as "John Jones is now stopping at no. —— Ouachita Avenue."

13. Lost bath tickets.—When a bather loses his ticket, the park office is to be notified, giving the name of the bather, the number of the ticket, the permit number, and the number of baths taken. The bathhouse is to keep a memorandum of the number of baths it gives the bather who is without the use of the lost coupon book or ticket. Moreover, the bather is not to pay any additional attendant's fee, but the bathhouse is to pay the attendant as if the bather had his or her ticket. If the ticket should be found and brought back to the bathhouse, it should be cared for in the usual manner. No refund shall be given to a bather whose ticket is lost, but the bather may be permitted to bathe out the remainder of the ticket, even though it is not found at any time.

Bath tickets are redeemable according to the redemption scale for baths fixed by the Department, a copy of which is posted in each bathhouse.

Bath towels and bath mitts are to be furnished by the bather, except for single bath purchases and will remain the property of the bather at the close of his treatment period. Laundering of towels is to be handled and paid for by the bathhouse.

OPERATING INSTRUCTIONS

General

15. Owners and managers of bathhouses will provide in their respective bathhouses the requisite number of head bath attendants, who, under the supervision and direction of the superintendent of the Hot Springs National Park, shall supervise the administration of baths, the treatment of patients, matters of hygiene and sanitation in the bathhouses, and the work of bath attendants generally. The hours for operation of all departments of bathhouses receiving hot water shall be those expressly designated by the superintendent, Hot Springs National Park.

16. Each bathhouse manager, clerk, and attendant shall be required to have a full and complete understanding of the bathhouse rules and regulations before entering upon his duties. The superintendent is authorized to require the discharge of any bathhouse manager, clerk, attendant, mercury rubber, or masseur, for bathhouse or doctor drumming, or refusing or neglecting to carry out the bathhouse rules and regulations according to the true intent and meaning thereof.

17. Any person discharged for cause from a bathhouse or removed at the request of the superintendent shall not be again employed by the same or any other bathhouse or permitted to render service in any bathhouse without the written consent of the superintendent. Managers must promptly report in writing to the superintendent the name of any person so removed.

18. No bath attendant, helper, masseur, mercury rubber, or other employee who comes in direct personal contact with bathers will be permitted to enter on duty without first undergoing physical examination at the United States Public Health Service clinic and being found free from any infectious or communicable diseases.

19. All bathhouses shall be kept in a neat, clean, and sanitary condition, and all sewage and waste water properly conducted away, and all underdrainage kept in perfect order. Bathtubs must be thoroughly scrubbed after each bath, either with strong lye soap or scrubbing powder. The water-closets shall have sufficient and free connection with the public sewers and be kept in the best order and with the best plumbing furnishings and appliances. Lessees of bathhouses in the national park shall, under the direction of the superintendent, cultivate and maintain the parts of the bathhouse park in front of their respective bathhouses, the space for each to cultivate to be allotted by the superintendent.

20. The lessee of each bathhouse shall cause to be kept a full and correct daily register of each bath given, the number and kind of bath tickets sold, and the number of complimentary tickets, if any, issued each day, etc., such form of register to be approved by the superintendent and a copy therefrom of each day's business to be forwarded to the superintendent daily. No person shall be allowed to bathe without a numbered ticket being issued and a record of the same being kept, and report thereof duly certified by the manager filed with the superintendent on the first day of each month as paid, complimentary, or free baths.

21. Losses in bathhouses.—All bathhouses receiving deposits of jewelry, money, or other valuables from bathers must provide means for the safe-keeping thereof, satisfactory to the superintendent. It is to be understood, however, that the Government assumes no responsibility in the premises. All losses must be reported in writing to the superintendent promptly by the bathhouse manager. Any losses or thefts, no matter how small, should be reported immediately so that the proper action can be taken for the benefit of the bathhouse and the public.

22. All accidents which occur in bathhouses must be reported in writing to the superintendent.

HOTEL AND DOCTOR DRUMMING, AND INTER-RELATION OF BATHHOUSES, HOTELS, PHYSICIANS, ETC.

23. The proprietor or owner of any bathhouse is prohibited from bathing in said bathhouse any person or persons stopping or registering at or continuing to remain at any hotel, boarding house, rooming house, furnished apartment, or furnished cottage, who knew or had reason to know that the owner or proprietor of such hotel, boarding house, rooming house, furnished apartment, or furnished cottage has a drummer or solicitor on trains, depots or platforms, public car, omnibus cab, street hack, or carriage, or any of the streets, or public places or elsewhere, or that such owner or proprietor drums or solicits on trains, depots or platforms, public car, omnibus, cab, street hack, or carriage or on any of the streets, or public places or elsewhere, business for doctors, masseurs, surgeons, bathhouse or other medical practitioners or accepts solicited business from the above places, or that such owner or proprietor is violating or has been convicted of violating, or has in his employ any person who is violating or has been convicted of violating any ordinance of the city of Hot Springs or any statute of the State of Arkansas prohibiting drumming or soliciting, or that such owner or proprietor has in his employ in or about such house any inside man or person engaged in drumming for doctors or bathhouses. Also the owners or managers and the employees of such bathhouses are absolutely prohibited from either directly or indirectly drumming for doctors or reflecting on or questioning the integrity of the hot-water supply of any other bathhouse; or of claiming superiority of its own supply of hot water over that furnished from the springs on the reservation to other bathhouses. Upon evidence of violation of this rule the superintendent shall report the facts, with his recommendation, to the Director of the National Park Service looking to the shutting off of the water from any bathhouse or canceling the lease, as the Secretary of the Interior may determine.

24. The payment of any sum of money or anything of value, either directly or indirectly, by any bathhouse owner, manager, clerk, or attendant as compensation for drumming customers to any bathhouse, or allowing public drummers, drumming doctors, hotel, or boarding-house proprietors who are drummers, or persons who work with them as inside men, to bring persons or show them through, or to loiter in or about any bathhouse, is positively forbidden. Upon evidence of violation of this rule the superintendent shall report the facts, with his recommendation, to the Director of the National Park Service, looking to the shutting off of the water from any bathhouse or canceling the lease, as the Secretary of the Interior may determine.

25. An applicant for baths who is under medical treatment shall not be permitted to bathe in any bathhouse unless said applicant presents satisfactory evidence that he or she is the patient of a physician who is duly registered at the office of the superintendent as qualified to prescribe the waters of the hot springs, and who is known not to engage in drumming for custom; provided, that every applicant for baths not under the care of a registered physician or person publicly professing to cure or heal shall be required to make a certificate to be filed with the bathhouse manager that he or she is not under the care of any physician or person who shall publicly profess to cure or heal, and should such applicant subsequently employ, consult, or take treatment from any physician or person who shall publicly profess to cure or heal while taking the baths, then in such case he or she will immediately notify the bathhouse manager of such fact. The violation of this rule by the owner, manager, or any employee of a bathhouse will result in the cutting off of the water from the bathhouse or the canceling of the lease, as the Secretary of the Interior may determine.

26. Physicians or persons publicly professing to cure or heal, desiring to prescribe the waters of the hot springs, either internally or through the medium of baths, must first be registered at the office of the superintendent of the reservation, and shall use only such uniform form of bathing directions as meets with the approval of the superintendent. Registration will be accorded only to such physicians or persons publicly professing to cure or heal as are found by the Secretary of the Interior to have proper professional qualifications and character, qualified to make intelligent diagnoses, and who do not engage in drumming for custom. No physician or person publicly professing to cure or heal who shall engage in the solicitation of patronage through the medium of drummers or otherwise, or who shall be convicted of violating any statute of the United States, or any law of the State of Arkansas, or any regulation of the Arkansas State Board of Health, or who shall engage in unprofessional, disreputable, or dishonest conduct, or is addicted to the drug or other habit which disqualifies him for the performance of his professional duties shall be or remain registered. In case any person who, in violation of these regulations, bathes or attempts to bathe, or enters or attempts to enter upon the Hot Springs National Park to bathe, shall have the permit of a physician or person who shall publicly profess to cure or heal therefor, such physician or person who shall publicly profess to cure or heal shall be liable to the penalties provided in the act of April 20, 1904, unless he is regularly registered, but the bather or person attempting to bathe shall not be liable to the penalties of said act unless it shall be made to appear that he knew or had reason to believe that the physician or person who shall publicly profess to cure or heal giving him the permit to bathe was not regularly registered.

27. If a charge is made to the superintendent in writing, under oath, supported by the affidavits of two or more reputable witnesses, that a registered physician has violated any of the laws or regulations pertaining to the government of the bathhouses receiving hot water from said park, such physician shall be immediately notified by the superintendent of the fact that affidavits have been made against him, and in the presence of the superintendent be accorded an opportunity to cross-examine the witness on the subject thereof; and if in the judgment of the superintendent the facts warrant such action he will cite the physician to appear before him on a day to be named within not exceeding 5 days from the date of notice to show cause why his name should not be stricken from the register of physicians authorized to prescribe the waters of said springs; and pending the investigation and final action upon the charges the right of such physician to prescribe the hot waters may be suspended by the Secretary of the Interior. The physician against whom such complaint is made shall have the right to cross-examine said affiants and any witnesses who may appear before the superintendent, or to file written interrogatories pertinent to the issue of such complainants or witnesses, to be answered by them under oath, and may submit within 5 days thereafter counter affidavits in answer to the charges made in the affidavits of the witnesses. The complainant witnesses may file rebuttal affidavits within 5 days after service upon them of said counteraffidavits, and the hearing of said charges shall be had on the record aforesaid, and the recommendation of the superintendent in the premises forwarded to the Secretary of the Interior through the Federal Registration Board, which board, after reviewing the record and the recommendation of the superintendent, shall thereafter promptly submit its findings as a board of review, together with such supplemental recommendations as to it may appear proper, to the Secretary of the Interior.

28. An appeal from the recommendation of the superintendent upon said record may be taken to the Secretary of the Interior within 5 days from the date of service by the superintendent of a copy of his recommendation on the accused. If upon consideration of the complaint the charge is not sustained by the Secretary, the accused will be at once advised and the charges dismissed. If, however, such charge is sustained, the name of the physician shall be stricken from the registered list.

29. A printed copy of the rules and regulations now in force, together with the prices of baths and attendant's fees, both separately and combined, shall be conspicuously posted in the office of each bathhouse.

Sanitation and Bathing

30. Bath mitts.—When a single bath ticket is sold, the purchaser is to be informed that no bath mitt will be furnished by the bathhouse. If he desires to be rubbed with a mitt, it will be necessary for him to furnish his own. Each individual mitt must be hung on a rack, so that it does not touch other mitts, or they must be kept in separate compartments. This shall be done to prevent communicable diseases from being transferred from one mitt to another. It is poor policy to permit mitts to come in contact, as the liability of transferring communicable diseases is great, and bathers must be protected by keeping mitts separated.

31. Towels.—When a towel is used on a bather, that towel must be sent to the laundry, irrespective of whether it is soiled or not. The practice of washing out soiled towels, drying them, and using them again on the same bather without sending them to the laundry is strictly prohibited. Bathers are to be advised that on Saturdays or Sundays one towel, instead of two or more, should be used, so that a sufficient supply of towels will be on hand on the day when laundry delivery is not made.

When a single bath ticket is taken, the bathhouse will furnish the towels, but when more than a single ticket is purchased the bather will furnish his own towels.

In case a bather has no clean towels, he should be supplied from the laundry stock of the bathhouse towels, but under no circumstances shall towels be used a second time without having been sent to a laundry. Managers shall keep their stock of towels replenished so that a sufficient supply is on hand to care for bathers on Sundays or holidays, when linen is not returned from the laundry.

32. Sheets.—The bathhouse must furnish each bather with one freshly laundered sheet for each bath. Furnishing more than one sheet for a bath is optional with the bathhouse.

33. Blankets.—No blankets are to be used in the bathhouse except those furnished by the bathers. In the use of blanket packs and other packs, all materials should be furnished by the bather. If blankets are used in the bathhouses, they must be covered by two sheets, one sheet surrounding the bather's body, then the blanket placed over him, then the second sheet covering the blanket so that it will not come in contact with the bather's body. Use of blankets in this manner is optional with the bathhouse. If blankets are used they shall be sterilized each evening by immersion in 5-percent bichloride solution or a 1-percent lysol solution, then hung up to dry. They shall be sent to the laundry as often as is necessary to keep them in proper sanitary condition.

34. Ice.—Use of ice in the bathhouses is prohibited, except when called for by physicians' bathing directions, as in a wet pack, or in cooling of water for drinking purposes. Furnishing ice to bathers for use in mitts while in vapors is prohibited, also use of ice in women's departments for massaging the face and other purposes, except when prescribed in a cold pack. Use of ice in mitts in vapors produces a precipitate on the mitt, and the bather is not given full benefit of the value of the water.

35. Liquid soap.—Liquid soap, held in containers which will prohibit contamination by bathers, shall be used in all bathhouses. No bather will be required to furnish soap except when a kind other than the liquid soap provided is prescribed by a physician.

36. Sitz baths.—Only the plain exterior sitz bath with no irrigation or internal application may be given without a physician's instruction.

37. Spinal douches.—Spinal douches shall not be given with the high-pressure nozzles unless the bather has a physician's bathing direction.

38. Vaginal douches.—Vaginal douches shall be given in empty tubs. The douche tip and the end of the rubber hose to which the tip is fastened must be effectively cleaned with soap and water. When not in use the rubber douche hose shall not be permitted to fall on the floor or behind tubs, but must be placed in the douche can and kept in a thoroughly sanitary condition at all times.

39. Vapors.—The seats of all vapors shall be thoroughly scrubbed with a cleansing agent, or a clean paper or cloth towel placed on the seat each time it is used.

40. Showers.—Instructions as to baths for bathers without a physician's bathing direction state that the shower shall be not longer than 90 seconds' duration. You are instructed that for such bathers 90 seconds is the maximum time.

41. Temperature and duration of "Standard bath."—Individuals who bathe without physicians' bathing directions shall not be permitted to remain in the tub for more than 20 minutes and the temperature must not exceed 100° F. Attendants breaking this rule are subject to suspension or dismissal.

42. Cleansing of tubs.—Each tube is to be thoroughly scrubbed and cleansed after each bath is given. A perfunctory slight rinsing of the tub is not sufficient. Sitz baths are to be given the same careful attention. Lye or soap powder or other cleansing powder shall be used.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR PHYSIOTHERAPY POOLS AT HOT SPRINGS NATIONAL PARK, ARK

43. Treatments, manipulations, or exercises shall be given only by or under the direct supervision of a qualified individual who has successfully completed at least a 9 months' course in physical therapy in a school of physical therapy approved by the American Medical Association following graduation from an institution meeting the standards for colleges or universities established by the North Central Association, with a major in physical education, or from a school of nursing which meets the requirements set by law for the respective state in which the physical therapy training is taken.

48. Each person must be given a preliminary shower bath before entering the pool and required to evacuate the bladder.

49. Corrugated rubber mats must be placed on landings at heads of stairways.

50. Sheets and towels and their care must conform in all respects to rules heretofore prescribed for towels and sheets in use in bathhouses. The same rule applies to blankets.

Employees

A. General

58. Employment and discharge of employees.—The approval of the superintendent must be had for the employment of any person in the bathhouses of Hot Springs National Park. This includes employment of office help, attendants, helpers, masseurs and masseuses, mercury rubbers, chiropodists, beauty parlor operators, shower and pack room employees, maids; in fact, all employees of the bathhouses.

Failure to comply with this order will result in suspension of employees who have been hired without first obtaining approval of the superintendent's office.

All dismissals and resignations of employees must be reported promptly to the park office.

It is provided in rule 14 that "each manager, clerk, and attendant shall be required to have a full and complete understanding of the bathhouse rules and regulations before entering upon his duties." In the future no persons shall be employed as managers or clerks in bathhouses until they have become familiar with the rules and regulations governing the bathhouses. No person is to go on duty in bathhouse offices until they have become familiar with the rules, have interviewed the superintendent or his representative, and have received approval from his office.

When an employee has been on extended leave of absence a month or longer, the park office must be notified in advance of his or her return to duty, so that a physical examination may be had and other pertinent information obtained for our records.

59. Physical examination.—No person who comes in physical contact with bathers shall be permitted to work in the bathhouses without first having a complete physical examination, made by one of the examining physicians at the Government free clinic. A health card will be issued to each employee at the time of examination, which card shall be framed and hung in the room where the employee works.

A physical examination will be given employees monthly, usually on the first of the month unless it falls on Saturday, Sunday, or a holiday. Notification of the date and hour will be given in advance. Employees affected are as follows: Attendants, masseurs and masseuses, physiotherapists and assistants, beauty parlor operators, mercury rubbers, chiropodists, helpers, shower and pack-room employees, maids—in fact, all employees who come in personal contact with bathers. None of these employees will be permitted to bring certificates from private physicians, but must report for the examination at the Government free clinic on the date and at the hour specified.

When reporting for monthly examination, employees shall bring their health cards to be signed by the examining physician.

60. Tips.—Soliciting, directly or indirectly for gratuities, commonly called "tips" is forbidden in all bathhouses. Attendants and other employees are to be informed of this ruling for their information and protection. It seems necessary that the bathhouse managers instruct their employees that they are strictly prohibited from borrowing money from patrons of the bathhouses. If it is proved that employees are borrowing money from patrons, they will be suspended or discharged. Attendants and other employees are warned that disciplinary action will be taken against those soliciting tips or failing to give proper service on account of not receiving tips. Attention is called to the fact that soliciting for churches, church dinners, church singing, and other affairs goes on among the personnel of the various bathhouses. Please call to the attention of every one connected with the bathhouse that there must be no more soliciting, either directly or indirectly, of the patrons for anything at all.

61. Food.—Bathhouse managers shall not permit the bathhouse personnel to bring food into the bathhouse. All eating must be confined to attendants' quarters. This does not apply, of course, to clerks or office help having lunches sent in to them when necessary.

62. Card playing.—Card playing in the bathhouses is strictly prohibited, and violation of this order will subject them to dismissal from the bathhouse service.

63. Smoking by patrons may be carried on only in such rooms as are set aside for them by the bathhouse managers • • • subject to the approval of the superintendent. Smoking by attendants may be carried on only in the attendants' quarters.

B. Bath Attendants

64. Attendants.—No person shall be permitted to work in the bathhouses as attendant without first having passed (1) a written examination as to his or her qualifications as prescribed by the superintendent, (2) a physical examination, and (3) have paid the privilege fee.

Bathhouse attendants shall be allowed to charge for their services not exceeding 20 cents for a single bath, or $4 per course of 21 baths, to be collected for the attendants by the bathhouse manager and properly accounted for by him to the attendant. The duties of the attendants shall consist in the administration of the baths in strict accordance with the bathing directions of registered physicians and in lieu of these as ordered by the superintendent. They shall be required to clean and care for such parts of the bathhouse as may be assigned them by the manager, subject to the approval of the superintendent; to keep themselves in a neat and cleanly condition both in person and in dress; and to make good any damages accruing from breakage or neglect of duty. They shall not be required to handle helpless individuals; rub mercury, furnish mops, brooms, or cleaning materials; furnish or launder towels, mitts, sheets, or robes; pay for the services of the porter or perform work which properly belongs to him; or incur any expense whatsoever incident to the operation of the house not specifically authorized. No person shall be employed in any bathhouse without the approval of the superintendent first had and obtained; and every person so employed shall be subject and amenable to the rules and regulations.

65. Bath attendants shall be required to take a written examination when ordered by the superintendent, after which successful candidates shall be granted certificates as qualified attendants and furnished with a numbered badge to be worn at all times while on duty, for such time as may be determined by the Secretary of the Interior.

66. Two consecutive failures to qualify as attendant shall debar the applicant from further examination for a period of 1 year.

67. To entitle an applicant to a certificate as a qualified attendant a total mark of not less than 70 points shall be required, to be awarded by the superintendent or examining officer. In the grading of papers the experience and general adaptability of the applicant will be considered in determining the grade. In order to qualify for the position of attendant, an applicant must first serve an apprenticeship of at least 3 months as helper in the bathhouses.

68. Whenever the number of qualified attendants is in excess of the requirements of the service, those not employed shall be entitled to have their names enrolled upon a waiting list in the office of the superintendent.

69. Managers are prohibited from employing as an attendant any person not holding a certificate of qualification as such whenever there are five or more qualified attendants registered on the waiting list in the office of the superintendent; provided, however, that the superintendent may in his discretion authorize the temporary employment of not to exceed one helper by each bath attendant in order that they may serve an apprenticeship before making application for registration as attendants.

70. Managers may suspend or discharge attendants employed by them, but shall not have authority to revoke their licenses or to prohibit their employment in other houses.

71. An attendant suspended by the superintendent shall not be employed in any capacity in any bathhouse during the period of suspension.

72. An attendant discharged by the superintendent shall have his or her certificate of qualification revoked, and shall not again be employed in any capacity in any bathhouse for a period of not less than 6 months.

73. Managers are required to report immediately by letter to the superintendent the employment, suspension, resignation, or discharge of attendants, and to state cause in case of suspension or discharge.

74. Effective July 1, 1932, the superintendent is authorized to collect a fee of $6 per annum to cover the cost of physical examinations from all bath attendants operating in bathhouses receiving hot water from the Hot Springs National Park. Such fee shall be prorated by the superintendent for any fractional part of a year at the rate of 50 cents per month or part thereof, and is payable semiannually at the office of the superintendent within 5 days from July 1 and January 1. In default of such payment the superintendent may, in his discretion, revoke the licenses of delinquent attendants.

The fees prescribed in the foregoing paragraph are payable in advance in the form of postal money order or certified or cashier's check in net amount of the fee, drawn to the order of the Superintendent, Hot Springs National Park, or in legal tender, and are not subject to refund either in whole or in part.

75. Care of attendants' quarters.—It is requested that at the beginning of each month, the names of attendants responsible for the care of male and female attendants' quarters be posted in the quarters. At the beginning of each month a list should be posted in each male and female quarters, showing the name of the responsible attendant for each week in the month.

C. Masseurs and Masseuses

76. Masseurs and masseuses.—No person shall be permitted to serve in the bathhouses as masseur or masseuse without first presenting himself or herself for examination before a board appointed by the superintendent, to qualify as to his or her competency. Examinations will be both practical and written, and will be given at such times as authorized by the superintendent. No masseur or masseuse will be permitted to work without first having passed the mental and physical examinations and having paid the privilege fee.

77. A treatment (hand massage) by masseur or masseuse must cover a 30-minute minimum period, except where otherwise prescribed by a registered physician.

78. Under the present regulations, masseurs and masseuses are the only bathhouse employees who are permitted to give alcohol rubs to bathers.

79. Each bathhouse masseur or masseuse shall appear when notified by the superintendent before a board appointed by him, to qualify as to his or her competency; and no bathhouse manager shall permit massage to be given by other than a qualified masseur or masseuse. Applicants for the position of masseurs or masseuses must be graduates of reputable schools of massage or furnish evidence of at least 18 months of practical experience in the practice of massage. They will be given a written and practical examination in subjects pertaining to massage. Two consecutive failures to qualify as masseur or masseuse will debar the applicant from further examination for a period of 1 year.

80. Masseurs and masseuses are forbidden to make diagnoses of ailments, to prescribe any drugs, chemicals, or medicines for internal administration; or to prescribe diets or waters. They shall not use in their work clinical thermometers, stethoscopes, or any other instruments employed by physicians.

81. No form of electric current shall be administered or recommended to the patient of any physician without such physician's direction.

82. All tickets shall be sold and collected for by the bathhouse manager and properly accounted for by him to the operator.

83. Except at the Arlington Hotel, where the operator of the massage departments shall receive not less than 60 percent of the gross receipts to cover the cost of operating the department, masseurs and masseuses in all bathhouse massage departments shall receive not less than 95 cents for each massage treatment given. Rental of massage space in the bathhouse from the bathhouse operators is permissible only when such rental arrangements have been approved by the Secretary of the Interior as a supplement to the bathhouse contract, in which case the operator of the rented massage space will not be required to pay the bathhouse any sum exceeding 40 percent of the gross receipts for the privilege of operating in the bathhouse. The operator shall not be required to furnish any materials or equipment necessary in giving treatments, or incur any expense incident to the operation of the massage department; provided, that they shall be required to make good any damage accruing from breakage or neglect of duty. All materials and equipment used in massage departments shall be subject to the approval of the superintendent.

84. Effective July 1, 1932, the Superintendent is authorized to collect a fee of $6 per annum to cover the cost of physical examinations, from all masseurs and masseuses, beauty parlor operators, chiropodists, physiotherapists and their assistants, or anyone not considered by the superintendent as a helper, operating in bathhouses receiving hot water from the Hot Springs National Park. Such fee shall be prorated by the superintendent for any fractional part of a year at the rate of 50 cents per month or part thereof, and is payable semiannually at the office of the superintendent within 5 days from July 1 and January 1. In default of such payment, the superintendent may, in his discretion, revoke the licenses of delinquent masseurs and masseuses or other operators.

The fees prescribed in the foregoing paragraph are payable in advance in the form of postal money order or certified or cashier's check in net amount of the fee, drawn to the order of the Superintendent, Hot Springs National Park, or in legal tender, and are not subject to refund either in whole or in part.

85. Failure to comply with the above regulations will subject the operator to immediate suspension or dismissal as may be determined by the superintendent.

D. Mercury Rubbers

86. Uniform charges shall be made at all bathhouses for rubs and inunctions by all mercury rubbers. The time consumed and parts to be rubbed shall be in accordance with the directions of the patients physician.

87. Mercury rubbers are forbidden to make diagnoses of ailments; to prescribe any drugs, chemicals, medicines, diets, or waters; or to employ any instruments used by physicians in the diagnosis or treatment of diseases.

88. No mercury rubber shall furnish mercury or be permitted to suggest the size of dose of mercury to be used.

89. Mercurial inunctions shall not be administered or recommended to the patient of any physician without such physician's directions.

90. When mitts, brushes, or the hands are used for rubbing mercury on a patient they must be thoroughly cleansed when the operation has been completed. If mitts or the bare hands are used, they must be washed immediately. If brushes are used, they must be immediately cleansed with a clean cloth. Failure to comply with these instructions will be cause for suspension or dismissal of the person guilty.

All patients using mercury must furnish their own mercury, and no employee in the bathhouse is allowed to furnish it for the use of bathers. Attention is also called to the fact that no bathhouse employee is permitted to prescribe mercury for any bather.

91. Failure to comply with the above regulations will subject the mercury rubber to immediate suspension or dismissal, as may be determined by the superintendent.

Reports

The following reports shall be made by bathhouse managers to the superintendent on forms approved by him:

92. Daily report.—To be submitted to the office of the superintendent not later than 1 o'clock on the day following that for which the report is made.

93. Monthly report.—To be submitted at the office of the superintendent in affidavit form within 5 days after the expiration of the month for which report is made.

94. Employees.—A complete list of employees who come in personal contact with bathers to be submitted on the last day of each month.

95. Annual report.—A statistical report to be submitted at the office of the superintendent, in affidavit form, in duplicate, within 5 days after the expiration of the fiscal year for which the report is made. Also within 15 days after calendar year a sworn financial report for calendar year.

96. Annual report of stockholders.—At first of each calendar year the secretary of each bathhouse shall submit to the office of the superintendent, in duplicate, a sworn statement of the ownership of the bathhouse, and if a partnership, stock company, etc., a list of the shareholders, their addresses, and the number of shares owned by each shall be submitted.

Transfers of Stock or Interest in Bathhouses

97. Due to the fact that transfers of stock in bathhouses are made at irregular intervals, and due to the further fact that the administrative control over transfers in interest in bathhouses is made obligatory on the National Park Service by act of Congress dated March 3, 1891, it becomes necessary that all proposed transfers of stock in bathhouses receiving water from Hot Springs National Park receive approval, in writing, of the Director of the National Park Service before the transfer is consummated. Transfers of stock or interest in bathhouses will not be valid except those approved in this manner.

Applications for such transfers shall be submitted to the superintendent of Hot Springs National Park, in duplicate, and he will forward them to Washington. The form should be as follows:

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., ----------, 19--.

SUPERINTENDENT, HOT SPRINGS NATIONAL PARK, ARK.:

(Owner)
to ---------- ----------'s affidavit that he (Purchaser) (Purchaser)
(or she) does not own any stock or interest in any other bathhouse receiving hot water from Hot Springs National Park is enclosed.

(To be signed by officer of company or bathhouse manager)

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., ----------, 19--.

I, ----------, hereby certify that I own no interest in any bathhouse receiving hot water from Hot Springs National Park, except the ----------.
(Purchaser)

(To be signed by purchaser)

Witness of notary.

Changing of Equipment

98. The attention of the bathhouse managers is called to the fact that no additional facilities or equipment for bathing, such as sitz baths, showers, cabinet vapors, and the like, are to be installed in any bathhouse without permission having been obtained from the park office. All changes in the bathhouses must have the approval of the superintendent before being made, especially in view of the fact that rates for baths are determined partially by the equipment contained in the bathhouses. Exterior changes to bathhouse buildings, including color of painting, must have prior approval of the superintendent.

RULES FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE FEDERAL REGISTRATION BOARD

99. There shall be a president and a secretary elected by the board, who shall each serve for 1 year and until his successor is elected and qualified. Such election shall be held at the annual meeting, which shall be the first regular meeting of the board after the personnel thereof for the ensuing year has been determined by the Secretary of the Interior. Should a vacancy occur in either position by death, resignation, or otherwise, such vacancy shall be filled by the board at its first regular meeting next succeeding the date the vacancy occurs, or at a special meeting called for that purpose.

100. Three members of the board shall constitute a quorum, with full authority to transact any and all business that may come before the board.

101. Minutes of all business transacted by the board shall be reduced to writing and be copied in a record provided for the purpose, and at the next regular or special meeting the minutes of the previous meeting shall be read and approved, with such corrections, if any, as the board may consider proper to make.

102. The regular monthly meetings shall be held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at 8 p. m., and all routine business not filed with the secretary of the board at least 24 hours before the time fixed for the meeting will not be considered, but will be held for consideration until the next regular meeting; provided, however, that the president of the board may waive this provision when in his judgment the exigencies of the case demand it. Such other meetings may be held as the board may deem necessary, prior notice thereof to be duly given.

Examination of applicants for registration shall be held quarterly on a date to be fixed by the board. Any registered doctor hereafter dropped from the list of registered physicians will not be restored until after he successfully passes the regular examination prescribed by the board for original registration, nor shall any such physician be eligible for examination for a period of 5 years from the date on which his name was dropped from the registered list; provided, that the Secretary of the Interior may, in his discretion, authorize the examination of such physician at any time after 1 year from said date.

103. The following rules shall govern applicants for registration:

(a) To be entitled to registration applicants must be graduates of some reputable medical school legally authorized to confer the degree of doctor of medicine, or of some reputable school of osteopathy recognized by the American Osteopath Association, and must have complied with the laws of the State of Arkansas relating to the admission of physicians to the practice of medicine and surgery, or either, within said State.

(b) Applicants will be required to furnish in writing such evidence as the board may desire touching their personal history and personal and moral character and standing during the 5 years next preceding the date of their applications, such evidence to be placed in the hands of the secretary of the board not later than 10 days prior to the regular date for examination of applicants. Applicants will also be required to submit to such examination as the board may see proper to subject them, touching their qualifications and knowledge of medicine and surgery and to prescribe the hot waters; Provided, that the names of medical officers of the Army stationed at the Army and Navy General Hospital in Hot Springs, Ark., shall be placed on the list of registered physicians without examination while assigned to this hospital.

Physicians who have successfully passed the examination of the National Board of Medical Examiners shall not be required to submit to an examination by the Federal Registration Board provided that their moral and ethical qualifications are satisfactory upon investigation by the board.

(c) An applicant who twice fails in his examination before the Federal Registration Board shall not be permitted to again take the examination prescribed by the board until after the lapse of 1 year from the date of his last failure.

(d) No registered physician shall be permitted to associate himself in practice looking to the prescribing of the waters of the Hot Springs with a nonregistered physician or other person publicly professing to cure or heal, under penalty of having his name removed from the registered list. Before any assistant is employed by a registered physician, his name must be submitted to the superintendent of the park, together with such other information as may be called for by the superintendent. Registered physicians must also notify the superintendent of any contemplated absence from Hot Springs and give the name of the person in charge of his office during such absence. Registered physicians will be held strictly accountable for the actions of their assistants, and any violation of these regulations by the registered physician or his assistant or assistants will be deemed sufficient cause for the removal of the name of such physician from the registered list. The name of any registered physician who shall give bath directions for the patients of a nonregistered physician shall be removed from the registered list, but this shall not apply to the prescribing of the waters of the Hot Springs for the patients of another practitioner who, while legally licensed by the State of Arkansas to treat ailments of the human system, is not eligible for registration under paragraph (a) hereof; Provided, that in all such cases the registered physician so prescribing shall deal directly with the patient and shall receive no fee, commission, or other compensation, either directly or indirectly, from such other practitioner on penalty of having his name removed from the registered list; and provided, that the name of such other practitioner treating such patient shall be given on the bath directions.

(e) No registered physician, upon removal of his offices from one location to another, shall publish in any newspaper notice to that effect for a longer period than 1 month, and no registered physician, upon returning from an absence from the city of Hot Springs, shall publish such notice in any newspaper for longer than 1 week.

(f) Registered physicians, occupying offices formerly occupied by physicians who have died, retired, or have been placed on the nonactive list of registered physicians are required to have the names of such nonactive physicians removed without delay from signs, windows, and directories in the buildings in which such physicians formerly practiced, and upon noncompliance within 10 days with this provision may be suspended by the Secretary of the Interor until the delinquencies have been remedied.

104. The order for the transaction of business before the board shall be as follows:

(a) Reading and approval of minutes of previous meeting.
(b) Consideration of new business.
(c) Consideration of unfinished business.
(d) Examination of applicants for registration.
(e) Miscellaneous business.

Applicants for examination preliminary to registration under paragraph 4 hereof will be required to pay the sum of $10 to the superintendent as examination fee prior to admittance to examination.

Persons having complied with the foregoing requirements for registration will be required to pay the sum of $15 to the superintendent as registration fee.

Any physician on the registered list desiring to change his residence from Hot Springs or to retire from active practice longer than 1 year, and during such absence retain his registration, may file application in writing with the superintendent to be placed upon the nonresident list.

If such physician should desire to return to active practice at Hot Springs and have his name again placed upon the list of registered physicians, he may so apply in writing, stating his residence and occupation during the time he has been on the nonresident list, and shall give three references who can vouch for his conduct. The Federal Registration Board shall require an endorsement by the Garland County Hot Springs Medical Society of any physician requesting his name to be restored to the active list of registered physicians. Upon approval of these references by the superintendent, such physician shall be placed upon the list of registered physicians and shall be governed by all the rules applying to registered physicians.

The fees prescribed in the foregoing paragraph are payable in advance in the form of postal money order or certified or cashier's check in net amount of the fee, drawn to the order of the Superintendent, Hot Springs National Park, or in legal tender, and are not subject to refund either in whole or in part.

The provisions of the foregoing paragraphs shall not apply to physicians stationed at the Army and Navy General Hospital not doing outside practice, and upon approval of the Federal Registration Board physicians regularly doing clinical work at the United States Public Health Service Clinic or Leo N. Levi Memorial Hospital may be exempted therefrom.

The foregoing rules are subject to amendment at any regular meeting of the board on the giving of 30 days' notice in writing of the proposed amendment, subject, however, to the approval of the Secretary of the Interior.

Holidays and Use of Flags

The following holidays are legalized by the Federal Government and it is desired that the bathhouses close at noon on such days:

New Year's Day, January 1.
Washington's Birthday, February 22.
Decoration Day, May 30.

Independence Day, July 4, and December 25, Christmas Day, are also legal holidays and it is desired that bathhouses remain closed during these entire days.

Thanksgiving Day, in November, is usually declared a holiday by proclamation of the President, and the bathhouses will close at noon on that day.

On local holidays of importance you will be advised as to whether or not you shall close at noon.

106. It is requested that the bathhouses be suitably decorated on all holidays.

107. Flags.—The following are the rules for the use of the flag:

The flag should be displayed from sunrise to sunset only.

When a flag is placed on a building other than on a staff—whether indoors or out—the Union should be uppermost and to the flag's right. In other words, when a person looks at the flag it should be to the observer's left. The blue field must always be to the left of the observer.

On Memorial Day the flag is displayed, when on the flagpole, at half-mast from sunrise until noon, and then at full-mast from noon to sunset.

When the flag is in such condition that it is no longer fit for display, it should be destroyed by burning, so that it cannot be used for any other purpose save that for which it was originally intended.

The flag of the United States is to be used in decorating the buildings only on national holidays and on such days as orders are issued from the office of the superintendent. Flags shall not be put up at the request of the chamber of commerce or any other organization except the National Park Service.

It is desired that all flags be hauled down in the evening at sunset and raised at sunrise as near as possible.

Approved: June 21, 1937.

PROVISION FOR FILING OF CLAIMS AGAINST DECEDENTS' ESTATES
AMENDMENT OF LOAN SERVICE CHAPTER OF THE MANUAL

Be it resolved, That pursuant to the authority vested in the Board by Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933 (48 Stat. 128, 129) as amended by Sections 1 and 13 of the Act of April 27, 1934 (48 Stat. 643–647) and particularly by Sections 4–a and 4–k of said Act as amended, it is hereby ordered that the Loan Service Chapter of the Consolidated Manual be amended by adding the following to Sec. 203 (d), to be designated 203 (d) (1), which shall read as follows:

SEC. 203 (d) (1). In cases where the home owner or other obligor has died, except in jurisdictions where it is legally necessary to file a claim to protect the interests of the Corporation, the General Manager shall determine whether a claim shall be filed against the estate of the decedent. Ordinarily probate claims will not be filed where it appears that any of the following circumstances obtain:

(a) That the account will be maintained in good standing or satisfactory payment made.

(b) That the assets of the estate are insufficient or of such nature that they cannot be reached by a claim.

(c) That the satisfaction of a claim from assets other than the security of the Corporation will deprive the family of its only means of livelihood or otherwise result in extreme hardship.

The General Manager shall refer the cases where he determines a claim should be filed to the Legal Department, and unless there are legal reasons which would make it inadvisable to file the claim the Legal Department shall proceed to file the same.

The authority herein vested in the General Manager may be exercised also by Regional, State or District Managers under procedure and limitations prescribed by the General Manager with the approval of the General Counsel.

Adopted by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board on February 2, 1938.

[Docket No. A-65 O-65]

NOTICE OF HEARING—PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER REGULATING SHIPPING OF FRESH PEARS, PLUMS, AND ELBERTA PEACHES GROWN IN STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Whereas, under Public Act No. 10, 73rd Congress, as amended and as reenacted by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, notice of hearing is required in connection with a proposed marketing agreement or a proposed order, and the General Regulations, Series A, No. 1, as amended, of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, provide for such notice; and

Whereas, the Secretary of Agriculture has reason to believe that the execution of a marketing agreement and the issuance of an order will tend to effectuate the declared policy of said act with respect to the shipping in interstate and foreign commerce, and such shipping as directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate or foreign commerce, of fresh pears, plums, and Elberta peaches grown in the State of California;

Now, therefore, pursuant to the said act and said general regulations notice is hereby given of a hearing to be held on a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating such shipping of fresh pears, plums, and Elberta peaches grown in the State of California in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, 917 Seventh Street, Sacramento, California, on February 21, 1938, at 9:30 a. m.

This public hearing is for the purpose of receiving evidence as to the general economic conditions which may necessitate regulation in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act and as to the specific provisions which a marketing agreement and order should contain.

The proposed marketing agreement and the proposed order each embodies, in similar terms, a plan for the regulation of such shipping in interstate and foreign commerce, and such shipping as directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate or foreign commerce, of fresh pears, plums, and Elberta peaches grown in the State of California. Among other things, the proposed marketing agreement and order provide for: (a) the establishment of a Control Committee, (b) establishment of commodity committees, (c) reserve pool for fall and winter pears, (d) prohibition of unfair trade practices incident to marketing of Elberta peaches, (e) grade and size regulation of shipments, (f) expenses of administration, and other matters relating to the shipping of fresh pears, plums and Elberta peaches grown in the State of California.

M., on the 18th day of February, 1938.

2. That said Order No. 140, and Price Schedule No. 1—District No. 15, except as modified herein and by said Truck Mine Price Schedule No. 1—District No. 15, shall remain in full force and effect.

3. That the Secretary of the Commission shall forthwith mail copies of this Order and "Truck Mine Price Schedule No. 1—District No. 15" to the Consumers' Counsel, the Secretaries of the Bituminous Coal Producers' Boards and to Code Members within District No. 15; shall cause copies of this Order and said "Truck Mine Price Schedule No. 1—District No. 15" to be made available for inspection by all interested parties at the Secretary's office of the Commission and at all Statistical Bureaus of the Commission; and shall cause to be published a copy of this Order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It appearing, That by Orders No. 2 and 64, the Commission upon its own motion entered into and conducted an investigation under the provisions of Section 4–A of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, for the purpose of determining the nature and extent of transactions in intrastate commerce in bituminous coal in the State of Missouri and the effect of such transactions upon interstate commerce in such coal; and

It further appearing, That reasonable public notice of a hearing was provided and that at said hearing interested parties were afforded an opportunity to be heard; that the presiding Examiner duly designated by the Commission having filed his report and recommendations and the Commission having given due consideration to said report and recommendations and to the record of the evidence in this proceeding; and, the Commission having on the 3rd day of February, 1938, adopted the Examiner's report and recommendations as its own which said report is hereby referred to and made a part hereof;

Now, therefore, It is by order declared:

That substantially all transactions in bituminous coal in intrastate commerce in the State of Missouri directly affect interstate commerce in such coal; and

That there will be an undue or unreasonable advantage, preference or prejudice as between localities in Missouri in such intrastate commerce on the one hand and interstate commerce in bituminous coal on the other hand, and an undue, unreasonable, or unjust discrimination against interstate commerce in such coal if such transactions in interstate commerce or any substantial part thereof are not regulated and subjected to the provisions of Section 4 of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937.

Therefore, it is further ordered:

2. That any producer of bituminous coal in intrastate commerce within the State of Missouri, who may believe that his or its particular transactions in intrastate commerce in bituminous coal should be exempted from this order and/or from the provisions of Section 4 and 4–A of said Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, may file application at any time hereafter for exemption pursuant to the second paragraph of Section 4–A of said Act, and be entitled to a hearing and appropriate orders thereon.

REGULATIONS RELATIVE TO EMERGENCY CROP AND FEED LOANS IN THE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES MADE PURSUANT TO THE ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED JANUARY 29, 1937 AND THE JOINT RESOLUTION OF CONGRESS, APPROVED FEBRUARY 4, 1938

FEBRUARY 4, 1938.

1. Loans for fallowing, for the production of crops, for planting, cultivating, and harvesting crops, for supplies incident and necessary to such production, planting, cultivating, and harvesting, and for feed for livestock, or for any of such purposes, will be made during the year 1938 by the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration to farmers in the Continental United States.

2. Such loans may be made to farmers who have acreage suitable for cultivation, the necessary equipment for farming operations, and livestock for which feed is required, and who are unable to obtain a loan from other sources, and, further, such loans will be limited to the amount necessary to meet the immediate and actual cash needs, and preference shall be given to the applications of farmers whose cash requirements are small.

3. Such loans shall be secured by a first lien, or by an agreement to give a first lien, upon all crops of which the planting, cultivation, production, or harvesting is to be financed, in whole or in part, with the proceeds of such loan; or, in case of any loan for the purchase and/or production of feed for livestock, a first lien upon the livestock to be fed.

4. Applicants must agree (1) to use seed and methods approved by the Department of Agriculture; (2) to plant a garden for home use; and (3) to plant a sufficient acreage of feed crops to supply feed for their workstock and subsistence cattle.

5. The total amount of loans made to any one borrower during the calendar year 1938 shall not exceed $400. No loan will be made for an amount less than $10. All loans will be made in multiples of $5. Notes will bear interest, from maturity until paid, at the rate of 4 percent per annum; and interest to the maturity date at the same rate will be deducted at the time the loans is made.

(b) To any applicant who can obtain a loan from other sources, including production credit associations, in an amount reasonably adequate to meet his needs for the purposes for which such loans may be made. An applicant for a loan in an amount in excess of a minimum fixed by the Governor, or his representative, for the territory in which the applicant resides, must first submit written evidence from a production credit association that his application for a loan of the same or less amount has been rejected.

(c) To any applicant who has an application for a 1938 crop or feed loan pending with a production credit association.

(d) To any applicant who has not undertaken in good faith to meet his obligations in connection with any previous crop, feed, or seed loans as follows: has willfully misused the proceeds of a loan check for any purpose other than those specified in his application; has failed to plant a crop or has planted crops on lands other than those described in the application; has willfully disposed of crops mortgaged to the Governor, or failed to account satisfactorily therefor without applying the proceeds of the sale or the value thereof as a payment on his loan; has willfully used the crops mortgaged to the Governor for any purpose other than that stated in his application or applications; or has failed to pay all or part of such loan or loans when able to do so.

(e) To any applicant in an amount greater than his immediate cash needs for the production of crops, for supplies incident and necessary to such production, and for feeding livestock.

(f) To more than one member of a family unit or to any person living and/or farming with an applicant whose application for a loan hereunder has been disapproved.

(g) To applicants who are occupants of the same farm or plantation, or are tenants of the same landlord in any one county (with the exception of tenants on land the title of which is vested directly in the United States, or in any State or municipal government, or in any drainage district), in an aggregate amount during the calendar year 1938 which (inclusive of all emergency loans theretofore made to them, or any of them, during the calendar year 1938, pursuant to the Act of Congress approved January 29, 1937 and the Joint Resolution of Congress approved February 4, 1938), exceeds the sum of $1,000.

(h) To any applicant who has a means of livelihood other than farming.

8. No loan for the production of crops will be made in an amount greater than the immediate and actual cash needs in the particular case to plant the crop in a manner approved by the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture.

The immediate and actual cash needs in a particular case must not exceed the actual costs per acre in such case as determined by individual consideration of the various factors involved, e. g., whether it is necessary to purchase seed, feed, fertilizer, spraying material and/or fuel for tractors; the cost thereof; and any other incidental expenses currently incurred in that community in connection with the particular crop to be produced. In no event may loans for crop production purposes exceed the following maximum allowances per acre:

Maximum allowances per acre.

[1] Where spray material, including dust, is used without commercial fertilizer, the allowance for such spray material and dust will be the difference, if any, between the allowances in column 2 and column 3.

[2] Of the grain allowances shown in the table not more than $1 shall be used for summer fallowing.

These figures include allowances for fuel, oil, and feed for workstock for crop production purposes and incidental expenses, for which no additional alowances will be made.

An additional allowance not to exceed $3 per acre will be made for water charges (including maintenance, electric power, and fuel) for crops other than rice grown on irrigated land.

Allowances for commercial fertilizer will be made only in areas where commercial fertilizer is customarily used.

9. No loan for the production of feed for livestock will be made in an amount greater than is actually necessary to produce sufficient crops to feed the livestock upon which a mortgage has been given to secure the loan. In no event may a loan for the production of feed for livestock be made on a basis which exceeds a maximum allowance of $2.00 per acre.

(1) This figure includes allowances for seed, fuel, oil, feed for workstock while engaged in the production of the feed crops, and incidental expenses, for which no additional allowances will be made.

10. No loan for the purchase of feed for livestock will be made in an amount greater than is actually necessary to maintain the livestock until pasturage and/or forage or until feed is available, and in no case may a loan for the purchase of feed for livestock be made on a basis which exceeds the following rates per head of livestock per month:

Maximum Allowances for the Purchase of Feed for Livestock per Head per Month [1]

Stock horses	$3.00
Dairy and breeding cows	4.00
Stock cattle (from 1 to 2 years old)	2.00
Sheep (1 to 6 years, inclusive)	.50
Breeding hogs	1.00

11. An amount not greater than the actual harvesting and threshing expenses may, in the discretion of the regional manager, be released from the proceeds of the sale of any of the crops covered by a lien given to the Governor in any case where a borrower does not have the necessary funds or credit to pay for the harvesting and threshing of such crops.

12. The amount approved for a loan by the Governor or his representative under these regulations will be paid to the applicant by a disbursing officer upon receipt and approval by the Governor or his representative of the following documents:

(a) Application in the form prescribed, signed by the applicant.

(b) Promissory note (or bond in Pennsylvania) in the form prescribed, executed by the applicant for the amount approved by the Governor or his representative, payable to the Governor, bearing interest at the rate of 4 percent per annum from maturity until paid.

NOTE.—In order to afford adequate protection and preserve the statutory priority of liens, for seed loans made in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, and Montana, the following requirements will be observed:

North Dakota.—Each applicant in North Dakota who applies for a loan for the purchase of seed, feed for workstock, gas, oil, and minor repairs on farm equipment only, or for one or more of such purposes, shall execute a note for the amount of such loan and secure the repayment of such loan by a crop lien; each applicant in such State who applies for a loan for any or all of the above purposes and for other purposes in addition thereto, shall execute a note for the total amount of such loan and secure the repayment of such loan by a crop mortgage and also shall execute a crop lien to secure the repayment of that part of such loan which is proposed to be used for the purchase of seed, feed for workstock, gas, oil, and minor repairs on farm equipment, or for one or more of such purposes:

Minnesota.—Each applicant in Minnesota who applies for a loan, either for the purchase of seed only or for the purchase of seed and for other purposes, shall execute a note for the total amount of such loan and secure the repayment of the entire loan by a crop mortgage, and in addition thereto shall execute a seed lien to secure the repayment of that part of such loan which is proposed to be used for the purchase of seed;

South Dakota and Montana.—Each applicant in the States of South Dakota and Montana who applies for a loan for the purchase of seed only, shall execute a note for the amount of such loan and secure the repayment thereof by a seed lien; each applicant in the above States who applies for a loan to be used in part for seed and in part for other purposes shall execute a note for the total amount of such loan and secure the repayment thereof by a crop mortgage, and in addition thereto shall execute a seed lien to secure the repayment of that part of such loan which is proposed to be used for the purchase of seed.

(c) Lien instruments (including waivers) in the form prescribed, conveying a first lien or a promise and authority, properly executed and filed, registered or recorded in the proper office as required by local State law.

[1] The allowances set forth in this table apply only to loans for the purchase of feed for the kinds of livestock listed above and are not to be used for the feeding of workstock. Feed for workstock is included in the allowances provided for the production of both cash and feed crops.

(d) A voucher for the amount of the loan in the form prescribed, signed by the applicant.

13. Fees for recording, filing, registration, and examination of records (including certificates) shall be paid by the borrower; provided, however, that such fees aggregating not to exceed 75 cents per loan may be paid by him from the proceeds of the loan. No fees for releasing liens given to secure loans shall be paid from the proceeds of a loan.

14. The right is reserved to revoke, alter, or amend these regulations at any time and without notice.

ADOPTION OF RULES GOVERNING OPERATION OF "NON-COMMERCIAL EDUCATIONAL" BROADCAST STATIONS

The Commission on January 26, 1938, adopted the following:

RULE 1057. The term "non-commercial educational broadcast station" means a high frequency broadcast station licensed to an organized non-profit educational agency for the advancement of its educational work and for the transmission of educational and entertainment programs to the general public.

RULE 1058. The operation of, and the service furnished by, non-commercial educational broadcast stations shall be governed by the following regulations in addition to the rules and regulations governing high frequency broadcast stations.

(a) A non-commercial educational broadcast station will be licensed only to an organized non-profit educational agency and upon a showing that the station will be used for the advancement of the agency's educational program.

(b) Each station may transmit programs directed to specific schools in the system for use in connection with the regular courses as well as routine and administrative material pertaining to the school system and may transmit educational and entertainment programs to the general public.

(c) Each station shall furnish a non-profit and non-commercial broadcast service. No sponsored or commercial program shall be transmitted nor shall commercial announcements of any character be made. A station shall not transmit the programs of other classes of broadcast stations unless all commercial announcements and commercial references in the continuity are eliminated.

(d) The transmitting equipment, installation, and operation as well as the location of the transmitter shall be in conformity with the requirements of good engineering practice as released from time to time by the Commission.

(e) Any rule or regulation governing high frequency broadcast stations which permits or requires operation different from or in conflict with the provisions of this rule shall not apply to non-educational broadcast stations.

Rule 1059.

(a) The following channels (frequencies) are allotted for assignment to non-commercial educational broadcast stations:

41,020	41,220	41,420	41,620	41,820
41,060	41,260	41,460	41,660	41,860
41,100	41,300	41,500	41,700	41,900
41,140	41,340	41,540	41,740	41,940
41,180	41,380	41,580	41,780	41,980

(b) Stations serving the same area will not be assigned to channels separated less than 160 kc.

(c) Amplitude modulation shall be employed exclusively unless it can be shown that there is a need for frequency modulation in which case such modulation may be authorized provided sufficient channels can be grouped so as to obtain the required band width without causing interference to established stations or preventing the full expansion of the service.

(d) Only one channel (frequency) will be assigned to a station.

(e) Since these channels are not assigned on an experimental basis, the requirements for report on experimental work, as specified for high frequency broadcast stations, do not apply.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

The following general ledger control accounts (indented) are authorized and shall be maintained in each instance where there are transactions of a nature which require their use.

If, however, the volume of transactions in any of these accounts is insufficient to warrant maintenance as a separate general ledger control account, the operator may, with the consent of the Commission, employ the group classification involved as a general ledger control account and the accounts thereunder as subsidiaries, e. g.:

100. Cash

Subsidiary code:

Manual	Machine
100.01	101	Cash on Deposit—Domestic.
100.06	106	Cash on Deposit—Foreign.
100.11	111	Imprest and Petty Cash Funds.
100.16	116	Cash on Hand and in Transit.

The accounts prescribed in this chart have been coded with a view toward adaptation to machine as well as manual accounting. In instances, therefore, where subsidiary detail accounts are prescribed in the chart, the code numbers assigned thereto should be preceded by a decimal point in manual systems, and by the first numeral of the control account code when used in machine accounting, e. g., under account No. 200—Unterminated Voyage Expense, the classification "Wages" should be coded 200.01 in manual systems and 201 in machine accounting systems.

Except in instances where specific instructions for the maintenance of subsidiary accounts are contained herein, such subsidiary accounts will be maintained when, and in the form and detail, required by the Commission, or the operator, taking into consideration the circumstances with respect to the particular lines or services involved. To this end, supplementary instructions, and such modifications thereof as are dictated by experience, will be issued in each instance.

To insure uniformity in accounting, the operator shall submit all questions of doubtful interpretation of the prescribed accounting to the Commission for consideration and decision.

ALARM BELLS AND LOUDSPEAKER SYSTEMS

[Resolution No. 3865–A]

Resolved, That under authority of Sections 4405, 4417 and 4488, R. S., as amended, Section 20, Rule V, Ocean and Coastwise, as amended by the Fifty-third Supplement, be and hereby is amended by deleting Section 20 and inserting the following in its stead:

ALARM BELLS AND LOUDSPEAKER SYSTEMS

20. Alarm bells.—All vessels over 100 gross tons shall have all sleeping accommodations equipped with a sufficient number of alarm bells so located as to warn all the occupants. The alarm bells, if electric, shall be operated from an open switch from the pilot house or bridge. The bells shall be of such size, character, and construction as to provide an alarm throughout the spaces for which they are provided.

Loudspeaker systems (where required).—All passenger vessels the construction of which is begun after January 1, 1937, and certificated to carry 1,000 persons or more including officers and crew, and all existing passenger vessels on which lifeboats are stowed more than 100 feet from the navigating bridge, shall be equipped with a loudspeaker system which shall enable an officer on the bridge to broadcast separately or collectively to the following stations:

1. Lifeboat stations, port and starboard. (The deck or decks on which lifeboats are stowed and from which they are launched.)
2. Embarkation deck, port and starboard. (The deck or decks, designated by construction design or by the vessel's station bill, used for the embarkation of passengers and crew into lifeboats. If lifeboat stations are used for embarkation purposes, this requirement to be omitted.)
3. Main quarters for crew. (The quarters of the emergency squad, deck crew, and stewards assigned to passenger quarters.)
4. Public spaces. (The spaces designated by the vessel's station bill where passengers and crew are to assemble in an emergency.)

Speakers, designated by the Bureau, at lifeboat stations and on embarkation deck or decks, shall be arranged for two-way conversation with the bridge.

The Director of the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation may, in special cases, exempt passenger vessels having a small number of especially accessible lifeboats stowed more than 100 feet from the bridge. However, no existing passenger vessel having lifeboats stowed more than 100 feet from the navigating bridge and certificated to carry more than 200 persons including officers and crew, shall be exempted from this requirement.

General Specifications

(a) The loudspeaker system shall be of a type embodying rugged construction for marine use and simplicity of operation. The entire system shall be controlled from a single location on the bridge.

(b) The type of system, method of operation, and installation to be as approved by the Bureau. Wiring to be of a type and character approved for new construction. Provision shall be made to maintain the operating voltage required for the system under conditions of variations in voltage up to 20 percent plus or minus in either the regular or emergency power supply. The system shall be so designed and installed that grounds, short or open circuits occurring at any point in the distribution system will disable not more than one loudspeaker and shall not reduce the volume on the remaining speaker more than 3 decibels. The amplifier system shall be so designed that grounds, short or open circuits or any part of the system will not cause overloading which will reduce the volume output more than 3 decibels or noticeably affect the quality of reproduction. The system shall be equipped with a call or attention signal, which shall be a distinctive note of about 1,500 cycles frequency. The frequency of the system shall be approximately 100/4,000 cycles; and to insure even reproduction of voice over this range, automatic volume control (not expanding type) shall be provided. Distortion not to exceed 10 percent. For A. C. systems duplicate motor generator sets shall be provided and have automatic transfer between same. Indicating lights shall be installed in the control cabinet for indicating when a two-way speaker desires communication with the bridge. All metal parts for cabinets, panels, transformers cases, shields, and any other metal parts subject to corrosion shall be cadmium-plated or protected by other suitable means, the method of which is to be approved by the Bureau. Soldered joints are not to be used except where absolutely necessary and must be made with rosin flux and coated with an insulating varnish that is not subject to the action of salt water. Speakers in outside locations to be mounted in metal boxes or cases with suitable baffles, so constructed that they are protected against water but open for sound emission. Speakers in inside locations to be mounted in metal boxes or cases for protection, with latticed front for sound emission. All speakers to be of the dynamic cone type, with permanent magnetic field.

Use and operation.—The system shall be used at the discretion of the master and shall function entirely independent of any public address or music distribution system, and the system shall not be used for entertainment purposes.

Approval

(a) Plans, including drawings of equipment, wiring diagrams, and detailed technical specifications, shall be submitted to the Bureau for comment and approval.

(b) All items of equipment, including amplifiers, microphones, loudspeakers, and control apparatus, shall be of a type that has been tested and approved for such service by the Bureau. Before the loudspeaker system fitted on a particular vessel is approved, it shall be submitted to tests to be conducted by representatives of the Bureau.

Spare parts.—Vessels shall be provided with a complete set of installation plans and operating instructions and an adequate supply of spare parts to include at least the following: 1 spare microphone, 100% vacuum tubes of all types used. A reasonable supply of all damageable items, including relays, condensers, and loudspeaking units of each type.

Tests.—The complete system shall be given an operating test at least once every week. These tests shall be made by a licensed officer of the vessel and the condition of the equipment entered in the vessel's log.

BULKHEADS

[Resolution No. 4262]

Resolved, That under authority of Sections 4405, 4417, and 4426, R. S., Section 2, Rule VII, Great Lakes, Bays, Sounds and Lakes other than the Great Lakes, and Rivers, be and hereby are amended by deletion of present Section 2 and insertion in its stead the following:

2. Every new mechanically propelled ferry vessel carrying passengers for hire shall have a sufficient number of transverse watertight bulkheads so that the vessel will remain afloat and have positive stability in the event any one main compartment is flooded.

A forepeak or collision bulkhead shall be fitted and located not less than 5 percent of the length of the ship, and not more than 10 feet plus 5 percent of the length of the ship from the bow, at load water line.

One bulkhead shall be fitted at the forward end of the machinery space (which includes boiler space) and one bulkhead shall be fitted at the after end of the machinery space. Other transverse bulkheads shall be so located as to meet the above requirements of subdivision and stability.

Main transverse bulkheads shall not be stepped, but may be recessed. No recess shall be fitted nearer the vessel's side than one-fifth of the vessel's beam amidships measured at right angles to the center line at the level of the load water line on which the subdivision is based. Bulkheads shall extend to a deck whose distance above the load water line is sufficient to enable the subdivision and stability requirements to be met with a fair margin of safety.

If the distance between two adjacent main transverse watertight bulkheads is less than 10 feet plus 2 percent of the vessel's load water line, only one of these bulkheads shall be regarded as forming a boundary of a main compartment.

In lieu of bulkheading, the Bureau will allow alternative arrangements wherein sufficient buoyancy is supplied by independent air tanks or other means, to float the vessel when flooded while fully loaded. Such arrangements must be approved by the Bureau in each instance.

Existing mechanically propelled ferry vessels carrying passengers for hire operating over routes where the length of trip between terminals exceeds 10 minutes shall comply with the above requirements for new vessels, unless it can be shown by the owner to the satisfaction of the Bureau that their application is impracticable and unreasonable. (Effective January 1, 1939.)

ORDER [AS AMENDED OCTOBER 4, 1920]

At a General Session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of October, A. D. 1919.

It appearing; that section 1 of "An Act to Supplement existing Laws Against Unlawful Restraints and Monopolies, and for Other Purposes," approved October 15, 1914, hereinafter called the Clayton Antitrust Act, contains, among others, the following definitions:

"Commerce," as used herein, means trade or commerce among the several States and with foreign nations, or between the District of Columbia or any Territory of the United States and any State, Territory, or foreign nation, or between any insular possessions or other places under the jurisdiction of the United States, or between any such possession or place and any State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia or any foreign nation, or within the District of Columbia or any Territory or any insular possession or other place under the jurisdiction of the United States: Provided, That nothing in this Act contained shall apply to the Philippine Islands.

And it further appearing; that section 10 of the said Act provides:

That after two years from the approval of this Act no common carrier engaged in commerce shall have any dealings in securities, supplies or other articles of commerce, or shall make or have any contracts for construction or maintenance of any kind, to the amount of more than $50,000, in the aggregate, in any one year, with another corporation, firm, partnership or association when the said common carrier shall have upon its board of directors or as its president, manager or as its purchasing or selling officer, or agent in the particular transaction, any person who is at the same time a director, manager, or purchasing or selling officer of, or who has any substantial interest in, such other corporation, firm, partnership or association, unless and except such purchases shall be made from, or such dealings shall be with, the bidder whose bid is the most favorable to such common carrier, to be ascertained by competitive bidding under regulations to be prescribed by rule or otherwise by the Interstate Commerce Commission. No bid shall be received unless the name and address of the bidder or the names and addresses of the officers, directors and general managers thereof, if the bidder be a corporation, or of the members, if it be a partnership or firm, be given with the bid.

Any person who shall, directly or indirectly, do or attempt to do anything to prevent anyone from bidding or shall do any act to prevent free and fair competition among the bidders or those desiring to bid shall be punished as prescribed in this section in the case of an officer or director.

Every such common carrier having any such transactions or making any such purchases shall within thirty days after making the same file with the Interstate Commerce Commission a full and detailed statement of the transaction showing the manner of the competitive bidding, who were the bidders, and the names and addresses of the directors and officers of the corporations and the members of the firm or partnership bidding; and whenever the said Commission shall, after investigation or hearing, have reason to believe that the law has been violated in and about the said purchases or transactions it shall transmit all papers and documents and its own views or findings regarding the transaction to the Attorney General.

And it further appearing; that by Joint Resolution Congress extended the effective date of section 10 to January 1, 1919, except as to corporations organized after January 8, 1918,[1] (39 Stat. c. 427, p. 674; 39 Stat. c. 190, p. 1201; 40 Stat. c. 8, p. 431).

It is ordered; That the following regulations be, and they are hereby, prescribed to become effective on and after January 1, 1920, viz:

1. When any carrier, subject to the Act to regulate commerce, is required by section 10 of the Clayton Antitrust Act to call for bids for securities, supplies, or other articles of commerce, or for the construction or maintenance of any kind or part of its carrier property such carrier shall prepare specifications, form of proposals and contact, setting forth clearly and so far as applicable in each case in detail a description or descriptions of the matters and things for which bids are requested, the terms, times and conditions of delivery and payment, the place or places where delivery or performance is to be made, the character, amount, and terms of securities offered or sought, and a full description of the supplies or other articles required or offered for sale, hypothecation, or purchase, and shall make and attach to such specifications such maps, drawings, and illustrations and state such other substantial facts or conditions as are or may be necessary to a full understanding of the premises and procedure by bidders. Such specifications, drawings and illustrations in each case shall be kept open at the principal office or offices of the carrier for full examination, free of charge, by persons desiring to examine the same with a view to bidding, and, upon request, such carrier shall furnish to any person or persons desiring the same true and accurate copies of such specifications, maps, drawings and illustrations; provided that the carrier may make a charge for such copies so furnished, the charge not to exceed the reasonable cost of making and forwarding the copies requested.

[1] Further extended to January 1, 1921, except as to corporations organized after January 12, 1918 (41 Stat. c. 91, p. 499).

The carrier shall publish in each case a request for bids in at least two daily newspapers of general circulation, at least two publications in each week for two weeks, the first publication to be at least two weeks immediately preceding the day when the bids are to be submitted; one such newspaper shall be published or shall be of general circulation in the city or town where the principal operating office of the carrier is located and the other newspaper shall be published in one other of the following cities nearest to the operating or financial office of the carrier or the place where the contract is to be performed, namely: New York, N. Y., Boston, Mass., Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., Atlanta, Ga., San Francisco, Cal., and Portland, Oreg.; and a printed copy of the published notice in each case shall be posted in plain view, for two weeks immediately preceding the day on which bids are to be received, on a bulletin board, designated for that purpose, in a public and conspicuous place in the building where the principal operating office of the carrier is located. Such published notices shall describe in general but intelligible terms the proposed contract, giving its serial number, and the special matter or things for which bids are requested, and the date on or before which the bids must be submitted, and the person by whom and the office at which the bids submitted will be received and opened as herein provided. The carrier may in said notice reserve the right to reject any and all bids and may, at its option, require each bidder to tender a bond in a reasonable sum to be therein named, with sufficient surety or sureties conditioned upon the faithful and prompt performance of the terms of the contract.

2. Every bid to receive consideration shall be submitted at the place specified in the notice on or before noon of the day on which the bids are to be opened and the bids shall be opened after noon and before six o'clock, on the day and at the place and by the person or persons designated in the notice. Each bidder may attend in person or by duly authorized representative at the opening of the bids, and shall be afforded an opportunity to do so and to examine each bid. The bids shall forthwith be tabulated in conformity with the form of proposal prepared and a copy of such tabulation shall be promptly furnished to any bidder or his authorized representative upon application therefor.

When required by the notice, each bid shall be accompanied by tender of a bond in the amount specified in the notice with sufficient surety or sureties conditioned upon the faithful and prompt performance of the proposed contract. A bond shall be required only in cases where the notice for bids expressly calls for a bond.

Each bid shall be enclosed with accompanying papers in a plain envelope securely sealed bearing no indication of the name of the bidder or the amount of the bid, and shall be marked "Bid under proposed contract No. ——," and shall be addressed to the officer of the carrier designated in the notice to receive the same.

Each bid shall state the name and address of the bidder and, if the bidder be a corporation, the names and addresses of the officers, directors and general manager thereof and of the purchasing or selling officer or agent in that transaction and, if the bidder is a firm, partnership or association, the bid shall give the names and addresses of each member thereof, and of the manager, purchasing or selling officer or agent in that transaction.

3. After receiving and opening bids as aforesaid, the carrier receiving the same shall within 48 hours in cases where the sale or purchase of securities is the undertaking, and within ten days where bids are for supplies, equipment, other articles of commerce and for construction or maintenance work, accept the most favorable bid considering (1) the lowest price or prices for the supplies, equipment, and other articles of commerce, and for the construction or maintenance work, described in the advertisement, and the highest price or prices offered for any securities or property, so described, for sale by the carrier, and (2) the ability and reliability of the bidder, financial and otherwise, to deliver the property or to perform the work or transaction, or to pay for the securities, described in the advertisement, giving due consideration to any bond or security tendered by the bidder. If the right be reserved in the notice all bids may be rejected and the carrier may readvertise for bids. The carrier shall notify the successful bidder of the acceptance of his or its bid, and the bidder shall within ten days execute the required contract, and, if required by the notice, execute a good and sufficient bond for the faithful and prompt performance of the contract. In case the successful bidder shall neglect or fail within said time to execute the contract or bond as aforesaid the carrier may within five days award the contract to the next most favorable bidder, ascertained as herein provided for determining the most favorable bidder. If neither the most favorable bidder nor the next most favorable bidder shall execute a contract and qualify as aforesaid, the carrier shall readvertise for new bids.

4. Each carrier after having made and executed a contract as and in the manner above specified shall within thirty days after the execution of such contract file with the Interstate Commerce Commission a statement of the transaction giving, (a) a copy of the published notice; (b) the names of all bidders, and, if the bidder be a corporation, the names and addresses of the officers, directors and general managers thereof and of the purchasing or selling officer or agent in that transaction, or if the bidder be a partnership or firm, the names and addresses of the members of the firm, the general manager and purchasing or selling agent thereof, and the total amount of each bid; (c) the name of the bidder to whom the contract was awarded together with a copy of the contract; and (d) if any other than the lowest or the highest bid, as the case may be, is accepted as being most favorable to the carrier, the reasons for such acceptance. The statement shall be made in typewriting, in pamphlet form on pages not less than 8 by 10½ inches in size nor greater than 9½ by 12 inches, in size, bound on the longer edge of the page, the paper to be of durable quality fit for permanent record.

5. [As amended October 4, 1920.] In the case of each bid so taken as aforesaid, the carrier shall preserve and keep open for examination by the Interstate Commerce Commission or any duly authorized examiner thereof, (a) a copy of the resolution or order of the Board of Directors, Executive Committee, or officers of the said common carrier specifying the purposes and terms of the contract for which the bids were invited; (b) a copy of the specifications, maps, drawings, and illustrations upon which bids were made; (c) copies of the notices published, sworn to by or on behalf of the publisher of each paper, respectively, giving the dates and times of publication; (d) the original bids received, designating the bid accepted and giving a statement of the reasons for accepting the same; (e) a copy of the contract entered into between the carrier and the accepted bidder, together with a copy of the bonds if any; (f) references by number of volume and page to the records of proceedings of the stockholders, directors, or executive committee of the carrier. The files in each transaction shall be securely fastened together and given the contract number and each document therein shall be numbered consecutively and at the conclusion there shall be a sworn statement by the president, a vice president, or the general manager of the carrier, stating that the files in No. —— contain true and complete records and statements of all the negotiations had in connection with the contract therein set forth. Such files shall not be broken or any part destroyed by the carrier or any officer or agent of the carrier without written authorization from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order be served upon each common carrier subject to the interstate commerce act, and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the office of the Secretary of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

BLACKBERRY FLAVORED GRAPE WINE

To All Bottlers and Packers of Wine:

The Administration has recently ascertained that certain wine producers, blenders and rectifiers have shipped in bulk, under the designation "Blackberry Wine," a product which does not, in fact, conform to the standard of identity for blackberry wine, in that the product is a base of grape wine, to which blackberry flavor or blackberry wine has been added. Investigations of these shipments are continuing with a view to appropriate regulatory action against the offending permittees.

In this connection, it appears that in many instances such misbranded bulk shipments come into the possession of wholesalers and are bottled by them under the designation "Blackberry Wine."

This is to warn wholesalers and wine manufacturers against the sale of such product unless made entirely from blackberries, if the same is to be labeled as "Blackberry Wine." Wholesalers bottling and marketing products under the designation "Blackberry Wine" may readily ascertain whether the product is made wholly from blackberries by simple chemical analysis.

Proceedings for suspension of permits will in the future be instituted against permittees bottling or offering for sale such misbranded products.

Among other things, the proposed marketing agreement and order provide for: (a) the establishment of a Control Committee, (b) grade regulation of shipments, (c) regulation of shipments by means of period proration, (d) regulation of shipments by requiring price filing and posting, (e) expenses of administration, and other matters relating to the handling of grapes grown in said counties.

FEDERAL HOUSING ADMINISTRATION.

PROPERTY IMPROVEMENT LOANS

REGULATIONS GOVERNING TITLE I OF THE NATIONAL HOUSING ACT

The following Regulations and Questions and Answers issued by the Federal Housing Administrator govern the operation of the insurance property improvement loans under Title I of the National Housing Act, as amended, re-enacted and amended by Act of Congress approved February 3, 1938. These Regulations and Questions and Answers supersede all previous Regulations and Questions and Answers heretofore in effect special Regulations and Questions and Answers governing Section 6 loans designed to assist in the rehabilitation of flood, tornado and other catastrophe areas and will control in the event of any conflict between these Regulations and any explanatory material.

Applicable to All Loans

Promissory notes must be signed by an owner of the real property to be improved, or by a lessee thereof under a lease expiring not less than six calendar months after the maturity of the loan, and must be in a form which is valid and enforceable in the jurisdiction in which they are issued. In addition to owners in fee, owners of real property include life tenants and persons holding an equity under a mortgage, trust or contract.

Question No. 1a.

Reference is made to installment notes and installment payments throughout the Regulations, Questions, and Answers and interpretations pertaining thereto. It is intended that insured institutions using any other form of obligation or a plan whereby deposits are made to an account or a fund which is used to liquidate a note at maturity (similar to the practice followed by industrial banks in many jurisdictions) be allowed to continue to use such methods of procedure, and will such obligations be eligible for insurance?

Answer.

Yes. Whenever the word "note" is used, it is intended to refer to a note, bond, mortgage, or other evidence of indebtedness. Whenever the word "payment" is used, the intent is to include a deposit for an account or a fund. Notes which provide for a deposit to be made in an account or a fund to be used to liquidate the note at maturity are eligible for insurance, and for the purpose of these Regulations any interest paid on such deposit account should be deducted from the charge paid by the borrower on the note in determining whether the net charge to him is within the maximum permitted.

The term "installment payment" includes a method of procedure under which a borrower from an institution, such as a building and loan association, subscribes for shares on receiving a loan, and pays for such shares on an installment basis, the shares to be finally cancelled out against the loan. Where this method is used and the shares do not pay a fixed return, the charge to the borrower may be figured on the basis of the average return on such shares during the preceding three years.

In order that an insured institution may be entitled to make claim under the Contract of Insurance for the full unpaid balance on a note on which one or more payments are in default, it is necessary that the institution have made demand upon the borrower for payment in full. Notes must, therefore, contain a provision for acceleration of maturity upon default, either automatically, or at the option of the holder.

Question No. 1b.

Will notes in a series be eligible for insurance on the same basis as a single note calling for equal installments?

Answer.

Yes. A series of notes, taken on one transaction, each calling for an equal amount, will be eligible for insurance where each note states on its face that it is one of a series of notes signed by the same maker. Unless the note shows on its face that it is one of a series, it will not be eligible for insurance.

Question No. 1c.

Is a forged note "valid and enforceable" within the meaning of the term as used in this Regulation?

Answer.

Yes. The fact that a note is forged will not disqualify it if taken by the insured institution in good faith. Forgery of a note or falsification of the Credit Statement constitutes a Federal offense under the National Housing Act, subjecting the offender to a fine of not more than $3,000 or to imprisonment for not more than two years, or both. This does not remove from an insured institution the duty of discovering the authority of an agent, as such, signing a note, or the legal capacity of the signer of the note.

Question No. 1d.

What about the effect of interest rate statutes?

Answer.

In most jurisdictions, violations of interest rate statutes do not affect the validity or enforceability of notes, and any such violation would not disqualify a note previously reported for insurance. In a few jurisdictions, a technical legal doctrine prevails, under which a financial institution does not recover upon the note itself if the note is in violation of interest laws, but rather proceeds upon the theory that it is collecting upon a general obligation to repay money advanced. Where such a doctrine as this prevails, the note likewise is not considered invalid or unenforceable.

Applicable to All Loans

An advance of credit, to be eligible for insurance, must not involve a principal amount outstanding at any one time, in respect to any one piece of property, in excess of $10,000 (exclusive of financing charges to the borrower), when made for the purpose of financing repairs, alterations and improvements upon or in connection with existing structures. In the case of loans for financing the building of new structures, the total of all insured advances of credit may not exceed $2,500 (exclusive of finance charges to the borrower) in respect to a single piece of property.

Question No. 2a.

May more than one loan or one series of loans be made to cover repairs, alterations, and improvements upon a single piece of property?

Answer.

Yes. So long as the amount outstanding at any one time does not exceed the maximum provided by this Regulation, any number of loans may be made to cover repairs, alterations and improvements upon any single piece of property, but not more than $10,000, excluding financing charges to the borrower, may be outstanding at any time on any such piece of property.

It must be noted that whereas this Regulation permits a borrower to obtain more than $10,000 for the purpose of financing repairs, alterations and improvements upon existing structures, provided that not more than $10,000 is oustanding at any one time with respect to any single piece of property, not more than $2,500 may be obtained for the purpose of building new structures with respect to any single piece of property. Subject to this limitation, more than one loan or one series of loans may be made for this latter purpose.

Question No. 2b.

Is there any limitation as to the maximum amount which may be procured by any one borrower?

Answer.

No. The maximum amounts refer to the amounts which may be outstanding or advanced, as the case may be, with respect of any single piece of property. One borrower may obtain any number of loans on any number of pieces of property, subject to the limitation contained in Regulation No. 12.

Regulation No. 3

Applicable to All Loans Except New Structure Loans for Residential Purposes (See Regulation No. 22)

A note will be eligible for insurance if the total payment to be made by the borrower for interest, discount, and fees of all kinds in connection with the transaction is not in excess of an amount equivalent to $5 discount per $100 original face amount of a one-year note to be paid in equal monthly installments, calculated from the date of the note. This charge is a permitted maximum and not a mandatory rate, and a loan at any lower rate is eligible for insurance. Such charges correctly based on tables of calculations issued by the Federal Housing Administrator are deemed to comply with this regulation.

Question No. 3a.

Where an insured institution purchases or takes a qualified note but retains part of the purchase price or proceeds of the note as security for payment of it by the borrower, may the institution retain the total finance charge calculated on the face amount of the note?

Answer.

No. If the insured institution takes the maximum charge permitted by Regulation No. 3, but does not advance the entire proceeds of the note, this will increase the ratio of gross return to the institution on the average balance of the insured institution's funds outstanding during the period of the loan, and, therefore, if an insured institution retains a hold-back it must consider this in calculating the finance charges which it collects. The difference between the finance charges calculated on the face amount of the note and the finance charges calculated on the amount advanced by the insured institution must be credited to the account of the dealer or contractor from whom the note was purchased. See also Question and Answer No. 14g.

Question No. 3b.

Does Regulation No. 3 mean that an insured institution may charge the borrower $5 per $100 face amount of the note for each year the loan is outstanding?

Answer.

No. It means that for a job costing $95, a one-year installment note could have a face amount of $100 and the total charge to the borrower could not exceed $5, the borrower to make monthly installment payments of $8.34 (with adjustment on last payment). This charge on a one-year note, non-interest-bearing and payable in equal monthly installments, establishes the basis of charge which may not be exceeded on notes with other maturities. This is a ratio of 0.097166 between the total charge and average amount outstanding on the debt.

Tables of Calculations

Not for New Construction Dwelling Loans

The following factors may be used to facilitate handling of notes under the Property Improvement Plan. In the center column of the first table are figures from 6 to 60 for each possible monthly maturity that may be used for such a note. In the right hand column are Discount Factors. The face amount of a discount note, multiplied by the Discount Factor for any maturity desired, will give the maximum permissible amount of discount that may be charged the borrower. In the left hand column are Gross Charge Factors. The amount of cash proceeds (the principal sum the borrower receives), multiplied by the Gross Charge Factor for any maturity, will give the maximum permissible amount of interest and fees that may be charged.

Operation of the Discount Factor.

A discount of $5 on a $100 note for a period of one year, with provision in the note for equal monthly installment payments, gives a ratio of 0.097166 of total charge paid by borrower to average amount outstanding on the debt during the period of the loan. This is the maximum charge under the Regulations of the Administrator that may be obtained from the borrower on a note of any amount, of any maturity, and regardless of the number of installment payments. The same limit as to the ratio of 0.097166 of total charge paid by the borrower to average amount outstanding on the debt would apply to a former note providing for less than 12 installments a year, or to a note providing for more than 12 installments a year.

On a one-year monthly payment note, the Discount Factor is 0.05. On a 24-month note, however, the Discount Factor is 0.091912; 36-month note, 0.130282, etc. The Discount Factor for each maturity from 6 to 60 months is given in the table herewith. On a discount note of $1,000 face amount, the amount of discount for 12 months would be $50; for 24 months, $91.91; for 36 months, $130.28.

Operation of the Gross Charge Factor.

An insured institution, desiring to ascertain the maximum amount of interest and fees it would be permissible to charge the borrower on any principal sum in order not to exceed the ratio of 0.097166 of total charge to the borrower to average amount outstanding on the debt during the period of the loan, can do so by using the Gross Charge Factor. Thus on a one-year note the Gross Charge Factor is 0.052632; on a 24-month note, 0.101215; on a 36-month note, 0.149798. The Gross Charge Factor for each maturity from 6 to 60 months is given in the tables herewith. Thus by taking a $950 advance and mutliplying by the proper Gross Charge Factor the amount of interest and fees allowed for 12 months will prove to be $50; for 24 months, $96.15; for 36 months, $142.31.

Tables are available for the use of savings, building and loan associations, cooperative banks, and similar institutions, covering loans with maturities up to 15 years, or 180 months, only the first five years and thirty-two days of which will be covered by insurance. Copies of these tables may be obtained upon request from the Federal Housing Administration.

Tables are also available setting forth Discount and Gross Charge Factors based on discounts of $3, $3.50, $4, and $4.50 per $100 original face amount of a one-year note to be paid in equal monthly installments. These are provided so that institutions desiring to charge less than the maximum permitted rate will have no difficulty in calculating the finance charge to be taken. The rate set forth in Regulation No. 3 is purely a maximum rate, and it is urged by the Administrator that a lower rate be used wherever compatible with the circumstances surrounding the loan.

Question No. 3c.

If security, such as a mortgage, is taken, may the actual costs of title search, appraisal, etc., be charged the borrower in addition to the charge permitted?

Answer.

No. Any such costs as these must be included within the maximum permitted charge to the borrower.

Question No. 3d.

Where an insured institution requires that a dealer or manufacturer, from whom it purchases notes, present a credit report on the borrower at the dealer's or manufacturer's expense, will such a requirement be considered to increase the finance charge received by the insured institution?

Answer.

No. If the cost of the credit report on the borrower is not passed on to him, either directly or indirectly, the cost of such report need not be considered in calculating the finance charge taken.

Question No. 3e.

Although the standard formula for determining the charge to the borrower contemplates a monthly installment note, is it intended that the same resulting ratio shall apply in the case of a note on which there is only one payment (or any number more or less than 12) per year, as in the case of a farmer or a producer of livestock who is making payments in accordance with the dates on which his income is received?

Answer.

Yes. The same ratio of 0.097166 between total charge to the borrower and average amount outstanding on the debt applies as a maximum which must not be exceeded. It is suggested that an interest-bearing note, at the lowest rate compatible with the locality and credit conditions, should be used where a note calls for seasonal payments.

Question No. 3f.

May an insured institution make a charge on a basis other than that set forth in the Tables of Calculations?

Answer.

Yes. An insured institution may calculate its charges by any method it desires, provided that the total cost to the borrower does not exceed the maximum ratio permitted by Regulation No. 3. Thus, for instance, an institution may take a note which calls for the payment of 6% interest on the decreasing balances and also assess the borrower for a commission, or for recording or filing fees, etc. If the total charge to the borrower at the rate of interest stated in the note, plus the additional fees which the borrower is required to pay in connection with the loan does not exceed the maximum ratio permitted by Regulation No. 3, a note will be eligible for insurance, provided that it otherwise complies with the Regulations.

Question No. 3g.

How should the maximum charge be calculated from factor tables in the case of eligible loans in which the period to the first installment differs from the remaining payment periods?

Answer.

On loans payable monthly no adjustment will be necessary, and the factor corresponding to the full number of installments may be used; even though the charge, so calcalculated, may exceed slightly basis 0.097166 ratio.

On loans payable quarterly, semiannually, or annually the maximum charge may be ascertained by multiplying the proceeds by the gross charge factor corresponding to the number of installments and either adding or deducting, depending on whether the initial period is greater or less than subsequent payment periods, an amount calculated at the rate of 9.7166% per annum (0.8097% per month) on the proceeds for a period equal to the difference between the initial and remaining periods. Thus on an advance of $100 to be paid in 4 quarterly installments, the first due one month from the date of the note, the maximum charge would be the 4 payment factor, 0.060729, multiplied by the proceeds, $100, less 0.008097 times 2 times $100 ($6.07—$1.62), or $4.45. It should be noted that gross charge factors only may be used in this connection and that discount factors are applicable only when no adjustment is made.

Should it be desired to assess the full maximum charge on monthly loans in which the initial period is greater than a month, gross charge factors alone may be used and the calculation should be similar to that described above in connection with quarterly, semiannual, and annual loans.

Applicable to All Loans

Notes may provide for the payment by the maker of a late charge not to exceed five cents for each $1 of each payment more than 15 days in arrears, but not to exceed $5 in respect of any one such late payment. In lieu of, but not in addition to, the late charge, the note may provide for interest on overdue payments from the due date of the payment at a rate not to exceed the maximum legal rate permitted in the jurisdiction where the loan is made. Although late charges, as provided in this regulation, are permitted, if such charges are not collected from the borrower they may not be included in claim for loss made under the contract of insurance.

Question No. 4a.

May the late charge be collected more than once on any single installment?

Answer.

No. Where the late charge of five cents per $1 for each payment more than 15 days in arrears is contracted for, it may be assessed only once for any one particular payment, and the total late charge so assessed on any one particular payment may not exceed $5. However, if in lieu of a late charge the note calls for any rate of interest on a delinquent payment up to the highest legal rate in the jurisdiction where executed, such interest may be collected from the borrower on any such delinquent payment (but not upon the whole remaining principal unless the whole note is matured by such delinquency) from the date it came due and was not paid, until the date upon which it was paid.

Question No. 4b.

Is the amount collected in the form of late charges included in the maximum amount which a financial institution may charge the borrower for discount, interest, or fees?

Answer.

No. The late charge is reimbursement to the institution for work involved in the handling of payments not made on the due dates. As late charges represent a penalty for not paying an installment on its due date there is no connection with the financing charge which is determined at the time the loan is granted, on the basis that the note will be paid in accordance with its terms.

Question No. 4c.

May late charges be deducted from regular installments paid by the borrower and the balance of the installment applied on the note?

Answer.

No. The late charges must be billed and collected as such, and evidence of such billing must be included in the file when a claim for loss is made under the contract of insurance.

Question No. 4d.

Will a provision in a note that interest on principal will be charged after the maturing of the entire balance of the loan by default or otherwise be construed to be in conflict with Regulation No. 4, if the note also provides for late charges or interest on individual late payments?

Answer.

No. Late charges are intended to compensate an institution for the extra collection effort and expense it incurs in furthering the collection of delinquent payments. It is not intended that the late charge shall take the place of interest on the principal after the maturity of the whole obligation. Thus, a provision for such interest will not conflict with the limitation set forth in Regulation No. 4, which refers only to interest or late charges taken on a specific installment for failure to make that payment on its due date.

Regulation No. 5

Applicable to All Loans Except New Structure Loans for Residential Purposes (See Regulation No. 21)

Notes may not have a final maturity in excess of five years and thirty-two days from the date of the note, except in the case of savings, building and loan associations, cooperative banks, and similar institutions.

Question No. 5a.

What is the effect of exception in Regulation No. 5?

Answer.

The Administrator has made a special exception in the case of savings, building and loan associations, cooperative banks, and similar institutions, permitting them to acquire obligations eligible for insurance with a maturity longer than five years and thirty-two days, for a period and at a rate of return not to exceed that of any standard existing plan of such institution, and provided that Regulation No. 3 is complied with.

This ruling makes it possible for those institutions, generally required by law to take mortgage security and further restricted in some cases as to the minimum term of years which may apply to their obligations, to make improvement loans conforming with the Regulations of the Administrator.

The Contract of Insurance shall apply to such long-term obligations only for a period of five years and thirty-two days from the date the obligation is first executed, and any claim for loss must be made as the result of a default occurring at or within five years and thirty-two days from the date of the obligation reported for insurance.

It is suggested that in all cases where a mortgage institution is already carrying an uninsured advance to a borrower who now wishes a further advance under the same mortgage on an obligation eligible for insurance under Title I, whether for a period up to five years and thirty-two days or for a longer period under the special exception permitted in Regulation No. 5, the mortgage institution carry the insured loan in a separate account on its books, so that there will be no confusion in auditing the account in case a claim is made under the Contract of Insurance.

However, if a mortgage institution wishes to carry both the uninsured and insured advances under one mortgage and in one consolidated account, the Administrator will permit the practice but advises against it.

Of course, the insured loan must always be evidenced by a separate obligation.

Where the two transactions are carried in one account it will be assumed, for the purpose of computing the amount outstanding on the insured obligation in event of claim under the Contract of Insurance, that all payments received on the consolidated account subsequent to the date of the insured obligation were applied pro rata on both the insured and the uninsured obligations.

Where a separate mortgage has been taken on an insured obligation, the Administrator will require, in event of a claim under the Contract of Insurance, that this mortgage be assigned to the Administrator. If one mortgage covers both an insured and an uninsured obligation, the proceeds received through foreclosure in excess of all uninsured obligations made prior to the insured obligation and covered by the mortgage (but not exceeding the amount of the claim paid to the mortgage institution on the insured obligation by the Administrator) must be forwarded to the Administrator.

The Administrator imposes only one limitation under this special exception (this limitation does not apply where the loan in question is to be repaid within five years): The Administrator will not insure a portion of a greater advance made at the same time. This does not prohibit the insurance of a loan because of a previously existing debt covered by a mortgage, where the prior obligation was incurred in a bona fide independent transaction, and the Administrator will assume that, if the two transactions are six months apart, they are independent; furthermore, this limitation will not be applied in cases where the mortgage executed at the time of the Improvement Loan also covers a note taken to refund an existing mortgage debt on the same property held by the lending institution or by a third party. Also, where a further advance is made by the insured institution at the same time as the Improvement Loan, for the purpose of paying off delinquent taxes or assessments, this limitation will not apply.

Some institutions covered by this special exception of the Administrator are now charging financing rates within the maximum permitted by the Regulations. Such an institution may check its charges against the maximum permitted. The Gross Charge Factor Table set forth under Regulation No. 3, and Question and Answer No. 3b, has been extended to cover a period of 180 months. To determine whether an obligation complies with Regulation No. 3, it will be necessary only to multiply the net proceeds by the appropriate Gross Charge Factor. By net proceeds is meant the net amount received by the borrower after deduction of all expenses paid by, or chargeable to, the borrower incident to the securing of the loan. If the borrower is not required to pay, whether as principal, interest, fees, or charges of any kind, an amount in excess of the net proceeds received by him plus the gross charge calculated thereon as above, the obligation will comply with Regulation No. 3. If an institution is in doubt about the compliance of its plan with Regulation No. 3, it may send to the Federal Housing Administration a statement of its plan accompanied by a specific example, and the Administration will determine whether or not the plan is in compliance and will notify the institution accordingly.

Question No. 5b.

May the insurance granted in any case exceed a period of five years and thirty-two days beyond the date of the original transaction?

Answer.

No, except as provided in Regulation No. 19 or No. 21. Even where a new note is taken to liquidate a previously insured obligation, as provided for in Regulation No. 18, the total insurance coverage granted shall not extend beyond five years and thirty-two days from the date of the original note. Thus, if the original note had a maturity of five years and thirty-two days, and it became necessary to rewrite this note at the end of the fourth year on a smaller payment which would result in the new note having a maturity of three years, the insurance coverage on the new note would terminate at the expiration of one year and thirty-two days from the date of the new note, or five years and thirty-two days from the date of the original note.

Question No. 5c.

May an equal monthly payment obligation call for more than 60 payments?

Answer.

No. However an obligation may call for the maximum of 60 equal monthly payments with the first payment not more than 2 calendar months after the date of the note. This permissible period from the date of the note to the date of the first payment accounts for the establishment of a maximum maturity of 5 years and 32 days.

Regulation No. 6

Applicable to All Loans

Notes must be payable in equal monthly, semimonthly, or weekly installments. The final installment may be slightly more or less than the other installments, subject to such exceptions as may be made by the administrator. Notes may not provide for a first payment less than six days or more than two calendar months after the date of the note. However, if fifty-one percent or more of the income of the maker is derived directly from the sale of agricultural crops, commodities, or livestock produced by him, a note may be made payable in installments corresponding to income periods shown on the credit statement. In such cases, the first payment must be made within twelve months of the date of the note and at least one payment must be made during each calendar year thereafter and the proportion of total principal to be paid in later years must not exceed the proportion of total principal payable in earlier years.

Question No. 6a.

May the date of the first installment and subsequent payments be arranged to coincide with the day on which it will be most convenient for the borrower to meet his payments?

Answer.

Yes. The date fixed for the start of the periodic payments should be made agreeable to the borrower. An insured institution may arrange the first payment anywhere from six days to two calendar months from the date the note is made, but thereafter each payment should be made on a regular schedule figured from the date of the first payment. Although the time elapsing between the date of the note and the date set for the first payment may slightly increase the ratio of the charge to the amount outstanding on the debt over the maximum set in Regulation No. 3 or No. 22 (new dwelling loans), this will not affect the insurance coverage.

Question No. 6b.

What effect will the acceptance of payment in advance on a note have on its eligibility for insurance in respect of the maximum charge permitted by the Administrator?

Answer.

Where the prepayment is merely voluntary payment of an installment prior to due date, such payment shall not be construed as increasing the ratio provided for in Regulation No. 3 or No. 22 (new dwelling loans). However, if the entire balance outstanding on the note is paid in advance, the insured institution must make a rebate at a rate not less than 5% per annum on the amounts so paid in advance of their due dates, if the insured institution has taken the maximum charge permitted by the Administrator. If a lesser charge has been taken the rebate must be at not less than a proportional rate. The unearned portion of the original charge retained by the insured institution represents compensation to it for making the loan and setting the transaction up on its books. This also is construed as conforming with Regulation No. 3 or No. 22.

A simple formula for arriving at the minimum rebate required is:

$$\frac{\text{Unmatured balance} \times 5\%}{M} \times \frac{N+1}{2}$$

Note.—N=Number of periods anticipated. M=Number of payments per year. "Unmatured balance" does not include past due amounts. Substitution of any greater percentage for 5% is encouraged.

Regulation No. 7

Applicable Only to Existing Structure Improvement Loans

A loan or advance of credit or purchase of an obligation representing a loan or advance of credit not in excess of $10,000, exclusive of financing charges to the borrower, will be eligible for insurance if it is made to finance repairs, alterations, or improvements made after February 4, 1938 upon existing structures or in connection therewith, including the cost of architectural and engineering services if any. Such loan or advance of credit must be made on or after February 4, 1938.

Question No. 7a.

Will loans made by an insured institution prior to February 4, 1938 or obligations purchased by such an institution prior to such date, for the purpose of financing eligible transactions be eligible for insurance under Contracts of Insurance issued on and after February 4, 1938?

Answer.

No. Section 2 of Title I of the National Housing Act, as amended, was re-enacted and amended by the Congress and became effective on February 3, 1938 subject to certain limitations. As new Contracts of Insurance have been issued, only those loans, or purchases of obligations made on and after that date will be eligible for insurance under such contracts. Loans and advances of credit or purchases of obligations representing loans or advances of credit made for the purpose of refinancing existing obligations not previously reported for insurance under these Regulations are ineligible.

Question No. 7b.

What is the meaning of the term "existing structure" as used in the Regulation?

Answer.

An existing structure is a completed building which has or has had a distinctive functional use. The purpose of Section 2 of Title I as re-enacted and amended is to make credit available for the repair, alteration or improvement of existing structures, and not for the purpose of completing unfinished buildings. The Act specifically requires that the structure upon or in connection with which the proceeds of the loan are to be expended be an existing one.

Unless a complete structure exists upon the property upon which the proceeds of the loan are to be expended, the loan will not be eligible for insurance. This does not exclude a loan for the repair of a previously complete structure which has been damaged but not substantially destroyed by deterioration, or flood, fire, or other casualty; nor the construction of an attached garage, or other attached structure in connection with a completed house or other major building. It does, however, make ineligible loans for the purpose of finishing the erection of an incomplete structure or the erection of a detached new structure. The device of erecting a minor structure first, such as a garage, and then obtaining an insured loan not in excess of $10,000 for the erection or completion of a major structure, such as a house, cannot be approved under Title I as re-enacted and amended.

Question No. 7c.

If architectural and engineering services may be included as expenses which may be paid out of the proceeds of a loan, may not such other expenses as fire insurance and taxes also be included?

Answer.

No. Architectural and engineering expenses are as much a part of the cost of alterations, repairs and improvements as the wages of the labor employed. Expenses such as possible increased fire insurance or taxes as a result of the work done are not costs of the job.

Question No. 7d.

Will loans in the amount of $10,000 or less, for the purpose of financing the purchase and installation of equipment and machinery be eligible for insurance?

Answer.

No. Under Section 2 of Title I of the National Housing Act, as re-enacted and amended effective February 3, 1938, loans in the amount of $10,000 or less are specifically limited to loans for the purpose of financing repairs, alterations, and improvements upon or in connection with existing structures. Under the terms of the Act, therefore, only those loans involving repairs, alterations, and improvements upon or in connection with existing structures will be eligible for insurance. Heating, plumbing, wiring and built-in air-conditioning and fire control systems are considered improvements to existing structures, and are therefore eligible. Refrigerators, both commercial and domestic; washers, ironers, cooking stoves, both commercial and domestic; scales, counters, bars, showcases, and so forth, which may have been previously eligible for purchase and installation are ineligible.

Where any doubt exists as to the eligibility of a transaction which is to be financed with an insured loan, the facts of the case, with descriptive material, should be submitted to the Administrator at Washington for a specific ruling.

Applicable to All Loans

Where a real estate mortgage, deed of trust, or a conditional sales contract, chattel mortgage or any other security device has been used to secure the payment of loans for eligible purposes, the insured institution may not both proceed against such security and also make claim under its contract of insurance, but must elect which method it desires to pursue. If claim is made under the contract of insurance, such security device must be assigned, in its entirety, to the United States of America. If the security taken is non-assignable, all rights in such security must be exhausted by the insured institution or the claim against the Administrator reduced by the full face amount of the security taken before claim will be paid by the Administrator.

Question No. 8a.

What is the attitude of the Administrator to taking of security on loans in excess of $2,500?

Answer.

Since loans in excess of $2,500 of the type provided for in the amendment to Title I of the Act involve a substantial sum, usual business precaution in the way of security should be taken.

Question No. 8b.

If a security instrument is taken should it be recorded?

Answer.

Yes. It is always good business practice to record security instruments in accordance with the law of the appropriate jurisdiction.

Regulation No. 9

Applicable to All Loans

A loan is not eligible for insurance if it is made to a borrower who is delinquent, at the time the loan is made, as to either principal or interest, with respect to an obligation owing to or insured by any department or agency of the Federal Government. The lending institution may rely upon the statement as appearing in the borrower's signed credit statement in determining whether a loan complies with this regulation.

Regulation No. 10

Applicable to All Loans

The question of the financial condition of the borrower is left to the reasonable judgment of the insured institution as a credit matter. The borrower must furnish the lending institution a signed statement, approved as to form by the Administrator, which in the judgment of the insured institution shows the borrower to be solvent, with reasonable ability to pay the obligation and in other respects a reasonable credit risk in view of the insurance provided by the National Housing Act.

Question No. 10a.

Does the Administrator impose any minimum requirements as to the borrower's income or credit standing?

Answer.

The Credit Statement furnished by the borrower must reveal such facts as will clearly indicate that he is solvent. It is felt that since insured institutions have by now had considerable experience in what heretofore was for many of them a totally new type of credit, such questions as the minimum income to be required of the borrower should be left to their discretion, since they are undoubtedly more able to judge the extrinsic factors surrounding each transaction which might make a loan advisable or inadvisable. The borrower's ability to repay is an important factor in determining whether credit should be extended. The most careful consideration should be given to this credit factor.

Question No. 10b.

If at a later date, an additional loan is made to the same borrower, is it necessary that the lending institution obtain another Credit Statement?

Answer.

Yes. This Regulation makes it mandatory on the part of the lending institution to obtain a separate Credit Statement in connection with each loan made in order to determine whether there has been any change in the borrower's condition of solvency and ability to pay since the previous loan, and also in order to determine the eligibility of the use of the proceeds of the new loan.

Question No. 10c.

What if the maker of the note uses the proceeds for something other than repairs, alterations, and improvements upon existing structures or the building of new structures as certified in the Credit Statement?

Answer.

So far as the insured institution is concerned, if it acts in good faith, it can rely upon the statement of the borrower who signs the Credit Statement certifying that the entire proceeds will be used exclusively in payment for repairs, alterations, and improvements upon or in connection with existing structures or the building of new structures as certified in the Credit Statement. The Administrator does not place upon the insured institution the burden of verifying the truth of any such statement. Even if such statements are investigated after the loan is made and found to be false, this will not affect in any way the eligibility of the note for insurance. However, any borrower making such a false statement of misusing the funds, or any dealer, contractor, or lender who knowingly assists in such a violation, will be committing a Federal offense under the provisions of the National Housing Act. In all cases where the insured institution discovers a material misstatement in the Credit Statement, or misuse of funds, it must promptly report such a discovery to the Administration.

Regulation No. 11

Applicable to All Loans

If a note on its face complies with the requirements, and if the credit statement reveals the other facts necessary to make the loan eligible, these may be accepted as final and conclusive proof of eligibility and no further evidence will be required by the administrator.

Question No. 11a.

What information should be revealed in the Credit Statement?

Answer.

The Credit Statement should give sufficient information about the borrower's income and credit standing and his ownership of the property, or if he is a lessee, the expiration date of the lease in accordance with Regulation No. 1. It should also contain sufficient specific detailed information as to the purposes for which the proceeds of the loan are to be used to enable the insured institution to determine whether there is a violation of Regulations governing the eligibility of a Title I loan. All questions should be answered and all information called for by the Credit Statement should be supplied. In connection with new dwelling loans, a Certificate of Conformance is a part of the Credit Statement and must accompany the credit statement in order that the institution may determine whether the new dwelling conforms with the required minimum standards of the Administrator.

Question No. 11b.

Will the failure of the insured institution to discover the falsity of the borrower's representations in his Credit Statement make a note ineligible for insurance?

Answer.

No. If the insured institution, after making the loan or purchasing the note in good faith, learns of the falsity of any material statement in the Credit Statement, this will not invalidate the insurance, but the facts of such discovery must be reported to the Federal Housing Administration promptly.

Question No. 11c.

What action may be taken by the Administrator if in his opinion a high ratio of loss results from failure to exercise reasonable credit judgment?

Answer.

While the question of the financial condition of the borrower is left to the reasonable judgment of the insured institution, should there be a high loss ratio, which, in the opinion of the Administrator, is due to a flagrant abuse of the insurance provisions, the Contract of Insurance may be cancelled as to future business.

Regulation No. 12

Applicable Only to Loans Resulting in Excess of $2,500 to One Borrower

Loans, advances of credit, or purchases of obligations representing loans or advances of credit, in excess of $2500 to any individual borrower, exclusive of financing charges, or any loan, advance of credit, or purchase which increases the amount outstanding to any individual borrower to an amount in excess of $2500 will be accepted for insurance only upon prior approval of the Administrator.

Question No. 12a.

Does this Regulation include the outstanding balance, if any, on a loan or advance of credit obtained pursuant to the provisions of Title I of the National Housing Act in effect prior to February 4, 1938?

Answer.

No. The present limitation as to the prior approval of the Administrator on advances of credit in excess of $2,500 to any individual borrower applies only to such advances made after February 4, 1938. Regulation No. 9, however, provides that a loan is not eligible for insurance if it is made to a borrower who is delinquent as to either principal or interest with respect to an obligation previously obtained pursuant to the provisions of the National Housing Act.

Regulation No. 13

Applicable to All Loans

Eligible notes must be reported on the proper form to the Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C., within 31 days from the date of the note, or the date upon which it was purchased, in order to be covered by the insurance. All notes refinanced must likewise be reported within 31 days, on the proper form. In any case, the Administrator may, in his discretion, accept a late report.

Regulation No. 14

Applicable to All Loans

Subject to Regulation No. 17, claim may be made only for loss sustained by the insured institution itself, and may include:

(1) Net unpaid amount of advance actually made or the actual purchase price of the note, whichever is the lesser;

(2) Uncollected earned interest (after default interest is not to be claimed at a rate to exceed 4% per annum and will be calculated to the date the claim is approved for payment);

(3) Uncollected courts costs, including fees paid for issuing, serving and filing summons;

(4) Attorney's fees not exceeding 15% of the amount collected on the defaulted note;

(5) Handling fee of $5 for each loan, if judgment is secured, plus 5% of amounts collected subsequent to return of unsatisfied property execution.

Question No. 14a.

On the following statement of facts, how much would an insured institution be entitled to as a claim under the Contract of Insurance? Suppose on a $1,000 three-year note, dated August 1 and payable in monthly installments of $27.78 the maximum discount of $130.28 was taken. Payments were received as follows: The first five payments were made on the dates due; i. e., September 1, October 1, November 1, December 1, and January 1; the payment due February 1 was received 60 days late; i. e., April 1. No further payments were received and the insured institution matured the note, demanded payment of the full unpaid balance, brought suit, obtained judgment, and property execution was returned unsatisfied. (It is not required that the institution do this before filing claim, but it is to its advantage to make every effort to collect the claim in order to preserve its insurance reserve.) On July 1, $50 was collected. Nothing more was received, and claim for loss was made on the Administrator, which claim was approved for payment on August 1.

Answer.

In calculating claims, the date of default from which the institution is entitled to 4% interest is, in this instance, March 1; i. e., the earliest date on which an installment was due and for which full payment was not received prior to the maturing of the note. Therefore, the above claim would include the following items:

1. Charge for full term of loan, $130.28. This charge is to be prorated to the date of default. The proration is figured on the basis of the period elapsed from the date the note was executed until the date of default as determined above.
Charge prorated to date of default	$45.19
Proceeds of loan (amount received by borrower) ($1,000.00 — $130.28)	869.72
Total to date of default	914.91
Less amount received in regular installments	166.68
Unpaid principal at time of default	748.23
Less amount received other than in regular installments	50.00
Net unpaid principal	698.23
2. Interest earned at 4% on $748.23 from March 1 to July 1	10.00
Interest earned at 4% on $698.23 from July 1 to August 1 (date claim was approved for payment)	2.37
3. Uncollected court costs and disbursements	6.00
4. Attorney's fees, 15% of $50 (amount collected after default)	7.50
5. Handling fee for securing judgment	5.00
Handling fee of 5% of amount collected subsequent to unsatisfied property execution	2.50
Total amount to be paid	$731.60

Question No. 14b.

Does the fact that the note provides for payment of interest at the full legal rate on the unpaid principal at some other rate than 4% after default resulting in a maturing of the entire balance of the obligation, affect the amount for which claim may be made?

Answer.

No. The Federal Housing Administrator assumes no control over the rate of interest to be charged to borrower after default in his payments if the whole obligation is matured, but uncollected interest earned after default will be paid by the Federal Housing Administrator only at the rate of 4%, calculated from the date of default to the date the claim is approved for payment.

Question No. 14c.

What is the meaning of the provision in Regulation No. 14 that attorney's fees not exceeding 15% of the amount collected on a defaulted note may be included in a claim under the Contract of Insurance?

Answer.

The Attorney's fees provided for in Regulation No. 14 are intended to cover the case of a note which has become in final default (a default which results in a claim being made under the Contract of Insurance) and it appears to the insured institution to be necessary to put the note in the hands of an attorney for collection or suit. It is not intended to cover the cost of routine correspondence which may be carried on by an attorney because of occasional delinquencies. The late charge provided for in Regulation No. 4 is intended to compensate the institution for expense of this kind.

Question No. 14d.

Do attorney's fees include fees paid to a collection agency or only actual payments to regular attorneys?

Answer.

Attorney's fees for which claim may be made cover actual expenditures not exceeding 15% of the defaulted amount collected whether such fees have been paid to an attorney or to a collection agency employed by the insured institution.

Question No. 14e.

Suppose an insured institution does not employ an outside attorney but has its own legal staff to effect collections. May it nevertheless make claim for attorney's fees?

Answer.

Yes. An insured institution operating in this manner will be entitled to assess a proper proportion of the cost of maintaining its own legal staff, not exceeding 15% of the defaulted amount collected, as a claim for attorney's fees where actual collection work is carried on in this fashion.

Question No. 14f.

If a borrower is in default, and the note is put in the hands of an attorney for collection, who induces the borrower to agree to pay the amount outstanding if he is not called upon to pay attorney's fees, may the insured institution claim upon the Administrator for attorney's fees up to 15% of the amount collected, after having thus waived any such right against the borrower?

Answer.

No. If the insured institution waives its claim against the borrower, it may not call upon the Administrator for payment of such an item.

Question No. 14g.

On what basis will a claim be paid when an insured institution does not advance the full amount of the note, but retains a part of the face amount as a hold-back or reserve or deducts the finance charge in advance?

Answer.

Since claim may be made only for loss sustained by the insured institution itself, the amount of any reserve or hold-back, or of any unearned discount charge must be shown on the Statement of Facts. If all charges have been calculated correctly, the insured institution would be entitled to the amount actually advanced by it, less the amount of payments received and plus the unpaid earned charge calculated on the amount actually advanced and the other items specifically allowed by Regulation No. 14.

Regulation No. 15

Applicable to All Loans

Claim for reimbursement for loss on a qualified note may be made to the Administrator after default on any installment, provided demand has been made upon the debtor for the full unpaid balance.

For the purpose of this Regulation any payment received on an account, including payments on a Judgment predicated thereon, must be applied to the earliest unpaid installment and whenever any installment is six months in arrears claim must be made within thirty-one days.

In the case of yearly installment notes, whenever an installment is twelve months in arrears then claim must be made within thirty-one days.

Upon presentation to him of the facts of a particular case within the allowable claim period prescribed in this regulation, the Administrator may, in his discretion, extend the time within which claim must be made.

The Administrator, in his discretion, may at any time or from time to time call for a report from any institution on the delinquency status of the obligations held by such institution and reported to him for insurance.

Question No. 15a.

Assuming that a borrower defaults on the payment of two successive installments and then makes the equivalent of one full payment, either before or after Judgment has been obtained, what will be the permissible period within which to make claim?

Answer.

If the equivalent of a full installment is received prior to the expiration of the 6-month period, the amount of such payment should be credited to the installment that first went into default and the 6-month period calculated from the date of the first following installment remaining unpaid.

For example: If the note calls for monthly payments of thirty ($30.00) dollars, due the first of each month, and the borrower defaults on his January, February, March, April, May, June and July installments, claim must be filed by the institution on or before August 1st.

If the borrower had, however, defaulted on his January and February installments but in March made a fifteen ($15.00) dollar payment and in April a twenty ($20.00) dollar payment, the total of these two payments (thirty-five dollars) would be credited back to the January installment, which was the first one to be unpaid. In so doing the January default is cured and the February 1st installment then becomes the first one in default and the six month period is calculated therefrom.

Applicable to All Loans

Claims must be made on forms provided by the Administrator. They must be filled out completely and executed in duplicate by a duly qualified officer of the insured institution. If the regulations have been complied with, payment of the loss will be made upon audit of the claim and upon proper assignment to the United States of America, of the note upon which the loss occurred, together with any security taken to secure payment thereof. Any security or judgment taken must be assigned, and if any claim has been filed in bankruptcy, insolvency or probate proceedings, such claim must likewise be assigned to the United States of America.

Question No. 16a.

In submitting statement of claim on defaulted notes there may be cases in which it would not be practicable to transmit all of the documents required, and if such is the case what provision will the Administrator make to facilitate payment of the claim?

Answer.

In any such case the Administrator will consider arranging with the insured institution for the submission of a proper transcript or copies sufficient to audit the claim adequately, with the understanding that the documents in question will be forwarded upon passing of the claim for payment.

Question No. 16b.

What form of assignment or endorsement must be used in transferring the evidence of the borrower's indebtedness and the security taken on such indebtedness in the event of claim under the Contract of Insurance?

Answer.

The following form of assignment, should be used in assigning a note, judgment, conditional sales contract, chattel mortgage, or real estate mortgage in event of claim under the Contract of Insurance:

All right, title and interest of the undersigned is hereby assigned (without warranty, except that the note qualifies for insurance) to the United States of America.

Financial Institution

By _____

Title _____

In lieu of the above, a note may be transferred by endorsement without recourse.

Regulation No. 17

Applicable to All Loans

Subject to the limitation that his total liability which may be outstanding at any one time plus the amount of claims paid in respect of all insurance heretofore and hereafter granted shall not exceed $100,000,000, the Administrator, in accordance with Regulation No. 14, will reimburse any insured institution for losses sustained by it up to a total aggregate amount equal to 10% of the total amount advanced by it during the time its contract of insurance is in force, on all eligible obligations not previously reported for insurance, taken or purchased by it on and after February 4, 1938, and held by it, or on which it remains liable.

If obligations previously reported for insurance under contracts of insurance issued pursuant to the National Housing Act Amendments of 1938 approved February 3, 1938, are sold to another insured institution endorsed with or without recourse, the buying and selling institutions may agree, with the prior approval of the Administrator, to transfer all or any part of the insurance reserve standing to the credit of the selling institution, to the purchasing institution. Where the parties agree to transfer an insurance reserve in excess of 10% of the actual purchase price of the obligations involved, or in excess of 10% of the net unpaid original advance on the obligations involved, whichever is the lesser, the entire insurance reserve transferred may be used to pay only those claims arising out of defaults occurring in the transferred obligations. When the obligations so transferred have all been fully paid to the purchasing institution, it shall so notify the Administrator, and any insurance reserve remaining unused shall thereupon revert to the institution from which it was originally transferred.

Where the parties agree to transfer an insurance reserve not in excess of 10% of the actual purchase price of the obligations involved, or not in excess of 10% of the net unpaid original advance on the obligations involved, whichever is the lesser, the insurance reserve so transferred will be credited to the general reserve of the purchasing institution in the absence of any agreement to the contrary between the purchasing and selling institutions.

The transfer of insurance reserve in cases of merger or consolidation of two or more insured institutions will be provided for by the Administrator in accordance with the facts of the particular case.

In all cases the reports required by Regulation No. 13 must be filed and must indicate the intent of the parties with regard to the transfer of insurance reserve, and must show that no note to be transferred is delinquent more than one calendar month at the time of such transfer.

Where the notes are transferred without recourse, guarantee, or repurchase agreement and the reports do not indicate the intent of the parties, the insurance reserve will be transferred to the general reserve of the purchasing institution on the basis of 10% of the actual purchase price of the obligations involved, or 10% of the net unpaid original advance on the obligations involved, whichever is the lesser.

Where the transfer of the obligations is with recourse or under a guarantee or purchase agreement and the required reports do not show the intent of the parties, no insurance reserve will be transferred.

The selling price on the transfer of an insured note between insured institutions will not affect the insurance on the note. The calculation of insured loss will be based on the original transaction of the institution first reporting the loan for insurance.

The Administrator may at any time or from time to time call for such reports as he may deem to be necessary in connection with these regulations or he or his authorized representative may inspect the books or accounts of the lending institution as they pertain to the loans reported for insurance.

Question No. 17a.

Where notes reported by one insured institution to the Federal Housing Administration for insurance are pledged to another insured institution as security for a loan, will it be possible for the pledging institution to assign a part of its insurance reserve to cover losses on the notes pledged in the hands of the pledgee?

Answer.

Yes. Such an assignment of the pledging institutions' insurance reserve may be made with the prior consent of the Administrator. Requests for consent to the assignment should be accompanied by a signed agreement between the two institutions.

Question No. 17b.

Will any amounts salvaged by the Administrator, on a note for which an institution has been reimbursed under its Contract of Insurance, be added to the insurance reserve remaining to the credit of the Insured Institution?

Answer.

No. Once a claim has been properly paid by the Administrator the loan is transferred absolutely to him, and any amounts that may be collected thereon in no way accrue to the benefit of the insured institution's insurance reserve.

Regulation No. 18

Applicable to All Loans

New obligations to liquidate loans previously reported for insurance hereunder will be covered by insurance if they meet the requirements of these regulations. They must be reported on the proper form within 31 days from date of execution.

Question No. 18a.

Suppose the insured institution held a $600 discount note maturing in two years, the maximum discount permitted having been taken. At the end of the first year the borrower, having made payments totaling $300, comes in and explains that his circumstances have changed and he requests that he be allowed to make a new note for two years solely to liquidate the existing obligation, so that by spreading the remaining balance over a period of two years he could reduce the amount to be repaid monthly—how will this be figured and what will be the amount of the new note?

Answer.

There are two things the insured institution has to consider. First, how much is required to liquidate the existing note? Second, for what amount should the new note be written to yield the amount required to liquidate the unpaid balance of the existing note and provide for the proper finance charge on the new note? In the instance cited the borrower has repaid $300 and still owes $300.

The insured institution must make a reasonable refund at a rate of not less than 5% per annum on the installments being refinanced. This would amount to a minimum rebate of $8.13 in the example given. The amount required to liquidate the existing note is then the difference between the unpaid face amount of the note—$300—and the rebate of $8.13, or $291.87. This is the same calculation the insured institution would make if the borrower were seeking to pay off his obligation in cash instead of by making a new loan.

Referring to the Tables of Calculations, we find that to finance $291.87 for two years would cost $29.54 and the new note would, therefore, be made for $321.41. The borrower's monthly installments would be $13.39 for 24 months as contrasted with his previous installments of $25 for remaining 12 months of the original note.

In no case, however, may the insurance period of all such loans exceed the maximum provided for in Regulation No. 5 or No. 21 whichever may be applicable.

Question No. 18b.

Is the amount of the new obligation added to the total amount of loans made by the insured institution in calculating its insurance reserve?

Answer.

No. The original advance of credit was added to the total amount of loans made and is not deducted by reason of the fact that it is being refinanced through a new note. The new note could not, therefore, also be added.

Question No. 18c.

Will an agreement to extend or defer payments on a note previously reported for insurance without rewriting the note affect the insurance coverage on the note?

Answer.

No, subject to the terms of Regulation No. 15 and the following limitations:

1. The total cost to the borrower may not be increased, by any charge for the extension, over the maximum chargeable on the basis of the revised Schedule of Payments. It is of the utmost importance that this provision be adhered to as any deviation will be considered to invalidate the insurance on the note.

2. In no case will the insurance period of all such loans exceed the maximum provided for in Regulation No. 5 or No. 21 whichever may be applicable.

3. Where extension charges are paid in advance, but the borrower does not fulfill his contract, the insured institution may retain only that portion of the charge actually earned, and if claim is made under the Contract of Insurance, the balance must be credited as a payment to principal.

It will not be necessary for the institution to report extension agreements under which the original note remains in effect unless claim is made, at which time the original agreement together with a report of collections thereunder must be furnished the Administrator.

Applicable to All Loans

When a lending institution purchases an obligation representing a loan or advance of credit for eligible purposes, or disburses the proceeds to one other than the borrower it must not so disburse the proceeds until it has obtained a completion or installation certificate signed by the borrower, stating that the work has been done or the installation made.

Question No. 19a.

May an insured institution pay the proceeds of a note either in full or by installments to the contractor, supplier, or anyone else to whom it is directed by written authorization of the borrower that payment be made?

Answer.

Yes, in fact, in many cases, this would be considered good practice to make sure that the proceeds are being used for eligible purposes as agreed. In such cases written authority signed by the borrower must first be obtained in addition to the installation or completion certificate.

Applicable Only to New Structure Loans

A loan, advance of credit, or purchase of an obligation representing a loan or advance of credit, not in excess of $2,500, exclusive of financing charges to the borrower and including the cost of architectural and engineering services, for the purpose of financing the building of a new structure will be eligible for insurance, provided, however, that if such new structure is intended for use, in whole or in part, for residential purposes, the following conditions are complied with at the time the new structure is built:

1. Foundations.—(a) All foundations shall be of masonry pier or wall construction.

(b) Foundations shall be carried below the frost line prevailing in the neighborhood.

(c) No wood construction shall be less than 18 inches from the ground in unexcavated portions, and 8 inches from the ground on the exterior.

(b) Minimum area shall be 7,500 square feet, where public water supply is available and private sewage disposal system (cesspool or septic tank) is used.

(c) Minimum area shall be 20,000 square feet where both public water supply and public sewer are not available.

3. Minimum floor area of the dwelling shall be 360 square feet.

4. Windows.—(a) All habitable rooms including bathrooms must be provided with one or more windows to permit adequate natural light and ventilation.

5. Water supply.—(a) When public water supply is available connection shall be made to public water main.

(b) When public water supply is not available a private water supply shall be on the property and may be a drilled, driven or dug well or a natural spring.

(b) When public water supply is available but a public sewer is not available a bathroom shall be provided and running water shall be piped and connected to all fixtures and the kitchen sink and a cesspool or septic tank shall be installed.

(c) When public water supply is not available the requirements of a and b above are not applicable.

7. Outdoor toilets.—Outdoor toilets will not be permitted on lots less than 20,000 square feet in area.

8. Fire insurance.—(a) Fire insurance coverage must be obtained in an amount at least equal to the unpaid principal of the loan and must name the lending institution as beneficiary. In event of loss or damage the proceeds of such insurance shall be payable to the lending institution and shall either be applied to the reduction of the unpaid balance of the loan or if the borrower desires to obtain the use of such proceeds for the purpose of repairing or reconstructing the damaged structure the lending institution may release such proceeds to the borrower for such purpose.

(b) The cost of such insurance may be in addition to the maximum finance charge to the borrower permitted in Regulation No. 22, but in no event may such cost be included in the net proceeds advanced to the borrower.

9. Collateral.—(a) Collateral security for the loan must be obtained in the form of a mortgage or deed of trust covering the property improved by such new structure and must be recorded in accordance with the applicable laws of the jurisdiction. Such mortgage or deed of trust may be subject to outstanding liens, including mechanics' and materialmen's liens, but not including any other liens arising out of, or created in connection with the construction for which the loan or advance was made. At the time of making the loan or advance of credit the institution must obtain and may accept without further investigation the certification of the borrower that there will be no prior obligations arising out of or created in connection with financing the building of the structure and that any mechanics' and materialmen's liens created in connection with the construction for which the loan or advance was made will be satisfied in full upon completion of the structure. Recording fees may be in addition to the maximum finance charge to the borrower permitted in Regulation No. 22, but in no event may such cost be included in the net proceeds advanced to the borrower.

10. Exceptions.—The above conditions may be varied under special circumstances and in certain areas upon prior approval of the Administrator.

Question No. 20a.

Will a loan, advance of credit, or purchase of an obligation representing a loan or advance of credit for the purpose of financing the building of a new structure, the building of which was commenced prior to February 4, 1938, be eligible for insurance?

Answer.

No. Only those loans or purchases of obligations made on and after February 4, 1938, to finance the building of new structures, the erection of which started after that date, will be eligible for insurance.

Question No. 20b.

By what means may an institution determine whether the conditions necessary for the eligibility of a new structure for residential purposes complies with the requirements set forth in this Regulation?

Answer.

The borrower must furnish the lending institution a signed Certificate of Conformance, approved as to form or supplied by the Administrator, clearly stating the necessary information from which the institution can determine whether there is conformance with the required conditions set forth in this Regulation and that there will be no prior obligations arising out of or created in connection with financing the building of the structure and that any mechanics' and materialmens' liens created in connection with the construction for which the loan or advance was made will be satisfied in full upon completion of the structure.

The lending institution may rely upon the statements made by the borrower on his signed Certificate of Conformance and need not make any further investigation.

Question No. 20c.

What type of new structures other than those designed in whole or in part for residential purposes are eligible for building with the proceeds of an insured loan as contemplated by this Regulation?

Answer.

Any building having a distinct functional use and which represents an improvement to the realty may be built with the proceeds of an insured loan. Examples of such buildings are barns, wayside stands, garages, and similar rural, commercial or industrial buildings.

Regulation No. 21

Applicable Only to Loans for New Structures for Residential Use

Loans or advances of credit, or purchases of obligations representing loans or advances of credit, not in excess of $2,500, exclusive of financing charges to the borrower, and including the cost of architectural and engineering services, if any, for the purpose of financing the building of new structures intended for use, in whole or in part, for residential purposes will be eligible for insurance if they have a final maturity not in excess of ten years and thirty-two days.

Applicable Only to Loans for New Structures for Residential Use

A note for residential construction will be eligible for insurance only if the total payment to be made by the borrower for interest, discount and fees of all kinds (except fire insurance costs or recording fees as authorized in Regulation No. 20) in connection with the transaction is not in excess of an amount equivalent to $3.50 discount for $100 original face amount of a one year note to be paid in equal monthly installments, calculated from the date of the note. This charge is a permitted maximum and not a mandatory rate, and a loan at any lower rate is eligible for insurance, and such charge correctly based on tables of calculations issued by the Federal Housing Administrator is deemed to comply with this regulation.

NOTE.—The terms of all questions and answers under Regulation No. 3 herein are applicable to this Regulation as if set forth hereunder, provided, however, that all figures are amended to conform with the maximum charge permitted by this Regulation. The resultant ratio between the total charge and the average amount outstanding on the debt is 0.066959 on loans for financing the building of new structures for use in whole or in part for residential purposes. Thus, the following gross charge and discount factors are applicable:

INSTALLMENTS PAYABLE MONTHLY

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

SECTION I—APPROVAL OF MORTGAGEES

1. The following institutions are hereby approved as mortgagees under Section 203 (b) of the National Housing Act:

(a) National Mortgage Associations,
(b) Federal Reserve Banks,
(c) Federal Home Loan Banks,
(d) Reconstruction Finance Corporation,
(e) RFC Mortgage Company, and
(f) any other Federal, State or municipal governmental agency that is or may hereafter be empowered to hold mortgages insured under Title II of the National Housing Act as security or as collateral or for any other purpose.

2. Members of the Federal Reserve System, of the Federal Home Loan Bank System, and institutions whose deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation will be approved as mortgagees upon application.

3. Any charitable or nonprofit organization which presents evidence that it is responsible, has permanent funds of not less than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), and has experience in mortgage investment, may be approved upon application.

4. Any other institution not hereinbefore mentioned will be approved as a mortgagee upon application if it has the following qualifications and meets the following conditions to the satisfaction of the Administrator:

(a) it is a chartered institution or other permanent organization having succession;

(b) it is subject to the inspection and supervision of a governmental agency; or if not subject to inspection and supervision by a governmental agency, it shall submit an independent detailed audit of its books made by an accountant satisfactory to the Administrator and reflecting a condition satisfactory to him, and also, so long as its approval as a mortgagee continues, shall file with the Administrator similar audits at least once in each calendar year and submit at any time to such examination of its books and affairs as the Administrator may require, and comply with any other conditions that the Administrator may impose

(c) its principal activity is lending on or investing in mortgages, funds which are under its own control; and it has sound capital funds properly proportioned to its liabilities and to the character and extent of its operations, which funds shall be of a value of not less than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000): provided, that this qualification and condition as to the minimum amount of capital funds shall not apply.

(1) to an institution or other permanent organization subject to the inspection and supervision of a governmental agency, or

(2) to an institution or other permanent organization that establishes to the satisfaction of the Administrator that it is a duly authorized loan correspondent of, and if its approval is requested by, an approved mortgagee or assignee which lends on, or invests in, mortgages on a national scale and is subject to the inspection and supervision of a governmental agency, on the condition that the termination of its relationship as such correspondent will be cause (subject to the provisions of subsection (6) of this section) for withdrawal of its approval as an approved mortgagee and on the further condition that the correspondent institution and the institution for which it is authorized to act shall agree to notify promptly the Administrator of the termination of such relationship; and

(d) if it is not subject to the inspection and supervision of a governmental agency, it shall submit an agreement in writing: (1) that so long as it continues to be approved as a mortgagee, it will not issue any mortgage participating certificates on which it assumes personal liability, or issue any guaranty with respect to principal or interest of any mortgage, except that any such obligations outstanding on the date of the application of such institution may thereafter be renewed; and (2) that it will segregate all monthly payments under mortgages insured by the Administrator, received by it on account of ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums, and will deposit such funds in a special account, or accounts, with some banking institution which is subject to the inspection and supervision of a governmental agency and shall use such funds for no purpose other than that for which they were received.

5. Approval as a mortgagee under this section, of a banking institution or trust company which is subject to the inspection and supervision of a governmental agency, shall be deemed to constitute approval of such institution or company when lawfully acting in a fiduciary capacity in investing fiduciary funds which are under its individual or joint control. Upon termination of such fiduciary relationship, whether by revocation or otherwise, any insured mortgages held in the fiduciary estate shall be transferred to a mortgagee approved under this or the succeeding section and the fiduciary relationship must be such as to permit such transfer.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to permit the sale to the general public of instruments representing the beneficial interest in all or part of one or more insured mortgages.

6. Approval of an institution as a mortgagee may be withdrawn at any time by notice from the Administrator. In the discretion of the Administrator, the transfer of an insured mortgage to a mortgagee not approved to act under this or the succeeding section, or the failure of a mortgagee not subject to the inspection and supervision of a governmental agency, to segregate all funds received from mortgagors on account of ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums, and to deposit such funds in a special account, or accounts, with some banking institution which is subject to the inspection and supervision of some governmental agency, or the use of such funds for any purpose other than that for which they were received will be cause for withdrawal of approval. Withdrawal of approval will in no case affect the insurance on mortgages theretofore accepted for insurance.

SECTION II—APPROVAL OF ACCEPTABLE ASSIGNEES

1. The Administrator will upon application approve a chartered institution or other permanent organization as an acceptable assignee if such institution or organization meets the following conditions to the satisfaction of the Administrator:

(a) it is a corporation or other permanent organization having succession;

(b) it has sound capital funds of not less than $100,000;

(c) it is subject to the inspection and supervision of a governmental agency;

(d) its investments in mortgage loans are intended for its own portfolio; and

(e) its facilities are such that it will be able properly to service mortgages held by it.

2. Such an acceptable assignee shall be entitled to acquire insured mortgages from approved mortgagees by assignment after the execution and insurance of such mortgages, and to hold such mortgages without invalidating the insurance thereof, and to service them while so held. An acceptable assignee is not authorized to initiate insured mortgage loans originally or to apply for the insurance of mortgages under Section 203 (a) of the National Housing Act; but shall in all other respects be considered as included in the term "mortgagee" as used in these Administrative Rules and the Regulations of the Federal Housing Administrator.

3. Approval of an institution as an acceptable assignee may be withdrawn at any time by notice from the Administrator. Except in individual cases, approved by the Administrator, transfer of an insured mortgage to a mortgagee not approved to act under this or the preceding section will be cause for withdrawal of approval. Withdrawal of approval will in no case affect the insurance on mortgages theretofore accepted for insurance.

SECTION III—APPLICATION AND COMMITMENT

1. Any approved mortgagee may submit an application for insurance of a mortgage about to be executed, or of a mortgage already executed.

2. The application must be made upon a standard form prescribed by the Administrator.

3. The application must be accompanied by the mortgagee's check for a sum computed at a rate of three dollars ($3) per thousand dollars ($1,000) of the original principal amount of the mortgage loan applied for, to cover the costs of appraisal by the Administrator, but in no case shall such sum be less than ten dollars ($10). If an application is refused without an appraisal being made by the Administrator, the fee will be returned to the applicant but no portion of the fee will be returned after appraisal or on account of any difference between the amount applied for and the amount approved for insurance.

If, after insurance, the outstanding principal amount of an insured mortgage is increased either by amendment or by the substitution of a new insured mortgage, the fee herein provided for shall be based upon the amount of such increase but in no case shall be less than ten dollars ($10).

The Administrator may agree on fees different from those fixed in this subsection in cases where substantially all residential mortgages and real estate owned or held by an approved mortgagee are examined for mortgage insurance as one operation.

4. Upon approval of an application, acceptance of the mortgage for insurance will be evidenced by the issuance of a commitment setting forth, upon a form prescribed by the Administrator, the terms and conditions upon which the mortgage will be insured.

SECTION IV—ELIGIBLE MORTGAGES

To be eligible for insurance—

1. The mortgage must be executed upon a form approved by the Administrator for use in the jurisdiction in which the property covered by the mortgage is situated, by a mortgagor with the qualifications hereinafter set forth in Section V, must be a first lien upon property that conforms with the property standards prescribed by the Administrator, and the entire principal amount of the mortgage must have been disbursed to, or for the account of, the mortgagor.

2. The mortgage should involve a principal obligation in an amount of one hundred dollars ($100) or multiples thereof but must not exceed sixteen thousand dollars ($16,000) and must not exceed eighty per centum (80%) of the appraised value of the property as of the date the mortgage is accepted for insurance except under the following circumstances:

(a) If the amount of the mortgage does not exceed $5400 and there is located upon the property a dwelling designed principally for a single family residence, the construction of which

(1) is begun after February 3, 1938, and which is approved for mortgage insurance prior to the beginning of construction, or

(2) the construction of which was begun after January 1, 1937, and before February 3, 1938, and which at the time the mortgage is accepted for insurance has not been sold or occupied since completion.

Such mortgage may exceed 80%, provided at the time the mortgage is insured the mortgagor is the owner and occupant and has paid on account of the property at least 10% of its appraised value, in cash or its equivalent, but must not exceed 90% of the appraised value of the property as of the date the mortgage is accepted for insurance.

(b) If the amount of the mortgage does not exceed $8600 and the property complies with all of the conditions set forth in paragraph (a) above, except as to the amount of the mortgage, and has an appraised value (as of the date the mortgage is accepted for insurance) in excess of $6000, the amount of such mortgage must not exceed 90% of $6000 of such value, plus 80% of the balance of such value.

3. The mortgage should come due on the first of a month and must have a maturity satisfactory to the Administrator, not to be less than four nor more than twenty years from the date of insurance, except that until July 1, 1939 a mortgage of the character described in paragraph 2 (a) of this section may have a maturity satisfactory to the Administrator, not more than twenty-five years from the date of insurance. The amortization period should be either 5, 8, 10, 12, 15, 17, 19 or 20 years by providing for either 60, 96, 120, 144, 180, 204, 228 or 240 monthly amortization payments except that as to mortgages of the character described in paragraph 2 (a) of this section such period may also be either 24 or 25 years by providing for 288 or 300 monthly amortization payments.

4. The mortgage may bear interest at such rate as may be agreed upon between the mortgagee and the mortgagor, but in no case shall such interest rate be in excess of five per centum (5%) per annum. Interest shall be payable in monthly installments on the principal then outstanding.

5. The mortgage must contain complete amortization provisions satisfactory to the Administrator, requiring monthly payments by the mortgagor not in excess of his reasonable ability to pay as determined by the Administrator. The sum of the principal and interest payments in each month shall be substantially the same.

6. The mortgage may provide for monthly payments by the mortgagor to the mortgagee of an amount equal to one-twelfth (1/12) of the annual mortgage insurance premium payable by the mortgagee to the Administrator. Such payments shall continue only so long as the contract of insurance shall remain in effect. The mortgage should provide that upon the payment of the mortgage before maturity, the mortgagor shall pay the adjusted premium charge referred to in Article III, section 2, of the Regulations, but shall not provide for the payment of any further charge on account of such prepayment.

7. The mortgage shall provide for such equal monthly payments by the mortgagor to the mortgagee as will amortize the ground rents, if any, and the estimated amount of all taxes, special assessments, if any, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums, within a period ending one month prior to the dates on which the same become delinquent. The mortgage shall further provide that such payments shall be held by the mortgagee in a manner satisfactory to the Administrator, for the purpose of paying such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums, before the same become delinquent, for the benefit and account of the mortgagor. The mortgage must also make provision for adjustments in case the estimated amount of such taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums shall prove to be more, or less, than the actual amount thereof so paid by the mortgagor.

8. All monthly payments to be made by the mortgagor to the mortgagee as hereinabove provided, in subsections 4 to 7, inclusive, shall be added together and the aggregate amount thereof shall be paid by the mortgagor each month in a single payment. The mortgagee shall apply the same to the following items of the order set forth:

(a) premium charges under the contract of insurance;

(b) ground rents, taxes, special assessments, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums;

(c) interest on the mortgage; and

(d) amortization of the principal of the mortgage.

Any deficiency in the amount of any such aggregate monthly payment shall, unless made good by the mortgagor prior to, or on, the due date of the next such payment, constitute an event of default under the mortgage.

9. The mortgage may provide for a charge by the mortgagee of a "late charge", not to exceed two (2) cents for each dollar of each payment more than fifteen (15) days in arrears, to cover the extra expense involved in handling delinquent payments.

10. The mortgagor must pay to the mortgagee, upon the execution of the mortgage, a sum that will be sufficient to pay the ground rents, if any, and the estimated taxes, special assessments, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums for the period beginning on the date to which such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums were last paid and ending on the date of the first monthly payment under the mortgage and may be required to pay a further sum equal to the first annual mortgage insurance premium, plus an amount sufficient to pay the mortgage insurance premium from the date of closing the loan to the date of the first monthly payment.

11. The mortgagee may charge the mortgagor the amount of the appraisal fee provided for in subsection 3 of Section III and an initial service charge to reimburse itself for the cost of closing the transaction. Such service charge shall not exceed one per centum (1%) of the original principal amount of the mortgage or a charge of twenty dollars ($20), whichever is the greater, except that in cases of property under construction or to be constructed where the mortgagee makes partial disbursements and inspections of the property during the progress of construction, such initial service charge may be in an amount not in excess of two and one-half per centum (2½%) of the original principal amount of the mortgage or a charge of fifty dollars ($50), whichever is the greater.

12. In addition to the charges hereinbefore mentioned, the mortgagee may collect from the mortgagor only recording fees and such appraisal fees and cost of title search as are approved by the Administrator. Nothing in this and the preceding subsection shall be construed as prohibiting the mortgagor from dealing through a broker, who does not represent the mortgagee, if he prefers to do so, and paying the broker such compensation as is satisfactory to the mortgagor.

13. The mortgage must be executed with respect to a project which, in the opinion of the Administrator, is economically sound.

14. On and after July 1, 1939, no mortgages will be insured except mortgages

(1) that cover property which is approved for mortgage insurance prior to the completion of the construction of such property, or

(2) that cover property, the construction of which was commenced after January 1, 1937, and was completed prior to July 1, 1939, or

(3) that cover property which had been previously covered by a mortgage insured by the Administrator.

SECTION V—ELIGIBLE MORTGAGORS

1. A mortgagor must establish that after the mortgage offered for insurance has been recorded, the mortgaged property will be free and clear of all liens other than such mortgage and that there will not be outstanding any other unpaid obligation contracted in connection with the mortgage transaction or the purchase of the mortgaged property, except obligations which are secured by property or collateral owned by the mortgagor independently of the mortgaged property.

2. A mortgagor must establish that the periodic payments required in the mortgage submitted for insurance bear a proper relation to his present and anticipated income and expenses.

3. A mortgagor must have a general credit standing satisfactory to the Administrator.

4. A mortgagor is not restricted as to place of residence and need not be the occupant of the property covered by the mortgage, except where the principal obligation of the mortgage exceeds 80% of the appraised value under the conditions set out at Section IV, subsection 2 (a) and (b) above.

SECTION VI—ELIGIBLE PROPERTIES

1. A mortgage to be eligible for insurance must be on real estate held in fee simple, or on leashold under a lease for not less than ninety-nine (99) years which is renewable, or under a lease with a period of not less than fifty (50) years to run from the date the mortgage is executed.

2. At the time a mortgage is insured there must be located on the mortgaged property a dwelling unit designed principally for residential use for not more than four families. Such unit may be connected with other dwellings by a party wall or otherwise.

3. The buildings on the mortgaged property must conform with the standards prescribed by the Administrator.

4. The mortgaged property, if otherwise acceptable to the Administrator, may be located in any community where the housing standards meet the requirements of the Administrator.

SECTION VII

These Administrative Rules are effective as to all mortgages on which a commitment to insure is issued to an approved mortgagee on or after February 15, 1938.

Issued at Washington, D. C., February 4, 1938.

STEWART McDONALD,
Federal Housing Administrator.

REGULATIONS

ARTICLE I

These Regulations may be cited and referred to as "Regulations of the Federal Housing Administrator for Mutual Mortgage Insurance under Section 203 of the National Housing Act, as amended, revised February 15, 1938."

ARTICLE II—DEFINITIONS

As used in these Regulations—

1. The term "Administrator" means the Federal Housing Administrator.

2. The term "Act" means the National Housing Act.

3. The term "mortgage" means such a first lien upon real estate as is commonly given to secure advances on, or the unpaid purchase price of, real estate under the laws of the jurisdiction where the real estate is situated, together with the credit instruments, if any, secured thereby.

4. The term "insured mortgage" means a mortgage which has been insured by the endorsement of the Administrator.

5. The term "mortgagor" means the original borrower under a mortgage and his heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns.

6. The term "mortgagee" means the original lender under a mortgage and its successors and such of its assigns as are approved by the Administrator.

7. The term "contract of insurance" means the endorsement of the Administrator upon the credit instrument given in connection with an insured mortgage, incorporating by reference these Regulations.

ARTICLE III—PREMIUMS

1. The mortgagee shall pay to the Administrator an annual mortgage insurance premium equal to one-half of one per centum (½%) of the average outstanding principal obligation for the twelve-month period following the date on which such premium becomes payable, and calculated in accordance with the amortization provisions without taking into account delinquent payments or prepayments, except that such premium charge shall be one-quarter of one per centum (¼%) per annum on such outstanding principal if at the time the mortgage is insured, it meets the following conditions:

(a) It has a principal obligation not to exceed $5400 and not to exceed 90% of the appraised value of the property and is accepted for insurance after February 3, 1938, and prior to July 1, 1939, and

(b) It covers property upon which there is located a dwelling designed principally for a single family residence,

(1) the construction of which is begun after February 3, 1938, and which is approved for mortgage insurance prior to the beginning of construction, or

(2) the construction of which was begun after January 1, 1937, and prior to February 3, 1938, and which at the time the mortgage is accepted for insurance has not been sold or occupied since completion; and

(c) It is made by a mortgagor who is the owner and occupant of the property and who has paid on account of the property at least 10% of its appraised value in cash or its equivalent.

The first such premium is to be paid on the date on which such insurance becomes effective by endorsement and shall be calculated on the average outstanding principal balance for the year beginning with a day thirty (30) days prior to the date of the first monthly payment. Until the mortgage is paid in full or the mortgaged property is acquired by the Administrator as hereinafter set forth, or until the contract of insurance is otherwise terminated, as hereinafter provided the next and each succeeding premium shall be paid annually thereafter on the anniversary of such day, and the amount of the second premium payment will be adjusted accordingly. Such premiums shall be paid either in cash or debentures issued under Title II of the National Housing Act at par plus accrued interest.

The provisions of this section, except in so far as they relate to a premium charge of less than one-half of one per centum (½%) on such outstanding principal, shall also apply to mortgages insured prior to the date of these Regulations, but only in respect to premiums payable after February 3, 1938.

2. In the event that the principal obligation of any mortgage accepted for insurance is paid in full prior to maturity, the mortgagee shall within thirty (30) days thereafter notify the Administrator of the date of prepayment and shall pay to the Administrator an adjusted premium charge of one per centum (1%) of the original principal amount of the prepaid mortgage, except that if at the time of such prepayment there is placed on the mortgaged property a new insured mortgage in an amount less than the original amount of the prepaid mortgage, such adjusted premium shall be one per centum (1%) of the difference in such amounts.

In no event shall the adjusted premium exceed the aggregate amount of premium charges which would have been payable if the mortgage had continued to be insured until maturity.

No adjusted premium shall be due or payable in the following cases:

(a) where at the time of such prepayment there is placed on the mortgaged property a new insured mortgage for an amount equal to or greater than the original principal amount of the prepaid mortgage; or

(b) where the final maturity specified in the mortgage is accelerated solely by reason of partial prepayments made by the mortgagor which do not exceed in any one calendar year fifteen per centum (15%) of the original face amount of the mortgage; or

(c) where the final maturity specified in the mortgage is accelerated solely by reason of payments to principal to compensate for (1) damage to the mortgaged property, or (2) a release of a part of such property if approved by the Administrator; or

(d) where payment in full is made of a delinquent mortgage on which foreclosure proceedings have been commenced, or for the purpose of avoiding foreclosure, if the transaction is approved by the Administrator.

Upon such prepayment the contract of insurance shall terminate.

3. If at the time of prepayment a new insured mortgage is placed on the same property, the Administrator will refund to the mortgagee for the account of the mortgagor an amount equal to the pro rata portion of the current annual mortgage insurance premium theretofore paid, which is applicable to the portion of the year subsequent to such prepayment.

ARTICLE IV—INSURANCE ENDORSEMENT

1. Upon compliance, satisfactory to the Administrator, with the terms of his commitment to insure, the Administrator will endorse the original credit instrument in form as follows:

No. ----
Insured under the National Housing Act
And Regulations of the
For Mutual Mortgage Insurance
Dated November 1, 1934
as amended ----------
By ----------
Authorized agent
Date ----------

The mortgage shall be an insured mortgage from the date of such endorsement. The Administrator and the mortgagee shall thereafter be bound by these Regulations with the same force and to the same extent as if a separate contract had been executed relating to the insured mortgage, including the provisions of these Regulations and of the National Housing Act.

ARTICLE V—CLASSIFICATION OF MORTGAGES

1. Insured mortgages shall be so classified in groups that the mortgages in any group shall involve substantially similar risk characteristics.

2. Premium charges received for the insurance of any mortgage, appraisal and other fees, the receipts derived from the property covered by the mortgage and claims assigned to the Administrator in connection therewith, and all earnings on the assets of the group account shall be credited to the account of the group to which the mortgage is assigned.

3. The principal of, and interest paid or to be paid on, debentures issued in exchange for any property, payments made or to be made to the mortgagee and mortgagor, and expenses incurred in the handling of the property covered by the mortgage and in collection of claims assigned to the Administrator in connection therewith, shall be charged to the account of the group to which such mortgage is assigned.

ARTICLE VI—RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF AN APPROVED MORTGAGEE UNDER THE CONTRACT OF INSURANCE

1. The Administrator shall terminate the insurance as to any group of mortgages

(a) when he shall determine that the amounts to be distributed as hereinafter set forth to each mortgagee under an outstanding mortgage assigned to such group are sufficient to pay off the unpaid principal of each such mortgage; or

(b) when all the outstanding mortgages in any group have been paid.

Upon such termination, the Administrator shall charge the group account with the estimated losses arising from transactions relating to that group, shall transfer to the General Reinsurance Account an amount equal to 10 per centum of the total premium charges theretofore credited to such group account, and shall distribute to the mortgagees, for the benefit and account of the mortgagors of the mortgages assigned to such group, the balance remaining in such group in such proportions as may be equitable as among such mortgages and in accordance with sound actuarial and accounting practice.

2. The mortgagee shall accept such payment and apply it on account of the obligation, if any, of the mortgagor under the insured mortgage and distribute the balance, if any, to the mortgagor. If such payment is sufficient to satisfy the obligation of the mortgagor in full, the mortgagee shall thereupon deliver to the mortgagor any instrument or instruments necessary or proper to discharge such mortgage.

3. No mortgagor or mortgagee shall have any vested right in a credit balance in any such account or be subject to any liability arising out of the mutuality of the Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund, and the determination of the Administrator as to the amount to be paid by him to any mortgagee or mortgagor shall be final and conclusive.

4. In the event the mortgagee forecloses on the mortgaged property, but does not convey it to the Administrator in accordance with Article VI, section 7, of these Regulations, and the Administrator is given written notice thereof, or in the event the mortgagor pays the obligation under the mortgage in full, prior to the maturity thereof, and the mortgagee pays any adjusted premium required under Article III, section 2, of these Regulations, and the Administrator is given written notice by the mortgagee of such payment by the mortgagor, the obligation to pay any subsequent premium charge for insurance shall cease and all rights of the mortgagee and mortgagor, under Article VI, section 7, shall terminate as of the date of such notice. Upon such termination, the mortgagor shall be entitled to receive a share of the credit balance of the group account to which the mortgage has been assigned in such amount as the Administrator shall determine to be equitable and not inconsistent with the solvency of the group account and of the Fund.

5. If the mortgagor fails to make any payment, or to perform any other covenant or obligation under the mortgage, and such failure continues for a period of thirty (30) days, the mortgage shall be considered in default, and the mortgagee shall, within sixty (60) days thereafter, give notice in writing to the Administrator of such default, unless such default has been cured or unless the Administrator has been notified of a previous default which remains uncured.

6. At any time within one year from the date of default the mortgagee, at its election, shall either—

(a) with, and subject to, the consent of the Administrator, acquire by means other than foreclosure of the mortgage, possession of, and title to, the mortgaged property; or

(b) commence foreclosure of the mortgage; provided, that if the laws of the State in which the mortgaged property is situated do not permit the commencement of such foreclosure within such period of time, the mortgagee shall commence such foreclosure within sixty (60) days after the expiration of the time during which such foreclosure is prohibited by such laws.

The mortgagee shall promptly give notice in writing to the Administrator of the institution of foreclosure proceedings and shall exercise reasonable diligence in prosecuting such proceedings to completion.

For the purposes of this section, the date of default shall be considered as thirty (30) days after (a) the first uncorrected failure to perform a convenant or obligation, or (b) the first failure to make a monthly payment which subsequent payments by the mortgagor are insufficient to cover when applied to the overdue monthly payments in the order in which they became due.

If after default and prior to the completion of foreclosure proceedings, the mortgagor shall pay to the mortgagee all monthly payments in default and such expenses as the mortgagee shall have incurred in connection with the foreclosure proceedings, notice shall be given to the Administrator, and the insurance shall continue as if such default had not occurred.

Nothing contained in this section shall be construed so as to prevent the mortgagee, with the written consent of the Administrator, from taking action at a later date than herein specified.

7. If the default is not cured as aforesaid, and if the mortgagee has otherwise complied with the provisions of section 6 of this Article, and at any time within thirty (30) days (or such further time as may be necessary to complete the title examination and perfect such title) after acquiring possession of the mortgaged property by foreclosure, or by other means in accordance with subsection (a) of section 6 of this Article, tenders to the Administrator possession of, and a deed containing a covenant which warrants against the acts of the mortgagee and all claiming by, through, or under it, conveying good merchantable title (evidenced as hereinafter provided in section 8 of this Article) to, such property undamaged by fire, earthquake, flood, or tornado, and undamaged by waste, except as hereinafter in this section provided, and assigns (without recourse or warranty) any and all claims which it has acquired in connection with the mortgage transaction, and as a result of the foreclosure proceedings or other means by which it acquired such property, except such claims as may have been released with the approval of the Administrator, the Administrator shall promptly accept conveyance of such property and such assignment and shall deliver to the mortgagee:

(a) Debentures of the Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund as set forth in Section 204 of the Act, issued as of the date foreclosure proceedings were instituted or the property was otherwise acquired by the mortgagee after default, bearing interest at the rate of two and three-quarters per centum (2¾%) per annum payable semi-annually on the first day of January and the first day of July of each year, and having a total face value equal to the value of the mortgage as defined in Section 204 (a) of the Act. Such value shall be determined by adding to the original principal of the mortgage, which was unpaid on the date of the institution of foreclosure proceedings or the acquisition of the property otherwise after default, the amount of all payments, which have been made by the mortgagee for taxes, special assessments and water rates, which are liens prior to the mortgage, insurance on the property mortgaged and any mortgage insurance premium paid after the institution of foreclosure proceedings or the acquisition of the property otherwise after default, and by deducting from such total any amount received on account of the mortgage after the institution of foreclosure proceedings or the acquisition of the property otherwise after default and from any source relating to the property on account of rent or other income after deducting reasonable expenses incurred in handling the property between such dates: Provided, however, that with respect to mortgages which are accepted for insurance prior to July 1, 1939 and comply with the conditions set forth in Article III, section 1 (a), (b), and (c) of these Regulations, on which the unpaid principal obligation at the time of the institution of foreclosure proceedings exceeds 80% of the appraised value of the property as of the date the mortgage was accepted for insurance, there will be included in the debentures issued by the Administrator, on account of foreclosure costs actually paid by the mortgagee and approved by the Administrator an amount not in excess of 2 per centum of the unpaid principal of the mortgage as of the date of the institution of foreclosure proceedings, but in no event in excess of $75.

Such debentures shall be registered as to principal and interest and all or any such debentures may be redeemed, at the option of the Administrator with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, at par and accrued interest on any interest payment day on three (3) months' notice of redemption given in such manner as the Administrator shall prescribe.

(b) A Certificate of Claim in accordance with Section 204 (e) of the Act, which shall become payable, if at all, upon the sale and final liquidation of the interest of the Administrator in such property in accordance with Section 204 (f) of the Act. This certificate shall be for an amount which the Administrator shall determine to be sufficient to pay all amounts due under the mortgage and not covered by the amount of debentures and shall include a reasonable amount for necessary expenses incurred by the mortgagee in connection with the foreclosure proceedings or the acquisition of the mortgaged property otherwise and the conveyance thereof to the Administrator, including reasonable attorney's fees, unpaid interest and cost of repairs to the property made by the mortgagee after default to remedy the waste mentioned in this section. Each such Certificate of Claim shall provide that there shall accrue to the holder thereof with respect to the face amount of such certificate, an increment at the rate of three per centum (3%) per annum.

The term "waste" as used in this section means permanent or substantial injury caused by unreasonable use, or abuse, and is not intended to include damage caused by ordinary wear and tear.

The provisions of this section concerning waste, shall not apply to mortgages on which the unpaid principal obligation at the time of the institution of foreclosure proceedings exceeds 75% of the appraised value of the property as of the date the mortgage was accepted for insurance.

8. Evidence of title of the following types will be satisfactory to the Administrator:

(a) a fee or owner's policy of title insurance, a guaranty or guarantee of title, or a certificate of title, issued by a title company, duly authorized by law and qualified by experience to issue such; or

(b) an abstract of title prepared by an abstract company or individual engaged in the business of preparing abstracts of title and accompanied by the legal opinion as to the quality of such title signed by an attorney at law experienced in examination of titles; or

(c) a Torrens or similar title certificate; or

(d) evidence of title conforming to the standards of a supervising branch of the Government of the United States or of any State or Territory thereof.

Such evidence of title shall be furnished without cost to the Administrator and shall be executed as of a date to include the recordation of the deed to the Administrator, and shall show that, according to the public records, there are not, at such date, any outstanding prior liens, including any past due and unpaid ground rents, general taxes, or special assessments.

If the title and title evidence are such as to be acceptable to prudent lending institutions and leading attorneys generally in the community in which the property is situated, such title and title evidence will be satisfactory to the Administrator and will be considered by him as good and merchantable.

The Administrator will not object to the title by reason of the following matters, provided they are not such as to impair the value of the property for residence purposes, or provided they have been brought to the attention of the insuring office for consideration in fixing the valuation:

(a) customary easements for public utilities, party walls, driveways, and other purposes; customary building or use restrictions for breach of which there is no reversion and which have not been violated to a material extent;

(b) such restrictions when coupled with a reversionary clause, provided there has been no violation prior to the date of the deed to the Administrator;

(c) slight encroachments by adjoining improvements;

(d) outstanding oil, water, or mineral rights, except those which include the right to sink wells or shafts on the subject property, withdraw the subjacent support, or otherwise impair the value of the property for residence purposes without payment of adequate damages.

ARTICLE VII—ASSIGNMENTS

1. When the insured mortgage is transferred to another approved mortgagee, such transferee shall notify the Administrator of the acquisition of such mortgage within thirty (30) days thereof, and shall thereupon succeed to all the rights and become bound by all the obligations of the transferor under the contract of insurance; but the transferor shall be released from its obligations under the contract of insurance only upon its giving notice to the Administrator of the transfer of the insured mortgage within thirty (30) days thereof.

Whenever the insured mortgage is transferred to another approved mortgagee for the purposes of collateral only, no notice need be given to the Administrator until such collateral is foreclosed, but the transferor shall remain subject to all the obligations of the contract of insurance.

2. The contract of insurance shall terminate upon the happening of either of the following events:

(a) the acquisition of the insured mortgage by, or the pledge thereof to, any person, firm, or corporation, public or private, other than an approved mortgage, whether individually or in trust for another; provided, that this subsection (a) shall not be applicable to a mortgage acquired or held by an approved mortgagee, which is a banking institution or trust company inspected and supervised by some governmental agency, for a trust held or administered by it in a fiduciary capacity, as long as such fiduciary relationship shall remain in effect;

(b) the disposal by an approved mortgagee of any partial interest in an insured mortgage or group of insured mortgages (whether to another approved mortgagee or otherwise) by means of a declaration of trust, or by a participation or trust certificate, or by any other device; provided that this subsection (b) shall not be applicable to any mortgage so long as it is held in a common trust fund maintained by a bank or trust company (1) exclusively for the collective investment and reinvestment of moneys contributed thereto by the bank or trust company in its capacity as a trustee, executor or administrator; and (2) in conformity with the rules and regulations prevailing from time to time of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, pertaining to the collective investment of trust funds.

Upon the termination of the insurance under this section, the mortgagor shall be entitled to receive a share of the credit balance of the account of the group to which the insured mortgage has been assigned, in such amount as the Administrator shall determine to be equitable and not inconsistent with the preservation of the solvency of such account and of the Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund.

ARTICLE VIII—AMENDMENTS

These Regulations may be amended by the Administrator at any time and from time to time, in whole or in part, but such amendment shall not affect the contract of insurance on any mortgage already insured, or any mortgage or prospective mortgage on which the Administrator has made a commitment to insure.

ARTICLE IX—EFFECTIVE DATE

These Regulations are effective as to all mortgages on which a commitment to insure is issued to an approved mortgagee on or after February 15, 1938. Wherever a mortgagee so desires, the provisions of these Regulations shall become a part of any contract of insurance heretofore made except that as to mortgages insured prior to May 28, 1935, interest on debentures shall be paid or allowed only from the date of the conveyance of the property to the Administrator.

Issued at Washington, D. C., February 4, 1938.

STEWART MCDONALD,
Federal Housing Administrator.

PART IV

Project Standards

Part I

Scope of Operations Under Section 207 and Section 210

1. The National Housing Act provides for the insurance of mortgages upon two general classes of property:

(a) Properties consisting of one to four-family dwellings. Rules and Regulations with respect thereto are set forth in FHA Form 2010, entitled Mutual Mortgage Insurance.

(b) Properties consisting of a larger number of family units either in one or more multifamily buildings or in a group of single-family dwellings. The Rules and Regulations set forth herein apply only to such properties.

2. The general class of properties described in the preceding subparagraph (b) is herein termed "multifamily and group housing", which term includes housing intended for rent or for ultimate sale and is intended generally to apply to projects insurable under Section 207 or under Section 210.

In the case of a mortgage containing release clauses whereby individual houses may be sold from time to time, whether insured under Section 207 or under Section 210, the terms and conditions of release will be determined by agreement of the mortgagee, the mortgagor and the Administrator.

3. It should be noted that Sections 207 and 210 are not mutually exclusive, provided the mortgage does not exceed $200,000. A mortgage in excess of that amount may only be insured under Section 207. However, a project involving a mortgage not in excess of such amount may be eligible either under Section 207 or Section 210 as the mortgagor and the mortgagee may determine, provided it conforms to the Rules and Regulations hereinafter set forth. The differences between the two Sections will be noted by comparison of the Rules and Regulations of the respective Sections.

In general, the following are the chief items of distinction:

Under Section 207.

(a) Eligible mortgagors may be private corporations, associations, trusts, or cooperative societies which consent to regulation by the Administrator, or may be governmental housing authorities or corporations formed under housing laws.

(b) The mortgage insurable has no minimum limit and the maximum limit is $5,000,000.

(c) The mortgage per room may not exceed $1350 computed in accordance with the method of determining room count which is set forth upon the application form for such projects.

(d) Interest may not exceed 4½% per annum.

(e) The term of the mortgage and the amortization provisions are limited only by the Administrator's approval.

(f) Principal and interest payments may be monthly or quarterly.

[1] The Rules and Regulations hereinafter contained relate to the insurance of mortgages on housing projects under Section 207 and Section 210 of the National Housing Act. Those contemplating the initiation of such projects or desiring further information on the subject should communicate directly with any insuring office of the Federal Housing Administration.

(g) In the event of default under the mortgage the mortgagee has the option of collecting the insurance by (1) assigning the mortgage to the Administrator or (2) acquiring title to the property by foreclosure or otherwise and conveying the property to the Administrator.

(h) The Administrator accepts the risk of mechanics' liens during construction and insures, as made, such advances of the mortgage money as are approved by him.

(i) The mortgagor (except in the case of a project owned and operated by a public housing authority) must consent to regulation by the Administrator of its rents, charges, capital structure, rate of return and methods of operation. Such regulation is enforced by means of a special class of stock owned by the Administrator, except that in the case of a project under Section 207 involving a mortgage not in excess of $200,000 such regulation is enforced by means of a contract.

(j) The mortgage may cover either proposed new construction or existing or rehabilitation projects.

Under Section 210.

(a) The mortgage must exceed $16,000 and shall not exceed $200,000.

(b) Its maturity is limited to 21 years.

(c) Amortization must commence not later than the eleventh month following execution and must be sufficient completely to amortize the mortgage during its term on either a fixed annuity or declining annuity basis.

(d) Interest may not exceed 5% per annum.

(e) Payments on account of principal, interest, taxes, insurance and mortgage insurance premiums must be made monthly to the mortgagee.

(f) The mortgage per room may not exceed $1150.

(g) In the event of default under the mortgage the mortgagee may only collect the insurance by acquiring title to the property through foreclosure or otherwise and conveying the property to the Administrator.

(h) Construction advances approved by the Administrator may be insured as made; but, to collect the insurance, the mortgagee must convey the property to the Administrator free and clear of mechanics' liens.

(i) The mortgage may cover only proposed new construction.

The principal similarities and differences between the two Sections may be briefly summarized as follows:

The Sections are alike in that: (a) there is no definite distinction as to physical character between the projects on which mortgages are insurable; (b) properties may be constructed either for rental or sale purposes and the mortgage insured may represent in effect a combined construction and permanent loan; (c) the principal amount of the mortgage may not exceed 80% of the estimated value of the completed project; (d) title will be approved by the Administrator at the time the mortgage is insured, and once approved, he will accept such title upon the conveyance of the property to him following default, as is more particularly set forth in the applicable Regulations of each Section; and (e) corporate mortgagors under either Section are specifically exempt from the terms of Section 77 B of the United States Bankruptcy Act.

The Sections differ in that: (a) the maximum insurable mortgage under Section 210 is $200,000, and $5,000,000 under Section 207; (b) the maximum mortgage per room under Section 210 is $1,150, and under Section 207 it is $1,350; (c) under both Sections the mortgage must be fully amortized, but under Section 210 the maximum term is 21 years, whereas under Section 207 the term may be longer; (d) under Section 210 the projects are not subject to supervision by the Administrator after construction is completed, whereas under Section 207 the Administrator must exercise certain regulatory controls; and (e) to collect the insurance, under Section 210 the mortgagee must convey the property to the Administrator, whereas under Section 207 the mortgagee may at its election either convey the property or assign the mortgage to the Administrator.

Part II

Administrative Rules and Regulations Under Section 207

RULES

Section I—Application and Commitment

1. Information required for preliminary examination of a Rental Housing project under Section 207 shall be submitted by a mortgagee or by the sponsors of such project through the local Federal Housing Housing Administration office on FHA Form 2013, executed in triplicate. No application will be considered unless the exhibits called for by that form are furnished. The submission of Form 2013 will be deemed to be the applicant's agreement to pay in accordance with the provisions of this section an amount computed at the rate of $3.00 per thousand of the original face amount of the mortgage loan applied for, on account of the costs of appraisal and inspection by the Administrator. Such amount shall be payable in two installments:

(a) one-half (referred to as "commitment fee") upon the issuance of a commitment, and

(b) the remainder (referred to as "closing fee") upon the delivery of the Administrator's Contract of Mortgage Insurance.

However, in the case of a Public Housing project, the fee to be paid under this Paragraph shall be fixed by the Administrator, but shall not exceed $3.00 per thousand of the original face amount of the mortgage.

If the Administrator shall issue a commitment as herein provided and the commitment fee is not paid within the period of time set forth in the commitment letter such commitment shall terminate. If after commitment an application to increase the amount of the insured mortgage is presented, a new commitment fee based upon the amount of such increase must be paid at the time the application for such increase is filed. If after insurance the amount of the insured mortgage is increased either by amendment or by the substitution of a new insured mortgage, the fees herein provided for shall be based upon the amount of such increase.

2. Upon approval of an application and payment of the commitment fee, acceptance of the mortgage for insurance will be evidenced by the issuance of a commitment setting forth the terms and conditions upon which the mortgage will be insured, including special requirements applicable to the project and requiring the submission in final form within a time specified of all appropriate documents, drawings, plans, specifications, estimates, and other instruments evidencing full compliance satisfactory to the Administrator with these Rules and with such terms and conditions. No commitment shall be valid unless signed by the Administrator or his duly authorized agent.

Section II—Eligible Mortgages

1. The Administrator does not furnish mortgage forms for each project or for each jurisdiction. The forms customarily used in any particular jurisdiction if so modified and amplified as to include the matters herein set forth, and if otherwise satisfactory to the Administrator, will be approved.

2. In order to be eligible for insurance under these Rules a mortgage shall create a first lien securing a principal obligation not in excess of $5,000,000, and such part thereof as may be attributable to dwelling use shall not exceed $1,350 per room, depending upon the location of the project and local building costs and rental conditions. The principal obligation of such mortgage shall not exceed eighty per centum (80%) of the amount which the Administrator estimates will be the value of the property or project when the proposed improvement are completed.

3. The mortgage shall have a maturity satisfactory to the Administrator, depending upon the risk involved and the general character of the project, and shall contain complete amortization or sinking-fund provisions satisfactory to the Administrator.

4. The mortgage shall provide for periodic payments by the mortgagor to the mortgagee on account of interest, principal, and mortgage insurance, not less frequently than every three (3) months.

5. The mortgage shall bear interest at such rate, not exceeding four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum, as may be agreed upon between the mortgagor and the mortgagee. All charges made in connection with the mortgage transaction shall be subject to the approval of the Administrator.

6. The mortgage shall cover the entire property included in the housing project. Where the project consists principally of single-family houses the mortgage may include appropriate provisions for the release from the lien thereof of any such house and the land upon which it is located in consideration of the payment to the mortgagee, in reduction of the principal of the mortgage, of an amount set forth in a schedule attached to and forming part of said mortgage. Such mortgages shall provide that the released property be subject to deed restrictions, approved by the Administrator at the time of the insurance of the mortgage and providing to the properties remaining under the mortgage adequate protection against adverse influences. Where the mortgage does not contain such release provisions no property shall, except with the consent of the mortgagee and the Administrator, be released from the lien thereof so long as the mortgage insurance is in force.

7. The mortgage, except in the case of Public Housing projects, shall contain a covenant against the creation by the mortgagor of liens against the property inferior to the lien of the mortgage.

8. The mortgage shall contain a covenant binding the mortgagor to keep the premises insured against fire and such other hazards as the Administrator may stipulate, in companies and in amounts satisfactory to the Administrator. The policies evidencing such insurance shall have attached standard form mortgagee clause making loss, if any, payable to the mortgagee, and the Administrator, as interest may appear.

9. No mortgage shall be accepted for insurance unless the Administrator finds that the property or project with respect to which the mortgage is executed is economically sound.

10. The mortgage shall provide for payments by the mortgagor to the mortgagee on each interest payment date of an amount sufficient to accumulate in the hands of the mortgagee the next annual mortgage insurance premium payable by the mortgagee to the Administrator. Such payments shall continue only so long as the contract of insurance shall remain in effect. The mortgage shall provide that upon the payment of the mortgage before maturity, the mortgagor shall pay the adjusted premium charge referred to in Paragraph 2 of Article III of the Regulations.

11. All periodic payments to be made by the mortgagor to the mortgagee shall be added together and the aggregate amount thereof shall be paid by the mortgagor upon each periodic payment date in a single payment. The mortgagee shall apply the same to the following items in the order set forth:

(a) premium charges under the contract of insurance;

(b) at its discretion, to any sums due under the terms of the mortgage or the credit instrument which it secures.

Any deficiency in the amount of any such aggregate periodic payment shall constitute an event of default under the mortgage.

Section III—Eligible Mortgagors

1. In order to be eligible for insurance as a mortgagor of a Rental Housing project under Section 207 such mortgagor must be—

(a) a private corporation, association, cooperative society which is a legal agent of the owner-occupants, or trust (sometimes referred to in these Rules and Regulations as "mortgagor", "corporation", or "mortgagor corporation"), formed or created, with the approval of the Administrator, for the purpose of (1) rehabilitating slum or blighted areas, or (2) providing housing for rent or sale, and possessing powers necessary therefor and incidental thereto, which corporation, association, cooperative society, or trust, until the termination of all obligations of the Administrator under such insurance, is regulated or restricted by the Administrator as to rents or sales, charges, capital structure, rate of return, and methods of operation. Such regulation or restriction shall remain in effect until such time as the mortgage insurance contract terminates without obligation upon the Administrator to issue debentures as a result of such termination. So long as such contract of insurance is in effect, the corporation, association, cooperative society, or trust shall engage in no business other than the construction and operation of a rental housing project or projects; or

(b) a Federal or State instrumentality, a municipal corporate instrumentality of one or more States, or a limited dividend corporation formed under and restricted by Federal or State housing laws as to rents, charges, capital structure, rate of return, or methods of operation (projects of such mortgagors are herein sometimes referred to as "Public Housing projects").

2. The term "slum or blighted area" means any area where dwellings predominate which, by reason of dilapidation, overcrowding, faulty arrangement or design, lack of ventilation, light or sanitation facilities, or any combination of these factors, are detrimental to safety, health, or morals.

Section IV—Supervision of Mortgagors

In the case of an eligible mortgagor described in subdivision (b) of Paragraph 1 of Section III, the Administrator is not required under the Act to regulate or restrict the mortgagor. Such mortgagor, however, must have initial funds which may be considered in lieu of the equity required of other mortgagors. Such funds (which may be in the form of government loans, grants or subsidies, or in other form) if sufficient in amount will be considered satisfactory provided they do not create a lien against the property prior to that of the insured mortgage. Liens inferior to the lien of the insured mortgage may be allowed against properties of such mortgagors.

Supervision of other mortgagors is required by the provision of Section 207 of the Act that such mortgagors shall be regulated or restricted by the Administrator. In the case of a project involving a mortgage in excess of $200,000 such regulation or restriction will be set forth in the certificate of incorporation or other instrument under which the mortgagor is created (hereinafter referred to as the "charter") and will be made effective through the issuance of certain shares of special stock (or other evidence of a beneficial interest in the mortgagor) which stock or interest will acquire majority voting rights in the event of default under the mortgage or violation of a provision of the charter, but only for a period coexistent with the duration of such default or violation. Such special stock or interest shall be held and all voting rights with respect thereto exercised by the Administrator as such. When the right of the Administrator to regulate or restrict the mortgagor shall terminate as above provided, the shares of special stock or other evidence of interest shall be surrendered by the Administrator.

In the case of a project involving a mortgage not in excess of $200,000 only those regulations or restrictions with respect to dividends and provisions for reserves shall be required to be embodied in the charter of such mortgagor, by provisions satisfactory to the Administrator. The other regulations or restrictions outlined below may be embodied in a regulatory contract to be executed by the mortgagor and the Administrator concurrently with the execution of the contract of insurance.

The following are the items which will be regulated or restricted to the extent indicated, except in the case of mortgagors of Public Housing projects:

1. Rents and charges.—Except as hereinafter provided,

(a) No charge shall be made by the mortgagor corporation for the accommodations offered by the project in excess of a rental schedule to be filed with the Administrator prior to the opening of the project for rental, which schedule shall be based upon a maximum average rental fixed prior to the insurance of the mortgage. Such schedule shall not thereafter be changed except upon application of the mortgagor corporation and the written approval of the Administrator. In establishing such maximum and in passing upon applications for changes, consideration will be given the following and similar factors:

(1) Rental income necessary to maintain the economic soundness of the project.

(2) Relation of the proposed rentals to those currently being paid in the given community by families for whom this type of housing is intended.

(b) The established maximum rental shall be the maximum authorized charge against any tenant for the accommodations offered exclusive of telephone, gas, electric, and refrigeration facilities. Charges in addition to such maximum rental may be made against a tenant for telephone, gas, electric, refrigeration, and other facilities and privileges furnished by the mortgagor, subject to the approval of the Administrator.

(c) In the case of a project subject to a mortgage containing release clauses, all matters with respect to the release and all agreements between the mortgagor and its vendees with respect to the amount and terms of sale must first be approved by the Administrator.

2. Capital structure.—(a) In appraising a project for commitment the Administrator will value the contribution of the sponsors (which shall be in the form of unencumbered land, and such cash and services as the Administrator shall require) at an amount determined by him to represent its value as a component part of the project upon completion, and shall credit sponsors, for appraisal purposes, with the amount of equity so found. The sponsors shall satisfy the Administrator that the cash and services contributed as part of such equity shall, when added to the proceeds of the mortgage, be sufficient to cover all estimated costs of the project and to provide a cash reserve for contingencies, preopening expenses, and other items during the construction period.

(b) Such number of shares of capital stock, either with or without par value, in the case of a corporation, or such appropriate evidences of interest, in the case of an association, a cooperative society, or a trust, may be issued as sponsors may deem appropriate. Such stock or interest, together with paid in surplus, if any, shall represent such equity. Additional stock or evidences of interest may be authorized but the charter shall provide that it shall not be issued except with the approval of the Administrator. No stock or interest shall be redeemed, purchased, or paid off by the mortgagor during the period in which the mortgage insurance is in force, except with the approval of the Administrator.

(c) The shares of stock or interest issued to the Administrator shall be in sufficient amount to constitute, under the laws of the particular State, a valid special class of stock or interest and shall be issued in consideration of the payment by the Administrator of not exceeding $100.

3. Rate of return.—No dividends or distribution of income shall be declared or paid by the corporation in any one fiscal year in excess of an aggregate amount fixed by the Administrator at the time the mortgage is accepted for insurance. Such amount shall not exceed an amount equal to six per centum (6%) per annum of the equity as valued by the Administrator, but the Administrator may permit an additional stated amount not in excess of two per centum (2%) per annum payable out of surplus earnings of the corporation after provision for required reserves, provided that no such additional dividends or distribution shall be declared or paid unless the principal of the insured mortgage shall be prepaid in an amount at least equal to required interest and principal payments for the first amortization year.

4. Methods of operation.—(a) No compensation shall be paid by the corporation except for necessary services and except as such rate as is fair and reasonable in the locality for similar services, nor, except with the prior written approval of the Administrator, shall any compensation be paid by the corporation to any employee in an amount in excess of eighteen hundred dollars ($1,800) per annum, or to its officers, directors, or stockholders, or to any person or corporation for supervisory or managerial services. No officer, director, stockholder, agent, or employee of the corporation shall in any manner become indebted to the corporation.

(b) The corporation shall maintain its project, the grounds, buildings, and equipment appurtenant thereto, in good repair and in such condition as will preserve the health and safety of its tenants.

(c) Before the payment of any dividend by the corporation reserves shall be accumulated and so replenished from time to time as to remain intact so long as the mortgage insurance is in force. The amount and types of such reserves and the conditions under which they shall be accumulated, replenished, and used, shall be specified in the charter.

(d) The corporation, its property, equipment, buildings, plans, offices, apparatus, devices, books, contracts, records, documents, and papers shall be subject to inspection and examination by the Administrator or his duly authorized agent at all reasonable times.

(e) The books and accounts of the corporation shall be kept in accordance with the uniform system of accounting prescribed by the Administrator. The corporation shall file with the Administrator the following reports verified by the oath of such officer of the corporation as the Administrator may designate and in such form as prescribed by the Administrator:

(1) monthly occupancy reports;

(2) semiannual reports to be filed within thirty (30) days after the end of each dividend period established in the charter;

(3) annual reports prepared by a certified public accountant, to be filed within sixty (60) days after the end of each fiscal year; and

(4) specific answers to questions upon which information is desired from time to time relative to the operation and condition of the property and the status of the insured mortgage.

5. Control of funds during construction.—Funds involved in the construction of a project representing security for an insured mortgage loan shall be subject to the following restrictions:

(a) Funds representing the required cash equity shall, as a condition precedent to the insurance of the mortgage, be placed in a special account with a depositary satisfactory to the Administrator and subject to withdrawal only upon written approval of the Administrator. Upon completion of construction to the satisfaction of the Administrator, any balance then remaining in such special account shall be paid over to the general account of the corporation for the purpose of establishing its reserves.

(b) No funds representing the proceeds of an insured mortgage shall be advanced except upon proper requisition approved by the Administrator.

(c) Assurance for the completion of the project must be approved by the Administrator prior to the insurance of the mortgage. Such assurance may be (1) the bond of a satisfactory surety company, in the standard A. I. A. form of construction bond and in an amount approved by the Administrator as at least sufficient to cover estimated disbursements under the construction contract for any two (2) month period, or (2) the Administrator may, depending upon the circumstances of each case, accept in lieu of such surety bond such alternate method of assuring completion as he may find adequate.

Section V—Eligible Mortgagees

1. The following are eligible for approval as mortgagees:

(a) A chartered institution or other permanent organization having succession.

(b) The Federal or a State Government, or an agency, instrumentality, or subdivision thereof.

(c) The holder or holders of a credit instrument or instruments given in connection with a mortgage, acting by and through a trustee appointed pursuant to the terms of such mortgage.

2. An eligible institution, organization, agency, or entity may become the mortgagee under an insured mortgage upon its approval by the Administrator for a particular transaction.

3. In the event that bonds are to be issued as a part of the insured mortgage transaction, all arrangements in respect to the issuance and sale of such bonds shall be subject to approval by the Administrator.

Section VI—Eligible Properties

1. In order for property to be eligible as the subject of an insured mortgage, such property must be held in fee simple, or consist of the interest of a lessor or lessee under a lease for not less than ninety-nine (99) years which is renewable, or under a lease having not less than fifty (50) years to run from the date the mortgage was executed. Such mortgage may also cover additional property approved by the Administrator.

2. The property constituting security for the mortgage must be held by an eligible mortgagor as herein defined and must at the time the mortgage is insured be free and clear of all liens other than that of such mortgage.

3. At the time the mortgage is insured:

(a) There shall be located on the mortgaged property a building or buildings designed principally for residential use which shall conform to standards satisfactory to the Administrator and may consist of a group of detached, semidetached, or row houses, or multifamily dwellings; or

(b) The mortgagor shall be obligated to construct and complete such housing accommodations thereon and shall have furnished such assurance of the performance of such obligation as the Administrator may require.

Section VII—Title

1. In order for the mortgaged property to be eligible for insurance, the Administrator must determine that marketable title thereto is vested in the mortgagor as of the date the mortgage is filed for record. The title will be examined by the Administrator, and if found to be eligible such finding shall be recited in the contract of insurance.

2. Upon insurance of the mortgage, the mortgagee, without expense to the Administrator, shall furnish to the Administrator a survey satisfactory to him and a policy of title insurance as provided in subdivision (a) of this Paragraph, or, if the mortgagee is unable to furnish such policy for reasons satisfactory to the Administrator, the mortgagee, without expense to the Administrator, shall furnish such evidence of title as provided in subdivisions (b), (c), or (d) of this Paragraph, as the Administrator may require.

(a) A policy of title insurance with respect to such mortgage, issued by a company satisfactory to the Administrator. Such policy shall comply with the "L. I. C. Standard Mortgagee Form" or the "A. T. A. Standard Mortgagee Form," or such other form as may be approved by the Administrator; shall be payable to the mortgagee and the Administrator as their respective interests may appear; and shall become an owner's policy, running to the mortgagee as owner upon the acquisition of the property by the mortgagee in extinguishment of the debt through foreclosure or by other means as provided in subdivision (b) (1) of Paragraph 1 of Article V of the Regulations, and to the Administrator as owner upon the acquisition of the property by him pursuant to the mortgage insurance contract.

(b) An abstract of title satisfactory to the Administrator, prepared by an abstract company or individual engaged in the business of preparing abstracts of title, accompanied by a legal opinion satisfactory to the Administrator, as to the quality of such title, signed by an attorney at law experienced in the examination of titles.

(c) A Torrens or similar title certificate.

(d) Evidence of title conforming to the standards of a supervising branch of the Government of the United States of America, or of any State or Territory thereof.

Effective Date

These Administrative Rules shall be effective as to all mortgages with respect to which a commitment to insure shall be issued on or after the date hereof.

Issued at Washington, D. C., February 15, 1938.

STEWART MCDONALD,
Federal Housing Administrator.

REGULATIONS

Article I

These Regulations may be cited and referred to as "Regulations of the Federal Housing Administrator under Section 207 of the National Housing Act, revised February 15, 1938."

Article II—Definitions

As used in these Regulations—

1. The term "Administrator" means the Federal Housing Administrator.

2. The term "Act" means the National Housing Act, as amended.

3. The term "mortgage" means such a first lien upon real estate and other property as is commonly given to secure advances (including but not being limited to advances during construction) on, or the unpaid purchase price of, real estate under the laws of the State, district or territory in which the real estate is located, together with the credit instrument or instruments, if any, secured thereby.

4. The term "insured mortgage" means a mortgage with respect to which the Administrator has issued an executed contract of insurance.

5. The term "mortgagor" means the original borrower under a mortgage and its successors and such of its assigns as are approved by the Administrator.

6. The term "mortgagee" means the original lender under a mortgage, and its successors and assigns, and includes the holders of the credit instruments issued under a trust mortgage or deed of trust pursuant to which such holders act by and through a trustee therein named.

7. The term "contract of insurance" means the written instrument duly executed by the Administrator and the mortgagee, setting forth the terms, conditions, and provisions of insurance, which terms, conditions, and provisions shall be subject to these Regulations.

8. The term "claim under the contract of insurance" means the assignment, transfer and delivery to the Administrator of the mortgage or the conveyance to him of the property, as provided in Article V.

Article III—Premiums

1. The mortgagee, upon the delivery of the contract of insurance, shall pay to the Administrator a mortgage insurance premium equal to one-half of one per centum (½ of 1%) of the original face value of the mortgage and, upon the anniversary of such date, shall pay a premium in a like sum. Said two premiums shall be known respectively as the first and second interim premiums. On the date on which the first periodic payment of principal is due the mortgagee shall pay to the Administrator, subject to the adjustment hereinafter provided, and annually thereafter on the anniversary of such date until the mortgage is paid in full or claim under the contract of insurance is made or until the contract of insurance shall terminate, an annual mortgage insurance premium equal to one-half of one per centum (½ of 1%) of the average outstanding principal obligation of the mortgage for the year following the date on which such premium becomes payable, and calculated in accordance with the amortization provisions without taking into account delinquent payments or prepayments. The premium payable on the date on which the first periodic payment of principal becomes due shall be adjusted so as to accord with such date and so that the aggregate of the premiums paid up to and including the premium paid on such adjusted payment date shall equal the sum of (a) one per centum (1%) of the average outstanding principal obligation of the mortgage for the year following the date on which the first interim premium became payable and (b) one-half of one per centum (½ of 1%) of the average outstanding principal obligation of the mortgage for the period from the date when the second interim premium became payable down to and including one year following the date on which such first periodic payment of principal becomes due, and calculated in accordance with the amortization provisions, without taking into account delinquent payments or prepayments. The provisions of this Paragraph shall also apply to mortgages insured prior to February 3, 1938, but only in respect to premiums payable after such date, and no adjustment shall be made with respect to any premium payable on or before such date. All premiums shall be payable in cash or in debentures issued by the Administrator under Title II of the Act at par plus accrued interest.

2. In the event that the principal obligation of any mortgage accepted for insurance is paid in full prior to maturity, the mortgagee shall within thirty (30) days thereafter notify the Administrator of the date of prepayment and shall collect from the mortgagor and pay to the Administrator an adjusted premium charge of one per centum (1%) of the original face amount of the prepaid mortgage, except that if at the time of such prepayment there is placed on the mortgaged property a new insured mortgage in an amount less than the original face amount of the prepaid mortgage, such adjusted premium shall be one per centum (1%) of the difference in such amounts.

In no event shall the adjusted premium exceed the aggregate amount of premium charges which would have been payable if the mortgage had continued to be insured until maturity.

No adjusted premium shall be collected by the mortgagee in the following cases:

(a) where at the time of such prepayment there is placed on the mortgaged property a new insured mortgage for an amount equal to or greater than the original face amount of the prepaid mortgage; or

(b) where the final maturity specified in the mortgage is accelerated solely by reason of partial prepayments made by the mortgagor which do not exceed in any one calendar year fifteen per centum (15%) of the original face amount of the mortgage; or

(c) where the final maturity specified in the mortgage is accelerated solely by reason of payments to principal to compensate for (1) damage to the mortgaged property, or (2) a release of a part of such property if approved by the Administrator; or

(d) where payment in full is made of a delinquent mortgage on which foreclosure proceedings have been commenced, or for the purpose of avoiding foreclosure, if the transaction is approved by the Administrator.

Upon such prepayment the contract of insurance shall terminate.

The provisions of this section shall not be construed to prohibit the mortgagee from including in the mortgage and collecting from the mortgagor such charge for prepayment as may be agreed upon between the mortgagee and mortgagor.

Article IV—Contract of Insurance

Upon compliance satisfactory to the Administrator with the terms of the commitment to insure the Administrator and the mortgagee shall execute the contract of insurance and the mortgage shall be an insured mortgage from the effective date of such contract. The Administrator and the mortgagee shall thereafter be bound by the contract of insurance, subject to the provisions of these Regulations which shall form part of each such contract.

Article V—Rights and Duties of a Mortgagee Under the Contract of Insurance

1. The mortgagee shall be entitled to receive the benefits of the insurance, at its option, either as provided in subdivision (a) or subdivision (b) hereunder.

(a) If the mortgagor fails to make any payment due under or provided to be paid by the terms of the mortgage and such failure continues for a period of thirty (30) days, the mortgage shall be considered in default, and the mortgagee shall, within thirty (30) days thereafter, give notice in writing to the Administrator of such default. At any time within thirty (30) days after the date of such notice, the mortgagee shall, in such manner as the Administrator may require, assign, transfer, and deliver to the Administrator (without recourse or warranty, except that the mortgagee must warrant that no act or omission of the mortgagee has impaired the validity and priority of the mortgage, that the amount stated in the instrument of assignment is actually due and owing under the mortgage, that there are no offsets or counterclaims thereto, and that the mortgage has a good right to assign the mortgage and the other items enumerated below):

(1) all rights and interests arising under the mortgage so in default;

(2) all claims of the mortgagee against the mortgagor or others, arising out of the mortgage transaction;

(3) all policies of title or other insurance or surety bonds or other guaranties, and any and all claims thereunder;

(4) any balance of the mortgage loan not advanced to the mortgagor;

(5) any cash or property held by the mortgagee or to which it is entitled, as deposits made for the account of the mortgagor and which have not been applied in reduction of the principal of the mortgage indebtedness; and

(6) all records, documents, books, papers, and accounts relating to the mortgage transaction.

(b) If the mortgagor fails to make any payment to the mortgagee required by the mortgage, or to perform any other covenant or obligation under the mortgage, and such failure continues for the period of grace, if any, set forth in the mortgage, the mortgage shall be considered in default, and the mortgagee, within the period set forth in the contract of insurance after the occurrence of a default arising on account of such failure to make any such payment or within the period set forth in the contract of insurance after the mortgagee shall have knowledge of the occurrence of a default arising on account of such failure to perform any other covenant or obligation under the mortgage, shall give notice in writing to the Administrator of such default. At any time within the period set forth in the contract of insurance from the date of such notice, the mortgagee, at its election, shall either—

(1) with, and subject to, the consent of the Administrator, acquire by means other than foreclosure of the mortgage, possession of, and title to, the mortgaged property; or

(2) institute proceedings for the foreclosure of the mortgage: Provided, That if the laws of the State in which the mortgaged property is situated do not permit the institution of such proceedings within such period of time, the mortgagee shall institute such proceedings within sixty (60) days after the expiration of the time during which the institution of such proceedings is prohibited by such laws. Nothing contained in this subdivision shall be so construed as to prevent the mortgagee from taking action at a later date than herein specified, provided the Administrator so agrees in writing. The mortgagee shall promptly give notice in writing to the Administrator of the institution of foreclosure proceedings under this subdivision and shall exercise reasonable diligence in prosecuting such proceedings to completion.

If after default and prior to the completion of foreclosure proceedings the mortgagor shall pay to the mortgagee all periodic payments in default and such expenses as the mortgagee shall have incurred in connection with the foreclosure proceedings, notice thereof shall be given to the Administrator by the mortgagee, and the insurance shall continue as if such default had not occurred.

2. If the mortgagee elects to proceed under, and does proceed under and in accordance with, the provisions of subdivision (a) of Paragraph 1 of this Article, and furnishes evidence satisfactory to the Administrator that there are no past due and unpaid ground rents, general taxes, or special assessments, and furnishes the warranties described in said subdivision and paragraph, the Administrator shall deliver to the mortgagee—

(a) Debentures of the Housing Insurance Fund as set forth in Section 207 of the Act, having a total face value equal to the original face amount of the mortgage plus such amounts as have been paid by the mortgagee for (1) taxes, special assessments, and water rates, which are liens prior to the mortgage; (2) insurance on the property; and (3) expenses for the completion or preservation of the property, subsequent to the default, and which have been approved by the Administrator, as reasonable and necessary; less the sum of (i) that part of the amount of the principal obligation that has been repaid, (ii) an amount equivalent to two per centum (2%) of the principal amount of the mortgage advanced to the mortgagor and unpaid, and (iii) any net income received by the mortgagee from the property: Provided, That such debentures shall be issued in multiples of $50 and any difference, not in excess of $50, between the amount of debentures to which the mortgagee is otherwise entitled hereunder and the aggregate face value of the debentures issued shall be paid in cash by the Administrator to the mortgagee. Such debentures shall be dated as of the date of such assignment, transfer, and delivery, and shall bear interest from such date at a rate to be determined by the Administrator, at the time the mortgage is insured, but not to exceed three per centum (3%) per annum, payable semiannually on the first day of January and the first day of July of each year, and shall mature three (3) years after the first day of July following the maturity date of the mortgage in exchange for which the debentures were issued. Such debentures shall be registered as to principal and interest and all or any such debentures may be redeemed at the option of the Administrator, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, at par and accrued interest on any interest payment date on three (3) months' notice of redemption given in such manner as the Administrator shall prescribe.

(b) A certificate of claim in accordance with Section 207 (h) of the Act, which shall become payable, if at all, upon the sale and final liquidation of the interest of the Administrator in such property, in accordance with Section 207 (h) of the Act. This certificate shall be for an amount which the Administrator determines to be sufficient, when added to the face value of the debentures issued and the cash adjustment paid to the mortgagee, to equal the amount which the mortgagee would have received if, on the date of the assignment, transfer and delivery to the Administrator provided for in subdivision (a) of Paragraph 1 of this Article, the mortgagor had extinguished the mortgage indebtedness by payment in full of all obligations under the mortgage. Such certificate of claim shall provide that there shall accrue to the holder of such certificate, with respect to the face amount of such certificate, an increment at the rate of three per centum (3%) per annum, which shall not be compounded. If any excess is realized from the mortgage, and all claims in connection therewith so assigned, transferred and delivered, and from the property covered by such mortgage and all claims in connection with such property, after deducting all expenses incurred by the Administrator in handling, dealing with, acquiring title to, and disposing of such mortgage and property and in collecting such claims, such excess shall be applied in payment of the certificate of claim and any balance thereafter shall be paid to the mortgagor, as provided in Section 207 (h) (1) of the Act.

3. If the mortgagee elects to proceed under, and does proceed under and in accordance with, the provisions of subdivision (b) of Paragraph 1 of this Article, and at any time within thirty (30) days (or such further time as may be allowed by the Administrator in writing) after acquiring title to and possession of the mortgaged property in accordance with such subdivision, tenders to the Administrator possession of, and a deed containing a covenant which warrants against acts of the mortgagee and all claiming by, through, or under it conveying title to, such property, satisfactory to the Administrator, as provided in Paragraph 4 of this Article, and assigns (without recourse or warranty) any and all claims which it has acquired in connection with the mortgage transaction and as a result of the foreclosure proceedings or other means by which it acquired such property, including any claim on account of title insurance and fire, or other hazard insurance, except such claims as may have been released with the prior approval of the Administrator, the Administrator shall promptly accept conveyance of such property and such assignment, notwithstanding that the buildings or improvements thereon may be incomplete, or may have been destroyed, damaged, or injured in whole or part, and shall deliver to the mortgagee—

(a) Debentures of the Housing Insurance Fund as set forth in Section 204 of the Act, in a principal amount equal to the principal of the mortgage which has been advanced with the written approval of the Administrator and which is unpaid on the date of the institution of foreclosure proceedings or the acquisition of the property after default other than by foreclosure, plus the amount of all payments which have been made by the mortgagee for taxes, special assessments, and water rates, which are liens prior to the mortgage, insurance on the property mortgaged, and any mortgage insurance premium paid after either of such dates, less any amount received on account of the mortgage, and any amount received as rent or other income from the property, after deducting therefrom reasonable expenses incurred in handling the property, subsequent to either of such dates: Provided, That such debentures shall be issued in multiples of $50 and any difference, not to exceed $50, between the amount of debentures to which the mortgagee is otherwise entitled hereunder and the aggregate face value of the debentures issued shall be paid in cash. Such debentures shall be dated as of the date foreclosure proceedings were instituted, or the property was otherwise acquired by the mortgagee after default, and shall bear interest from such date at a rate to be determined by the Administrator at the time the mortgage is offered for insurance, but not to exceed three per centum (3%) per annum, payable semiannually on the first day of January and the first day of July of each year, and shall mature three (3) years after the first day of July following the maturity date of the mortgage on the property in exchange for which the debentures were issued. Such debentures shall be registered as to principal and interest and all or any such debentures may be redeemed at the option of the Administrator, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, at par and accrued interest on any interest payment date on three (3) months' notice of redemption given in such manner as the Administrator shall prescribe.

(b) A certificate of claim in accordance with Section 204 (e) of the Act, which shall become payable, if at all, upon the sale and final liquidation of the interest of the Administrator in such property, in accordance with Section 204 (f) of the Act. This certificate shall be for an amount which the Administrator shall determine to be sufficient, to pay all amounts due under the mortgage and not covered by the amount of debentures and shall include a reasonable amount for necessary expenses incurred by the mortgagee in connection with the foreclosure proceedings or the acquisition of the mortgaged property otherwise and the conveyance thereof to the Administrator. Each such certificate of claim shall provide that there shall accrue to the holder thereof with respect to the face amount of such certificate, an increment at the rate of three per centum (3%) per annum, which shall not be compounded. If any excess is realized from the property conveyed to the Administrator and the claims assigned therewith, after deducting all expenses incurred by the Administrator in handling, dealing with, and disposing of such property and in collecting such claims, such excess shall be applied in payment of the certificate of claim and any balance thereafter shall be paid to the mortgagor, as provided in Section 204 (f) of the Act.

4. Title satisfactory to the Administrator within the meaning of Paragraph 3 of this Article will be such title as was vested in the mortgagor as of the date the mortgage was filed for record, free and clear of all liens and encumbrances which may have attached, or defects which may have arisen subsequent to the recording of such mortgage, except such liens or other matters as may be approved by the Administrator. The Administrator will not object to the title because of mechanics' liens excepted from the title evidence as unfiled at the date of recording the mortgage or of any advance thereunder, provided that advances under the mortgage are disbursed with the approval of the Administrator and that the certification of a title insurer or title attorney satisfactory to the Administrator be obtained to the effect that, as of the date of each advance, no lien appeared of record and the title policy or title opinion had been extended accordingly.

5. The mortgagee, at the time a deed is tendered in accordance with Paragraph 3 of this Article, shall furnish to the Administrator without expense to him satisfactory evidence of such title. Such title evidence shall be executed as of a date to include the recordation of the deed to the Administrator and, at the option of the mortgagee, may be in the form of an owner's policy of title insurance, or a satisfactory abstract and attorney's opinion covering the period subsequent to the recording of the mortgage, or a satisfactory continuation of the title evidence accepted by the Administrator at the time the mortgage was insured.

6. The mortgagee without cost or expense to the Administrator shall, in default of the mortgagor, keep the mortgaged premises insured against fire and other hazard as provided in the mortgage. In the event the mortgagee fails to pay any premiums necessary to keep the mortgaged premises so insured and such failure shall continue for fifteen (15) days after receipt of written notice of such failure from the Administrator to the mortgagee, the contract of insurance shall, at the election of the Administrator, thereupon terminate. In the event a loss has occurred to the mortgaged property under any policy of fire or other hazard insurance and the amount of any funds received by the mortgagee in payment of such loss shall be sufficient to pay in full the entire mortgage indebtedness, the mortgage shall, upon receipt of such funds by the mortgagee, be deemed paid and the contract of mortgagee insurance made with the Administrator shall thereupon terminate. If, however, any funds so received shall be insufficient to pay such mortgage indebtedness in full, the mortgagee shall not exercise its option under the mortgage to use the proceeds of such insurance for the repairing, replacing, or rebuilding of such premises or to apply such proceeds to the mortgage indebtedness without prior written approval of the Administrator. If the Administrator shall fail to give his approval to the use or application of such funds for either of said purposes within fifteen (15) days after written request by the mortgagee, the mortgagee may use or apply such funds for any of the purposes specified in the mortgage without the approval of the Administrator.

7. If after the mortgage becomes in default, as provided in Paragraph 1 of this Article, the mortgagee does not make the assignment provided in Paragraph 2 of this Article, or does not foreclose or otherwise acquire the mortgaged property and make the conveyance provided in Paragraph 3 of this Article, and written notice thereof is given to the Administrator, or in the event that the mortgagor pays the obligation under the mortgage in full prior to the maturity thereof and the mortgagee pays the adjusted premium charge required under the provisions of Paragraph 2 of Article III of these Regulations, and written notice thereof is given to the Administrator, the obligation to pay the annual premium charge shall cease, and all rights of the mortgagee and the mortgagor under Paragraphs 2 and 3 of this Article shall terminate as of the date of such notice.

8. In the event that the mortgagee fails to comply with the provisions of Paragraph 1 (a) and 2, or 1 (b) and 3 of this Article, then the contract of insurance shall thereupon terminate.

Article VI—Assignments

1. Bonds or other obligations issued in connection with an insured mortgage executed in the form of an indenture of trust providing for the issue and sale of such bonds or other obligations and appointing a trustee to act on behalf of the holders of such bonds or other obligations may be transferred as provided in the indenture of trust.

2. An insured mortgage other than a mortgage executed in the form of an indenture of trust providing for the issue and sale of bonds or other obligations and appointing a trustee to act on behalf of the holders of such bonds or other obligations may be transferred (but, except with the written approval of the Administrator, only subsequent to full disbursement of the mortgage loan) to a transferee who may be a mortgagee previously approved by the Administrator or who may be approved at the time of such transfer as a mortgagee responsible and able to service such insured mortgage. Upon such approval and transfer and the assumption by the transferee of all obligations under the contract of insurance, the transferor shall be released from its obligations under the contract of insurance.

3. The contract of insurance shall terminate with respect to mortgages described in Paragraph 2 of this Article upon the happening of either of the following events:

(a) The acquisition of the insured mortgage by or the pledge thereof to any person, firm, or corporation, public or private, except as specifically provided in such Paragraph 2.

(b) The disposal by a mortgagee of any partial interest in the insured mortgage by means of a declaration of trust or by a participation or trust certificate or by any other device, unless with the prior written approval of the Administrator: Provided, That this subdivision (b) shall not be applicable to any mortgage so long as it is held in a common trust fund maintained by a bank or trust company (1) exclusively for the collective investment and reinvestment of moneys contributed thereto by the bank or trust company in its capacity as a trustee, executor or administrator; and (2) in conformity with the rules and regulations prevailing from time to time of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, pertaining to the collective investment of trust funds.

Article VII—Rights in Housing Fund

Neither the mortgagee nor the mortgagor shall have any vested or other right in the Housing Insurance Fund.

Article VIII—Amendments

These Regulations may be amended by the Administrator at any time and from time to time, in whole or in part, but such amendments shall not affect the contract of insurance on any mortgage already insured or any mortgage or prospective mortgage on which the Administrator has made a commitment to insure.

Article IX—Effective Date

These Regulations shall be effective as to all mortgages with respect to which a commitment to insure is issued on or after the date hereof. The Administrator with the consent of the mortgagor and the mortgagee may, subject to such conditions as he may impose, amend to conform to these Regulations any contract of insurance or any commitment to insure, issued prior to the date hereof. Any mortgagee entitled to receive debentures upon default of a mortgage insured prior to February 3, 1938, may elect to receive, in lieu of such debentures, a cash adjustment and debentures issued as provided in Paragraph 3 of Article V and bearing interest at the rate current at the time of such election.

Issued at Washington, D. C.
February 15, 1938.

STEWART McDONALD,
Federal Housing Administrator.

Part III

Administrative Rules and Regulations Under Section 210 of Title II

RULES

Section I—Approval of Mortgages

1. The following may become the mortgagee of a mortgage insured under Section 210 of Title II of the National Housing Act:

(a) Any institution or organization which is approved as a mortgagee under Section 203 (b) of the National Housing Act; and

(b) Any other chartered institution or permanent organization having succession, upon its approval by the Administrator for a particular transaction.

2. As a condition precedent to insurance, the mortgagee must agree that it will ascertain the general physical condition of the mortgaged property at intervals not greater than one (1) year, and that, if at any time it be determined by the mortgagee that, in addition to ordinary wear and tear, the mortgaged property is being subjected to permanent or substantial injury, through unreasonable use, abuse, or neglect, the mortgagee will, unless adequate provision satisfactory to a prudent lender is made for the prompt restoration of the mortgaged property, forthwith take such action as may be available to it under the mortgage and appropriate to the particular case, for the protection and preservation of the mortgaged property and the income therefrom, and the submission of an application for insurance shall evidence such agreement.

3. The Administrator reserves the right to refuse to approve any institution or organization as the mortgagee of a particular mortgage or to withhold any such approval pending compliance by such institution or organization, with additional conditions which in the discretion of the Administrator are required in the particular case.

4. Approval of a mortgagee may be withdrawn by notice from the Administrator upon violation of the agreement mentioned in Subsection 2 of this Section, and such approval may also be withdrawn at any time for other cause sufficient to the Administrator, but no withdrawal will in any way affect the insurance on mortgages theretofore accepted for insurance.

Section II—Application and Commitment

1. Any mortgagee may submit an application for insurance of a mortgage about to be executed, or of a mortgage already executed, but no insurance will be granted unless the property shall have been approved for mortgage insurance and a commitment to insure in respect of the mortgage shall have been issued prior to the beginning of construction.

2. The application must be made upon a standard form prescribed by the Administrator and filed at the local Federal Housing Administration office serving the area in which the property is located.

3. The application must be accompanied by the mortgagee's check for a sum computed at the rate of three dollars ($3) per thousand dollars ($1,000) of the original face amount of the mortgage loan for which application is made, to cover the cost of appraisal and inspection by the Administrator. If an application is refused without an appraisal being made by the Administrator, the fee will be returned to the applicant. If an application is rejected after appraisal, one-half of the fee will be returned to the applicant. If, after insurance, the amount of an insured mortgage is increased either by amendment or by the substitution of a new insured mortgage, the fee herein provided for shall be based upon the amount of such increase.

4. Upon approval of an application acceptance of the mortgage for insurance will be evidenced by the issuance of a commitment setting forth, upon a form prescribed by the Administrator, the terms and conditions under which mortgage insurance will be granted but no commitment will be valid unless executed by the Administrator or his duly authorized agent.

Section III—Eligible Mortgages

To be eligible for insurance—

1. The mortgage must be executed upon a form approved by the Administrator for use in the jurisdiction in which the property covered by the mortgage is situated by a mortgagor with the qualifications hereinafter set forth in Section IV, must be a first lien upon property that conforms with the property standards prescribed by the Administrator, and the mortgagee must be obligated, as a part of the mortgage transaction, to disburse the entire principal amount of the mortgage to, or for the account of, the mortgagor.

2. The mortgage must involve a principal obligation in multiples of one hundred dollars ($100) and in excess of sixteen thousand dollars ($16,000) but not in excess of $200,000 and not in excess of eighty per centum (80%) of the amount which the Administrator estimates will be the value of the property when the proposed improvements are completed. Such part of the mortgage as may be attributable to dwelling use shall not exceed $1,150 per room.

3. The mortgage must have a maturity satisfactory to the Administrator but not less than ten (10) nor more than twenty-one (21) years from the date of its execution, and should come due upon the first day of a month.

4. The mortgage may bear interest at such rate as may be agreed upon between the mortgagee and the mortgagor, but in no case shall such interest rate be in excess of five per centum (5%) per annum. Interest shall be payable only on principal outstanding and shall be payable in monthly installments beginning on the date of the first payment on account of principal.

5. The mortgage must contain complete amortization provisions satisfactory to the Administrator requiring either (a) equal monthly payments consisting of principal and interest, or (b) monthly payments consisting of an equal amount on account of principal plus interest on the principal balance outstanding. Amortization of principal must begin not later than the first day of the eleventh month following the execution of the mortgage and the period during which amortization payments are made should be either ten (10), fifteen (15) or twenty (20) years by providing for either one hundred and twenty (120), one hundred and eighty (180) or two hundred and forty (240) monthly payments on account of principal.

6. The mortgage may provide for monthly payments by the mortgagor to the mortgagee of an amount equal to one-twelfth (1/12) of the annual mortgage insurance premium payable by the mortgagee to the Administrator. Such payments shall continue only so long as the contract of insurance shall remain in effect. The mortgage should provide that upon the payment of the mortgage before maturity, the mortgagor shall pay the adjusted premium charge referred to in Section 2, Article III, of the Regulations.

7. The mortgage shall provide for such equal monthly payments by the mortgagor to the mortgagee as will amortize the ground rents, if any, and the estimated amount of all taxes, special assessments, if any, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums, within a period ending one month prior to the dates on which the same become delinquent. The mortgage shall further provide that such payments shall be held by the mortgagee in a manner satisfactory to the Administrator, for the purpose of paying such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums, before the same become delinquent, for the benefit and account of the mortgagor. The mortgage must also make provision for adjustments in case the estimated amount of such taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums shall prove to be more, or less, than the actual amount thereof so paid by the mortgagor.

8. All monthly payments to be made by the mortgagor to the mortgagee as hereinabove provided, in subsections 4 to 7, inclusive, shall be added together and the aggregate amount thereof shall be paid by the mortgagor each month in a single payment. The mortgagee shall apply the same to the following items in the order set forth:

(a) premium charges under the contract of insurance;
(b) ground rents, taxes, special assessments, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums;
(c) interest on the mortgage; and
(d) amortization of the principal of the mortgage.

Any deficiency in the amount of any such aggregate monthly payment shall, unless made good by the mortgagor prior to or on the due date of the next such payment, constitute an event of default under the mortgage.

9. The mortgage may provide for a charge by the mortgagee of a "late charge", not to exceed two (2) cents for each dollar of each payment more than fifteen (15) days in arrears, to cover the extra expense involved in handling delinquent payments.

10. The mortgagor must pay to the mortgagee, upon the execution of the mortgage, a sum that will be sufficient to pay the ground rents, if any, and the estimated taxes, special assessments, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums for the period beginning on the date to which such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums were last paid and ending on the date of the first monthly payment on account of principal under the mortgage and may be required to pay a further sum equal to the initial mortgage insurance premium, plus one-twelfth of the premium next due.

11. The mortgagee may charge the mortgagor the amount of the appraisal fee provided in subsection 3 of Section II of these Rules and an initial service charge to reimburse itself for the cost of closing the transaction. Such initial service charge may be in an amount not in excess of two per centum (2%) of the original principal amount of the mortgage.

12. In addition to the charges hereinbefore mentioned, the mortagee shall collect from the mortgagor only recording fees, mortgage and stamp taxes, if any, and such costs of survey and title search as are approved by the Administrator.

13. Where the project consists principally of single-family dwellings the mortgage may include appropriate provisions for the release from the lien thereof of any such dwelling and the land upon which it is located in consideration of the payment to the mortgagee in reduction of the principal of the mortgage, of an amount set forth in a schedule attached to and forming a part of the mortgage, which schedule shall also provide for such deed restrictions in respect of the released property and other conditions incident to the transaction as the Administrator shall prescribe or approve.

14. The mortgage must contain a covenant against the creation by the mortgagor of liens against the mortgaged property inferior to the lien of the mortgage.

15. The mortgage must contain a provision or provisions, satisfactory to the Administrator, giving to the mortgagee, in event of default or foreclosure of the mortgage, such rights and remedies, for the protection and preservation of the property covered by the mortgage and the income therefrom, as are available under the law or custom of the jurisdiction.

16. The mortgage shall contain a covenant binding the mortgagor to keep the mortgaged property insured against fire and such other hazard as the Administrator, upon the insurance of the mortgage, may stipulate, in companies and in amounts satisfactory to the Administrator. The policies evidencing such insurance shall have attached thereto a standard mortgagee clause making loss, if any, payable to the mortgagee and the Administrator, as interest may appear.

17. The mortgage may contain such other terms, conditions and provisions with respect to advances during construction, assurance of completion, release of parts of the mortgaged property from the lien of the mortgage, insurance, repairs, alterations, payment of taxes, default and management reserves, foreclosure procedings, anticipation of maturity, and other matters as the Administrator may in his discretion prescribe or approve.

18. The mortgage must be executed with respect to a project which, in the opinion of the Administrator, is economically sound.

Section IV—Eligible Mortgagors

1. A mortgagor must establish that as of the date the mortgage is endorsed for insurance, the property covered by the mortgage is free and clear of all liens other than such mortgage, and that after final disbursement of the loan there will not be outstanding any other unpaid obligation contracted in connection with the mortgage transaction or the purchase of the mortgaged property, except obligations which are secured by property or collateral owned by the mortgagor independently of the mortgaged property.

2. A mortgagor must establish that the periodic payments required in the mortgage submitted for insurance bear a proper relation to anticipated income and expenses in respect to the mortgaged property.

3. The mortgagor must establish that the housing project will be economically sound and that it is not of such type, size and character as to render the mortgage more properly insurable under the provisions of Section 207 of the National Housing Act and Regulations thereunder.

4. A mortgagor must have a general credit standing satisfactory to the Administrator.

Section V—Eligibile Properties

1. A mortgage to be eligible for insurance must be on real estate held in fee simple, or on the interest of the lessor or lessee under a lease for not less than ninety-nine (99) years which is renewable, or under a lease having a period of not less than fifty (50) years to run from the date the mortgage is executed.

2. At the time the morgage is insured the mortgagor shall have constructed and completed, or shall be obligated to construct and complete on the mortgaged property one or more multifamily structures containing a total of not less than five (5) complete family dwelling units, or a group of not less than ten (10) single family dwellings, in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the Administrator, or the property shall previously have been covered by an insured mortgage.

Section VI—Title

1. In order to be eligible for insurance, the Administrator must determine that marketable title to the mortgaged property is vested in the mortgagor as of the date the mortgage is filed for record. The Administrator will examine the title to property covered by a mortgage offered for insurance and in the event a determination of eligibility with respect to title is made as herein provided, such finding shall constitute a part of the contract of insurance evidenced by the insurance endorsement.

2. Upon endorsement of the mortgage for insurance, the mortgagee, without expense to the Administrator, shall furnish to the Administrator a survey satisfactory to him and a policy of title insurance as provided in subsection (a) of this section, provided, however, that in the event the mortgagee is unable to furnish such policy for reasons satisfactory to the Administrator, the mortgagee, without expense to the Administrator, shall furnish evidence of title as provided in subsections (b), (c), or (d) of this section as the Administrator may require.

(a) A policy of title insurance with respect to such mortgage, issued by a company satisfactory to the Administrator. Such policy shall comply with the "L. I. C. Standard Mortgagee Form" or the "A. T. A. Standard Mortgagee Form", or such other form as may be approved by the Administrator and which offers substantially the same coverage under substantially the same conditions and stipulations. Such policies may contain such "permitted" and other exceptions, restrictions, and limitations as are approved by the Administrator. The policy shall become effective as of the date the mortgage is filed for record and shall run to the mortgagee as owner upon acquisition of the property by the mortgagee in extinguishment of the debt through foreclosure or by other means as provided in Section 2 (a) of Article V of the Regulations and to the Administrator upon his acquisition of the property upon the issuance of debentures as provided in Section 3 of Article V of the Regulations and shall be payable to the mortgagee and the Administrator as their respective interests may appear.

(b) An abstract of title satisfactory to the Administrator, prepared by an abstract company or individual engaged in the business of preparing abstracts of title, accompanied by a legal opinion satisfactory to the Administrator, as to the quality of such title, signed by an attorney at law experienced in the examination of titles.

(c) A Torrens or similar title certificate.

(d) Evidence of title conforming to the standards of a supervising branch of the Government of the United States of America, or of any State or Territory thereof.

Section VII—Insurance of Advances During Construction

1. The Administrator and the mortgagee shall, prior to the insurance of the mortgage, agree with respect to the manner and conditions under which advances (if any) during construction are to be made by the mortgagee and approved for insurance by the Administrator.

2. Such agreement shall require the mortgagee to notify the Administrator in writing not less than five (5) days prior to the date on which an advance is to be made, of the amount of the advance proposed to be made, and shall require the Administrator to deliver to the mortgagee within four (4) days from the date of such notice a certificate executed by the Administrator on a form prescribed by him, setting forth the amount approved for insurance or advising the mortgagee of the Administrator's non-approval and setting forth the reasons therefor.

3. Such agreement shall be set forth on a form prescribed by the Administrator, shall contain such additional terms, conditions and provisions as the Administrator shall in the particular case prescribe or approve, and when properly executed by the Administrator and the mortgagee, shall constitute a part of the mortgage insurance contract.

Section VIII—Effective Date

These Administrative Rules are effective as to all mortgages on which a commitment to insure is issued, on or after the date hereof.

Issued at Washington, D. C., February 15, 1938.

STEWART MCDONALD,
Federal Housing Administrator.

REGULATIONS

Article I

These Regulations may be cited and referred to as "Regulations of the Federal Housing Administrator under Section 210 of the National Housing Act, dated February 15, 1938."

As used in these Regulations—

1. The term "Administrator" means the Federal Housing Administrator.

2. The term "Act" means the National Housing Act.

3. The term "mortgage" means such a first lien upon real estate and other property as is commonly given to secure advances (including but not being limited to advances during construction) on, or the unpaid purchase price of, real estate under the laws of the State, district, or Territory in which the real estate is located, together with the credit instrument or instruments, if any, secured thereby.

4. The term "insured mortgage" means a mortgage which has been insured by the endorsement of the Administrator.

5. The term "mortgagor" means the original borrower under a mortgage and his personal representatives, successors, and assigns.

6. The term "mortgagee" means the original lender under a mortgage and its successors and such of its assigns as are approved by the Administrator.

Article III—Premiums

1. The mortgagee shall pay to the Administrator an annual mortgage insurance premium equal to one-half of one per centum (1/2 of 1%) of the average outstanding principal obligation of the mortgage for the twelve-month period following the date on which such premium becomes payable and calculated in accordance with the amortization provisions without taking into account delinquent payments or prepayments, except that the first mortgage insurance premium shall be equal to one-half of one per centum (1/2 of 1%) of the original face amount of the mortgage, shall be paid on the date on which the mortgage becomes an insured mortgage and shall cover, subject to the adjustment hereinafter provided, the period from the date of endorsement up to and including the date on which the first monthly payment on account of principal is due under the mortgage. The next premium shall be paid on the date on which the first monthly payment of principal is due, and thereafter, until the mortgage is paid in full, or the mortgaged property is acquired by the Administrator as hereinafter set forth, or until the contract of insurance is otherwise terminated, each succeeding premium shall be paid annually on the anniversary of such date, and the amount of the second premium will be adjusted so as to accord with such payment date and so as to render the first premium paid equal to one per centum (1%) of the average outstanding principal obligation of the mortgage during the interval from the date of endorsement up to and including the date on which the first monthly payment on account of principal is due. Such premiums shall be paid either in cash or in debentures issued by the Administrator under Title II of the National Housing Act at par plus accrued interest.

2. In the event that the principal obligation of any mortgage accepted for insurance is paid in full prior to maturity, the mortgagee shall within thirty (30) days thereafter notify the Administrator of the date of prepayment and shall collect from the mortgagor and pay to the Administrator an adjusted premium charge of one per centum (1%) of the original face amount of the prepaid mortgage, except that if at the time of such prepayment there is placed on the mortgaged property a new insured mortgage in an amount less than the original face amount of the prepaid mortgage, such adjusted premium shall be one per centum (1%) of the difference in such amounts.

In no event shall the adjusted premium exceed the aggregate amount of premium charges which would have been payable if the mortgage had continued to be insured until maturity. If at the time of prepayment a new insured mortgage is placed on the same property, the Administrator will refund to the mortgagee for the account of the mortgagor an amount equal to the unearned portion of the current annual premium theretofore paid.

No adjusted premium shall be collected by the mortgagee in the following cases:

(a) where at the time of such prepayment there is placed on the mortgaged property a new insured mortgage for an amount equal to or greater than the original principal amount of the prepaid mortgage; or

(b) where the final maturity specified in the mortgage is accelerated solely by reason of partial prepayments made by the mortgagor which do not exceed in any one calendar year fifteen per centum (15%) of the original face amount of the mortgage; or

(c) where the final maturity specified in the mortgage is accelerated solely by reason of payments to principal to compensate for (1) damage to the mortgaged property, or (2) a release of a part of such property if approved by the Administrator; or

(d) where payment in full is made of a delinquent mortgage on which foreclosure proceedings have been commenced, or for the purpose of avoiding foreclosure, if the transaction is approved by the Administrator.

Upon such prepayment the contract of insurance shall terminate.

The provisions of this section shall not be construed to prohibit the mortgagee from including in the mortgage and collecting from the mortgagor such charge for prepayment as may be agreed upon between the mortgagee and the mortgagor.

Article IV—Insurance Endorsement

1. Upon compliance satisfactory to the Administrator with the terms and conditions of his commitment to insure, the Administrator shall endorse the original credit instrument in form as follows:

The Administrator and the mortagee shall thereafter be bound by these Regulations with the same force and to the same extent as if a separate contract had been executed relating to the insured mortgage, including the provisions of these Regulations and of the National Housing Act.

3. After all advances under the mortgage have been made with the approval of the Administrator, the Administrator will, upon presentation of the original credit instrument, make a notation below the insurance endorsement in form as follows:

Article V—Rights and Duties of a Mortgagee Under the Contract of Insurance

1. In the event that the mortgagee forecloses on the mortgaged property, or otherwise acquires the property, but does not convey such property to the Administrator in accordance with Section 3 of this Article, and the Administrator is given written notice thereof, or in the event that the mortgagor pays the obligation under the mortgage in full prior to the maturity thereof, and the mortgagee pays the adjusted premium charge required under the provisions of Section 2 of Article III of these Regulations, and the Administrator is given written notice by the mortgagee of the payment of such obligation, the obligation to pay any subsequent premium charge for insurance shall cease, and all rights of the mortgagee and the mortgagor under Section 3 of this Article shall terminate as of the date of such notice.

2. If the mortgagor fails to make any payment to the mortgagee required by the mortgage, or to perform any other covenant or obligation under the mortgage, and such failure continues for a period of thirty-one (31) days, the mortgage shall be considered in default, and the mortgagee, within a period of thirty (30) days after the occurrence of a default arising on account of such failure to make any such payment or within such period after the mortgagee shall have knowledge of the occurrence of a default arising on account of such failure to perform any other covenant or obligation under the mortgage, shall give notice in writing to the Administrator of such default. At any time within a period of six (6) months after the date of such notice the mortgagee, at its election, shall either—

(a) with, and subject to, the consent of the Administrator, acquire by means other than foreclosure of the mortgage, possession of, and title to, the mortgaged property; or

(b) (1) institute proceedings for the foreclosure of the mortgage, give the Administrator prompt notice thereof, and exercise reasonable diligence in prosecuting such proceedings to completion; and (2) obtain possession of the mortgaged property and the income therefrom through the voluntary surrender thereof by the mortgagor or institute, and prosecute with reasonable diligence, proceedings for the appointment of a receiver of the mortgaged property and the income therefrom or proceed to exercise such other rights and remedies as may be available to it for the protection and preservation of the mortgaged property and the income therefrom under the mortgage and the law of the particular jurisdiction: Provided, That if the laws of the state in which the mortgaged property is situated do not permit the institution of such proceedings within such period of time, the mortgagee shall institute such proceedngs within sixty (60) days after the expiration of the time during which the institution of such proceedings is prohibited by such laws.

If after default and prior to the completion of foreclosure proceedings the mortgagor shall pay to the mortgagee all monthly payments in default and such expenses as the mortgagee shall have incurred in connection with the proceedings mentioned in paragraph (b) of this subsection, notice thereof shall be given to the Administrator by the mortgagee, and the insurance shall continue as if such default had not occurred.

Nothing in this section contained shall be construed so as to prevent the mortgagee, with the written consent of the Administrator, from taking action at a later date than herein specified.

3. If the mortgagee has complied with the provisions of Section 2 of this Article, and at any time within thirty (30) days (or such further time as may be allowed by the Administrator in writing) after acquiring title to and possession of the mortgaged property in accordance with Section 2 of this Article, tenders to the Administrator possession of, and a deed containing a covenant which warrants against acts of the mortgagee and all claiming by, through, or under it conveying title satisfactory to the Administrator as provided in Section 5 of this Article, to such property and assigns (without recourse or warranty) any and all claims which it has acquired in connection with the mortgage transaction and as a result of the foreclosure proceedings or other means by which it acquired such property, including any claim on account of title insurance and fire, or other hazard insurance, except such claims as may have been released with the prior approval of the Administrator, the Administrator shall promptly accept conveyance of such property and such assignment, notwithstanding that the buildings or improvements thereon may be incomplete or may have been destroyed, damaged or injured in whole or in part, and shall deliver to the mortgagee:

(a) Debentures of the Housing Insurance Fund as set forth in Section 204 of the Act, in a principal amount equal to the principal of the mortgage which has been advanced with the written approval of the Administrator and which is unpaid on the date of the institution of foreclosure proceedings, or on the date of the acquisition of the property otherwise after default, plus the amount of all payments which have been made by the mortgagee for taxes, special assessments and water rates which are liens prior to the mortgage, insurance on the property mortgaged and any mortgage insurance premium paid after either of such dates, less any amount received on account of the mortgage, and any amount received as rent or other income from the property after deducting therefrom reasonable expenses incurred in handling the property, subsequent to either of such dates: Provided, That such debentures shall be issued in multiples of $50 and any difference, not to exceed $50, between the amount of debentures to which the mortgagee is otherwise entitled hereunder and the aggregate face value of the debentures isued shall be paid in cash. Such debentures shall be dated as of the date foreclosure proceedings were instituted or the property was otherwise acquired by the mortgagee after default and shall bear interest from such date at the rate of two and three-quarters per centum (2¾%) per annum, payable semiannually on the first day of January and the first day of July of each year, and shall mature three (3) years after the first day of July following the maturity date of the mortgage on the property in exchange for which the debentures were issued. Such debentures shall be registered as to principal and interest and all or any such debentures may be redeemed at the option of the Administrator, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, at par and accrued interest on any interest payment date on three (3) months' notice of redemption given in such manner as the Administrator shall prescribe.

(b) A certificate of claim in accordance with Section 204 (e) of the Act which shall become payable, if at all, upon the sale and final liquidation of the interest of the Administrator in such property, in accordance with Section 204 (f) of the Act. This certificate shall be for an amount which the Administrator shall determine to be sufficient to pay all amounts due under the mortgage and not covered by the amount of debentures and shall include a reasonable amount for necessary expenses incurred by the mortgagee in connection with the foreclosure proceedings or the acquisition of the mortgaged property otherwise, and the conveyance thereof to the Administrator. Each such certificate of claim shall provide that there shall accrue to the holder thereof with respect to the face amount of such certificate, an increment at the rate of 3 per centum (3%) per annum, which shall not be compounded.

4. In the event that the mortgagee fails to comply with the provisions of Sections 2 and 3 of this Article, then the contract of insurance shall terminate and all rights of the mortgagee and mortgagor under this Article shall cease.

5. Title satisfactory to the Administrator within the meaning of Section 3 of this Article will be such title as was vested in the mortgagor as of the date the mortgage was filed for record but must be free and clear of all mechanics' and materialmen's liens filed of record subsequent to the recording of such mortgage regardless of whether such liens attached prior to such recording date and free and clear of all liens and encumbrances which may have attached, or defects which may have arisen subsequent to the recording of such mortgage, except such liens or other matters as may be approved by the Administrator.

6. The mortgagee, at the time a deed is tendered in accordance with Section 3 of this Article, shall furnish to the Administrator without expense to him satisfactory evidence of such title. Such title evidence shall be executed as of a date to include the recordation of the deed to the Administrator and, at the option of the mortgagee, may be in the form of an owner's policy of title insurance, or a satisfactory abstract and attorney's opinion covering the period subsequent to the recording of the mortgage or a satisfactory continuation of the title evidence accepted by the Administrator at the time the mortgage was insured.

7. The mortgagee without cost or expense to the Administrator shall, in default of the mortgagor, keep the mortgaged premises insured in amounts and in companies satisfactory to the Administrator against fire and other hazard as provided in the mortgage. In the event the mortgagee fails to pay any premiums necessary to keep the mortgaged premises so insured and such failure shall continue for a period of thirty (30) days, then the contract of insurance shall, at the election of the Administrator, thereupon terminate. In the event a loss has occurred to the mortgaged property under any policy of fire or other hazard insurance and the amount of any funds received by the mortgagee in payment of such loss shall be sufficient to pay in full the entire mortgage indebtedness, the said mortgage shall, upon receipt of such funds by the mortgagee, be deemed paid and the contract of mortgage insurance shall thereupon terminate. If, however, any funds so received shall be insufficient to pay such mortgage indebtedness in full, the mortgagee shall not exercise its option under the mortgage to use the proceeds of such insurance for the repairing, replacing, or rebuilding of such premises or to apply such proceeds to the mortgage indebtedness without the prior written approval of the Administrator. If the Administrator shall fail to give his approval to the use or application of such funds for either of said purposes within fifteen (15) days after written request by the mortgagee, the mortgagee may use or apply such funds for any of the purposes specified in the mortgage without the approval of the Administrator.

Article VI—Assignments

1. When the insured mortgage is transferred to a mortgagee approved under Section 203 (b) of the Act, such transferee shall notify the Administrator of the acquisition of such mortgage within thirty (30) days thereof, and shall thereupon succeed to all the rights and become bound by all the obligations of the transferor under the contract of insurance; but the transferor shall be released from its obligations under the contract of insurance only upon its giving notice to the Administrator of the transfer of the insured mortgage within thirty (30) days thereof.

When transfer of the insured mortgage is to be made to other than a mortgagee approved under Section 203 (b) of the Act such transferee must obtain written approval of the Administrator. Upon receipt of such written approval such transferee may become the mortgagee of the insured mortgage upon its transfer and shall succeed to all the rights and become bound by all of the obligations of the transferor under the contract of insurance; but the transferor shall be released from its obligations under the contract of insurance only upon its giving notice to the Administrator of the transfer of the insured mortgage within thirty (30) days thereafter.

Whenever the insured mortgage is transferred to another approved mortgagee, for the purposes of collateral only, no notice need be given to the Administrator until such collateral is foreclosed, but the transferor shall remain subject to all of the obligations of the contract of insurance.

2. The contract of insurance shall terminate upon the happening of either of the following events:

(a) the acquisition of the insured mortgage by, or the pledge thereof to, any person, firm, or corporation, public or private, other than an approved mortgagee, whether individually or in trust for another: Provided, That this subsection (a) shall not be applicable to a mortgage acquired or held by an approved mortgagee which is a banking institution or trust company inspected and supervised by some governmental agency, for a trust held or administered by it in a fiduciary capacity, as long as such fiduciary relationship shall remain in effect;

(b) the disposal by an approved mortgagee of any partal interest in an insured mortgage or group of insured mortgages (whether to another approved mortgagee or otherwise) by means of a declaration of trust, or by a participation or trust certificate, or by any other device; provided that this subsection (b) shall not be applicable to any mortgage so long as it is held in a common trust fund maintained by a bank or trust company (1) exclusively for the collective investment and reinvestment of moneys contributed thereto by the bank or trust company in its capacity as a trustee, executor or administrator; and (2) in conformity with the rules and regulations prevailing from time to time of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, pertaining to the collective investment of trust funds.

Article VII—Rights in Housing Fund

Article VIII—Amendments

These Regulations may be amended by the Administrator at any time and from time to time, in whole or in part, but such amendment shall not affect the contract of insurance on any mortgage already insured, or any mortgage or prospective mortgage on which the Administrator has made a commitment to insure.

Article IX—Effective Date

These Regulations are effective as to all mortgages insured under Section 210 of the National Housing Act on or after the date hereof.

Issued at Washington, D. C., February 15, 1938.

STEWART MCDONALD,
Federal Housing Administrator.

PART IV

Project Standards

The National Housing Act requires the Administrator to find that the project with respect to which a mortgage is to be executed is economically sound, as a prerequisite to his insurance of such mortgage. The following criteria will guide the Administrator in forming his opinion as to the economic soundness of any project:

1. Community.—(a) A satisfactory economic background in general and specifically with reference to sources of employment for the population group for which the housing accommodations are intended.

(b) Existence of a need for dwellings meeting approved physical standards, and available for rent at prices within the rent paying capacity of the income group the project is designed to serve.

(c) The financial condition and administration of the community, with particular reference to the possibility of excessive tax burdens or increased tax rates; the probability of future special assessments and the general tendency in the community with respect to the placing of further levies, and the relation of such added burdens to the sums likely to be available to meet them.

2. The Neighborhood.—(a) Appropriate neighborhood zoning, or other regulation of land use; character and age of the neighborhood, its prospective trend of development, and conformity of the proposed improvement thereto; future of the neighborhood as influenced by present or prospective improvements external thereto; and by present or possible inharmonious land uses within it.

(b) Size of the proposed project as a factor in influencing neighborhood development and stabilizing, modifying, or reversing discernible trends; relation of the neighborhood and the project to community plans tending to promote homogeneity of land use, permanent population betterments, and the rehabilitation of blighted or slum areas.

(c) Conformity of the project and its prospective tenants to the needs and characteristics of predominant ethnic groups nearby; probable long term immunity of the neighborhood from adverse influences.

(d) Accessibility of the neighborhood to churches and to centers of employment, trade, education, and recreation; adequacy and economy of public means of transit, and conformity of the project to local custom and habit as regards transportation.

3. The site.—(a) Freedom from adjacent adverse influences either topographic, industrial, or psychological.

(b) Adequate and acceptable local land planning, or possibility of modifications thereof.

(c) Freedom from flood danger or other hazards; satisfactory and non-costly foundation conditions; the presence nearby of all necessary utility connections; and topographic adaptability, within the property lines, to the intended use.

(d) General conformity of the proposed improvement to the discernible real estate characteristics of the site, and to appropriate densities, rents, layout, and type of structure as indicated by these characteristics.

4. The buildings.—(a) Open land within the project shall be so distributed as to avoid narrow courts and to assure adequate light and air, and a satisfactory outlook for all rooms. Net lot coverage must be kept to the minimum consistent with a sound project based on a reasonable land value. Densities should not ordinarily exceed eight (8) families per gross acre for free standing houses, fifteen (15) families per gross acre for grouped or row houses, and one hundred (100) families per gross acre for multiple family dwellings.

(b) Buildings not over three stories in height are preferred, and no walkup may exceed four stories. Elevators will be required for buildings of greater height which will be acceptable only if appropriate to the location.

(c) Conformity of the land use, buildings and all accessory features with the requirements of all applicable laws, ordinances, and regulations relating to the utilization of land and the safety and sanitation of buildings.

(d) Suitability of the type of construction to the general plan of housing proposed. (Generally, preference will be given to buildings promising slow depreciation and moderate maintenance costs.)

(e) Economical layouts (high ratio of usable building area to gross building area); cross ventilation in a maximum of the dwelling units; privacy of sleeping quarters under maximum possible use of dwelling units; avoidance of narrow courts and shafts.

(f) Suitability of the buildings as quarters for families of average size.

Layouts containing not less than three habitable rooms and one bathroom should be heavily predominant, but a small proportion of smaller units may be included. One of the habitable rooms shall have a floor area of not less than one hundred sixty (160) square feet; one a floor area of not less than one hundred (100) square feet; and one a floor area of not less than seventy (70) square feet; except that a kitchen may have a floor area of not less than fifty (50) square feet. Buildings of the corridor-type plan will ordinarily not be approved for mortgage insurance.

5. Finance and operation.—(a) Relation of rental levels of the project to the existing pattern of rentals in the community.

(b) Adequacy of the estimation of costs of administration, operation, and maintenance in conformity with local prices and conditions.

(c) Reasonableness of assumptions as to occupancy ratio in relation to a long-term expectancy.

(d) Possibility of accumulating a surplus in excess of dividend requirements after all expenses and the service of the mortgage.

(e) Land valued to conform to the local pattern of land values and to a capitalized value as determined by the residuals of gross income available for such capitalization.

(f) Sufficiency of the cash and other equity in the project to provide for all improvement costs above the mortgage and to assure continuing interest in the project by the sponsors.

(g) Provisions for a continuing and responsible management organization.

(h) Experience and responsibility of the proposed contractor.

United States of America—Before Federal Trade Commission

[Docket No. 3330]

COMPLAINT

Pursuant to the provisions of an Act of Congress, approved October 15, 1914, entitled "An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes", commonly known as the Clayton Act, as amended, being an Act of Congress, approved June 19, 1936 (U. S. C., title 15, sec. 13), commonly known as the Robinson-Patman Act, the Federal Trade Commission having reason to believe that U. S. PARAGRAPH 1. Respondent is a corporation, organized, existing and doing business by virtue of the laws of the State of Delaware, with its principal office and place of business located at 105 Fourth Avenue, New York City, New York.

PAR. 2. For many years prior hereto and since June 19, 1936, respondent has been, and is now, engaged in the business of manufacturing, selling and distributing pressing machines. In the course of such business, respondent has been, and is now, distributing and selling said machines in commerce from its place of business in the State of New York to various purchasers in other states of the United States, and has been in substantial competition with other corporations, individuals, partnerships and firms engaged in the business of manufacturing, selling and distributing pressing machines, in commerce between and among and in the various states of the United States.

PAR. 3. In the course and conduct of its business, as aforesaid, respondent since June 19, 1936 has been, and is now, discriminating in price among different purchasers of pressing machines of like grade and quality, sold for use within the United States, by giving and allowing, through divers means and methods, certain purchasers different prices from those given or allowed other of their said purchasers.

PAR. 4. The effect of said discriminations in price by respondent has been, or may be, substantially to lessen competition, to tend to create a monopoly, or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition in the sale and distribution of pressing machines between respondent and other manufacturers of said machines in commerce between, among and in the various states of the United States.

PAR. 5. The foregoing alleged acts of said respondent, U. S. Hoffman Machinery Corporation, are a violation of Section 2 (a) of said Act of Congress, approved June 19, 1936, entitled, "An Act to amend Section 2 of the Act entitled 'An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes', approved October 15, 1914, as amended (U. In case of desire to contest the proceeding the respondent shall, within twenty (20) days from the service of the complaint, file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. Such answer shall contain a short and simple statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense. Respondent shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the complaint, unless respondent is without knowledge, in which case respondent shall so state.

Failure of the respondent to file answer within the time above provided or failure to appear at the time and place fixed for hearing shall be deemed to authorize the Commission without further hearing or notice to respondent, to proceed in regular course on the charges set forth in the complaint, and to make, enter, issue, and serve upon respondent findings of fact and an order to cease and desist.

If respondent desires to waive hearing on the charges set forth in the complaint and not to contest the proceeding the answer may consist of a statement that respondent admits all the material allegations of the complaint to be true. Any such answer shall be deemed to waive a hearing thereon, and to authorize the Commission, without trial and without further evidence, or other intervening procedure, to make, enter, issue, and serve upon respondent:

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

RULES FOR THE REGULATION OF SHORT-SELLING AMENDED

These rules were adopted pursuant to authority conferred upon the Securities and Exchange Commission by the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, particularly Sections 3 (b), 10 (a), and 23 (a) thereof. The rules apply to short-selling of securities on National Securities Exchanges. Rule X-3B-3 defines the term "short-selling". Rule X-10A-1 prohibits short-selling under certain circumstances and is applicable to all persons whether members of national securities exchanges or the public. Rule X-10A-2 is applicable only to members of national securities exchanges and is designed to prohibit the borrowing of securities for deliveries against "long" sales.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, deeming it necessary for the exercise of the functions vested in it and necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors so to do, pursuant to authority conferred upon it by the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly Sections 10 (a) and 23 (a) thereof, hereby amends paragraph (d) of Rule X-10A-1 by striking out the word "or" before the figure (5) and by inserting immediately before the period at the end thereof a semicolon and the following:

"(6) any sale of a security on a national securities exchange effected with the approval of such exchange which is necessary to equalize the price of such security thereon with the current price of such security on another national securities exchange which is the principal exhange market for such security"

Paragraph (d) of Rule X-10A-1 as amended, reads as follows:

"(d). The provisions of paragraph (a) hereof shall not apply to (1) any sale by any person, for an account in which he has an interest, if such person owns the security sold and intends to deliver such security as soon as is possible without undue inconvenience or expense; (2) any member in respect of a sale, for an account in which he has no interest, pursuant to an order to sell which is marked 'long'; (3) any sale of an odd-lot; (4) any sale by an odd-lot dealer to offset odd-lot orders of customers; (5) any sale by an odd-lot dealer to liquidate a long position which is less than a round lot, provided such sale does not change the position of such odd-lot dealer by more than the unit of trading; or (6) any sale of a security on a national securities exchange effected with the approval of such exchange which is necessary to equalize the price of such security thereon with the current price of such security on another national securities exchange which is the principal exchange market for such security."

The foregoing amendment shall be effective immediately.

NATIONAL WILD LIFE WEEK—1938

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS one of the most important phases of the conservation of our natural resources is the protection and preservation of our wild life; and

WHEREAS this is a work in which virtually our entire citizenship can participate wholeheartedly and enthusiastically, whether resident in the large metropolitan centers, with limited access to the great out-doors, or permitted to enjoy at first hand the wonders of nature; and

WHEREAS the carrying into effect of any program for the conservation of our hereditary wild life—in the past seriously diminished and depleted by destructive exploitation and lack of proper understanding and sympathy—must enlist the support of all of our citizens if the mistakes of the past are to be avoided in the future in dealing with this important resource of incalculable social, economic, esthetic, and recreational value:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and designate the week beginning March 20, 1938, as National Wild Life Week and do earnestly appeal to all of our citizens first to recognize the importance of the problem of conservation of these assets in wild life, and then to work with one accord for their proper protection and preservation. To this end I call upon all citizens in every community to give thought during this period to the needs of the denizens of field, forest, and water and intelligent consideration of the best means for translating good intentions into practical action in behalf of these invaluable but inarticulate friends. Only through the full cooperation of all can wild life be restored for the present generation and perpetuated for posterity.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington, this 14" day of February, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and [SEAL] thirty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-second.

FRANKLIN D ROOSEVELT

By the President:
CORDELL HULL
Secretary of State.

[Administration Order 233 [1]]

TENURE AGREEMENTS AND LEASES FOR RESETTLEMENT TYPE PROJECTS

FEBRUARY 15, 1938.

1. Purpose.—(a) This Order provides for the necessary delegations of authority: (1) To execute and cancel tenure agreements and leases, (2) to execute waivers of restrictions in options in connection with certain tenure agreements and leases, and (3) to perform other acts in connection with tenure agreements and leases for resettlement type projects.

2. Delegations of authority.—(a) Regional directors, or assistant regional directors in charge of RP, when so designated in writing by the regional directors, are authorized, subject to the limitations contained in this and other pertinent Orders, to:

I. Execute Tenure Forms D-1, D-2, D-4, and D-5. In the execution of Tenure Form D-2, however, the rentals will be determined by the RP Division, Washington, D. C., upon information and recommendation to be furnished by regional directors. In all other cases, the rentals will be determined by regional directors, subject to the approval of the RP Division, Washington, D. C.

II. Approve, on behalf of the United States, Tenure Form D-3 and, subject to the requirements of paragraph 1b of AO 98 (Rev. 2) except item (a) thereof, execute waivers of restrictions in options covering the lands being leased under Tenure Form D-3, which restrictions, among other things, prohibit during the operation of such options the sale or lease (or offer to sell or lease) of the property except to the U. S. and the FSA.

III. Execute waivers of restrictions in options when Tenure Form D-5 is to be executed, as provided in this Order, for the purpose of permitting vendors (lessees under Tenure Form D-5) to lease optioned lands to their tenants prior to the date when the U. S. acquires title thereto, and in order that such leases may terminate on a date subsequent to the date of acquisition of title to the land by the U. S., provided that: The waiver requires that any such lease will be terminated on a date not later than the end of the crop year; and the waiver requires the lease to be made expressly subject and subordinate to the options held by the FSA. Where Tenure Form D-5 is executed and the vendor (lessee under Tenure Form D-5) subleases the optioned land to his tenants:

A. The waiver may be made in favor of a person, other than a client of the FSA.

B. The lease may terminate on a date subsequent to the date of acquisition of title to the lands by the U. S. and the FSA; and

C. The lease must have been approved by the FSA.

IV. Execute such copies of Form FSA-LE 178, "Cancelation Agreement", as may hereafter be required in connection with the voluntary cancelation of leases of lessees under Tenure Forms D-1, D-2, D-4, and D-5. No "Cancelation Agreement" will be entered into unless it is to the advantage and best interests of the Government to do so. In all cases, the proportionate part of the rent due at the time of cancelation must be paid by the lessee. Since modification of this "Cancelation Agreement" may be required in particular instances because of unmatured annual crops growing on the property, or for similar reasons, the "Cancelation Agreement" must in all cases be submitted to the regional Office of the Solicitor for approval before it is executed. Where the property is abandoned or the contract is otherwise terminated under such circumstances that the above-mentioned voluntary "Cancelation Agreement" is not executed, Form FSA-MA 138, "Cancelation Notice For General Accounting Office", will be executed. Copies of Form FSA-LE 178 and Form FSA-MA 138 will be distributed to all offices having on file a copy of the Tenure Agreement or Lease so canceled.

(b) The authority conferred in this Order upon regional directors will be construed to cover rural resettlement type projects whether or not a state RR corporation, within the meaning of paragraph 2a of AO 121, has purchased any land for, or participated in any manner in, developing such projects.

(c) The policies and procedure set forth in AO 161, latest revision, supplements, and modifications thereto, will be followed in releasing crops encumbered by the Tenure Agreements and Leases referred to in this Order. The functions indicated in AO 161, latest revision, supplements, and modifications thereto, to be performed by regional RR officials will be performed by the appropriate corresponding regional RP officials for the purposes of this Order.

(d) Regional directors are authorized, in addition to the authority granted in paragraphs 2a, 2b, and 2c of this Order, to execute and perform all notices, consents, and other acts on behalf of the Government under Tenure Forms D-1, D-2, D-4, and D-5, in the manner and form prescribed therein. Provided, however, that the authority herein granted will not be construed to include the determination of rentals under Tenure Form D-2.

3. Exceptions.—(a) All delegations of authority to regional directors, as provided in this Order, in paragraph 2f of AO 155 (Suppl. 1), and in paragraph 1 of AO 155 (Suppl. 2), regarding the execution of agreements and the performance of other acts on behalf of the Government and the FSA apply only to projects under the jurisdiction of the regional director. For projects under the jurisdiction of the Director of the RP Division, the authority to execute agreements and perform other acts on behalf of the Government is vested in the Director of the RP Division, Washington, D. C., who may redelegate such of this authority as may be necessary.

4. Limitations in use of tenure forms.—(a) Form FSA-LE 161 (formerly Form RA-LE 161), Tenure Form D-1, will be executed between the Government and the lessee only after the U. S. has acquired title to the land, and:

I. Where a farm management plan has not yet been evolved and it is necessary or desirable to have the farm operated in the meantime by a client who has been selected for permanent tenure; or

II. Where a farm management plan has been evolved but no selected client is available and it is desirable to have the farm operated by a farmer who has not been selected for permanent tenure.

III. Whether or not a farm management plan has been evolved but where construction plans or construction has not sufficiently progressed to permit the execution of Tenure Form D-2.

(b) Form FSA-LE 161, Tenure Form D-1, may be modified and used:

I. Where the lessee is a client or a person otherwise entitled to rural rehabilitation and where the regional director finds that the rural rehabilitation of such lessee will be promoted by providing that the lessee shall clear, terrace, or otherwise perform minor improvements and repairs upon the leased lands and the buildings and structures thereon. In no case should the modification, hereinafter provided for, be used when the sole purpose is to avoid the expenditure of appropriated or allotted funds for the improvements in question. Where the modification provided for is used, the value of such repairs, clearing, terracing or other improvements shall be taken into account in fixing the rent. In this situation, the following paragraph will be substituted for paragraph 5, page 4, of Form FSA-LE 161:

"5. The Lessee shall utilize the pasture and woodland, and plant, cultivate, and harvest such crops and conduct such livestock, dairy and poultry enterprises on said Property as are in accordance with approved farm organization, management and practices of good husbandry. In order to further the rehabilitation of the lessee and maintain the property for efficient farming operations, the lessee agrees to conduct such farming operations and make such improvements on said property in accordance with the provisions of such farm management plans as may be prescribed by the Government."

(c) Form FSA-LE 162 (formerly Form RA-LE 162), Tenure Form D-2, will be executed between the Government and the lessee only after the U. S. has acquired title to the land and for a term of approximately five years:

I. Where a farm management plan has been evolved and an approved client has been selected; and

II. Where construction plans or construction is sufficiently advanced to permit the execution of a lease for a term of approximately five years.

(d) Form FSA-LE 163 (formerly Form RA-LE 163), Tenure Form D-3,[1] will be executed between the vendor and the lessee only where the U. S. has not yet acquired title to the land and for a term running to the end of the crop year, or until such time as title to the property is acquired by the U. S., whichever period is the shorter, and:

I. Where the U. S. is willing to permit the vendor to lease the land to a client, or a non-client of the FSA or a low-income farmer.

(e) Form FSA-LE 164 (formerly Form RA-LE 164), Tenure Form D-4, will be executed between the Government and the lessee prior to the date of acquisition of title to the land by the U. S., will become operative upon acquisition of title, and:

I. Where it appears desirable to insure continued occupancy of the tenant to the end of the crop year, after the tenancy under Tenure Form D-3 has terminated by reason of acquisition of title to the land by the U. S.

(f) Form FSA-LE 165 (formerly Form RA-LE 165), Tenure Form D-5, will be executed between the Government and the vendor prior to the acquisition of title to the land by the U. S. and will become operative upon acquisition of title and will terminate on a date not later than the end of the crop year, and:

I. Where it appears that title to the land may be acquired by the United States during a crop year and it has been administratively determined that developmental work thereon will not be undertaken during the crop year, and the U. S. is desirous of making such provision as will permit the present owner or his tenants to cultivate the land in order that the land will not remain idle for the entire crop year; or

II. Where it appears desirable to insure continued occupancy of the land to the vendor to the end of the crop year in order that the land will not remain idle for the entire crop year.

[1] In order to correct an error in paragraph 3, page 3, of Form FSA-LE 163, Tenure Form D-3, approved 1/26/37, regional directors or assistant regional directors in charge of RP, when so designated by regional directors, executing waivers of restrictions in options, as provided above, will see that in all cases where Tenure Form D-3 is used, paragraph 3, page 3, of that document reads as follows:

[Memorandum No. 748]

AUTHORIZING USE OF LAND ACQUIRED FOR RESETTLEMENT PURPOSES IN ACCORDANCE WITH PROVISIONS OF TITLE I OF BANKHEAD-JONES FARM TENANT ACT

FEBRUARY 14, 1938.

Pursuant to the powers vested in me by the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, it is hereby ordered as follows:

1. Upon determination by the Administrator of the Farm Security Administration that any land acquired by the United States for resettlement purposes (except lands transferred by a rural rehabilitation corporation under a trust agreement or purchased out of a fund established pursuant to such an agreement) is suitable for the purposes of Title I of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, said Administrator is authorized to utilize said land for the purposes of said title and to authorize the making of loans for the necessary improvements thereon to such individuals and upon such terms as shall be in accordance with the provisions of said title.

2. The sale price of the land shall be the purchase price paid by the Government or the current appraised value as determined by the Administrator (or in the event that the Administrator so authorizes, by the Regional Director) whichever is lower, provided, however, that no such land shall be sold unless the County Committee shall have certified with respect thereto as required by Section 2 of said Act. There shall be added in each case the value of any clearing and developmental work performed upon the land by the Government. Where the sale price is based upon the purchase price to the Government, the price paid for various tracts in the resettlement project involved shall be so adjusted and equalized as to spread the benefits of advantageous purchases to all persons to whom said tracts are to be sold.

3. The Administrator is authorized to approve and execute such deeds and other instruments as may be necessary to accomplish the sale of any such lands. The power to execute such instruments may be redelegated by the Administrator to the respective Regional Directors, but without the power on the part of the Regional Directors to redelegate the same.

4. Any authority conferred upon the Administrator by this order may be exercised by the Deputy Administrator in the event of the absence of the Administrator.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

United States of America—Before Securities and Exchange Commission

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 14th day of February, A. D., 1938.

[File No. 1-2139]

IN THE MATTER OF MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY FIVE PER CENT CUMULATIVE CONVERTIBLE PREFERRED STOCK, $100 PAR VALUE, AND COMMON STOCK, $100 PAR VALUE

ORDER FOR HEARING ON SUSPENSION OR WITHDRAWAL OF REGISTRATION

I

It appearing to the Commission:

That the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, a corporation, is the issuer of Five Per Cent Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock, $100 Par Value, and Common Stock, $100 Par Value; and

That said Missouri Pacific Railroad Company registered such securities on the New York Stock Exchange, a national securities exchange, by filing on or about September 11, 1935, an application signed for the Company by William Wyer, Treasurer, with the said exchange and with the Commission pursuant to Section 12 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and pursuant to Rule JB1, as amended, promulgated by the Commission thereunder; and

That pursuant to Section 13 (a) and (b) of said Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and Rules KA1 and KA2 promulgated by the Commission thereunder, said Missouri Pacific Railroad Company filed on or about May 18, 1936, and on or about April 30, 1937, its annual reports on Form 12A-K for the respective fiscal years ended December 31, 1935, and December 31, 1936, both being signed for the Company by William Wyer, Treasurer; and

The Commission having reason to believe:

That Missouri Pacific Railroad Company has failed to comply with said Section 12 (b) and said Section 13 (a) and (b) and the Rules and Regulations promulgated thereunder, in that the application for registration on Form 12A and the annual reports on Form 12A-K filed by said Missouri Pacific Railroad Company contain financial statements which do not correctly reflect the true financial condition of the company and are false and misleading with respect to material facts at the time and in the light of the circumstances, in that certain financial statements of the registrant, to wit: the balance sheet dated December 31, 1934, filed with and as a part of the application for registration on Form 12A, and the balance sheets dated December 31, 1935, and December 31, 1936, filed respectively with and as a part of the annual reports on Form 12A–K for the respective fiscal years ended December 31, 1935, and December 31, 1936, fail to disclose a liability to pay the unpaid balance of approximately $14,000,000 on a principal sum of $15,965,201 on the part of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company pursuant to a contract entered into between the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company and Terminal Shares, Incorporated, on or about December 31, 1930, involving the acquisition of securities of certain railroads and terminal properties by Missouri Pacific Railroad Company theretofore acquired by Terminal Shares, Incorporated; and

That said contract provided in effect

(a) that $15,965,201 in principal amount was to be fully paid on or before January 1, 1936,

(b) that pending the time of full payment quarterly payments of $400,000 each were to be made to the credit of Terminal Shares, Incorporated, with the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, the depositary under the contract, each of which payments was to be applied first to the payment of accrued interest at the rate of 5½% of the principal amount, and second, to the reduction of that principal amount,

(c) that the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company was not to obtain title to the securities until the full amount of $15,965,201 and interest was paid, and that if it should fail to make any quarterly payment falling due, then Terminal Shares, Incorporated, should have the right, subject to the giving of three months written notice, to shorten the time allotted for payment of the full amount of the balance then due of the $15,965,201 and interest; and if Missouri Pacific Railroad Company should fail to pay the entire amount within the shortened period of time, then Terminal Shares, Incorporated, should have the right to sell the securities described as properties in the contract at public or private sale, and in the event the net proceeds of the sale should not be sufficient to pay the aggregate purchase price less periodic payments already made, then the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company should, upon demand, pay any balance due upon such purchase price; and Missouri Pacific Railroad Company has taken the position that despite the occurrence of any event rendering specific performance on the part of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company impossible, a definite liability for the purchase price and interest attached to said company under the terms of said contract; and

II

It appearing to the Commission:

That the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company filed a petition in bankruptcy on March 31, 1933, in the District Court of the United States, Eastern Division, Eastern Judicial District of Missouri pursuant to Section 77 of the Bankruptcy Act, that the trustee in bankruptcy on April 28, 1936, gave notice of disaffirmance of the contract between Missouri Pacific Railroad Company and Terminal Shares, Incorporated, and on July 22, 1936, a Barring Order issued from the court; and

That Rule KA1 promulgated pursuant to section 13 (a) of said Securities Exchange Act, as amended, did and does require that an annual report for each issuer of a security registered on a national securities exchange shall be filed on the appropriate form prescribed therefor; and

That Rule KA2 promulgated pursuant to Section 13 (b) of said Securities Exchange Act, as amended, did and does prescribe Form 12A–K as the annual report required by Rule KA1 in the case of companies making annual reports under Section 20 of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended, if such companies were in receivership or in bankruptcy, including proceedings for reorganization pursuant to Section 77 or Section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act, at the close of the fiscal year for which the report is made; and

That in accordance with the provisions of Form 12A–K and the Instructions and Rules and Regulations of the Commission supplemental thereto, as amended, as to the use of said Form 12A–K, in effect at the time the annual report for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1936, was filed and at all subsequent times Item 7 of said form did and does require the registrant in cases where a court order has been entered authorizing, or in cases where the trustee has, pursuant to court order given notice of the affirmance or disaffirmance of any lease or material contract of the registrant or its subsidiaries involving annual payments estimated to be in excess of 10% of gross revenues as reflected by the system income account of the registrant and its subsidiaries filed with this report, or if no such system income account is filed, then as reflected in the income account of the registrant filed with this report, to state in each case, whether

(a) such affirmance or disaffirmance has occurred, or that order has been entered;

(b) the general terms, briefly and concisely stated, of any such lease or contract; and

That the gross revenues for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1936, as reflected by the system income account of said Missouri Pacific Railroad Company and its subsidiaries in the annual report, filed on Form 12A–K for the year ended December 31, 1936, amounted to $90,667,381, whereas the annual payments due on said contract between Missouri Pacific Railroad Company and Terminal Shares, Incorporated, for the year ending December 31, 1936, amounted to approximately $14,000,000; and

The Commission having reason to believe:

That said Missouri Pacific Railroad Company has failed to comply with the provisions of said Section 13 (a) and (b), said Rules KA1 and KA2, and with the provisions of said Form 12A–K and with the provisions of the Instructions for said Form 12A–K and the Rules and Regulations of the Commission supplemental thereto, as amended, in that neither the annual report filed by it for the year ended December 31, 1936, nor any amendment thereto, contains in Item 7 a statement that the court has entered an order providing for the disaffirmance of, or that the trustee has, pursuant to court order, given notice of disaffirmance of, a material contract involving annual payments estimated to be in excess of 10% of gross revenues, and in that Item 7 fails to state briefly and concisely the general terms of such contract, although on April 28, 1936, the trustee gave notice of the disaffirmance of the contract pursuant to a court order entered December 2, 1935, and although such information was required to be set forth by said Item 7 of said Form 12A–K and the Instructions thereto and the Rules and Regulations of the Commission; and

III

The Commission being of the opinion that pursuant to Section 19 (a) (2) of said Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, a hearing should be held to determine whether said Missouri Pacific Railroad Company has so failed to comply with said provisions of said Section 12 (b) and said Section 13 (a) and (b) and said Rules and Regulations promulgated by the Commission thereunder, or with any provision of either of said Sections or of any rule or regulation promulgated by the Commission under either of said Sections; and if so, whether it is necessary or appropriate for the protection of investors to suspend for a period not exceeding twelve months or to withdraw the registration of said Five Per Cent Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock, $100 Par Value, and said Common Stock, $100 Par Value, on said New York Stock Exchange;

It is ordered, That a public hearing be held for such purpose before the officer of the Commission herein designated, beginning on the 1st day of March, 1938, at 10:00 A. M. in Room 1103 at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 1778 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., and to continue thereafter at such times and places as said officer may determine; and

It is further ordered, That for the purpose of such proceeding, Richard Townsend, an officer of the Commission, be and he hereby is designated to administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, take testimony, and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda or other records deemed relevant or material to the inquiry, and to perform all other duties in connection therewith authorized by law.

By direction of the Commission.

Commodity Exchange Administration.

United States of America—Before the Secretary of Agriculture

[Hearing Docket C. E. A. No. 2]

ORDER IN THE MATTER OF A DELIVERY PERIOD AFTER THE CLOSE OF TRADING IN FUTURES IN WHEAT, CORN, OATS, BARLEY, RYE AND FLAXSEED

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 5a (4) of the Commodity Exchange Act (U. S. C., 1934 ed. and Supp. III, title 7, sec. 7a (4)), I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, after full consideration of the record made at the hearing hereinafter mentioned, do hereby find the following:

1. Due notice of a public hearing in this matter was published in the November 12, 1937 issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, was sent by mail to each contract market on November 12, 1937, and was sent by mail to each registered futures commission merchant and floor broker on November 17, 1937.

2. In accordance with such notice, a public hearing was held in Room 300, Board of Trade Building, Chicago, Illinois, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m. on November 30, 1937, at which all persons were given opportunity to hear, present, refute, and comment upon evidence in the premises.

3. Hedging and speculation, rather than receiving and delivering the commodity, are the purposes for which the major portion of contracts for future delivery of wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, and flaxseed are made on contract markets.

4. Usually, a very large proportion of futures contracts in such commodities on contract markets is closed out by offset as the end of the delivery month approaches, only a small percentage being settled by delivery.

5. When it appears that there might be a scarcity of the deliverable commodity, the long interests, while not desiring the commodity itself, not infrequently stand for delivery to profit from the temporary price advance caused by the efforts of shorts to cover or to obtain the deliverable cash commodity, and a "squeeze" and market congestion occur.

6. In promoting the "squeeze" situation, longs frequently withhold supplies of the deliverable commodity in their control from the cash market, further inflating the local price, which must tumble when the delivery period ends and the longs dispose of their unwanted supplies.

7. The artificial local price thus created draws the commodity from its normal channels to the local market, where it is not needed after it is delivered, resulting in market congestion in the cash commodity and fluctuations endangering price stability.

8. If there is provision for a period of seven business days during which contracts for future delivery in the current month of wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, or flaxseed may be settled by delivery after trading in such contracts has ceased, the longs will know in advance that the deliverable commodity can be brought into the market from a large surrounding area, and such knowledge will tend to discourage attempts to cause a "squeeze."

9. Provision for such a period of seven business days, therefore, with respect to such commodities, on every contract market on which there is trading in futures therein, will tend to prevent "squeezes" and market congestion endangering price stability.

I therefore order and require a period of seven business days during which contracts for future delivery in the current delivery month of wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, or flaxseed may be settled by delivery of the actual cash commodity after trading in such contracts has ceased, for each delivery month after May, 1938, on all contract markets on which there is trading in futures in any of such commodities, and I hereby direct such contract markets, and each of them, to provide therefor.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the City of Washington on this 17th day of February, 1938.

Secretary of Agriculture.

Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

AUTHORITY TO ACQUIRE REVERSIONARY INTEREST IN LANDS IN MARYLAND WHERE THE CORPORATION OWNS THE LEASEHOLD ESTATE

Whereas the Corporation has heretofore acquired, and will hereafter acquire properties in the State of Maryland consisting of leasehold interests in which the Corporation, to protect its interests, will be required to pay annual ground rents; and

Whereas the acquisition of the reversionary interests in said properties would vest in the Corporation the fee simple title to such properties, thereby extinguishing the rents reserved in the leases, and in certain cases would be economical and advantageous to the Corporation; therefore

Be is resolved, That pursuant to the authority vested in the Board by Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933 (48 Stat. 128, 129) as amended by Sections 1 and 13 of the Act of April 27, 1934 (48 Stat. 643-647) and particularly by Subsections a and k of Section 4 of said Act as amended, the General Manager is authorized with the advice of the General Counsel, in those cases in which the Corporation has become or shall become the owner of a leasehold interest in lands situated in the State of Maryland on which it originally granted a loan, to purchase or redeem the reversionary interest in such lands for such price and on such terms and conditions as he may determine to be for the best interest of the Corporation.

The authority herein vested in the General Manager may be exercised also by the Regional Manager with the advice of the Regional Counsel, except that the Regional Manager may not purchase or redeem such reversionary interests for an amount, exclusive of incidental costs and expenses, in excess of the value of the annual ground rent capitalized on the basis of six per cent.

The purchase price together with any necessary charges and expenses, shall be paid on vouchers approved by the General Manager and General Counsel, or by the Regional Manager and the Regional Counsel, except that any legal expenses shall be incurred and the amount and payment thereof approved as provided in Chapter VI of the Consolidated Manual.

[Docket No. 3299]

IN THE MATTER OF H. C. BRILL COMPANY, INC., A CORPORATION

FINDINGS AS TO THE FACTS AND CONCLUSION

Pursuant to the provisions of an Act of Congress entitled "An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes", approved October 15, 1914, as amended (U. S. C. title 15, sec. 13), the Federal Trade Commission on January 15, 1938, issued and served its complaint in this proceeding upon the respondent, H. C. Brill Company, Inc., a corporation, charging it with discriminating in price between different purchasers of liquid and powder preparations for the manufacture of home made ice cream in violation of subsection (a) of Section 2 of the aforesaid Act.

After the issuance of said complaint, respondent filed answer thereto admitting all the material allegations of the complaint to be true and waiving intervening procedure, briefs, argument and final hearing, which answer was duly filed in the office of the Commission.

Thereafter, this proceeding regularly came on for final hearing before the Commission on the said complaint and answer, briefs and oral arguments of counsel having been waived and the Commission having duly considered the same and being now fully advised in the premises, makes this its findings as to the facts and its conclusions drawn therefrom:

Findings as to the Facts

PARAGRAPH 1. Said corporate respondent, the H. C. Brill Company, Inc., now is, and at all times since June 19, 1936, has been a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New Jersey with its principal office and plant located at 101-111 N. J. Railroad Avenue in the city of Newark, New Jersey. At all times herein mentioned, said respondent has been engaged in the business of manufacturing, selling, shipping and distributing a preparation for the making of home made ice cream from its said place of business in the State of New Jersey to various purchasers of said preparation located in the State of New Jersey and the several states of the United States and there has been and is now between the respondent and purchasers of said preparation a course of trade and commerce in said preparation in and between the State of New Jersey and the several states of the United States. The said respondent in the course and conduct of its business as aforesaid has been and is now in direct active competition with other persons, partnerships and corporations similarly engaged.

PAR. 2. Said respondent's customers are generally food wholesalers and retail grocery chain stores. Certain of the chain stores are competitively engaged in commerce in the resale and distribution of the said preparation with other of respondent's customers. The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is generally in competition in the resale and distribution of the said preparation with most of respondent's other customers. The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company directly competes with The Kroger Grocery and Baking Company and the American Stores Company in the resale and distribution of the said preparation.

PAR. 3. Shortly after the effective date of the Robinson-Patman Act, June 19, 1936, a representative of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company presented a so-called quantity discount agreement to the respondent herein, which agreement was executed by respondent and The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company in words and figures as follows:

QUANTITY DISCOUNT AGREEMENT

Purchaser: The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company,
Address: Graybar Building, New York City.
No. of Stores: 14,938.
Manufacturer: H. C. Brill Company, Inc.

Commodity: E-Zee-Freez.

The purchaser has obligated itself to buy from the manufacturer a large quantity of merchandise and, in view of the purchases in large quantity, present and prospective, the manufacturer agrees to allow the following quantity discount on amounts bought by the purchaser, between the period commencing on June 20, 1936, and expiring on June 19, 1937:

The manufacturer avows its willingness to make the same agreement as is here made with any other purchaser similarly situated and on proportionally equal terms.

This agreement may be cancelled by either the purchaser or the manufacturer upon notice.

PAR. 4. The respondent sold and shipped from its said plant to The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company's various warehouses between June 20, 1936 and June 19, 1937 said commodity as follows:

Total	8,144.64	10,525.93

PAR. 5. The total purchases of the various warehouses of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, as aforesaid, amounted to $18,670.57. No single unit purchased in sufficient quantity to earn any amount under the contract agreement. Each of said warehouses was treated by respondent as an individual customer, sales were solicited independently and the merchandise was shipped and billed to the individual warehouses. On July 21, 1937, respondent paid The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company $260.12. This amount was arrived at by combining all purchases and granting to The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company 1% on its purchases between $5,000 and $10,000, 2% on its purchases between $10,000 and $15,000, and 3% on its purchases in excess of $15,000. The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company objected to this method of computation and claimed it was entitled to the full 3% on all purchases in excess of $5,000. Accordingly, on July 26th, 1937, respondent paid to The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company an additional sum of $150.00, making the total rebate $410.12.

PAR. 6. Respondent executed a contract in the same form with The Kroger Grocery and Baking Company covering the period commencing on June 20, 1936 and expiring June 19, 1937. The respondent sold and shipped said commodity from its said plant to the various warehouses of The Kroger Grocery and Baking Company between June 20, 1936 and June 19, 1937 as follows:

Purchases Kroger Units

	June 20, 1936 to Dec. 31, 1936	Jan. 1, 1937 to June 19, 1937
Charleston, W. Va	$280.50	$96.39

Total purchases	5,973.64
Less returns June 20, 1936 to June 19, 1937	620.20
Net purchases	5,353.44

PAR. 7. The total purchases of the various warehouses of The Kroger Grocery and Baking Company, as aforesaid, amounted to $5,353.44. No single unit purchased in sufficient quantity to earn any rebate under the contract agreement. Each of said warehouses is treated by said respondent as an individual customer, sales are solicited independently and the merchandise is shipped and billed to the individual warehouses. On September 20, 1937 respondent sent The Kroger Grocery and Baking Company a check in the amount of $3.53. This amount was arrived at by granting to The Kroger Grocery and Baking Company a 1% rebate on its purchases in excess of $5,000, namely $353.44.

PAR. 8. Respondent executed a contract in the same form with the American Stores Company covering a period commencing on October 20, 1936 and expiring October 19, 1937, during which period the American Stores Company purchases amounted to the sum of $4,150.01. The respondent sold and shipped said commodity from its said plant to seven warehouses of the American Stores Company located respectively in Baltimore, Maryland; Syracuse, New York; Johnstown, Pennsylvania; Orange, New Jersey; Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania and two warehouses located in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. No rebate was paid to the American Stores Company inasmuch as the total purchases did not aggregate more than the sum of $5,000.

PAR. 9. Respondent sells to wholesalers and to chain stores as follows:

Liquid E-Zee-Freez is packed in cases containing 2 dozens and 12 dozens. The price is 85¢ a dozen with a trade discount of 10%, less 1% cash discount F. O. B. destination. Minimum shipping quantity 24 dozens. Powder E-Zee-Freez is packed 1 dozen to the carton, 15 cartons to the shipping case. The price is 90¢ a dozen with a trade discount of 20%, less 1% cash discount F. O. B. destination. Minimum shipping quantity 30 dozens. Brokerage is allowed and paid to independent food brokers on all sales within such brokers' territory and was allowed and paid on the sales to the said retail food chains.

PAR. 10. The 10% trade discount allowed on liquid E-Zee-Freez was originally intended as a special trade discount for contract as distinguished from spot purchases; similarly, 5% of the 20% allowed on the powder E-Zee-Freez was so intended. However, only a few of such contracts were entered into when respondent changed its plan and sold all, whether on spot or contract purchases, on the same terms with the exception of the so-called quantity discount allowances referred to in Paragraph Three.

Conclusion and Opinion

From the facts as herein found, the first question that arises concerns the offer by respondent of varying discounts to customers based on the amount each customer purchased annually.

The consideration on which the offer is made, as stated in the contract, is "in view of the purchases in large quantity, present and prospective, the manufacturer agrees to allow the following quantity discount on amounts bought by the purchaser, between the period commencing on June 20, 1936 and expiring on June 19, 1937.

$5,000 to $10,000	1%
10,000 to 15,000	2%
15,000 to 20,000	3%
20,000 to 30,000	4%
30,000 to over	5%

The consideration is the purchase "in large quantity" of the goods sold by respondent. However, the offer neither expressly nor by implication can be construed to relate to the purchase of single shipments of the value specified nor was it so construed by the parties as evidenced by the settlements.

Purchasers of large annual amounts sometimes buy in larger individual shipments than do buyers whose purchases do not amount to as large a sum. Large buyers, however, also place numerous small orders and the average size of such orders is frequently less than the average size of orders placed by buyers whose aggregate annual purchases are less in volume. Indeed under a discount plan based on aggregate volume purchases for a given period, such as that contained in the aforesaid contract, it may cost the seller more per dollar of sales to serve a customer who places a large number of small orders which are sufficient in the aggregate to earn the discounts, than to serve the customer who places a few large orders whose total is not sufficient to obtain the discount.

Large wholesalers and chain retailers often obtain concessions in the form of cumulative discounts in the belief that their transactions, in proportion to the amount purchased, are fewer in number, take less of the time and attention of the seller, and cost the seller less. However, when such a belief is not supported by the facts the conclusion obviously is erroneous and an offer predicated thereon discriminatory. There is no certainty and scarcely any probability that the business of the buyer who purchases from five to ten thousand dollars in the aggregate of merchandise within a year will cost the seller more or less in proportion to quantity than the business of one who purchases more than thirty or less than five thousand dollars.

A distinction in price between shipping cartons or shelf packages and broken packages is readily understood and a difference in price based upon the size of individual purchases and shipments is likewise appreciated but no such distinction is made in this offer. One whose individual purchases were in thousand dollar lots would if his purchases amounted to, let us assume, eight thousand dollars be required to pay a higher price than another whose individual purchases were in hundred dollar lots but whose total for the year amounted to more than ten thousand dollars. Such a differential producing an injurious effect in any line of commerce cannot be justified.

No justification has been affirmatively shown for the discrimination in price found herein and the Commission finds no substantial difference between the respondent's cost of selling and delivering ice cream powder to the individual warehouses of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, and its cost of serving the individual warehouses of any other chain store company, or any other customer purchasing the said merchandise in quantities comparable to those purchased by the individual warehouses of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company. Aside from differences in methods of sale and delivery, savings in the cost of serving different customers result from the differences in the size of the individual orders placed by such customers, irrespective of the aggregate purchases for a given period of time. Ordinarily large orders are obtained, assembled, priced, packed, billed and delivered at a lower cost per dollar of sales than small orders. In the instant case, the respondent employed the same methods of sale and delivery in serving the individual warehouses of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company as it used in serving its other customers. The record contains no evidence that the individual orders for ice cream powder placed with the respondent by the several warehouses of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company were any larger than the orders placed with the said respondent by other customers. Indeed, for the year covered by the aforesaid contract, the aggregate amount of ice cream powder purchased from the respondent by the individual warehouses of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company ranged from less than $3.40 to not more than $1,994.30, while the individual orders of the said warehouses were even smaller. It can not be assumed that the respondent's individual sales or shipments to The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company were fewer in number, and therefore larger, than its sales to other customers, or that it cost said respondent less per dollar of sales to make these individual sales or shipments to the said Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company than it did to make individual sales or shipments to other customers. In view of these facts, the Commission finds, therefore, that the so-called discount granted to The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company can not be justified on the basis of savings in distribution costs. The contract did not result in economy of selling, credit, ordering, shipping, advertising or other elements that can be considered as producing a differential in cost.

A cumulative discount is sound only where savings have been achieved by the seller with respect to individual sales made to a particular buyer over a period of time, which savings were not reflected in the price at which the buyer purchased and which are reserved for the purpose of refunding at the end of a period of time. But any system of discounts based on the amount of annual sales is a price discrimination contrary to Section 2 (a) of the Clayton Act, as amended, if it has any of the injurious effects on competition enumerated in the statute, unless justified as by making only due allowance for differences in cost not previously allowed and resulting from the quantities sold or delivered.

Many food chains, including the three aforesaid grocery chains, operate on a net margin of profit of 1½% to 2%. The sum of 2¼% represents a difference between profit and loss. Of course a price differential of 2¼% on a single product of no greater importance than ice cream powder is not sufficient to give The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company any appreciable competitive advantage in all of its business, but it does receive a definite advantage in the sale of that particular commodity. The competitive advantage becomes the greater when a company doing a nation-wide business is permitted to obtain a 2¼% differential from a considerable number of sellers, even though individually they are of relatively little importance, the sum of the differentials would undoubtedly give the buyer a decided competitive advantage. Such discrimination inevitably tends toward centralization of retail or wholesale trade, for the largest retailer or wholesaler gets the lowest price—it thus tends to eliminate smaller buyers and builds up the large buyer at the expense of small ones.

It may be to respondent's interest to favor large customers often doing a nation-wide business, however, the seller cannot regard his interests exclusively and must subordinate such interest to the requirement that his prices not reflect an unlawful discrimination.

The so-called discounts paid, as provided for and more fully set forth in Paragraph Three hereof, constitute discriminations in price in commerce in violation of Section 2 (a) of said Act of Congress entitled "An Act to amend Section 2 of the Act entitled 'An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes" approved October 15, 1914, as amended (U. S. C. title 15, section 13) and for other purposes".

Brill Company, Inc., within sixty (60) days from the date of the service upon it of this order, shall file with the Commission a report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it is complying and has complied with the order to cease and desist hereinabove set forth.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

[A. A. A. Cotton 1938—1]

NATIONAL ALLOTMENT OF COTTON

By the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, approved February 16, 1938, provides:

SEC. 342. Not later than November 15 of each year the Secretary [of Agriculture] shall find and proclaim (a) the total supply, the normal supply, and the carry-over of cotton as of August 1 of such year, (b) the probable domestic consumption of American cotton during the marketing year commencing August 1 of such year, (c) the probable exports of American cotton during such marketing year, and (d) the estimated carry-over of cotton as of the next succeeding August 1. For the marketing year 1937–1938 the Secretary shall make all the findings and proclamations provided for in this section not later than ten days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 345. Whenever the Secretary determines that the total supply of cotton for any marketing year exceeds by more than 7 per centum the normal supply thereof for such marketing year, the Secretary shall proclaim such fact not later than November 15 of such marketing year (or, in case of the marketing year 1937–1938, within ten days after the date of enactment of this Act), and marketing quotas shall be in effect during the next succeeding marketing year with respect to the marketing of cotton. Cotton produced in the calendar year in which such marketing year begins shall be subject to the quotas in effect for such marketing year notwithstanding that it may be marketed prior to August 1.

SEC. 343. (a) Not later than November 15 of each year the Secretary shall find and proclaim the amount of the national allotment of cotton for the succeeding calendar year in terms of standard bales of five hundred pounds gross weight. The national allotment shall be the number of bales of cotton adequate, together with the estimated carry-over as of August 1 of such succeeding calendar year, to make available a supply of cotton, for the marketing year beginning on such August 1, equal to the normal supply. The finding and proclamation of the national allotment for the calendar year 1938 shall be made not later than ten days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(b) If the national allotment for 1938 or 1939 is determined to be less than ten million bales, the national allotment for such year shall be ten million bales for such year, as the case may be. If the national allotment for 1938 or 1939 is determined to be more than eleven million five hundred thousand bales, it shall be eleven million five hundred thousand bales for such year, as the case may be.

(c) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, the national allotment for 1938 and for 1939 shall be increased by a number of bales equal to the production of the acres allotted under section 344 (e) for such year.

SEC. 344. (a) The national allotment for cotton for each year (excluding that portion of the national allotment provided for in section 343 (c)) shall be apportioned by the Secretary among the several States on the basis of the average, for the five years preceding the year in which the national allotment is determined, of the normal production of cotton in each State. The normal production of a State for a year shall be (1) the quantity produced therein plus (2) the normal yield of the acres diverted in each county in the State under the previous agricultural adjustment or conservation programs. The normal yield of the acres diverted in any county in any year shall be the average yield per acre of the planted acres in such county in such year times the number of acres diverted in such county in such year.

(b) The Secretary shall ascertain, on the basis of the average yield per acre in each State, a number of acres in such State which will produce a number of bales equal to the allotment made to the State under subsection (a). Such number of acres is referred to as the 'State acreage allotment'. The average yield per acre for any State shall be determined on the basis of the average of the normal production for the State for the years used in computing the allotment to the State, and the average, for the same period, of the acres planted and the acres diverted in the State.

(c) (1) The State acreage allotment (less the amount required for apportionment under paragraph (2)) shall be apportioned annually by the Secretary to the counties in the State. The apportionment to the counties shall be made on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton during the five calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the State allotment is apportioned (plus, in applicable years, the acreage diverted under previous agricultural adjustment and conservation programs), with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions and trends in acreage during such five-year period.

(2) Not more than 2 per centum of the State acreage allotment shall be apportioned to farms in such State which were not used for cotton production during any of the three calendar years immediately preceding the year for which the allotment is made, on the basis of land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton; crop rotation practices; and the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton.

* * * * * *

(e) For 1938 and 1939, the Secretary shall allot to the several counties, to which an apportionment is made under subsection (c), a number of acres required to provide a total acreage for allotment under this section to such counties of not less than 60 per centum of the sum of (1) the acreage planted to cotton in such counties in 1937, plus (2) the acreage therein diverted from cotton production in 1937 under the agricultural adjustment and conservation program. The acreage so diverted shall be estimated in case data are not available at the time of making such allotment.

Whereas said Act contains, in section 301 (b), the following definitions of terms here pertinent:

"Carry-over" of cotton for any marketing year shall be the quantity of cotton on hand either within or without the United States at the beginning of such marketing year, which was produced in the United States prior to the beginning of the calendar year then current.

[1] Act of June 17, 1902, 32 Stat., 388, as amended or supplemented.

"Marketing year" means, in the case of the following commodities, the period beginning on the first and ending with the second date specified below:

* * * * * * * * *

Cotton, August 1–July 31; * * *.

"Normal supply" in the case of * * * cotton * * * shall be a normal year's domestic consumption and exports of the commodity, plus * * * 40 per centum in the case of cotton * * * of a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, as an allowance for a normal carry-over.

"Normal year's domestic consumption," in the case of cotton * * *, shall be the yearly average quantity of the commodity produced in the United States that was consumed in the United States during the ten marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such consumption is determined, adjusted for current trends in such consumption.

"Total supply" of * * * cotton * * * for any marketing year shall be the carry-over of the commodity for such marketing year plus the estimated production of the commodity in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins.";

Whereas said Act provides, in section 301 (c), that "The latest available statistics of the Federal Government shall be used by the Secretary [of Agriculture] in making the determinations required to be made by the Secretary under this Act.";

Whereas said Act provides, in section 350, that the provisions of Part IV (Marketing Quotas—Cotton) of Subtitle B of Title III thereof shall not apply to cotton the staple of which is 1⅛ inches or more in length; and

Whereas said Act was enacted on the 16th day of February, 1938:

Now, therefore, be it known that I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States of America, acting under and pursuant to, and by virtue of, the authority vested in me by the Act of Congress known as the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, approved February 16, 1938, upon the basis of the latest available statistics[1] of the Federal Government, do hereby find, determine, and proclaim under sections 342, 343, and 345 of said Act:

(1) That the "total supply" of cotton as of August 1, 1937, was 21,600,000 running bales;

(2) That the "total supply" of cotton for the marketing year commencing August 1, 1937, according to the latest statistics of the Federal Government now available, is 24,500,000 running bales;

(4) That the "carry-over" of cotton as of August 1, 1937, was 6,200,000 running bales;

(5) That the "probable domestic consumption of American cotton" during the marketing year commencing August 1, 1937, is 6,100,000 running bales;

(6) That the "probable exports of American cotton" during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1937, is 5,600,000 running bales;

(7) That the estimated "carry-over" of cotton as of August 1, 1938, is 12,500,000 running bales;

(8) That the "total supply" of cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1937, exceeds by more than 7 per centum the "normal supply" of cotton for such marketing year; and

(9) That the national allotment of cotton for the calendar year beginning on January 1, 1938, shall be 10,000,000 standard bales of five hundred pounds gross weight, increased by that number of standard bales of five hundred pounds gross weight equal to the production in the calendar year 1938 of that number of acres required to be allotted for 1938 under the terms of section 344 (e) of said Act.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of February, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR HOLDING REFERENDUM ON COTTON MARKETING QUOTAS ON THE 1938 CROP

Pursuant to Section 347 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, the Secretary of Agriculture is directed to conduct a referendum by secret ballot of farmers who were engaged in the production of the 1937 cotton crop in order to determine whether they favor or oppose cotton marketing quotas on the 1938 cotton crop. Such quotas are effective if two-thirds or more of the farmers voting in the referendum favor them. The Secretary of Agriculture is directed to proclaim the result of the referendum not later than 45 days after the enactment of the Act.

A. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO COUNTY COMMITTEES

The County Committee of the County Agricultural Conservation Association (hereinafter referred to as the County Committee) shall be responsible for and in charge of the referendum which will be held in the county on Saturday, March 12, 1938, and it shall:

1. Designate a readily accessible place for balloting in each community and give public notice of the time and place for balloting by posting a copy of Cotton 201, "Notice—Cotton Marketing Quota Referendum",[1] at least five days in advance of the voting day in one or more public places within each community. Make use (without advertising expense) of all available agencies of public information, including both the press and radio, to give cotton farmers in the county full and accurate notice of the day and hours of voting, the precise location of polling places, and the basis of eligibility to vote. Public notice should in all cases be given as soon as practicable after conditions of holding the referendum have been determined but must in every instance be given at least five days in advance of the date of the referendum.

2. Designate in each community three local farmers as members of the Community Referendum Committee to be in charge of holding the referendum in the community. One of the members shall be designated as chairman of the Community Referendum Committee.

3. Assist each Community Referendum Committee in providing a ballot box.

4. Furnish each Community Referendum Committee with a list of all the persons (owner-operators, share tenants, tenant-renters, and sharecroppers) in the community who were engaged in the production of cotton during 1937.

5. Deliver to the chairman of each Community Referendum Committee ballot forms (Cotton 202), register forms (Cotton 203) for use by the Community Referendum Committee in tabulating the result in the community, and three or more sets of the community summary form (Cotton 204) on which to record the summary of the referendum ballots cast in the community, together with instructions respecting balloting, keeping the register, tabulating ballots, and certifying the results.

6. See that all appropriate measures are taken to insure that the referendum is conducted by secret ballot.

7. Convene not later than 8:30 a. m., Monday, March 14, 1938, for the purpose of receiving and tabulating the data from community summaries (Cotton 204), using the county summary form (Cotton 205) for this purpose. Four copies of Cotton 205 showing the county results shall be prepared and certified, two copies of which shall be sent to the State Committee not later than three days after the date of the referendum, one copy of which shall be posted in a conspicuous place in or near the county office, and one copy of which shall be filed in or near the office of the County Agricultural Conservation Association. One copy of each Cotton 204 shall likewise be posted in a conspicuous place in or near the county office.

[1] Filed as a part of the original document with the Division of the Federal Register, The National Archives.

8. Make an investigation in each case of a controversy respecting eligibility of a voter. Where the ballot is found in a sealed envelope marked "Challenged" by the Community Referendum Committee and bearing the voter's name, the eligibility of such person shall first be determined; and if such person is determined to be eligible the envelope shall be opened and the ballot tabulated in the county summary. If it is determined such person was not eligible to vote, the envelope shall remain sealed and shall be preserved with the ballots as provided in paragraph 9.

9. Seal the voted ballots, register sheets, and community summaries for each county in envelopes or packages (marked "Cotton Referendum 1938" followed by the name of the county) which shall be kept under lock and key in a safe place under the supervision of the Secretary of the County Agricultural Conservation Association for a period of sixty calendar days. If no contest has arisen at the end of such time the ballots shall be destroyed and the community summaries filed in the county office.

10. Make an investigation in cases of dispute regarding the correctness of the summary of the referendum in a community. No dispute shall be investigated unless it has arisen within two days after the date on which the referendum was held. The County Committee shall promptly decide the disputed matter and immediately report its findings to the State Committee and send by registered mail or deliver in person to the State office all voted ballots, register forms and community summary sheets involved in the dispute.

B. INSTRUCTIONS TO COMMUNITY REFERENDUM COMMITTEES

The Community Referendum Committee designated by the County Agricultural Conservation Committee shall:

1. Arrange with the assistance of the County Committee for conducting by secret ballot the referendum of all producers tendering ballots within the hours for receiving same.

2. Assist the County Committee in giving public notice of the time and place for casting ballots to producers at least five days in advance of the date on which the referendum will be held.

3. Provide a place where each farmer eligible to vote can prepare and cast a ballot without interference and without anyone seeing how he votes.

4. Open the polls not later than 9 a. m. on Saturday, March 12, 1938.

5. See that no device is used whereby any voter's ballot may be identified (except, of course, in the case of a challenged ballot), and instruct each voter to fold his ballot before placing it in the ballot box.

6. Provide a ballot box where ballots may be deposited. Any container so arranged that ballots cannot be seen or removed without breaking seals on the container will be suitable. If strip adhesive paper or similar seals are used, such seals should be signed or initialed so that breaking or replacing the seal will affect or destroy the identifying marks.

7. Hold the referendum in a fair and unbiased manner and explain to each eligible farmer making inquiry the procedure to be followed in casting his ballot.

8. Issue one ballot to each eligible voter requesting it.

9. See that all appropriate measures are taken to insure that the referendum is conducted by secret ballot.

10. Record on Cotton 203 the name and address of each farmer to whom a ballot is issued.

11. Issue a ballot to each person who claims a right to vote, even though his right to vote has been challenged by the Community Referendum Committee. Such ballot, after being marked by the challenged voter, shall be placed in a sealed envelope bearing the name of the voter, the notation "Challenged", and the reason for the challenge. The sealed envelope containing the challenged ballot shall be placed in the ballot box and the name of each farmer whose vote is challenged shall be listed at the bottom of Cotton 203.

12. Stop receiving ballots at 7 p. m. on the date of the referendum.

13. Tabulate and record the results on the Community Summary Sheet (Cotton 204) after closing the polls. The number of challenged ballots cast and sealed in envelopes shall be entered on Cotton 204 in the space provided but should not be entered as being either for or against the marketing quota. If any ballots are found to be mutilated and cannot be entered as being either for or against the marketing quota the number should be entered in the space provided.

14. Sign the forms Cotton 203 and Cotton 204 and certify to their accuracy.

15. Seal the forms Cotton 203, Cotton 204, and the unused ballots, in envelopes provided for that purpose and deliver them to the County Committee not later than 12 o'clock noon, Monday, March 14, 1938. The chairman of the Community Referendum Committee shall be responsible for the safe delivery of the forms and ballots.

16. Post one copy of Cotton 204 in a conspicuous place at the polls.

C. INSTRUCTIONS TO STATE COMMITTEES

The State Committee shall be responsible for and in charge of the referendum in the State and it shall:

1. Summarize on Cotton 206 all county summaries and forward to the applicable Regional Director, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Washington, D. C., two certified copies of the summary for the State, not later than seven days after the day of the referendum. A copy of such report shall be filed in the State office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Should one sheet prove insufficient for listing the information with respect to all counties in the State, additional copies of the form Cotton 206 may be used as continuation sheets, in which case the total should be entered on the last page only.

2. Make an investigation of any report from any county regarding controversies, irregularities, or the correctness of reports of the referendum, not later than seven days after the date of the referendum.

3. Forward to the applicable Regional Director its findings in such cases.

D. ELIGIBILITY AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

Official and final tabulation of the results of the referendum will be made by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the result of the referendum will be announced as soon as the Secretary of Agriculture has determined that such tabulation of the results is correct. State and County Committees are at liberty to give out to the press unofficial reports of the total "Yes" and total "No" votes in the State or county.

Only farmers who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1937 are entitled to vote.

No cotton farmer (whether an individual, partnership, corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity) shall be entitled to more than one vote in the referendum, even though he may have been engaged in 1937 in the production of cotton in two or more communities, counties, or States.

If a Community Referendum Committee determines that a producer residing in the community within the jurisdiction of that committee is eligible to vote by reason of having been a cotton producer in 1937 in another community, the committee may issue a ballot form to him and permit him to cast a ballot, provided the committee also determines that such farmer has not previously cast a ballot in another community. If the committee cannot so determine, the committee shall "Challenge" the ballot as heretofore outlined.

There shall be no voting by proxy or agent but a duly authorized officer of a corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity shall be allowed to cast its vote.

In case several persons, such as husband, wife, and children, participated in the production of cotton in 1937 under a lease or sharecropping agreement, only the person or persons who signed or entered into the lease or sharecropping agreement shall be eligible to vote.

In the event two or more persons engaged in producing cotton in 1937 jointly, in common, or in community, each such person is entitled to vote.

Since marketing quotas are not applicable to cotton the staple of which is 1⅛ inches or more in length, a person who was engaged in the production of such cotton in 1937 shall not be eligible to vote unless he was also engaged in the production of cotton in 1937 the staple of which was less than 1⅛ inches in length.

If the Secretary of Agriculture deems it necessary, any report of any Community Referendum Committee, County Committee, or State Committee shall be reexamined and rechecked by such persons or agencies as the Secretary may designate and a report to him made thereon.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of February, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

[SEAL] H. A. WALLACE,
Secretary of Agriculture.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR HOLDING REFERENDA ON COTTON AND FLUE-CURED TOBACCO MARKETING QUOTAS ON THE 1938 CROP

Pursuant to Sections 347 and 312 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, the Secretary of Agriculture is directed to conduct a referendum by secret ballot of farmers who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1937 and a separate referendum of farmers who were engaged in the production of flue-cured tobacco in 1937 in order to determine whether they favor or oppose cotton or flue-cured tobacco marketing quotas, as the case may be, with respect to the 1938 crop.

Although the referendum of cotton farmers as well as the referendum of flue-cured tobacco farmers will be conducted in the community on the same day and at the same place by the same Community Referendum Committee and although the procedure for conducting each referendum is very similar, the referenda are not otherwise related. Separate ballot boxes should be provided in each community where referenda are being held on both cotton and flue-cured tobacco marketing quotas. It should be clearly understood that a farmer to vote in either one or both of the referenda must be eligible. Cotton marketing quotas are effective if two-thirds or more of the cotton farmers voting in the referendum favor them; likewise flue-cured tobacco marketing quotas are effective if two-thirds or more of the tobacco farmers voting in the flue-cured tobacco referendum favor them. The Secretary of Agriculture is directed to proclaim the result of each referendum not later than 45 days after the enactment of the Act.

A. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO COUNTY COMMITTEES

The County Committee of the County Agricultural Conservation Association (hereinafter referred to as the County Committee) shall be responsible for and in charge of the referendum on marketing quotas for cotton, and wherever applicable, for tobacco, which will be held in the county on Saturday, March 12, 1938, and it shall:

1. Designate a readily accessible place for balloting in each community and give public notice of the time and place for balloting by posting the appropriate notice form at least five days in advance of the voting day in one or more public places within each community. Make use (without advertising expense) of all available agencies of public information, including both the press and the radio, to give farmers in the county full and accurate notice of the day and hours of voting, the precise location of polling places, and the basis of eligibility to vote. Public notice should in all cases be given as soon as practicable after conditions of holding the referendum have been determined but must in every instance be given at least five days in advance of the date of the referendum.

2. Designate in each community three local farmers as members of the Community Referendum Committee to be in charge of holding in the community the referendum on cotton marketing quotas as well as the referendum on flue-cured tobacco marketing quotas. One of the members shall be designated as chairman of the Community Referendum Committee.

3. Assist each Community Referendum Committee in providing a ballot box for the ballots cast in the referendum on marketing quotas for cotton and a separate ballot box for the ballots cast in the referendum on marketing quotas for flue-cured tobacco.

4. Furnish each Community Referendum Committee with a list of all the persons (owner-operators, share tenants, tenant-renters, and sharecroppers) in the community who were engaged in the production of cotton during 1937, and also a separate list of those engaged in the production of flue-cured tobacco in 1937.

5. Deliver to the chairman of each Community Referendum Committee ballot forms, register forms for use by the Community Referendum Committee in tabulating the results in the community, and three or more sets of community summary forms on which to record the summaries of the ballots cast in the community, together with instructions respecting balloting, keeping the registers, tabulating ballots, and certifying the results.

6. See that all appropriate measures are taken to insure that each referendum is conducted by secret ballot.

7. Convene not later than Monday, March 14, 1938, for the purpose of receiving and tabulating the data from community summaries, using the county summary forms for this purpose. Four copies of each county summary showing the county results shall be prepared and certified, two copies of which shall be sent to the State Committee not later than three days after the date of the referenda, one copy of which shall be posted in a conspicuous place in or near the county office, and one copy of which shall be filed in or near the office of the County Agricultural Conservation Association. One copy of each community summary shall likewise be posted in a conspicuous place in or near the county office.

8. Make an investigation in each case of a controversy respecting eligibility of a voter. Where the ballot is found in a sealed envelope marked "Challenged" by the Community Referendum Committee and bearing the voter's name, the eligibility of such person shall first be determined; and if such person is determined to be eligible the envelope shall be opened and the ballot tabulated on the county summary. If it is determined such person was not eligible to vote, the envelope shall remain sealed and shall be preserved with the ballots as provided in paragraph 9.

9. Seal the voted ballots, register sheets, and community summaries for each county in envelopes or packages (marked "Cotton Referendum 1938" or "Flue-Cured Tobacco Referendum 1938", as the case may be, followed by the name of the county) which shall be kept under lock and key in a safe place under the supervision of the Secretary of the County Agricultural Conservation Association for a period of sixty calendar days. If no contest has arisen at the end of such time the ballots shall be destroyed and the community summaries filed in the county office.

10. Make an investigation in cases of dispute regarding the correctness of the summary of the referendum in a community on marketing quotas for either tobacco or cotton. No dispute shall be investigated unless it has arisen within two days after the date on which the referendum in question was held. The County Committee shall promptly decide the disputed matter and immediately report its findings to the State Committee and send by registered mail or deliver in person to the State office all voted ballots, register forms, and community summary sheets involved in the dispute.

B. INSTRUCTIONS TO COMMUNITY REFERENDUM COMMITTEES

The Community Referendum Committee designated by the County Agricultural Conservation Committee shall:

1. Arrange with the assistance of the County Committee for conducting by secret ballot referenda of all eligible cotton and flue-cured tobacco farmers tendering ballots within the hours for receiving same.

2. Assist the County Committee in giving public notice of the time and place for casting ballots to farmers at least five days in advance of the date on which the referenda will be held.

3. Provide a place where each farmer eligible to vote can prepare and cast a ballot without interference and without anyone seeing how he votes.

4. Open the polls not later than 9 a. m. on Saturday, March 12, 1938.

5. See that no device is used whereby any voter's ballot may be identified (except as provided in paragraph 11 below in the case of a challenged ballot), and instruct each voter to fold his ballot before placing it in the ballot box.

6. Provide ballot boxes where ballots may be deposited. Any container so arranged that ballots cannot be seen or removed without breaking seals on the container will be suitable. If strip adhesive paper or similar seals are used, such seals should be signed or initialed so that breaking or replacing the seal will affect or destroy the identifying marks.

7. Hold the referenda in a fair and unbiased manner and explain to eligible farmers making inquiry the procedure to be followed in casting their ballots.

8. Issue in each referendum one ballot to each eligible voter requesting it.

9. See that all appropriate measures are taken to insure that the referenda are conducted by secret ballot.

10. Record on the applicable register of ballots the name and address of each farmer to whom a ballot is issued.

11. Issue in each referendum a ballot to each person who claims a right to vote, even though his right to vote has been challenged by the Community Referendum Committee. Such ballot, after being marked by the challenged voter, shall be placed in a sealed envelope bearing the name of the voter, the notation "Challenged", and the reason for the challenge. The sealed envelope containing the challenged ballot shall be placed in the ballot box and the name of each farmer whose vote is challenged shall be listed at the bottom of the applicable register of ballots.

12. Stop receiving ballots at 7 p. m. on the date of the referenda.

13. Tabulate and record the results on the applicable Community Summary Sheet after closing the polls. The number of challenged ballots cast and sealed in envelopes shall be entered on the applicable Community Summary Sheet in the space provided but should not be entered as being either for or against the marketing quota. If any ballots are found to be mutilated and cannot be entered as being either for or against the marketing quota the number should be entered in the space provided.

14. Sign the registers and community summary forms and certify to their accuracy.

15. Seal the registers and community summary forms, and the unused ballots, in envelopes provided for that purpose and deliver them to the County Committee not later than 12 o'clock noon, Monday, March 14, 1938. The chairman of the Community Referendum Committee shall be responsible for the safe delivery of the forms and ballots.

16. Post one copy of each community summary in a conspicuous place at the polls.

C. INSTRUCTIONS TO STATE COMMITTEES

The State Committee shall be responsible for and in charge of the referendum in the State and it shall:

1. Summarize on State tabulation forms all county summaries and forward to the applicable Regional Director, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Washington, D. C., two certified copies of each summary for the State, not later than seven days after the day of the referenda. One copy of each such report shall be filed in the State office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Should one sheet for each report prove insufficient for listing the information with respect to all counties in the State, additional copies of each State tabulation form may be used as continuation sheets, in which case the totals should be entered on the last page only.

2. Make an investigation of any report from any county regarding controversies, irregularities, or the correctness of reports of the referendum, not later than seven days after the date of the referendum.

3. Forward to the applicable Regional Director its findings in such cases.

D. ELIGIBILITY AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

Official and final tabulation of the results of the referenda will be made by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the result of the referenda will be announced as soon as the Secretary of Agriculture has determined that such tabulations of the results are correct. State and County Committees are at liberty to give out to the press unofficial reports of the total "Yes" and total "No" votes in each referendum in the State or county.

Only farmers who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1937 are eligible to vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum. Likewise, only farmers who were engaged in the production of flue-cured tobacco in 1937 are eligible to vote in the flue-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum. The fact that a farmer is eligible to vote in one referendum does not necessarily mean that he is eligible to vote in the other.

No farmer (whether an individual, partnership, corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity) shall be entitled to more than one vote in each referendum, even though he may have been engaged in 1937 in the production of cotton or flue-cured tobacco in two or more communities, counties, or States.

If a Community Referendum Committee determines that a producer residing in the community within the jurisdiction of that committee is eligible to vote by reason of having been a cotton farmer or flue-cured tobacco farmer, as the case may be, in 1937 in another community, the committee may issue a ballot form to him and permit him to cast a ballot, provided the committee also determines that such farmer has not previously cast a ballot in another community. If the committee cannot so determine, the committee shall "Challenge" the ballot as heretofore outlined.

There shall be no voting by proxy or agent but a duly authorized officer of a corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity shall be allowed to cast its vote.

In case several persons, such as husband, wife, and children, participated in the production of cotton or flue-cured tobacco in 1937 under a lease or sharecropping agreement, only the person or persons who signed or entered into the lease or sharecropping agreement shall be eligible to vote.

In the event two or more persons engaged in producing cotton or flue-cured tobacco in 1937 jointly, in common, or in community, each such person is entitled to vote.

Since marketing quotas are not applicable to cotton the staple of which is 1⅛ inches or more in length, a person who was engaged in the production of such cotton in 1937 shall not be eligible to vote unless he was also engaged in the production of cotton in 1937 the staple of which was less than 1⅛ inches in length.

If the Secretary of Agriculture deems it necessary, any report of any Community Referendum Committee, County Committee, or State Committee shall be reexamined and rechecked by such persons or agencies as the Secretary may designate and a report to him made thereon.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of February, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Secretary of Agriculture.

If strip adhesive paper or similar seals are used, such seals should be signed or initialed so that breaking or replacing the seal will affect or destroy the identifying marks.

7. Hold the referenda in a fair and unbiased manner and explain to eligible farmers making inquiry the procedure to be followed in casting their ballots.

8. Issue in each referendum one ballot to each eligible voter requesting it.

The sealed envelope containing the challenged ballot shall be placed in the ballot box and the name of each farmer whose vote is challenged shall be listed at the bottom of the applicable register of ballots.

Seal the registers and community summary forms, and the unused ballots, in envelopes provided for that purpose and deliver them to the County Committee not later than 12 o'clock noon, Monday, March 12, 1938. The chairman of the Community Referendum Committee shall be responsible for the safe delivery of the forms and ballots.

16. Post one copy of each community summary in a conspicuous place at the polls.

C. INSTRUCTIONS TO STATE COMMITTEES

The State Committee shall be responsible for and in charge of the referendum in the State and it shall:

1. Summarize on State tabulation forms all county summaries and forward to the applicable Regional Director, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Washington, D. C., two certified copies of each summary for the State, not later than seven days after the day of the referenda. One copy of each such report shall be filed in the State office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Should one sheet for each report prove insufficient for listing the information with respect to all counties in the State, additional copies of each State tabulation form may be used as continuation sheets, in which case the totals should be entered on the last page only.

2. Make an investigation of any report from any county regarding controversies, irregularities, or the correctness of reports of the referendum, not later than seven days after the date of the referendum.

3. Forward to the applicable Regional Director its findings in such cases.

D. ELIGIBILITY AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

Official and final tabulation of the results of the referenda will be made by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the result of the referenda will be announced as soon as the Secretary of Agriculture has determined that such tabulations of the results are correct. State and County Committees are at liberty to give out to the press unofficial reports of the total "Yes" and total "No" votes in each referendum in the State or county.

Only farmers who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1937 are eligible to vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum. Likewise, only farmers who were engaged in the production of fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in 1937 are eligible to vote in the fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum. The fact that a farmer is eligible to vote in one referendum does not necessarily mean that he is eligible to vote in the other.

No farmer (whether an individual, partnership, corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity) shall be entitled to more than one vote in each referendum, even though he may have been engaged in 1937 in the production of cotton or fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in two or more communities, counties, or States.

If a Community Referendum Committee determines that a producer residing in the community within the jurisdiction of that committee is eligible to vote by reason of having been a cotton farmer or fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco farmer, as the case may be, in 1937 in another community, the committee may issue a ballot form to him and permit him to cast a ballot, provided the committee also determines that such farmer has not previously cast a ballot in another community. If the committee cannot so determine, the committee shall "Challenge" the ballot as heretofore outlined

There shall be no voting by proxy or agent but a duly authorized officer of a corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity shall be allowed to cast its vote.

In case several persons, such as husband, wife, and children, participated in the production of cotton or fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in 1937 under a lease or sharecropping agreement, only the person or persons who signed or entered into the lease or sharecropping agreement shall be eligible to vote.

In the event two or more persons engaged in producing cotton or fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in 1937 jointly, in common, or in community, each such person is entitled to vote.

If the Secretary of Agriculture deems it necessary, any report of any Community Referendum Committee, County Committee, or State Committee shall be reexamined and rechecked by such persons or agencies as the Secretary may designate and a report to him made thereon.

Done at Washington, D. C. this 18th day of February, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

[SEAL] H. A. WALLACE,
Secretary of Agriculture.

GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR CARRYING OUT THE PROVISIONS OF THE PACKERS AND STOCKYARDS ACT, 1921, AS AMENDED, WITH RESPECT TO STOCKYARD OWNERS, MARKET AGENCIES, DEALERS, AND LICENSEES

FEBRUARY 17, 1938.

Under the authority conferred upon the Secretary of Agriculture by the provisions of the Packers and Stockyards Act, approved August 15, 1921 (U. S. C., title 7, secs. 181–229), as amended by the act approved May 5, 1926 (U. S. C., title 7, sec. 205), and as further amended by the act approved August 14, 1935 (U. S. C., Sup. III, title 7, secs. 218–218d), and the act approved June 29, 1937, making appropriations for the Department of Agriculture and for the Farm Credit Administration for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938, and for other purposes (50 Stat. 395, 406), the following rules and regulations are hereby prescribed. For the purpose of identification these rules and regulations are designated as B. A. I. Order No. 364.

The rules and regulations heretofore issued by the Secretary of Agriculture on this subject, under date of November 9, 1935 (B. A. I. Order No. 357) and all amendments thereto, are hereby revoked to take effect on March 1, 1938, after which date the regulations herein prescribed shall become and be effective until otherwise ordered.

H. A. WALLACE,
Secretary of Agriculture.

1. These rules and regulations are made and prescribed with respect to stockyard owners, market agencies, dealers, and licensees under the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended. These rules and regulations shall apply and be enforced only in accordance with and subject to the provisions of said act, as amended, including the definitions of terms therein used. They shall not prevent the legitimate application or enforcement of any valid bylaw, rule, regulation, or requirement of any exchange, association, or other organization, or any other valid law, rule or regulation, to which any stockyard owner, market agency, dealer, or licensee shall be subject, which is not inconsistent or in conflict with the act and these rules and regulations. The term "registrant" as used herein means a market agency or dealer subject to title III of the act. The term "licensee" as used herein means any person engaged in furnishing or conducting any service or facility named in section 502 of the act to Amend the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, approved August 14, 1935, and who holds a valid, unrevoked license from the Secretary of Agriculture, as provided by said amendment.

2. (a) Registration (sec. 303, title III) by market agencies and dealers shall be accomplished by properly filling out and delivering to the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., by mail or otherwise, a form which will be furnished on request for the purpose.

(b) Applications for licenses (sec. 502 (b) title V) may be made by persons subject to the licensing provisions of the amendment by properly filling out and delivering to the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., by mail or otherwise, a form of application, which will be furnished by said Bureau upon request. The Secretary will issue a license to any applicant furnishing the required information unless he finds after opportunity for a hearing that such applicant is unfit to engage in the activity for which he has made application, or that he is financially unable to fulfill the obligations that he would incur as a licensee. If, after a hearing, it appears that the applicant is financially unable to fulfill his obligations as a licensee, the Secretary may grant applicant a license upon his executing and maintaining a surety bond or satisfactory equivalent thereof, provided such bond or equivalent meets the following standards:

Such bond or equivalent shall be conditioned to secure the performance of the obligations of the licensee incurred as such and may contain such other terms and conditions, not inconsistent with the requirements of these regulations, as may be agreed on between the parties thereto. If a bond is maintained, the surety on such bond shall be a surety company approved by the Treasury Department of the United States for bonds executed to the United States. However, any other form of indemnity which is found by the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., to afford substantially equivalent protection may be accepted in lieu of a bond. Whenever, in the judgment of the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., the condition of the business of any licensee is such as to render his bond or equivalent inadequate, the same shall, upon notice, be adjusted to meet the requirements of this regulation.

Any surety bond or equivalent shall contain a provision requiring that at least 10 days prior notice in writing be given to the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., by the party terminating such bond or equivalent in order to effect such termination.

Fully executed duplicates of bonds or equivalents shall be filed with the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C.

3. (a) Each stockyard owner and market agency shall plainly state in the schedule of rates and charges (sec. 306, title III) filed by such stockyard owner or market agency, the date when effective, the stockyards at which it applies, the name and business address of the stockyard owner or market agency, the kind of livestock, the nature of the service, and the terms or conditions under which the service will be rendered.

Each licensee furnishing or conducting services or facilities for which a charge is made shall plainly state in the schedule of rates and charges (sec. 504, title V, which incorporates by reference sec. 306, title III) filed by such licensee, the date when effective, the city, place, or market at which it applies, the name and the business address of the licensee, the nature of the service or facilities furnished, and the terms or conditions under which the service will be rendered.

Schedules of rates and charges and amendments thereto of stockyard owners, market agencies, and licensees shall be printed or typed on paper which is approximately 8 by 11 inches in size, the lines of print or type being horizontal to the 8-inch dimension. Two copies of each such schedule or amendment shall be filed with the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., at least one of which shall be signed by the market agency, stockyard owner, or licensee filing the same.

The schedules of each market agency, stockyard owner, and licensee shall be designated by successive numbers as filed. Each such schedule shall be divided into sections which shall provide for the various classes of services furnished by the market agency, stockyard owner, or licensee. Each amendment of such schedule shall be numbered, and shall show the number of the schedule of which it is an amendment. Each such amendment shall in its body make adequate reference to the section or sections of the schedule which is amended, and shall set forth such section or sections in full in the amended or supplemented form. Each amendment shall indicate the numbers of such amendments to the original schedule as are in effect. After a market agency, stockyard owner, or licensee has filed 30 amendments to its schedule, any further change in the rates or charges shall be embodied in a new schedule which shall contain all rates and charges then in effect: Provided, however, That not more than 10 amendments relating to charges other than for feed may be filed without filing and publishing a new schedule.

Each stockyard owner, market agency, and licensee shall also file with the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., two copies of every rule or regulation, or set of rules or regulations, and of each amendment or supplement thereto, properly printed or typed, which in any manner change, affect, or determine any part or the aggregate of the rates or charges of such stockyard owner, market agency, or licensee, or the value of the services furnished.

All schedules and rules or regulations and amendments thereto required to be filed under this act shall be kept posted in a conspicuous public place by the market agency and stockyard owner filing same. Licensees shall post schedules of rates, charges, and rentals in a conspicuous location in their places of business where they may be readily observed by any interested person (sec. 504, title V). Unless the requirement as to filing and notice is specifically waived, as provided for in section 306 (c) (incorporated by reference in sec. 504, title V), all amendments to schedules or rules or regulations changing a rate or charge shall be filed with the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., not less than 10 days before the effective date thereof and must be posted in a conspicuous public place by the market agency, stockyard owner, or licensee filing the amendment at least 10 days prior to the effective date.

(b) If the same schedule is to be observed by more than one market agency or licensee one schedule will suffice for all market agencies or licensees at any one city, place, or market observing it whose names and business addresses are shown on it, together with the name of the organization, if any, by which adopted, provided at least one copy of such schedule or amendment thereto is signed in ink by each of the market agencies or licensees observing the same, and filed with the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C.

After the effective date of any general order issued by the Secretary prescribing rates, charges, practices, and regulations governing the rendition of stockyard services, or the selling and/or buying of livestock on a commission basis at a stockyard, or governing the rendition of any services or the use of any facilities in a city, place, or market designated by the Secretary under Title V of the Act, every market agency operating on such stockyard and every licensee operating in such city, place, or market shall conform to such order.

4. Each stockyard owner, registrant, and licensee shall give to the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, or his duly authorized agent, at such time in writing or otherwise, and under oath or affirmation if requested by such officer, any information concerning the business of the stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee which may be required in order to carry out the provisions of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

5. Each stockyard owner, registrant, and licensee shall, during ordinary business hours, permit any representative of the Bureau of Animal Industry designated by the officer in charge thereof to enter the place of business and inspect any or all property in the possession or control and all records pertaining to the business of the stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee as such, in order to carry out the provisions of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder. Any necessary facilities for such inspection shall be extended to such representative by the stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee, his agents and employees. Such representative shall be the Secretary's duly authorized agent for the purposes of these regulations.

6. No agent or employee of the United States shall, without the consent of the stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee concerned, divulge or make known in any manner, except to such other agent or employee of the United States as may be required to have such knowledge in the regular course of his official duties or except in so far as he may be directed by the Secretary or by a court of competent jurisdiction, any facts or information regarding the business of any stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee which may come to the knowledge of such agent or employee through any examination or inspection of the business or accounts of the stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee or through any information given by the stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee pursuant to these rules and regulations.

7. Each stockyard owner shall furnish to the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., as soon as practicable, true copies of all contracts, or changes therein, between such stockyard owner and packing, rendering, serum, fertilizer, and other establishments relating to the stockyards of such owner, except when it is shown that copies of such documents in the form in which they are effective are already in the possession of the United States Government at Washington and available to the Secretary.

8. In addition to other necessary records an accurate record of the number of head of each class of livestock received, shipped and disposed of locally each day shall be kept by each stockyard owner. Each registrant buying and/or selling livestock on a commission basis or otherwise, in addition to other necessary records, shall keep an accurate record of the number and weight of livestock bought and/or sold each business day, the prices paid or received therefor, and the charges made for services. Each licensee buying and/or selling live poultry on a commission basis or otherwise, in addition to other necessary records, shall keep an accurate record of the number of coops or pounds of live poultry bought and/or sold each business day, the price paid or received therefor, and the charges made for services and facilities.

9. Each stockyard owner, registrant, and licensee shall report in writing to the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., within 10 days thereafter any change of name or address or in the management or nature, or in the substantial control or ownership, of the business of such stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee under the act.

10. No stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee shall destroy or dispose of any books, records, documents, or papers which contain, explain, or modify transactions in his business under the act, without the consent in writing of the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C.

11. A stockyard owner, registrant, or licensee shall not knowingly make, issue, or circulate any false or misleading report, record, or representation concerning livestock or live-poultry market conditions or the price or sale of any livestock or live poultry.

12. If any market agency or licensee acting as a broker, factor, or commission merchant shall knowingly sell or dispose of livestock or live poultry consigned to it to any person in whose business such market agency or licensee or any stockholder, owner, officer, or employee thereof has a pecuniary interest, such market agency or licensee shall promptly disclose such fact in accounting to the owner or consignor of such livestock or live poultry.

13. Whenever feed or water is furnished to livestock at stockyards or to live poultry by or at the direction of stockyard owners, market agencies, or licensees they shall see that it is wholesome and fit for the purpose. They shall collect for feed so furnished according to actual or carefully estimated weight only and in accordance with their schedules of rates and charges filed under the act.

14. Every stockyard owner, market agency, or licensee who furnishes weighing facilities at stockyards or for weighing live poultry shall maintain and operate such facilities so as to insure accurate weights.

15. A stockyard owner shall not discriminate unfairly with respect to the utilization of pens, alleys, or buildings for the yarding or handling of livestock or of space for packing, rendering, and other establishments, or otherwise in the services and facilities of his stockyard. A licensee shall not discriminate unfairly with respect to the utilization of facilities for the handling of live poultry at designated cities, markets, or places or discriminate unfairly otherwise in the services rendered thereat.

16. Each stockyard owner and registrant shall exercise reasonable care and promptness in respect to yarding, feeding, watering, weighing, or otherwise handling livestock to prevent waste of feed, shrinkage, injury, death, or other avoidable loss.

Each license shall exercise reasonable care and promptness in respect to unloading, placing in coops, feeding, watering, weighing, transporting, or otherwise handling live poultry to prevent waste of feed, shrinkage, injury, death, or other avoidable loss.

17. (a) Each market agency shall, before the close of the next business day following the sale of any livestock consigned to it for sale, transmit or deliver to the owner of the livestock or his duly authorized agent a true written account of such sale, showing the number weight, and price of each kind of animals sold, the name of the purchaser, the date of sale, and such other facts as may be necessary to complete the account. Each licensee acting as a broker, factor, or commission merchant shall, with reasonable promptness following the sale of live poultry consigned to it for sale, transmit or deliver to the owner of the live poultry or his duly authorized agent a true written account of such sale showing the number of pounds and the price of each kind of poultry sold, date of sale, and such other facts as may be necessary to complete the account.

No market agency or licensee shall pay the net proceeds or any part thereof, arising from the sale of livestock or live poultry consigned to it for sale, to any person other than the owner of such livestock or live poultry, or his duly authorized agent, except upon an order from the Secretary of Agriculture or a court of competent jurisdiction unless such person holds (1) a valid unsatisfied mortgage or lien upon the particular livestock or live poultry, or (2) a written order executed by the owner at the time of, or immediately following, the consignment of such livestock or live poultry.

(b) Every market agency and dealer shall, on or before the date of commencement of operations, execute and thereafter maintain, or cause to be executed and thereafter maintained, reasonable bonds to suitable trustees to secure the performance of their obligations incurred as such market agency or dealer, and shall immediately file or cause to be filed with the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., a fully executed duplicate of such bond. For the purpose of this regulation, "market agency" means any person engaged in the business of buying or selling in commerce livestock at a stockyard on a commission basis, and "dealer" means any person, not a market agency, engaged in the business of buying or selling in commerce livestock at a stockyard either on his own account or as the employee or agent of the vendor or purchaser.

Such bonds may contain such other terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between the parties thereto, not inconsistent with the requirements of this regulation. The surety on such bond shall be a surety company approved by the Treasury Department of the United States for bonds executed to the United States, or any other form of indemnity may be accepted in lieu thereof which is found by the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., to afford substantially equivalent protection.

The amount of such bond shall be not less than the nearest multiple of $1,000 above the average amount of sales and/or purchases of livestock by such market agency or dealer during two business days, based on the total number of the business days, and the total amount of such sales and/or purchases in the preceding 12 months, or in such part thereof in which such market agency or dealer did business, if any. For the purpose of this computation, 308 shall be deemed the number of business days in a year, except that in those markets where livestock is offered for sale on not more than two days per week the actual number of days in the preceding 12 months on which livestock was offered for sale shall be deemed the number of business days. In such instances the amount of the bond shall be not less than the nearest multiple of $1,000 above the average amount of sales and/or purchases of livestock by such market agency or dealer during one business day. In any case, however, the amount of bond shall be not less than $2,000; and when the sales and/or purchases, calculated as hereinbefore specified, exceed $50,000 the amount of the bond need not exceed $50,000 plus 10 percent of the excess. Whenever the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., finds any bond required hereunder to be inadequate, such bond, upon notice, shall be adjusted to meet the requirements of this regulation.

Two or more market agencies or dealers or the employees or agents of such dealers, if such market agencies or dealers are affiliated with the same association or local exchange, may be covered by a single bond in an amount based on their combined purchases and/or sales determined in accordance with this regulation.

All surety bonds, or their equivalents, shall contain a provision requiring that at least 10 days' prior notice in writing be given to the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., by the party terminating such bonds or equivalents, in order to effect their termination.

(c) No market agency or licensee shall make such use or disposition of funds in its possession or control as will endanger or impair the faithful and prompt accounting for and payment of such portion thereof as may be due the owner or consignor of livestock or of live poultry or other person having an interest therein, and to this end shall so handle all such funds as to prevent their being intermingled or confused with other accounts or funds of the market agency or licensee kept or used for other purposes.

18. The Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., shall perform for and under the supervision of the Secretary of Agriculture such duties as he may require in enforcing the act and these rules and regulations.

19. (a) In a proceeding in which many transactions are involved and reparation is claimed, the Secretary, after due notice and hearing, will find and determine the issues as to violations of the act, the injury thereby to complainant, and the right to reparation, and thereafter afford the parties opportunity to agree or make proof respecting the transactions and the amount of reparation due before entering an order awarding reparation. In such cases, testimony and exhibits bearing on the details of the transactions, and the amount of reparation on each, should not be produced at the hearing unless pertinent to develop other material facts.

(b) When the Secretary finds that reparation is due in such cases, but that the amount cannot be ascertained upon the record before him, the complainant should immediately prepare a statement showing details of the transactions on which reparation is claimed. The statement should not include any transactions not covered by the findings of the Secretary, or any transaction on which complaint was not filed with the Secretary within the statutory period provided for in section 309 (a). The statement, together with any paid bills relevant to the transactions, or true copies thereof, should then be forwarded to the defendant for checking and certification as to its accuracy. The certificate must be signed in ink by a properly authorized officer of the defendant, and should cover all the information shown in the statement.

(c) Statements so prepared and certified shall be filed with the Secretary, whereupon he will consider entry of an order for reparation. The filing of statements will not stop the running of the statute of limitations as to transactions not covered by complaint, or supplemental complaint.

(d) All discrepancies, duplications, or other errors in the statements should be adjusted by the parties, and correct, agreed statements submitted to the Secretary.

That there shall have been carried out on the farm such farming practices in connection with the production of sugar beets and sugarcane during the year in which the crop was harvested with respect to which a payment is applied for, as the Secretary may determine, pursuant to this subsection, for preserving and improving fertility of the soil and for preventing soil erosion, such practices to be consistent with the reasonable standards of the farming community in which the farm is situated.

Now, therefore, I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, do hereby determine that the conditions prescribed in subsection (e) of Section 301 of the Sugar Act of 1937 shall be deemed to have been fulfilled with respect to the production of the 1938 crop of sugar beets on any farm if there is carried out, on land on the farm which is adapted to the production of sugar beets, not less than one acre of soil conserving practices for each acre of sugar beets planted on the farm for harvest in 1938; Provided, however, That with respect to a farm which is composed in whole or part of rented acreage which would otherwise be part of another farm, the conditions prescribed in subsection (e) of Section 301 of the Sugar Act of 1937 shall be deemed to have been fulfilled with respect to the production of the 1938 crop of sugar beets on the farm if (a) there is carried out on such rented acreage, which would otherwise be part of another farm, and on land which is adapted to the production of sugar beets, not less than one-quarter acre of soil conserving practices for each acre of sugar beets planted on such rented acreage for harvest in 1938, and if (b) there is carried out, on the farm of which the rented acreage would otherwise be a part, and on land which is adapted to the production of sugar beets, an amount of soil conserving practices (in excess of one acre of soil conserving practices for each acre of sugar beets planted for harvest in 1938 on the farm on which the rented acreage would otherwise be a part) equal to not less than the difference between one acre of soil conserving practices per acre of sugar beets on all rented acreage which would otherwise be part of the farm and the amount of soil conserving practices carried out on all such rented acreage; Provided further, That the minimum number of acres of soil conserving practices, as set forth above, to be carried out on rented acreage which would otherwise be part of another farm, shall be represented by soil conserving practices (1) (a), (b), and (c) as hereinafter described; and Provided further, That not less than 25 per centum of the minimum total number of acres of soil conserving practices with respect to any farm shall be represented by soil conserving practices (1) (a), (b), and (c) hereinafter described.

For the purposes of this determination:

(1) Each of the following shall be deemed to be one acre of soil conserving practices:

(a) Maintaining until after July 1, 1938, one acre of a protective covering of adapted perennial or biennial legumes, adapted perennial grasses, or mixtures of such legumes and grasses; or

(b) Seeding in 1938 one acre of land to adapted perennial or biennial legumes, adapted perennial grasses, or mixtures of such legumes and grasses; or

(c) Plowing under in 1938 one acre of a good stand of an adapted green manure crop; or

(d) Applying in 1938 to land on the farm adapted to the production of sugar beets an amount of animal manure equal to that normally produced in one year by any of the following: two head of cattle (of more than one year of age), two horses, two mules, four calves, four colts, ten sheep, or ten goats; or

(e) Applying in 1938 to land on the farm adapted to the production of sugar beets an amount of commercial chemical fertilizing materials (including inorganic chemical substances used as fertilizers), the principal constituents of value of which are any form or combination of nitrogen, phosphoric acid, or potash, and which contain 125 pounds of such constituents in the form of net available plant food.

(2) Adapted perennial or biennial legumes, or adapted perennial grasses, or mixtures thereof, or adapted green manure crops, shall be deemed to be those perennial and biennial legumes, or perennial grasses, or mixtures thereof, or green manure crops which are approved under the 1938 State Agricultural Conservation Program as being adaptable for the State in which the farm is located.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 19th day of February, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

SEC. 3. To examine the mines, mine maps, records, and books of the lessee and determine the amount of coal mined from Government coal land; to make a report to the Secretary of the Interior each quarter showing the production and the accrued royalties and rentals; to receive, record, and transmit payments of royalties and rentals; and to place seals at the entrance of leased lands on orders of the Secretary when the lessee is delinquent in royalty and rental payments.

SEC. 4. To prescribe or approve the methods of protection from wells or prospect holes drilled for any purpose through the coal measures and mines on leased lands and on coal lands subject to lease, with a view to the prevention of leakage of oil, gas, water, or other fluid substances that might endanger the lives of employees, and to prescribe or approve methods of obtaining the ultimate extraction, so far as practicable, of coal in the vicinity of such wells.

SEC. 5. To specify in writing under what conditions a mine or panel or other section of a mine, from which the coal has or has not been extracted, may be abandoned by the lessee, and how a section of a mine so abandoned should be sealed off or otherwise separated from the other parts of the mine, and to cause a survey of operations on leased lands to be made at the lessee's expense upon failure of the lessee to provide accurate maps as required.

SEC. 6. If these operating regulations or the State mining laws are not being complied with, and in the opinion of the district mining supervisor or the deputy mining supervisor, the mine or the lives of workmen are in jeopardy, such supervisor may give notice in writing to stop operations on all or a part of the leased land and may apply Department of the Interior seals to the haulage tracks or across the entrance to the strip pit, mine, or section of the mine affected. Should any such notice or seal be violated, the district mining supervisor shall recommend the penalty to be imposed upon the lessee.

SEC. 7. The mining supervisor, the district mining supervisor, and the deputy mining supervisor may issue such orders and notices in writing as may be appropriate to insure compliance with these regulations, and may order the discontinuance or modification of any operation or method that is causing or likely to cause any endangerment of life or property or is in violation of the provisions of the lease or regulations: Provided, That such orders are not in conflict with the laws of the State in which the leased land is situated; And further provided, That if any such order or notice issued by the deputy or district mining supervisor does not contain a statement that immediate danger of loss of life or property is involved and if the lessee appeals therefrom within 10 days, execution of said order or notice may be delayed pending review by the mining supervisor and, on further appeal, pending review by the Secretary of the Interior.

DUTIES AND OBLIGATIONS OF LESSEE

SEC. 8. The lessee shall observe and carry out the terms of the act of February 25, 1920 (41 Stat. 437), as amended, of his lease, of these regulations, and of the orders and written notices of the mining supervisor, district mining supervisor, or deputy mining supervisor issued in accordance with the regulations and terms of the lease that are not in conflict with the laws of the State in which the leased land is situated: Provided, That if any order or notice does not specify that immediate action must be taken for the protection of life or property, an appeal may be taken as provided in section 7 of these regulations.

Upon failure of the lessee to take appropriate action to protect the deposits from damage or threatened damage by fire, water, oil, gas, or subsidence, and upon failure of the lessee properly to protect the property upon abandonment or cancelation of the lease, the lessee shall be liable for the expense of labor and supplies used by the district mining supervisor or his associates for the protection of the property.

SEC. 9. (a) The lessee shall keep a correct record of coal produced in a manner that such records can readily be checked, and he shall report accurately, on mine-run basis, within 30 days after the expiration of the period covered by the report, all coal mined from the leased land during each calendar quarter and such other data as may be required on the form provided for quarterly reports; and on the anniversary of the lease he shall report the yearly production and such other data as may be required on the form provided for annual reports. Permittees shall report monthly and licensees quarterly, giving the amount of coal mined and the amount disposed of during the period covered by the report, a description of the work done, the cost of the work, the results of prospecting, and such other information as may be requested.

(b) The lessee shall cause an audit of his books and accounts pertaining to the leased land to be made annually within 30 days after the expiration of the lease year or at such times as directed by the district mining supervisor, to whom he shall furnish, free of cost, a copy of the said audit. The eligibility of the accountant making such audit is to be subject to approval by the Secretary of the Interior.

SEC. 10. The lessee shall report promptly to the district mining supervisor by telephone or telegraph the occurrence in or about the leased land of fatal accidents, serious outbursts of gas, explosions, inundations, fires, extensive squeezes, collapses of roof, or other serious conditions causing or threatening the loss of life or property.

SEC. 11. The lessee shall report promptly in writing to the district mining supervisor each accident that results in the loss of more than one shift for the injured person, giving the date of the accident, the name, age, and occupation of the injured person, the actual work being performed when the injury occurred, the cause and nature or result of the injury, the probable length of disability, and the name and location of the mine, with outline sketches or maps when pertinent. Copies of reports to the State inspector or industrial commission and outline sketches or maps will fulfill the requirements of this section.

PERSONNEL AND THEIR DUTIES

SEC. 12. (a) Superintendents, foremen, assistant foremen, mine examiners, fire bosses, hoistmen, electricians, and foremen of rescue and first-aid work must be qualified for and experienced in the duties of their respective positions and must be certified by competent State authority, or, in the absence of State certification requirements, appointments to such positions shall be subject to the approval of the district mining supervisor, who shall require the highest qualifications in vogue in the mining region concerned for similar positions.

(b) In the absence of personnel qualified as mentioned in this section, the duties of such positions may be performed by others on written consent of the appropriate State official, or, should no State official have jurisdiction over mine officials, on written consent of the district mining supervisor.

SEC. 13. (a) The lessee shall appoint for any mine employing more than 5 men underground on any shift a qualified mine foreman, who shall visit and inspect from time to time all accessible parts of the mine, and who shall be in responsible charge of the mine underground.

(b) If 25 men or less are employed underground on any shift, the superintendent may serve also as mine foreman, provided he is qualified to do so under the applicable State regulations.

(c) If more than 75 men are employed underground on any shift, the lessee shall appoint at least one experienced assistant mine foreman, with qualifications and duties similar to those of foreman, and an additional assistant mine foreman for every additional 75 men or fractional part of that number.

SEC. 14. (a) The lessee shall appoint a sufficient number of fire bosses or mine examiners, certified by the State, to examine every underground working place and nearby open place within 3 hours prior to the entrance of any shift of miners, and to determine if every place is free from a dangerous quantity of flammable or noxious gas, if the air is properly coursed, and if the roof and other conditions are safe for the workmen, and they shall record the date of examination at each working place.

(b) The fire bosses or mine examiners shall also examine every accessible part of the mine each third day, omitting Sunday, make the determinations mentioned in paragraph a, and record the date of the examination at each place examined. Any place which has been undercut by a machine or in which the coal or roof has been blasted or has fallen shall be examined by a fire boss or mine examiner and determined to be safe before workmen are permitted to reenter.

(c) For every group of 75 men or fraction thereof employed underground in any gassy mine at least one fire boss or mine examiner shall be appointed, who shall be subjected to a physical and optical examination at least once each calendar year.

SEC. 15. (a) The fire bosses or examiners shall fence and mark off all dangerous places to warn men and prevent their entrance into such places, shall list on a blackboard or its equivalent at the entrance to the mine or entrance to each section of the mine and places therein which have been marked off, and shall station themselves at the entrance to such a section or near the mouth of the mine to warn miners who normally would work in places found dangerous and prevent them from entering until the dangerous conditions have been remedied under the supervision of a duly accredited mine official and the place has been declared safe.

(b) The reports of the fire bosses or mine examiners shall be assembled and copied once a day, in ink or indelible pencil, in a record book kept in the office of the mine and signed each day by the fire bosses or examiners and by the mine foreman.

(c) The foreman or an assistant foreman, if duly qualified in accordance with State regulations and if his other duties permit, may also serve as fire boss or mine examiner.

SEC. 16. At a mine where electricity is used underground for generating power, the lessee shall appoint a man to be in charge of the electrical equipment who is fitted for his position by ability, training, and experience and is familiar with the hazards of mine gases and coal dust and with the operation and maintenance of the equipment in his charge.

SEC. 17. (a) Hoistmen shall be familiar with the operation of hoisting engines, able to read and write English, and not less than 18 years of age.

(b) Hoistmen who hoist or lower men must have a physical examination annually and present a certificate of health from a reputable physician.

WEIGHING OR MEASURING COAL

SEC. 18. (a) All coal mined shall be accurately weighed or measured, truly accounted for, and recorded by the lessee, including a record of all sales of coal and of coal disposed of otherwise. If the miners are paid either by weight or by measurement, a record of correct daily weights or biweekly measurements shall be posted or displayed in a conspicuous place. Test weights shall be kept at the scales, so that the accuracy of the scales can be tested at any time.

(b) The weighman or person appointed to weigh or measure the coal where the miners are paid upon the basis of his figures shall be required before entering upon his duties to subscribe to an affidavit, before a person duly authorized to administer oaths, that he will keep a true record of the coal so weighed or measured and credit each miner accordingly; such affidavit shall be posted at his place of duty.

(c) Nothing contained herein shall be construed to prevent the lessee from separately weighing and deducting the amount of bone coal or other impurities, loaded by a miner with the coal, from the weight of the coal accredited to the miner.

(d) If rock or bone is removed from the coal after weighing, an allowance for such waste material may be authorized by the mining supervisor, provided the cleaning is done with a minimum loss of coal.

(e) If deductions are allowed for impurities in the coal under section 18 (c) or (d), under no circumstances shall the royalty be based on less than the weight credited to the miners, plus that loaded by day labor, nor shall it be based on less than the shipping weight, plus coal stored, coal used on the premises, and coal otherwise accounted for.

(f) If a lessee records or reports less than the true weight of the coal mined, he shall be subject to a penalty, at the option of the Secretary, of double the amount of royalty on the shortage or the full value of the shortage. Repetition of the showing of a shortage in weight after warning shall be sufficient cause for cancelation of the lease.

GEOLOGIC AND BORE-HOLE REPORTS

SEC. 19. (a) The lessee shall submit detailed reports upon completion or suspension of any prospect bore hole, prospecting operation, or geologic investigation. The report on each bore hole shall give the location, altitude, and log, including the occurrences of water. In surface prospecting the location and occurrences of coal shall be shown on a map, and copies of geologic reports on the lands leased shall be furnished by the lessee.

(b) All bore holes made to prospect formations shall upon completion be fully and promptly filled with a mud fluid or cement or filled otherwise, as prescribed by the district mining supervisor. While holes are being drilled they shall be properly cased and cemented to prevent migration of oil, gas, or water to the coal-bearing beds, and after serving their purpose they shall be abandoned as prescribed for prospect holes.

APPROACHING OIL, GAS, OR WATER WELLS

SEC. 20. When mining operations approach wells or bore holes that may liberate oil, gas, water, or other fluid substances, the lessee shall present his plans for mining the coal in proximity to such holes to the mining supervisor and obtain his approval before proceeding with the work planned. The plans shall provide that the coal be extracted as completely as practicable with safety and in such manner that the well will not be damaged, and that precautions be taken against the sudden liberation of a body of oil, gas, water, or other fluid. The mine ventilation shall be so arranged that any gaseous substance liberated shall enter the return air current and not be circulated through the active workings of the mine. In approaching such holes, the instructions in section 66 shall be followed.

SURFACE STRUCTURES, THEIR LOCATION, CONSTRUCTION, AND FIRE PROTECTION

SEC. 21. A lessee employing more than 10 men underground shall not construct or maintain on the surface any structure of combustible material within 75 feet of any opening, nor permit such a structure to be connected to any noncombustible building within that distance except as follows:

(a) An open timber framework or headframe of timber may be constructed over a shaft, slope, drift, or tunnel. The posts and rafters of any such structure may be of wood if the covering or lining is made of fireproof material, but under no circumstances shall wood flooring be used except in tipples, trestles, and storage bins. Fire doors shall be erected at effective points where smoke or fire from outside sources may endanger men working underground.

(b) Flammable material shall not be stored or placed within 75 feet of any mine opening except while such material is being sent into or removed from the mine and except for a day's supply of oil for lubricating machinery in the surface structure.

(c) At mines in which more than 50 men are employed underground on any shift, the building or buildings containing the hoisting engine and power plant shall not have floors, ceilings, and side walls or roofs constructed of combustible material, but wood may be used for roof trusses, purlins, and rafters, and for side-wall studs or frames if covered on both sides with noncombustible material.

DEVELOPMENT PLANS

SEC. 22. After necessary prospecting has been done on any lease and before permanent operating shafts have been sunk or slopes, drifts, or tunnels driven, the lessee shall prepare and submit to the district mining supervisor for approval a preliminary plan, together with vertical sections to indicate, so far as known, the position, dip, and thickness of each coal bed. The plan shall be on a scale of not more than 500 feet to the inch and shall show in outline the principal prospect and proposed entries, airways, shafts, and structures, including fan or fans, and the proposed method of underground development and ventilation, with a description thereof.

SEC. 23. The lessee shall develop and mine the coal in accordance with plans approved in advance, so far as natural conditions permit; and, if conditions necessitating radical changes are encountered, he shall immediately submit modified plans, accompanied by an explanation, to the district mining supervisor for approval.

MINING WHERE MORE THAN ONE BED OF COAL OCCURS

SEC. 24. (a) Where practicable, by reason of either commercial or mining conditions, the available coal in the upper beds shall be worked out before the coal in the lower beds is mined; otherwise, the workings in the upper coal bed shall be kept in advance of the workings in each lower bed. The decision as to practicability rests with the mining supervisor. Where more than one bed of coal is known to exist in the leased lands, the lessee shall not draw or remove the pillars in any lower bed before mining the available coal in each known upper bed of such thickness that it can be mined under the then existing commercial conditions, either alone or in combination with thicker beds. The mining supervisor shall decide whether or not the workings or conditions for subsequent mining in any or all of the upper beds will be seriously injured by the extraction of the pillars in the lower workings.

(b) Where mining operations are in progress in a bed that lies either below or above another bed in which mining has been or is being carried on, the lessee shall, if the room-and-pillar system is employed, superimpose the pillars in the respective beds. Modifications of this provision may be necessary in steeply dipping beds and may be approved by the mining supervisor where conditions make them advisable.

DEVELOPING THROUGH ADJOINING MINES

SEC. 25. A lessee may develop a mine on his leased tract from an adjoining mine not on the public domain, or from adjacent leased lands, under the following conditions:

(a) The mine that is not on the public domain shall conform to all sections in these regulations that relate to the safety of the mines and employees.

(b) The only connections between the mine not on public domain and the mine on public domain shall be the main haulageways, the ventilationways, and the escapeways. Substantial concrete frames and fireproof doors that may be closed in an emergency and opened from either side shall be installed in each such connection. Unnecessary connections through the boundary pillars shall not be made until both mines are about to be exhausted and abandoned. The district mining supervisor may waive such of these requirements when, in his judgment, such waiving does not affect adversely the safety of the employees or entail loss of coal.

(c) Free access for inspection of said connecting mine not on the public domain shall be given at all hours to the mining supervisor or other representative of the Secretary of the Interior.

SEC. 26. If a lessee operating on a lease through a mine not on public domain does not maintain the mine in accordance with the operating regulations, operations on the leased land may be ordered stopped or Departmental seals applied by the district mining supervisor or deputy mining supervisor, and the operations on leased lands shall be stopped.

PROVISIONS FOR DISPOSAL OF WASTE

SEC. 27. (a) The lessee shall dispose of waste, slack, refuse, and water from a mine and waste and sludge of any washery in such a manner as not to cause private or public damage or inconvenience, be a nuisance, or obstruct any stream, right of way, or other means of transportation or travel.

(b) All waste containing practically no coal shall be deposited separately and apart from coal for which no immediate market exists and from waste containing coal in such quantity that it may be later separated from the waste by washing or other means.

(c) Royalty on slack coal accrues when the coal is mined and is due and payable on the next payment date thereafter.

SURVEYS AND MAPS

SEC. 28. (a) Accurate surveys of new workings shall be made at least every 6 months and a map prepared thereof on a scale of 50 feet, 100 feet, or 200 feet to the inch. The mine-office maps of the workings in each coal bed shall be extended to show the advancement of all the mine workings and all other changes of a permanent character that have taken place during the period between successive surveys. Before any mine or section of a mine is abandoned, closed, or becomes inaccessible, a survey of such mine or section shall be made and recorded on the map.

(b) In addition to the information required by the lease, maps shall bear the name of the mine, the name of the lessee, and the serial number assigned by the district land office, and shall show the true north or meridian, the public survey land lines with indication of corners found, the distance and direction from the mine opening to a land corner, the boundary barrier pillars, the scale to which the map is drawn, and an explanatory legend.

(c) The surface map shall show in outline the location of all structures or buildings and the surface location and depth of each bore hole, appropriately numbered. The map shall also show the altitude at the surface, the altitude and section of each coal bed penetrated by boring, and any other pertinent information, including the angle and direction of prospect drilling where not vertical.

(d) The mine map shall show at each face the date of extension and at each entry face the coal sections and altitude, also the location of all pillars and the parts of pillars not extracted in pillar work; the position of all fire walls, dams, main pumps, fire pipe lines, permanent ventilating stoppings, doors, overcasts, undercasts, and regulators; the direction of the ventilating current in the various parts of the mine at the time of making latest surveys; fire areas; known bodies of standing water either in or above the workings of the mine; areas containing flammable gas; areas affected by squeezes.

(e) Where the dip of the coal bed or beds exceeds 45°, profiles or vertical cross sections parallel with the approximate average direction of the dip and not more than 1,000 feet apart shall be made on the same scale as the mine maps, with appropriately marked reference points, and a vertical view of the mine workings shall be prepared on the same scale as the general mine map to show the mine workings in that bed on a vertical plane parallel with the average strike of the bed or beds, with appropriately marked reference points.

(f) Blueprints or reproductions in duplicate of the maps and drawings prescribed in the preceding subsections and such other maps as may be required shall be submitted to the district mining supervisor annually without his special request, or semiannually on request.

SEC. 29. (a) In the event of the failure of the lessee to furnish the maps required, the mining supervisor or district mining supervisor shall employ a competent mine surveyor to make a survey and maps of the mine, and the cost thereof shall be charged to and promptly paid by the lessee.

(b) If any map submitted by a lessee is believed to be incorrect, the district mining supervisor may cause a survey to be made, and if the survey shows the map submitted by the lessee to be substantially incorrect in whole or in part, the cost of making the survey and preparing the map shall be charged to and promptly paid by the lessee.

MINING BY STRIPPING

SEC. 30. (a) No strip pit will be permitted on the outcrop of any dipping coal bed until the workable coal at lower altitude in that bed and underlying beds has been extracted, unless there is free natural or artificial drainage from the pit that will prevent seepage underground down the dip.

(b) Accumulations of slack coal or combustible waste that may, if fired, endanger the coal deposit shall not be permitted at or near coal or carbonaceous material in place.

(c) Overhanging banks or ledges must be shot down promptly to eliminate danger to employees from falling rock or dirt.

(d) Upon completion or indefinite suspension of mining operations in all or any part of a strip pit, the face of the coal shall be covered with noncombustible material that will effectively prevent the coal bed from becoming ignited.

(e) The driving of underground working places from the face of a strip pit for the purpose of getting cheap coal is contrary to conservation principles and is prohibited.

MANWAYS AND EXITS

SEC. 31. (a) In every mine the lessee shall provide an escapeway or second means of egress to the surface, which, if a drift, slope, or tunnel exit, shall be separated at the surface from the first exit by not less than 50 feet of rock or coal in place; if either is a shaft or both are shafts, the exits shall be not less than 200 feet apart.

(b) During the course of development of a shaft mine not more than 10 men shall be employed underground on any shift until connections are made to the second exit.

(c) If the escapeway is a slope and more than 25° from the horizontal, steps or a stairway shall be provided. If the floor is slippery or wet, steps may be required where the dip is less than 25°.

SEC. 32. (a) In every shaft mine, unless escape is available by drift, tunnel, or slope, one shaft shall be equipped with hoist and cage suitable for hoisting or lowering men: Provided, That if less than 10 men are employed underground and the shafts are less than 50 feet in depth, a well-maintained ladder in each shaft will suffice as a means of entering and leaving the mine.

(b) Where the main shaft and escape shaft are less than 300 feet in depth, one shall be equipped for the hoisting and lowering of men and the other shall be equipped with a substantial stairway of approved design. The pitch of the flights shall not exceed 45°, the flights shall have suitable landings at each turn, and the hand rails and stairs shall be maintained in good order.

(c) The escape shaft and main shaft, if more than 300 feet in depth, shall each be provided with an adequate hoist and cage suitable for hoisting and lowering men, an efficient signaling system, and a qualified hoistman who shall be available on appropriate signal. The hoisting equipment and cages in each of the two shafts shall have sufficient capacity, independently of each other, to hoist out of the mine all persons on any shift in 30 minutes and with due regard to safety. A stairway or emergency ladderway of approved design shall be provided in at least one of the shafts. If a ladderway is constructed, it shall be provided with landings not more than 20 feet vertically apart, and the pitch shall not exceed 80°.

SEC. 33. At each shaft landing there shall be a passageway at least 6 feet high and 4 feet wide, free of obstruction, that will enable persons to go from one side of the shaft to the other side without passing through any compartment of the shaft: Provided, That a shaft compartment may be used for a passageway if properly floored and roofed over by a bulkhead sufficiently strong to withstand the fall of heavy bodies.

SEC. 34. The roof and sides of every traveling road and working place shall be maintained in a safe condition, and no one shall be permitted, unless appointed for the purpose of exploring or repairing, to travel on or work in any traveling road or working place which is not in safe condition.

SEC. 35. The shafts of all mines designed for the employment of more than 50 men, if the lining or facing thereof is combustible, shall be fireproofed within 6 months after completion by lining, guniting, or coating with cement or other noncombustible material. Such fireproofing shall be maintained over all combustible material, except guides, ladderways, and stairways, as long as said shafts form the principal means of egress.

SEC. 36. In every mine designed for the employment of more than 50 men underground on any shift, the roofs and walls of entries and passageways within 300 feet of the bottom of each shaft, if in coal or timbered, shall be fireproofed with a cement coating or the equivalent within 1 year after said entries and passageways have been driven, and such fireproofing shall be maintained in good condition so long as the shaft is used.

SEC. 37. The lessee shall arrange, so far as practicable, manways free from regular haulage for the passage of underground employees to and from their working places. Such manways shall be maintained in safe condition, and signs with arrows shall be provided showing direction toward the escapeways on each side of crossing or intersecting passages. The lessee shall require his employees to use the manways, so far as practicable, in going to and from their working places.

HOISTS, HOISTING EQUIPMENT, AND SHAFT LANDINGS

SEC. 38. (a) All hoisting equipment used in shafts and slopes shall be of ample capacity and of a standard design commercially recognized as safe and in accordance with State requirements.

(b) The drums or cable reels of hoists shall be provided with flanges that extend at least 2 inches radially beyond the last layer of rope or cable when fully coiled on the drum or reel.

(c) All hoists shall have sufficient power to hoist the loaded unbalanced cage or skip and shall be equipped with brakes adequate to stop and hold the fully loaded unbalanced cage or skip at any point in the shaft or slope.

SEC. 39. (a) A metal hoisting cable of recognized standard character shall be used for hoisting or lowering men. When newly installed in the shaft or slope, it shall have a safety factor of not less than 6 as rated by the manufacturer, based on the maximum load including the weight of the cable, or, if the hoistway is inclined, the calculated component of the weights parallel with the incline.

(b) No cable shall be used for hoisting and lowering men if on inspection it is found that the number of broken wires exceeds six in any single pitch length or lay of the rope, that the crowns of the strands are worn down to less than 65 per cent of their original diameter, or that a dangerous amount of corrosion or distortion exists: Provided, however, That when such broken wires are reduced by wear more than 30 per cent in cross section, the number of breaks in any lay of the rope shall not exceed three.

(c) Cages, skips, or cars used in hoisting or lowering men shall be connected to the hoisting cable or ring by standard babbitted or zinc-filled sockets or by clamps. The cable shall be resocketed or reclamped at intervals not exceeding 4 months, and at least 4 feet of the cable shall be cut off from the end to be socketed or clamped, and clamping shall be so done that at least 80 per cent of the breaking strength of the cable shall be retained.

(d) Hoisting cable shall be firmly clamped to the drum or reel, and at least two turns of the cable shall remain on the drum or reel at all times when the cable is extended to the lowest landing.

SEC. 40. In shafts and slopes where men are hoisted or lowered, there shall be at least 20 feet of hoistway clearance above the surface landings at which men enter or leave the cages or cars; and at mines in which more than 50 men are employed underground on any shift, overwinding and overspeeding preventers or equivalent devices, approved by the district mining supervisor, shall be connected with the hoists and so maintained as to prevent the cages from being overwound or from falling if overwound and to prevent overspeeding, considering the character of the hoisting equipment and the depth of hoisting.

SEC. 41. (a) Cages for hoisting men shall have bonnets extending over the space on which the men stand, metal sides extending not less than 5 feet above the floor of the cage or of each deck of a multiple-deck cage, and gates or doors at least 4 feet high closing the entrances to the cage on each deck. Each deck of a cage used for hoisting men shall have overhead or side bars so arranged that every man on the cage may have an easy and secure handhold. Self-dumping cages shall be so designed that the platform can not overturn in the shaft.

(b) Cages used for hoisting or lowering men shall be provided with safety catches capable of bringing the fully loaded cage to a stop within a distance of 10 feet in any part of the shaft or headframe should the cable or cable connection break.

(c) Cage rests or chairs shall be provided at all shaft landings regularly used in the hoisting or lowering of men unless their omission is authorized in writing by the district mining supervisor.

SEC. 42. (a) Gates 4 feet high or covers shall be used at the top or ground landings of vertical or inclined shafts, and the gates shall be kept closed except when the cage is at the landing and attended.

(b) The track at the surface landing of a shaft or slope shall have a derailing device which shall always be kept open except when a car is being taken from or placed on the cage at said landing, or when a car is entering the slope under control.

SEC. 43. Shafts when not in use for hoisting men and slopes or sumps that extend below the floor of a mine passage or excavation shall be adequately guarded to prevent men from falling therein.

SEC. 44. Buckets or cans used for shaft sinking shall be provided with self-locking safety hooks and, if the shaft is more than 200 feet in depth, with crossheads and guides. When rock is being dumped or material loaded or unloaded, the mouth of the shaft shall be covered by safety doors or the equivalent, of a safe design and construction.

SEC. 45. Where men are employed in a mine or required to enter or depart from a mine between sunset and sunrise, sufficient light shall be maintained at the top landing of each shaft to enable them to see the landing. At each underground landing used for caging men, a light shall be maintained on each side of and within 10 feet of the shaft or slope whenever men are in the mine. Each underground landing, if not naturally lighted, shall be kept white with paint or whitewash.

SEC. 46. (a) The hoist shall be operated only when properly provided with brakes and indicators and when every person not on duty in the hoist room is excluded from the room, except visitors permitted by the lessee.

(b) The hoistman shall not hold conversation with anyone while his engine is in motion nor hoist or lower men at a speed greater than the rate posted in the engine room as a safe speed, and he shall bring the hoist to a dead stop at a landing before turning over the control to a relief hoistman.

(c) After any stoppage of hoisting for repairs or for any other purpose exceeding 2 hours in duration, a cage or other conveyance shall be run up or down the shaft at least once before hoisting or lowering men.

(d) No hoisting shall be done in any compartment of a shaft while repairs are being made in that compartment except such hoisting as may be necessary to make such repairs.

SEC. 47. (a) Competent representatives of the lessee shall make daily a general examination of all hoisting equipment and electrical and mechanical apparatus used for the hoisting or transportation of men in and about the mine, including skips, cages, guides, ropes, sheaves, hoists, motors, engines, and boilers; and once each week a more detailed examination shall be made. A memorandum of the condition found on examination shall be entered in a record book kept in the mine office, and any defective condition that may endanger the safety of the employees or others shall be remedied without delay.

(b) Any boiler used for generating steam shall be equipped with a safety valve, pressure gage, and water glass and shall be inspected semiannually by a competent boiler inspector.

(c) If an inspection discloses a defective condition or arrangement of any apparatus, appliance, or device, which endangers the safety of employees or others, such condition or arrangement shall be remedied without delay.

SIGNALS AND TELEPHONES

SEC. 48. A code of hoisting signals shall be kept posted in a manner easily read at the top of each hoisting shaft or slope, at each landing, and in the hoisting-engine house. Said code shall be in accordance with the requirements of the mining laws of the State in which the mine is situated, and if not otherwise specified, the following code of signals shall be used: (a) when the engine is at rest, one signal, hoist; (b) when the engine is in motion, one signal, stop; (c) when the engine is at rest, two signals, lower; (d) when the engine is at rest, three signals, men ready to get on the cage or cars to ascend; when this is followed by return signal from the hoistman, the men get on the cage or into cars and then the proper signal shall be given. Other signals to suit the local conditions may be added by the lessee.

SEC. 49. (a) In mines where 20 or more men are employed underground on any shift, there shall be at least two effective methods of signaling between the engine room and each of the shaft or slope landings, one of which shall be a telephone or speaking tube. The signals shall be so arranged that the cager or person in charge of each landing can signal directly to the hoistman and the hoistman can also signal directly to each of the landings. If the shaft is more than 50 feet deep, calling or rapping on metal shall not be accepted as a substitute method of signaling.

(b) Electric signal circuits shall not use current of more than 30 volts.

SEC. 50 (a) The lessee shall provide and maintain at each mine where more than 50 men are employed underground on any shift, or where 20 or more men are employed more than 1,500 feet from the surface, a telephone system connecting with the hoisting engine room, the ground landing of the shaft or slope or the principal mine exit of a drift mine, and such other points on the surface as may be advisable for the safety of the employees, and telephones shall be placed on each shaft or slope landing in use and at the inside siding of each of the main haulage roads. The underground telephones shall be so placed that no 20 men shall be more than 1,000 feet from the nearest telephone station. A code of calls shall be kept at each telephone.

(b) The telephones inside a mine shall be of standard underground type. The telephone wires shall be carefully installed, and should any power lines be on the entry, the telephone wires shall be installed along the side of the entry opposite the power lines. Only permissible telephones shall be used in gassy mines for the installation of new telephones and the replacement of existing telephones.

PILLARS AND CROSSCUTS

SEC. 51. (a) The lessee shall separate intake and return airways and any adjacent parallel entries or rooms by not less than 50 feet of coal in place, except when a thinner pillar is permitted by written consent of the district mining supervisor, who may also in his discretion require a greater thickness than 50 feet.

(b) The distance apart of crosscuts or break-throughs between parallel entries or rooms shall be not greater than the maximum allowed by the regulations of the State in which the leased land is situated and shall be not more than 100 feet except in entries or tunnels where special arrangements are made to carry an adequate ventilating current to the face of each entry or tunnel, the adequacy of such arrangements to be approved by the district mining supervisor. Rooms shall not be turned ahead of the last crosscut nearest the face, nor shall branch entries be started ahead of the last crosscut, except when approved by the district mining supervisor to obtain a circuit of air, a second means of egress, or a space for the laying of switches.

(c) A face shall not be driven more than 30 feet beyond the inby rib of the crosscut until said crosscut is connected to an adjoining airway, and if, in the opinion of the district mining supervisor, adequate ventilation does not reach the face, such changes as he may direct shall be made in the ventilation.

(d) Room necks shall not be wider than 9 feet for the first 18 feet, unless the lessee is given permission in writing by the district mining supervisor to make the room necks wider and shorter.

(f) Before abandoning any room, entry, slope, or drift, a crosscut shall be driven and connection made with the adjoining room, entry, slope, or drift at the face thereof, in order to give a boundary airway around workings.

SEC. 52. (a) Where the room and pillar or other system of mining requires advance workings in the solid coal, including entries, rooms, and crosscuts or break-throughs, the lessee, except with the written consent of the mining supervisor, shall not extract by such advance workings or first mining more than 60 per cent of the total area of the coal bed within any particular tract or panel entered by said advance workings where the cover is less than 500 feet; nor more than 50 per cent where the cover is more than 500 feet and less than 1,000 feet; nor more than 40 per cent where the cover is more than 1,000 feet and less than 1,500 feet; nor more than 30 per cent where the cover is more than 1,500 feet and less than 2,000 feet; nor more than 20 per cent where the cover is more than 2,000 feet. A greater percentage may be required to be left where unfavorable roof or floor conditions exist or where the coal bed is or may be affected by mining elsewhere.

(b) The size of pillars shall be in proportion to the thickness of the coal bed, and all pillars shall be systematically mined and removed as rapidly as proper mining will permit.

(c) The percentages of the total area mined and unmined in a tract on advance mining shall be figured on the basis of the area and not on the basis of the calculated tonnage mined. The total area of the tract under consideration is to be comprised within lines bounding the faces of advance workings within the tract, excluding the area from which pillars have been systematically removed.

SEC. 53. (a) A pillar proportionate in size to the depth below the surface and the thickness of coal being excavated shall be left in each coal bed for the support of each shaft, main slope, or egress.

(c) Shaft and slope landings, sidings, and entries for haulage, ventilation, manways, and shops may be excavated in a pillar provided the area of such places does not exceed 15 per cent of the area of the pillar and that no rooms or other openings are made therein for the sole purpose of obtaining quick production.

SEC. 54. (a) The lessee shall not, without the prior consent of the district mining supervisor, mine any coal, drive any underground workings, or drill any lateral bore holes within 50 feet of any of the outside boundary lines of the leased lands, nor within any greater distance of said boundary lines that the district mining supervisor may prescribe. Payment not exceeding $1 a ton or the full value of the coal mined may be required for coal mined within such distances of the boundary without the written consent of the district mining supervisor.

(b) If the coal on public domain beyond any barrier pillar has been worked out and the water level beyond the pillar is below the lessee's adjacent operations, the lessee shall, on the written demand of the mining supervisor, mine out and remove all available coal in such barrier, both in the lands covered by the lease and in the adjoining premises, if it can be mined without hardship to the lessee.

(c) If the coal-mining rights in adjoining premises are privately owned, an agreement may be made with the owner for the extraction of the coal in the boundary pillars.

(d) Narrow strips of coal between leased lands and the outcrop on public lands and small blocks of coal adjacent to leased lands that would otherwise be isolated or lost may be mined under the provisions specified in paragraphs b and c of this section.

VENTILATING FANS AND AIR DISTRIBUTION

SEC. 55. (a) Fans shall be installed if any part of the mine is 500 feet from an opening. All parts of the fan housing, including the power unit and the fan drift to the mine opening, shall be constructed of noncombustible material.

(b) The main fan of a mine shall be situated on the surface at an offset distance of not less than 25 feet from the projection of the nearest side of the opening of the mine to the fan wheel, and shall be protected with explosion-relief doors having the full area of the air shaft or airway and in direct line therewith.

(c) Fans must be so arranged that the ventilating current can be reversed quickly, and they shall not be stopped or changed in speed, or the air current reversed, except by order of the official in charge of the underground operations.

(d) The main fan or fans used to ventilate a gassy mine, if electrically driven, shall be equipped with permissible motors and provided with auxiliary power and suitable belt or driving connection that can be quickly connected and operated should the electric power fail.

(e) Each fan used to ventilate a mine in which 25 or more men are employed underground on any shift shall be equipped with a recording instrument by which the ventilation pressure is continuously registered. The registration chart for each day, with the date thereon, shall be kept in the office of the mine for at least 1 year. Each fan shall also be equipped with an automatic signal to give warning of slowing down and stopping. These requirements may be waived only by written consent of the district mining supervisor.

(f) While a mine is being opened and less than 15 men are employed underground on any shift, a temporary fan may be set up, on the written approval of the district or deputy mining supervisor, before the permanent fan is installed.

(g) A mine on leased land may be ventilated by means of a fan not on the leased land if the fan is installed in compliance with paragraph b of this section or if it has been previously installed in conformity with State laws.

(h) If a fan used in ventilating a gassy mine has accidentally stopped or has been shut down or the ventilation otherwise interrupted, all the men in the area affected shall be warned immediately and withdrawn until the fire boss has made an examination and declared all places in that area to be free from standing gas. If such a fan has stopped for a period of more than 15 minutes in a gassy mine or more than 4 hours in a nongassy mine, no men other than mine examiners shall be permitted to enter the mine until the fan has been in operation for at least 2 hours and the fire bosses or mine examiners have thereafter inspected the mine and reported to the mine foreman that they have examined all the places and found them safe for any or all of the men to enter.

SEC. 56. Booster and auxiliary fans may be used only with the written permission of the district mining supervisor, who may permit their use only under the following conditions:

(a) Use of a "booster" fan may be permitted if the coal ribs are adequately protected against fire and no flammable material is within 10 feet of the fan and motor, and if the fan is equipped with an automatic starter and timing device that will prevent it from starting after being stopped for a period considered sufficient to permit an accumulation of gas, and with a recording device that shows the continuity of operation.

(b) Use of an auxiliary fan may be permitted if it is situated in an intaking air current and at least 16 feet outby the last open crosscut or entrance to the place ventilated and if the motor and switch are permissible; Provided, That in gassy mines an experienced gas inspector or fire boss shall be in attendance in the vicinity of the fan at all times while the fan is running and shall make hourly inspections to determine if methane in dangerous quantities, as defined in section 60, is passing the fan, and if the fan is oiled and running properly; And further provided, That at all times the ventilating current shall be so directed and of sufficient velocity to keep the working places clear of gas. Auxiliary fans shall not be used for the purpose of moving bodies of gas.

SEC. 57. A booster fan shall not be operated where more than 10 per cent of the air is recirculated by the fan; and an auxiliary fan shall not be operated if it uses more than 40 per cent of the passing air current.

SEC. 58. The lessee shall provide a ventilating current of not less than 100 cubic feet of air a minute for each person employed underground on any shift and 500 cubic feet a minute for each mule or horse or such larger amounts as may be required by the regulations of the State in which the leased land is located; and said ventilating current shall be measured for the number of men and mules served by each split of air at the entry, crosscut, or break-through nearest the face. Not more than 75 men shall be employed on any split of air current unless written permission to employ a larger number temporarily is given by the district mining supervisor.

SEC. 59. The quantity of air in the main current and in the last open crosscut on every split shall be measured with an anemometer or approved equivalent at least once every week by the mine foreman or fire bosses, and the measurements shall be entered with ink or indelible pencil in a record book kept at the mine.

SEC. 60. A working place, entry, or passageway shall not be deemed normally in a fit condition for the presence of men if the air therein, as determined by approved methane detectors, chemical analysis, or a safety lamp, contains on a moisture-free basis any carbon monoxide or more than 2 per cent of methane at the working place or 0.75 per cent in the general body of the air or less than 19.5 per cent of oxygen. Upon finding the air in unfit condition in any working place, entry, or passageway, or receiving notification of such finding, the lessee shall immediately withdraw the workmen from the area until the quality of the air therein has been improved sufficiently to meet the foregoing requirements.

SEC. 61. (a) If, in a mine declared to be gassy, a gas cap has not been detected during a period of 6 months and 2 per cent of methane has not been found with a methane detector and flammable gas in excess of 0.10 per cent has not been detected in any return airway, the district mining supervisor, at the written request of the lessee, may make a series of tests and, if he finds the mine to be not "gassy" as hereinbefore defined and no more hazardous than the nongassy mines in the region, he may rate the mine as nongassy and so notify the lessee.

(b) From the time any mine is first declared to be gassy until declared by the district mining supervisor to be nongassy according to these regulations, unless it is rated nongassy by the State mine-inspection department, the lessee shall not permit any portable lights to be used in the mine except "permissible" safety lamps, either flame or electric, approved by the United States Bureau of Mines.

SEC. 62. (a) If at any time in any place in a mine a gas cap is detected on a flame safety lamp, or 2 per cent or more of gas is detected by other means, the electric current shall be cut off from that place and shall not be switched on again until the place has been examined and found safe or has been cleared of gas. Telephones, signal wires, and open motors are potential sources of igniting flammable gases.

(b) The moving of bodies of flammable or noxious gases during the working period is prohibited, and on the return of a body of gas all men shall be withdrawn until the place has been cleared by approved methods of ventilation.

SEC. 63. If a mine has been determined to be gassy, the lessee shall not permit men to enter carrying open lamps, open lights, matches, smoking material, tobacco, cigarettes, or cigars, and permissible safety lamps shall be furnished by the lessee.

SEC. 64. If the extraction of any part of the coal on a lease requires main slopes, levels, or entryways for ventilation and escapeways more than 4,000 feet in length beyond the nearest air shaft or place of egress, the entries and airways extending to such section or area shall be not less than four in number: Provided, That where only two passageways are driven outby the 4,000-foot section or area, a pillar shall be left of sufficient width to permit the driving of the two additional passageways. Separated pairs of parallel entries entering such area, properly maintained, will fulfill the foregoing requirements; and if coal on leased land is to be mined from a mine already existing either on public domain or on private land and in the opinion of the district mining supervisor the ventilation passageways and escapeways are adequate, said requirements may be waived.

SEC. 65. (a) Crosscuts or break-throughs between main haulage entries, which are no longer needed for ventilation, shall be closed with stoppings made of incombustible material and sealed as air-tight as possible

(b) Overcasts and undercasts shall be of fireproof construction, preferably of the same cross-sectional area as that of the entry, with a maximum area requirement of 100 square feet.

(c) No doors shall be permitted on main haulage roads where it is practicable to eliminate them. Where doors are necessary on main haulage roads, they shall be self-closing and placed in pairs with an air lock of sufficient length between them so that two doors are never open at the same time. All permanent doors set between the main intake and return airways shall be self-closing and substantially built.

(d) Line brattices shall be used to conduct the ventilating current from the last crosscut in sufficient quantity to sweep the face and remove the gas from working faces. Brattice cloth may be employed for temporary closing of openings until a more satisfactory stopping can be placed.

APPROACHING ABANDONED WORKINGS AND SEALING ABANDONED AREAS

SEC. 66. In any working place within 100 feet of supposedly dangerous proximity to an abandoned mine or an abandoned section of a mine not known to be free of dangerous quantities of flammable or noxious gases or water, at least two drill holes shall be maintained not less than 20 feet in advance of the face. Such working place shall not be more than 10 feet wide. On each side thereof drill holes not more than 8 feet apart shall be drilled to a depth of 20 feet at an angle of 45° with the line of the place. In addition to said drill holes, brattice shall be carried within 12 feet of the face at all times. Gas from an abandoned mine or any abandoned part of a mine may be tapped only when all employees not engaged at such work are out of the mine, and such tapping shall be done under the immediate instructions and directions of the mine foreman by workmen equipped with permissible safety lamps.

SEC. 67. All worked out areas or areas abandoned permanently or temporarily that can not be so ventilated as to prevent the accumulation of explosive and noxious gases or that can not be inspected daily by duly authorized mine officials, and all unused openings into adjacent mines shall be sealed off by fireproof stoppings constructed of strong concrete or masonry of solid, substantial character built to withstand a pressure of 50 pounds to the square inch on each side. If well constructed with good clean sand and gravel and hitched into the floor and side walls, the thickness should be not less than 1 inch for each foot of maximum span; a minimum thickness of 12 inches is required. When workings are sealed, a pipe with locked valve shall be so placed as to extend through the stopping, for the purpose of testing the gases behind the stopping, such tests to be made only by the foremen or mine examiners.

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT, ITS INSTALLATION AND MAINTENANCE

SEC. 68. (a) Where the difference of potential between any two points of an electrical circuit does not exceed 300 volts, the current shall be deemed low voltage.

(b) Where said difference of potential exceeds 300 volts and does not exceed 500 volts, the current shall be deemed medium voltage.

(c) Where said difference of potential exceeds 500 volts, the current shall be deemed high voltage.

SEC. 69. (a) High-voltage current may be used underground only for the transmission to and the operation of transformers, stationary motors, or other apparatus in which the whole of the high-voltage winding is stationary.

(b) All high-voltage power lines installed underground shall be in the form of approved insulated, lead-covered cables, armored or otherwise effectively protected against abrasion, the armor to be electrically continuous throughout and effectively grounded. Such armored cable may be placed underground or supported on the rib along the roof. High-voltage power lines shall not be installed in the main haulage roads.

SEC. 70. Only low-voltage current shall be used on locomotives, portable pumps, coal-cutting machinery, and other portable electrical machinery in or about working places that are near the face of the mine and on roadways traveled by men.

SEC. 71. (a) All underground electrical power cables and wires shall be supported by efficient insulators unless provided with grounded metallic covering or as specified in section 69 (b). Overhead cables or wires on the traveling side of entries or that men pass under, if less than 6½ feet above the rail or 7 feet above the floor where there are no tracks, shall have troughs or sideboard guards, or shall be placed in channels in the roof. Guards, if used, shall extend 2 inches below the sag between the supports and be so arranged that a man's head or cap will not come into contact with the cable or wire. Power wires along the rib in traveling ways shall be fenced or otherwise protected.

(b) All trolley wires shall be placed at least 6 inches outside of the rail of the track and, wherever possible, on the opposite side of the passageway from that used by men for traveling on foot and on the side opposite the room necks; and the trolley wire shall be protected by troughs or sideboard guards as specified above, if less than 6½ feet above the rail and on the same side of the entry or passageway used for travel or where men pass under it. Motor roads on which men do not walk but travel in cars are not considered traveling ways within the meaning of this section.

(c) When insulation is removed from wires to make connections, the wires must be reinsulated as soon as the connection is completed.

SEC. 72. Tracks used as electrical conductors shall be effectively bonded at all rail joints, cross-bonded at intervals of not less than 300 feet, and effectively cross-bonded at all switches.

SEC. 73. (a) All underground electric stations shall be fireproofed, and at least one fire extinguisher of a kind approved by the district mining supervisor shall be kept at each station for use in the event of a fire in the electric apparatus. The transformer stations shall be so constructed that oil can not escape therefrom and so equipped that the openings will automatically close in the event of fire.

(b) Insulated platforms or mats shall be placed in front of switches, motor starters, and all metallic frames, casings, and coverings of stationary equipment. The metallic frames or casings or coverings of all stationary electrical equipment and power lines shall be effectively grounded.

(c) Where high voltage is used, fixed warning signs shall be conspicuously posted, and the color of the insulation used on high-voltage wires in electrical stations at transformers and switches shall be different from that used on the medium- or low-voltage wires. Yellow is suggested.

SEC. 74. (a) No electric drills and pumps; or electric undercutting, shearing, and loading machines; or other electric machines; or electric switches and connections shall be used in a gassy mine or a gassy section of a mine unless approved by the United States Bureau of Mines as permissible.

(b) Where permissible electric cutting machines and drills are used in a gassy mine, the lessee shall require a fire boss or mine examiner to make tests for flammable gas within half an hour preceding their use and every half hour during their use.

SEC. 75. In gassy mines electric-lighting circuits may be used only at the foot of the intake shafts and in the intaking main roads in which the air current contains not more than one-quarter of 1 per cent of flammable gas.

SEC. 76. (a) In every mine in which electric cutting machines or other portable electric machines are used, the portable cables shall be connected to the power line by plug and plug receptacles or interlocking safety switches accessible to the working places where the machines are used, and within 500 feet of the point of each installation of a pump or auxiliary fan.

(b) Cut-out switches in the trolley lines and lighting circuits shall be placed at the mouth of each branch entry and elsewhere at distances not exceeding 2,000 feet.

(c) Electric current shall be cut off by means of cutout switches from sections of the mine where men are not working and wires permanently disused shall be disconnected from the source of current.

INTERNAL-COMBUSTION ENGINES

SEC. 77. Nonpermissible internal-combustion locomotives, engines, pumps, hoists, and other such machines shall not be used in a mine on leased lands without the written consent of and under conditions imposed in writing by the district mining supervisor. No gasoline or internal combustion engine shall be used in a mine not continuously ventilated by a fan; nor shall such equipment, unless approved as permissible, be used where the ventilating current passes over the engine into any working place. Gasoline or other highly flammable fuel used in such equipment when taken into a mine must be in tight containers to replace the empty containers of the respective engine, and in no event shall such flammable liquid be poured from one container into another in a mine.

HAULAGEWAYS

SEC. 78. Every mine locomotive shall be provided with an efficient headlight and a gong or bell, and the front end of every trip of cars in transit shall be provided with a light of no less intensity than that of lights used by miners. A red light shall be displayed on the rear end of every trip in transit except on the rope end of a trip while being lowered on a slope.

SEC. 79. In any mine which is termed gassy or in which more than one-fourth of 1 per cent of flammable gas is found in the moving air current, nonpermissible locomotives may be used only in entries or passageways ventilated by intake air, and for hauling coal from the face to the back or parallel entry.

SEC. 80. (a) In any mine in which more than 10 men are employed underground on any shift, all haulageways used for the travel of men, unless a clearance of 4 feet or more exists on one side and is kept free from debris, shall be provided with shelter holes on the side of the roadway opposite the trolley and power lines, at intervals of not more than 100 feet. The shelter holes shall be at least 4 feet wide, 4 feet deep, and 6 feet high unless the entry, tunnel, or slope is of less height, and then they shall be on the same level and as high as the roadway, and they shall be kept whitewashed and free from debris. Crosscuts and room necks may be used as shelter holes if on the side used for traveling.

(b) On haulage roads other than slopes, not used as traveling ways, shelter holes will not be required if the clearance between the mine and the rib of the entry is at least 3 feet.

SEC. 81. (a) Where men are hauled on slopes and inclines, safety catches or a special man car providing equivalent safety shall be installed if practicable; otherwise a safety hitching rope or chain of ample strength shall be employed, extending from the rear car to the main hoisting rope. All safety attachments shall be inspected before the trip is permitted to be operated.

(b) Derails or stopping blocks shall be placed in dip entries and rooms as a protection against runaway cars injuring men working at the face, and all cars must be safely blocked while being loaded or standing on a grade.

(c) Frogs, switch points, and guard rails shall be properly blocked and switch levers so installed as to prevent men from tripping over them.

STORAGE, TRANSPORTATION, DISTRIBUTION, AND USE OF EXPLOSIVES

SEC. 82. (a) All storage magazines for explosives shall be constructed and maintained in accordance with the published specifications of the United States Bureau of Mines in effect at the time of issuance of the lease and shall be in charge of a competent person or persons designated by the lessee or his agent and kept securely locked except when an authorized person is on duty there.

(b) Magazines shall be situated at a distance from active or used mine openings, buildings, dwellings, and places where persons congregate, proportionate to the maximum quantity of explosives to be stored therein, as specified in the American table of distances, unless natural barriers justify modification of such distances and approval of such modification is given by the district mining supervisor.

(c) A suitable underground chamber with wood lining and flooring, so constructed and maintained that no nails are exposed, may, with the written approval of the mining supervisor, be used in place of a surface magazine if such underground chamber is adequately ventilated and has sufficient cover, surrounding pillars, and strong bulkheads to prevent a dislodgement should an explosion occur that would endanger life, the mine, or any building or dwelling. The surface entrance to such a magazine and the ventilating ducts shall be guarded by a fence, gates, and appropriate warning signs. Under no circumstances shall the magazine have any connection with any part of the mine in which men work. Where the entrance to the magazine is a drift or slope that points toward any active or used mine opening or toward any building or highway within the distance specified in the table of distances for the quantity of explosives stored, an earth barricade shall be erected opposite and as high as the entrance.

(d) All explosives except those for immediate use shall be kept in a magazine. Detonators and blasting caps shall not be stored with other explosives but kept in separate magazines.

(e) Thawing of explosives, when necessary, shall be done in a magazine at least 300 feet from the storage magazine, mine openings, or structures. No explosive of any kind shall be thawed, kept, or stored in dwellings or buildings other than magazines.

SEC. 83. If temporary storage of explosives in a mine is necessary, they shall be stored in a suitable magazine made in the solid coal or rock, at least 100 feet from any shaft or main slope. The magazine shall be provided with a strong door kept securely locked except when entered by authorized persons. Not more than 200 pounds of explosives shall be placed in any such magazine, and before each supply of explosives is placed in the magazine, the magazine shall be cleaned. No more than a 24 hours' supply of explosives, including any surplus remaining from the previous day, shall be stored underground.

SEC. 84. In mines where the miners charge their own blasting holes, not more than one day's supply of explosives may be in possession of any miner, or of two or more miners working in the same place.

SEC. 85. (a) The lessee shall require the miner, or miners working in the same working place, to keep explosives in portable, tight wooden boxes, each box having a lid that laps over the sides and is strongly hinged or has battens that engage under a strip securely fastened at the back edge of the box. Battens shall be placed over all cracks in the boxes to protect the explosives from sparks, flame, and water. Fuse and cartridge paper may be stored with the explosives, but not detonators or blasting caps, tools, pieces of metal, matches, or oily material.

(b) The powder box shall be placed in a crosscut or recess at a sufficient distance from the working face to prevent its being struck by flying pieces of coal or rock or being ignited by blown-out shots or electric cables.

SEC. 86. (a) A proper hard-leather or fiber container shall be furnished to shot firers and cap distributors, or to miners who carry blasting caps or detonators. The caps and detonators shall be taken into the mine in a separate container not used for other explosives.

(b) Where miners are permitted to charge their drill holes, the caps or detonators shall be kept in moisture-proof receptacles and placed in a hole in the rib or in a box at least 10 feet from any point at which other explosives are kept and where no danger exists of their being struck by flying missiles from blasting or from a fall of roof.

SEC. 87. Explosives shall be issued to miners only by authorized persons, and, if they are distributed underground, distribution shall be made as soon as they are taken into the mine. No smoking shall be permitted in the vicinity of explosives either in storage or in transportation.

SEC. 88. Where electricity is used as a source of power and the power circuit is not completely cut off, explosives shall be transported into a mine only in a closed powder car or box constructed of electrically nonconducting material, with no bolts or nails exposed on the inside; and no person other than explosives distributors and men necessary to operate the trip shall ride on a trip carrying explosives in bulk.

SEC. 89. (a) Only permissible explosives shall be used in a mine that is termed gassy under these regulations and due regard shall be given to the requirements for permissibility.

(b) In gassy mines a shot shall be fired only after tests with a permissible safety lamp or an equivalent permissible detector have determined the absence of a gas cap or the presence of less than 1 per cent of flammable gas at or near the working place and an inspection has shown that no dry flammable coal dust has accumulated at or near the place of blasting.

SEC. 90. Black powder or other nonpermissible explosives may be used for blasting in a nongassy mine, providing all shots are fired by a shot firer after all men except the shot firers are out of the mine or when this requirement is modified in writing by the district mining supervisor.

SEC. 91. The depth of holes drilled for blasting coal shall not exceed the thickness of the coal bed, or, if the coal is undercut or sheared, the depth of the hole shall be at least 6 inches less than the depth of the undercutting or shear.

SEC. 92. All shots that are charged with an explosive shall be stemmed with noncombustible material and tamped with a copper tip or wooden bar, and such tamped material to extend to the outer end of the hole.

SEC. 93. (a) If black powder or other bulk explosives are used, the necessary charge or charges shall be made up at or near the box where the explosives are kept.

(b) No open light shall be permitted within 5 feet of any powder box while explosives are being obtained therefrom or during the process of filling or preparing the charge or cartridges.

PREVENTION OF COAL-DUST EXPLOSIONS

SEC. 94. To lessen the danger of coal-dust explosions in a mine that has been determined by the district mining supervisor to produce dust of an explosive character, unless the floor, roof, and sides of the roads are naturally wet, the mine shall be rock-dusted or the dust kept wet, as follows:

(a) If the screening and loading of coal on the surface produces much dust and there is a downcast shaft within 100 feet of the screens and loading chutes, the top of the downcast shaft shall be surrounded by iron sheeting or other noncombustible material for a height up to the level of the upper landing.

(b) Mine cars shall be constructed and maintained as compactly as possible and loaded in a way to prevent coal or coal dust from escaping from them while in transit. Tight-end cars and rotary dumps shall be used where practicable; otherwise, tight-fitting doors or gates shall be employed.

(c) Water shall be used on the cutter bar of mining machines and the cuttings wet down before shooting and the coal before loading when required by the district mining supervisor.

(d) Systematic and regular application of water, rock, or shale dust shall be made in all parts of the mine to render and maintain the coal dust in a nonflammable condition. If water is used, the dust must be made wet or washed from the timbers and ribs, and the floor dust made sufficiently wet to be molded in the hand. If the rock-dusting method is used, wet or dry, the dust and loose coal shall be systematically cleaned from the ribs, timber, and floor, and sufficient rock, shale, or other dust shall be distributed systematically along the entries, slopes, tunnels, and escapeways so that the mixture will not be explosive when brought up in suspension in the air; to this end the ash content of the mixture shall be determined by the lessee from time to time by sampling and analysis; the ash content plus the moisture shall not be less than 75 per cent, and the rock dusting must be renewed in any portion of the mine where a deficiency is indicated.

(e) All rock or shale dust for general application and for rock-dust barriers shall pass through a 20-mesh screen, and not less than 50 per cent of it through a 200-mesh screen. It shall contain a minimum of free silica and combustible matter.

(f) Before the track is removed from the air courses, abandoned rooms, and other places, all slack and coal dust must be cleaned up and loaded out. This does not apply to rock and bone gobbed in rooms and other places that have been adequately rock-dusted.

FIRE PROTECTION

SEC. 95. (a) The lessee shall not light, keep, maintain, or permit any open fire or unattended open light or stove fire in any strip pit or along the outcrop of any coal bed or in any mine or near mine openings.

(b) Failure to take prompt and vigorous steps for the removal of a fire hazard or the extinguishment of any fire in the coal bed or outcrop shall be sufficient ground for the entry of the lessor to remedy said condition at the lessee's expense.

SEC. 96. (a) Hay, straw, or similar highly flammable material shall be taken into a mine only in compressed bales and in a closed car or covered with tarpaulin and shall not be handled in the presence of open lights.

(b) Hay sent into a mine shall be promptly delivered to the stable and stored in a locked compartment with fireproof lining and door. The amount of hay stored underground at any time shall not exceed the amount normally consumed in 48 hours, except that a sufficient supply may be stored to last over public holidays that occur successively.

(c) All underground stables shall be independently ventilated, and the air from such stables shall be conducted to the return airway and not carried into other parts of the mine. No open light shall be permitted in any stable in any mine.

SEC. 97. (a) Oil stored underground shall be kept in a recess or chamber which contains no exposed flammable material, such as timber or coal, and which has a cement floor; such chamber shall be provided with a self-closing iron or steel door set in an iron, concrete, or masonry wall, and shall not be situated within 100 feet of any shaft.

(b) Buckets or drip pans shall be used for catching the drip or leakage from oil barrels or tanks. A supply of sand for use if a fire should occur shall be kept in a suitable container placed outside of but near the chamber in which the oil is stored.

SEC. 98. Where more than 5 men are employed underground on any shift, a supply of water shall be available on the surface for fighting fires in and about the mine. If this supply of water is not furnished through pipes, hydrants, and hose, it shall be kept in barrels of about 50-gallon capacity, painted red, with covers, and a 2-gallon bucket or can, painted red and marked "Do not use except for fighting fire," shall be hung or placed immediately adjacent to each barrel. These barrels shall be maintained full of water. If pipe lines and hose have not been installed in a mine, barrels shall be placed near the bottom of each shaft or slope and at principal junction points not exceeding 1,000 feet apart on a main haulage road. Provision shall be made to keep the water in barrels or pipe lines from freezing. Chemical fire extinguishers having a capacity of not less than 2 gallons may be substituted for water in barrels.

SEC. 99. (a) Where more than 50 men are employed underground on any shift and a sufficient water supply is obtainable within 1 mile of a mine shaft or slope, the district mining supervisor may require, if the conditions at the mine in his judgment make it advisable, the installation of a pumping system, tank or reservoir, pipe lines, fire hydrants and hose, and a pipe line into the mine, not less than 2 inches in diameter and extending at least 500 feet on each side of the main hoisting shaft or slope to the first working levels, with suitable attachments for hose not more than 100 feet apart and with at least three 50-foot lengths of 1½-inch hose with standard pipe-thread connections and nozzles at appropriate points for immediate use. Such pipe lines shall be so located and installed that the water will not freeze. Pressure-reducing valves or their equivalent shall be so placed that the pressure will not exceed 50 pounds to the square inch at the hydrant or point of attachment of the hose.

(b) In any mine where such water lines and hose are installed and maintained, barrels filled with water as specified under section 98 will not be required within the areas reached by such pipe lines, provided an adequate supply of water to which the water pipes are connected exists for emergency fire fighting. Pipe lines of a water-sprinkling or drainage system connected with a sump containing more than 5,000 gallons of water will fulfill the requirements of water supply and pipe lines underground if provided with taps, valves, and hose. A flow of 250 gallons a minute should be provided.

CHECK NUMBERS FOR EMPLOYEES

SEC. 100. (a) The lessee shall install a system of checking employees in and out of a mine whereby each employee may be identified, and shall keep a record of the local residence and working place in the mine of each underground employee.

(b) Where coal is being mined from Government leased land and from other land and hauled through the same mine opening or dumped on the same tipple, a separate list of serial numbers shall be assigned to men or machines loading Government coal.

SAFETY GUARDS, TIMBER, AND SUPPLIES

SEC. 101. All dangerous parts of machinery used in and about a mine, such as flywheels, gears, belts, and exposed moving parts that are likely to cause injury, shall be appropriately guarded to prevent injury to attendants or other persons. Stairs, platforms, and dangerous walks in or about a mine or stripping operation shall be provided with rails, fences, and gates, as may be appropriate, and safe traveling ways shall be maintained from the mine to the camp, town, or highway.

SEC. 102. The lessee shall substantially fill in, protect, or close all surface openings, subsidence holes, or workings situated where persons or animals are likely to be injured or be endangered by accumulation of gas, shall maintain all such protective means or coverings in a secure condition during the term of the lease, and before termination of a lease shall close all such openings in a permanent manner.

SEC. 103. The lessee shall at all times provide timber at or near the places where needed, and shall provide other material and supplies for the proper and safe conduct of the operation of the mine.

FIRST-AID EQUIPMENT AND SAFETY TRAINING

SEC. 104. At every working mine or strip pit a standard first-aid box and its equipment, or the equivalent, shall be provided and maintained in good condition for emergency use, within 1,000 feet of any group of 5 or more employees, and where more than 25 men are employed the lessee shall provide for emergency first-aid treatment of injured persons, near the main exit of the mine or stripping operation, a first-aid room or receiving station heated during cold weather and equipped with a standard first-aid box or cabinet or the equivalent, at least two stretchers or hospital cots, four pairs of clean blankets in waterproof bags, a fresh supply of pure drinking water, a basin, and suitable toilet facilities, all kept in a sanitary condition.

SEC. 105. The lessee shall also provide for every separate mine in which more than 50 men are employed underground on any shift a refuge and first-aid chamber underground, either near the foot of one of the shafts, if any, or at whatever point injured persons would most likely be taken prior to being hoisted or transported to the surface. In a mine on a dipping bed with one or more landings, the chamber shall be on the landing that serves the largest group of men. In a drift mine it shall be at a suitable point, such as the junction of the principal branch haulageways.

SEC. 106. (a) At every mine or strip pit the lessee shall require his mine officials to be trained in first-aid methods and shall provide facilities and encourage the training of any or all employees in first-aid methods.

(b) Where more than 25 men are employed in a mine or strip pit, a safety committee composed of representatives of the lessee and of the employees shall be organized for the purpose of holding periodical meetings to discuss and make recommendations relating to safety in the operation of the mine or strip pit.

MINE RESCUE APPARATUS

SEC. 107. (a) Where more than 50 persons are employed underground on any shift, the lessee shall keep and maintain at the mine, in order and ready for use, in an adequate room provided for the purpose, five sets of oxygen or self-contained breathing apparatus of a kind approved by the United States Bureau of Mines, with an ample supply of appropriate absorption material and oxygen for at least 10 hours' service of the apparatus, together with a charging pump and repair supplies.

(b) Where the number of persons employed underground on any shift exceeds 100, five additional sets of breathing apparatus with the corresponding additional supplies and ten sets of universal gas masks of a kind approved by the United States Bureau of Mines for use in mines shall be kept, maintained, and periodically tested for serviceability.

SEC. 108. (a) The breathing apparatus specified above will not be required if the lessee cooperates with a neighboring mine or industrial works in the establishment of a joint rescue station which shall be within 1 hour's journey by rail or vehicle from the mine on the leased land: Provided, That said joint station is connected with the mine by telephone line and has an equipment of ten sets of approved breathing apparatus and adequate supplies for use in emergency, and that said joint station shall have constantly available means of transportation to reach the mine within 1 hour's time of the call.

(b) The district mining supervisor may authorize the substitution of an adequate supply of universal gas masks for the approved breathing apparatus when, in his judgment, such substitution is warranted.

SEC. 109. The lessee shall arrange for the training of employees in the use of mine rescue breathing apparatus and universal gas masks to the end that there shall be at least two teams of 5 men each, who may be mine officials, for the first 50 men employed underground on any shift and an additional team of 5 men for each additional 100 men or less employed. Each team shall be selected from men who have been certified by the Bureau of Mines as competent in first-aid and rescue work, and shall be trained in wearing apparatus in a smoke or gas chamber for a total of at least 2 hours in every two months.

HEALTH, SANITATION, AND WELFARE

SEC. 110. The lessee shall provide a substantial change house or room convenient to the mine exit or strip pit which shall be heated in winter and provided with lavatory and sanitary bathing arrangements such as showers or tubs, an ample supply of hot and cold water of proper quality, proper drains and means for sewage disposal, and sanitary lockers or hangers: Provided, That at mines where an ample supply of water can not be obtained at reasonable expense, tubs for bathing will suffice if each employee is furnished at least 5 gallons of water per shift worked, until such time as sufficient water can be obtained at a reasonable expenditure.

SEC. 111. (a) Dwellings built on the leased land shall be properly situated with reference to sanitary conditions, and an adequate supply of pure water shall be provided in proximity to each dwelling.

(b) Facilities shall be provided for the regular collection and sanitary disposal of garbage and trash. A separate toilet or privy shall be installed for each dwelling, and at least two shall be installed in the vicinity of the mine entrance.

(c) Unlined pits for privies may be constructed or used only where and when no danger of contaminating the water supply in the vicinity exists. Where privies unconnected with a sewerage system are used, openings must be screened from flies.

SEC. 112. The lessee shall provide ambulance service which shall be promptly available on notice in the event of serious injury to any employee.

SEC. 113. All contagious diseases in or about the leased land and all cases of occupational diseases known to the lessee which result from or are aggravated by the particular work shall be reported to the district mining supervisor. When any occupational, contagious, or infectious disease has been determined to be present among the employees in such a degree as is decided by the surgeons of the State or Public Health Service to be an occupational hazard, the lessee shall furnish necessary medical service and equipment for regular physical examination and treatment when needed of all employees: Provided, however, That the surgeons of the State or Public Health Service may require such additional examinations as they deem necessary to control or stamp out the disease or diseases.

SEC. 114. The administration of these regulations shall be under the direction of the Geological Survey, Department of the Interior.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

AMENDMENT TO DETERMINATION OF FAIR AND REASONABLE PRICES FOR THE 1937 CROP OF LOUISIANA SUGARCANE

Whereas pursuant to Section 301 (d) of the Sugar Act of 1937, the Secretary of Agriculture on October 19, 1937, issued a determination with respect to fair and reasonable prices to be paid for the 1937 crop of sugar cane in Louisiana by processors who as growers apply for payments under the said act; and

Whereas the 1937 crop of sugar cane in Louisiana has been subjected to a freeze resulting in excessive acidity in the sugar cane; and

Whereas the aforesaid determination contained no provision for deductions in payments to growers for frozen sugar cane, the acidity of which impairs the efficient operations of sugar factories; and

Whereas Section 10 of the 1937 Louisiana Sugar Cane Purchase Contract provides:

"When 10 cc. of the normal juice of frozen sugarcane are titrated against a N/10 solution of NaOH, using phenolphthalein as an indicator, and it requires over 2.25 cc. of N/10 NaOH to neutralize the acidity in the normal juice, a deduction will be made in settlement, based upon decreased boiling house efficiency."

Now, therefore, I, M. L. Wilson, Acting Secretary of Agriculture, do hereby determine that the aforesaid determination be amended by changing paragraph (c), page 2, to (d) and adding a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

"That deductions may be made for frozen sugarcane ground on or after December 12, 1937, at a rate not in excess of 3.775 per centum of the payment, computed as aforesaid, for each .25 cc. of acidity above 2.25 cc. (intervening fractions computed to the nearest multiple of .05 cc.), as set forth in Section 10 of the 1937 Louisiana Sugar Cane Purchase Contract."

Done at Washington, D. C., this 23rd day of February, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

DETERMINATION OF FAIR AND REASONABLE WAGES FOR PERSONS EMPLOYED IN THE PRODUCTION, CULTIVATION OR HARVESTING OF SUGARCANE IN PUERTO RICO DURING THE CALENDAR YEAR 1938

Whereas Section 301 (b) of the Sugar Act of 1937 provides, as one of the conditions for payment to producers of sugar beets and sugarcane, as follows:

(b) That all persons employed on the farm in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugar beets or sugarcane with respect to which an application for payment is made shall have been paid in full for all such work, and shall have been paid wages therefor at rates not less than those that may be determined by the Secretary to be fair and reasonable after investigation and due notice and opportunity for public hearing; and in making such determinations the Secretary shall take into consideration the standards therefor formerly established by him under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, and the differences in conditions among various producing areas: Provided, however, That a payment which would be payable except for the foregoing provisions of this subsection may be made, as the Secretary may determine, in such manner that the laborer will receive an amount, insofar as such payment will suffice, equal to the amount of the accrued unpaid wages for such work, and that the producer will receive the remainder, if any, of such payment.

and

Whereas section 301 (e) of the said act provides, in part, as follows:

The conditions provided in * * * subsection (b) with respect to wage rates, of this section shall not apply to work performed prior to the enactment of this Act; * * *,

and

Whereas the Secretary of Agriculture, on November 30, 1937, held a public hearing in San Juan, Puerto Rico, for the purpose of receiving evidence likely to be of assistance to him in determining fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane in Puerto Rico during 1938:

Now, therefore, I, M. L. Wilson, Acting Secretary of Agriculture, after investigation and due consideration of the evidence obtained at the aforesaid hearing and all other information before me, do hereby determine that the requirements of Subsection (b) of Section 301 of the Sugar Act of 1937 shall be deemed to have been met with respect to any farm in Puerto Rico if all persons employed on the farm in the production, cultivation, and harvesting of sugarcane during the calendar year 1938, shall have been paid in full for all such work and shall have been paid wages in cash therefor at rates not less than the following; Provided, That laborers shall have been supplied, without charge, with perquisites (such as, a dwelling, garden plot, pasture lot, and medical services) so provided for laborers on the farm in 1937:

(a) In the event payment is made for labor on a time basis:

(1) For the first 8 hours of work performed in any 24-hour period, by a person of either sex: for handling carts in operations other than harvesting, $1.10; cutting cane, operating winches, and making ditches, $1.21; loading cane cars, $1.32; handling carts in harvesting operations, $1.38; loading vehicles other than cane cars, $1.45; repairing or operating tractors, $1.70; and for all other kinds of work, not less than $1.00.

(2) For less than 8 hours of work performed in any 24-hour period, rates at not less than the hourly equivalents of the foregoing rates or the rates agreed upon, whichever are higher.

(3) For work performed in excess of 8 hours in any 24-hour period, an additional payment for such overtime at rates of not less than double the hourly equivalents of the foregoing rates agreed upon, whichever are higher.

(b) In the event payment is made for labor on a piece rate basis:

(1) For all work performed under piece rate agreements, piece rates of not less than 110 percent of the piece rates established for similar work performed on the farm in 1937; and

(2) For all work performed under piece rate agreements, a minimum payment for all such work performed in any 24-hour period of not less than the hourly equivalents of the rates provided in (a) above.

Nothing in this determination shall be construed to mean that a producer may qualify for a payment under the said act who has not paid in full the amount agreed upon between the producer and the laborer.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 23rd day of February, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

REVISION OF REGULATIONS

MEDICAL AND DOMICILIARY CARE

R-6048. Definitions applicable in determining eligibility for hospital or domiciliary care.—(1) Under subparagraphs (C) and (D) of R. & P. R-6047:

(B) "Such other conditions requiring emergency or extensive hospital treatment," will comprehend the following: (1) Emergent hospital treatment will be provided for conditions endangering the life or health of the applicant and requiring immediate treatment. The provisions of R. & P. 6039, will be a general guide in individual determinations of this kind. (2) Extensive hospital treatment will be provided for acute, subacute or chronic diseases or surgical conditions which may be improved or cured by operation or other therapy, when such diseases or conditions require extended hospital treatment. Admissions will not be authorized for treatment of conditions usually and sufficiently treatable on an out-patient status; minor eye, ear, nose and throat conditions, such as tonsillitis, deviated nasal septum, etc.; nor for dental relief except when the readmission is for supplying of dentures to beneficiaries eligible under R. & P. 6165. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R-6050. Utilization of facilities other than those under direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration.—For the purposes of Veterans' Regulation No. 10 (b), paragraph XIX, defining "Veterans' Administration facilities," the following provisions will govern in authorizing admissions to facilities other than those under the direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration:

(A) Hospitalization will not be authorized in Government facilities other than those over which the Veterans' Administration has direct and exclusive jurisdiction until agreement covering such service has been approved. Such agreements which will be only to cover admissions of beneficiaries with service-connected diseases or injuries (except where the Administrator authorizes additional Government facilities to be used for non-service-connected cases, in which event specific authorization will be granted to the manager of the office of facility concerned to utilize a particular Government hospital and except for beneficiaries in the territories and insular possessions), will not be entered into until careful consideration has been given to the best interests of both the Government and beneficiaries.

(B) Private facilities will not be used for hospitalization of beneficiaries except where facilities under direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration or other Government facilities are not feasibly available, or when the physical or mental condition of beneficiaries will not allow of their transfer from a private institution to a Government facility. Except for treatment of a medical emergency arising from a service-connected disorder, hospitalization of a male beneficiary will not be authorized in any private, municipal or State institution not under contract. In such medically emergent cases the authority for admission to an institution not under contract will be authority for the payment of vouchers covering the cost of such hospitalization, subject to the following conditions:

(1) The chief medical officer or his designate of the office or facility having jurisdiction of the territory of the said non-contract hospital,—if informed of the medical emergency in time to authorize the admission, or if requested to issue an authority to cover such admission after the patient has entered the hospital—will at once put the superintendent thereof on notice as follows: That all services or supplies furnished the beneficiary must be charged at and may be paid for only at rates in accordance with the schedule of fees for medical treatment, Veterans' Administration; that for any services or supplies over and above the ordinary items usually provided at a flat per diem rate by hospitals under contract with the Veterans' Administration, the said superintendent is required to obtain a prior authorization; but that in an emergency so acute that procurement of such prior authorization would cause delay that would jeopardize the life of the patient, the special services or supplies necessary may be furnished without procurement of the prior authorization therefor; provided that the chief medical officer or his designate shall have been advised in writing, within 48 hours if possible, of the rendition of the emergency services or supplies, regarding their nature, extent and cost, together with a full explanation of the attendant circumstances, and with the understanding that whether a true medical emergency existed is for determination of the Veterans' Administration.

(C) In the territories and insular possessions, preference will be given to Government hospitals, and contracts will be made with private or insular hospitals only when service is not available through a Federal Government facility. Except as provided in subparagraph (H) hereof, hospitalization in the territories and insular possessions will not be authorized until agreements or contracts therefor have been approved. In no case will private facilities be used for other than war veterans.

(D) The general principles to be observed in utilization of facilities other than those over which the Veterans' Administration has direct and exclusive jurisdiction will be as follows: Other Government facilities under agreements or private facilities under contract will be used for the hospitalization of beneficiaries requiring hospital treatment for service-connected conditions in accordance with the foregoing instructions, only when facilities under direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration are not feasibly available, or when the urgency of the applicant's medical condition, the relative distance of the travel involved, or the nature of the treatment required in the individual case, make it necessary or economically advisable to utilize such other institutions instead of a facility under direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration. Other Government facilities under agreement will be used for hospitalization of beneficiaries requiring treatment for non-service-connected diseases or injuries only by those offices or facilities to which the Administrator has given specific authority, and then only under the limitations defined in such authorization.

Except where prior approval of the medical director is required under the provisions of this paragraph, admissions to other Government, private, State or municipal hospitals may be authorized by chief medical officers or their designates in regional offices and facilities with regional offices, and by managers of insular offices.

(E) Women war veterans, needing treatment, in a medical emergency, for a condition either service-connected or not service-connected, may be authorized admission to a private hospital not under contract, if a Government or private contract facility is not feasibly available, without procurement of prior approval of the medical director. In these medically emergent cases the authority for admission to a private hospital not under contract will also be authority for payment of vouchers covering necessary services or supplies furnished in accordance with the stipulations specified in subparagraph (B) (1) hereof.

(1) Admission of a woman war veteran to a private hospital not under contract, for treatment of a disease or injury not service-connected, when no medical emergency is existing, will not be authorized until prior approval of the medical director is secured.

(F) Managers of regional offices and facilities having regional offices, through chief medical officers or their designates, are empowered to authorize admission to private hospitals, under contract, of women war veterans suffering from non-service-connected diseases or injuries, as well as service-connected conditions, in a medical emergency or otherwise, without securing prior approval of the medical director; provided that a Government facility is not feasibly available; the condition of such beneficiary, if already so hospitalized, will not safely allow of her transfer to a Government facility; or the relative travel involved in admission to a Government facility, the medical condition existing, or the nature of the treatment required, make it advisable or economical to utilize the contract facility.

(G) Pregnancy and childbirth will not entitle to hospitalization, either in facilities under direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration, or in other Government, private, municipal or State hospitals.

(H) The prior approval of the medical director must be secured before hospitalizing beneficiaries in the insular possessions and territories, in private facilities not covered by contracts; except that where immediate hospitalization is indicated for treatment of a medically emergent service-connected condition in a war veteran, the manager concerned may authorize admission to a non-contract hospital, provided that no Government facility or contract private facility is feasibly available, and provided further that the stipulations specified in (B) (1) hereof be made for such admissions.

(I) The prior approval of the medical director must be secured for the use of private, State or municipal facilities covered by contracts, and located either within the continental limits of the United States or in the insular possessions or territories, for the hospitalization in such facilities of beneficiaries in excess of the number of beds contracted for, except where immediate hospitalization is indicated for treatment of a medically emergent service-connected disease or injury. The number of beds set apart by agreements with other Government facilities, for treatment of Veterans' Administration beneficiaries may be exceeded during any month as necessitated; provided that the utilization thereof be correspondingly reduced in other months, so that the average monthly use of such beds, at the end of the fiscal year, will not have exceeded the total allocation.

(J) An applicant whose entitlement to hospital treatment has been established, either for a condition service-connected or not connected with service, whose admission to a Government facility has been approved, who has been supplied transportation, but who, while en route to the designated facility, develops an unforeseen and unavoidable medical emergency requiring admission to a private hospital, will be entitled to reimbursement for necessary services and supplies furnished during the private hospitalization so occasioned, at rates in accordance with the schedule of fees for medical treatment, Veterans' Administration. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series; Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R-6051. Hospitalization in medical emergencies.—Prior authority must always be obtained for travel incident to hospital treatment or domiciliary care. Ordinarily such authority will be issued when a veteran is notified of approval of his application, and transportation, meal and lodging requests, as necessitated, are sent to him or his representative. But when an applicant's condition is medically emergent, authority for travel may be extended by telephone or telegraph, subject to the procedure detailed in R. & P. 6039. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

Out-Patient Medical Treatment

R-6060 (B). Adjunct out-patient treatment for a non-service-connected condition which is associated with a disease or injury incurred or aggravated in line of duty in active military or naval service, with the exception of dental cases falling under the provisions of R. & P. R-6129, (B) (2), will be rendered upon the approval of chief medical officers. The opinion of the medical director may be requested in any individual case where advice as to the propriety of furnishing adjunct treatment is desired. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 7 Series, Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

REVISION OF REGULATIONS

TRANSPORTATION AND TRAVELING EXPENSES OF CLAIMANTS AND BENEFICIARIES

R-6100. Officials empowered to authorize travel of claimants or beneficiaries.—Subject to the conditions and within the limitations hereinafter specified, the following field officials of the Veterans' Administration are empowered to authorize the following travel:

(A) Manager, chief medical officer, or their designate or designates (viz., chiefs of units—general medical, tuberculosis or neuropsychiatric; chief, out-patient service, or chief, reception service) in a regional office or facility with regional office activities: Necessary travel of claimants, beneficiaries and needed attendant or attendants within the regional territory, and outside the regional territory when authority exists therefor. The manager's authority as to travel of claimants or beneficiaries will usually be exercised through the chief medical officer or the latter's designate or designates.

(1) Round trip, for out-patient physical examinations and treatments rendered at the facility or regional office, or authorized to a designated or private physician or dentist, or to a Government hospital or dispensary other than one under the direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration.

(2) Round trip, when request for out-patient physical examination or treatment is referred from another office or facility.

(3) Round trip, for hospital observation with physical examination in the same facility.

(4) Travel one way—to another facility, for hospital observation with physical examination therein. Diagnostic centers to be utilized only upon prior authority of the medical director.

(5) Travel one way—return—upon completion and regular discharge from the facility of a claimant or beneficiary referred by another office or facility for hospital observation with physical examination.

(6) Round trip—in authorizing admissions, for treatment to a private, State or Government hospital, other than one under direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration.

(7) Round trip for hospital treatment in the same facility, but return transportation only upon completion of treatment and regular discharge. This includes beneficiaries whose entitlement to artificial dentures after extractions had been determined, but who had been discharged before the necessary dental work could be completed, and who are being readmitted solely for construction and fitting of dentures. One way travel—to the same facility, for domiciliary care. Return travel from domiciliary care only when authorized. (See R. & P. R-6102 (C)).

(8) Travel one way—to another facility under direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration, for hospital treatment, only under these conditions; when the applicant's condition constitutes a true medical emergency, and he is without funds to advance costs of proceeding to such other facility, subject to subsequent reimbursement if admitted. This travel to be charged against the budget of the regional office or facility issuing the travel authority.

(9) Round trip of salaried physicians or dentist to home of a beneficiary, to make an examination or render treatment (in service-connected conditions or conditions considered adjunct thereto), when the beneficiary's condition forbids travel to the regional office or facility, and it is considered inadvisable to employ a designated or private physician or dentist in the beneficiary's community.

(10) Round trip of a physician or other trained employee to measure, adjust or repair orthopedic and prosthetic appliances for a group of patients in a hospital or elsewhere, when an economy is effectuated by avoidance of travel of such group of patients to the same or other regional office or facility.

(11) Round trip of a beneficiary, inside or outside the regional territory to nearest manufacturer's agent, for fitting or repair of an orthopedic or prosthetic appliance, when the service cannot be rendered at the same or other regional office or facility.

(12) Travel one way—to another facility, in effecting authorized inter-facility transfer.

(13) Travel one way—from a private, State or other Government hospital to a facility under direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration—when a beneficiary who is to be so transferred has been hospitalized upon authority of the Veterans' Administration the transfer to the facility under the direct and exclusive jurisdiction of the Veterans' Administration will be made through the intermediation of the regional office of the territory in which the private, State, or other Government hospital is located, the transportation to be provided by the said regional office. This is a true inter-facility transfer. But, when the hospitalization of the beneficiary has not been upon authority of the Veterans' Administration (as when the patient has been hospitalized as a public charge or at the expense of relatives), then the application for hospital treatment or domiciliary care will be made by the patient or his representative to the manager of the nearest Veterans' Administration facility, who will determine eligibility, and if favorable, will supply transportation in accordance with the procedure now in effect for direct admissions. This is to be regarded as a direct admission, not an inter-facility transfer.

(14) Necessary travel to effect return of a psychotic patient eloped from the facility. (See subparagraph C hereof.)

(15) Where round trip travel is necessary for an attendant it may be supplied in cases where one-way travel is necessary and is authorized for a claimant or beneficiary.

(B) Managers of offices in the insular possessions and territories: Necessary travel to effect out-patient physical examinations and treatment, or hospitalization, with attendant or attendants, if necessary, for observation with physical examination or for hospital treatment, within the territory allocated to such offices.

(C) Manager, or his designate or designates (viz., chief medical officer, clinical director or chief, reception service) in a facility with no regional office: Necessary travel as follows, with attendant or attendants if needed.

(1) Round trip, for out-patient physical examinations and treatments rendered at the facility, including those requested by other facilities or offices.

(2) Travel one way—return—upon completion of hospital observation with physical examination, requested by another facility or office.

(3) Round trip for hospital treatment in the same facility, but return transportation to be used only upon completion of treatment and regular discharge. This includes beneficiaries readmitted for construction and fitting of artificial dentures as provided in (A) (7) hereof. One-way travel—to the same facility, for domiciliary care. Return travel from domiciliary care only when authorized. (See R. & P. R–6102 (C).)

(4) Travel one way, to a diagnostic center, utilized upon prior approval of the medical director.

(5) Travel one way, to another facility when effecting an authorized interfacility transfer.

(6) Round trip of salaried physician or dentist to home of a beneficiary, to make an examination or render treatment (in service connected conditions), when the beneficiary's condition forbids travel to the facility.

(7) Necessary travel to effect return of an eloped psychotic patient.

If such patient be apprehended at a point distant from the facility from which he eloped, the chief medical officer of the regional office, or the manager or chief medical officer of a facility of the territory in which the patient is being held (depending upon which such officer is advised of the apprehension) will radio or wire the facts to the medical director, who will consider the advisability of effecting rehospitalization near the point of the patient's detention, rather than returning him to the facility from which he eloped. If the former alternative is decided upon, the official above mentioned will secure the consent of the guardian of the patient, if any, or otherwise of the nearest relative, and, if the patient had been committed to the facility from which he eloped, will at once notify the chief attorney of the territory in which the committing court is located, so that he may in due course take any action that may be necessary with respect to the commitment. Upon receipt of notice that these preliminary steps have been taken, and a bed being available, the medical director will instruct the chief medical officer or manager of that facility nearest the point where the patient is being held, to authorize rehospitalization in such facility. This rehospitalization will be made without recommitment, unless commitment be imperative, upon execution of Form P–10. Subsequent transfer from such nearest facility to another suitable for treatment of a psychotic patient, when necessary, will be approved upon application therefor to the medical director. Rehospitalization being effected, the said chief medical officer or manager will so notify the manager of the facility from which the patient eloped, sending also a copy of the medical director's instructions. Upon receipt thereof, the said manager will record discharge of the patient, and will so notify the chief attorney who had jurisdiction.

(8) Where round trip travel is necessary for an attendant or attendants it may be supplied in cases where one-way travel only is necessary and is authorized for a claimant or beneficiary.

(D) Attendants to be kept to minimum.—See R. & P. R–6105.

(E) When one field station requests another to conduct a physical examination of, or render out-patient treatment to, a claimant or beneficiary residing in the territory of the station making the request, and it is necessary for the station conducting the examination or rendering the out-patient treatment to send a salaried physician to the claimant's or beneficiary's home, the manager of the station conducting the examination or rendering the out-patient treatment may issue necessary travel authority for that purpose, notwithstanding that extra-regional travel may be involved. (See R. & P. 4180.) (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 and V. R. 7 Series & Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R–6102. Transportation: Hospital or domiciliary care.—(D) Transportation at Government expense to accomplish readmission for hospitalization within six months after regular discharge upon completion of treatment for a former episode of hospital treatment, will not be supplied, except in medical emergencies, unless and until prior authority is obtained from the medical director.

(1) Exceptions to the foregoing general principle are authorized to be made by chief medical officers or their designates or clinical directors, upon their own initiative and without procuring prior approval of the medical director to issuance of transportation, in the following instances:

(a) Readmissions to a tumor clinic for reexamination and possible further irradiation (see R. & P. 6043 (D)).

(b) When an amputation has been performed and the stump is sufficiently healed to permit discharge of the patient, but shrinkage is required to allow the fitting of an artificial limb to which the patient is entitled, he will be discharged for readmission at a later date when the fitting can be proceeded with, even if within six months of the former discharge from hospital. This subsequent fitting after stump shrinkage may be made by readmission to the facility from which the patient had been discharged; or may be arranged with the manager of another facility, if the latter is closer to the beneficiary's place of residence.

(c) Readmissions for the furnishing of dentures for persons eligible under R. & P. 6165.

(2) Form P–10, Application for Domiciliary or Hospital Care, will be executed in all readmissions authorized under these exceptions. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R–6103. Transportation for out-patient medical and dental treatment and physical examination.—(A) Out-patient treatment.—Veterans of war-time service (including those receiving pension under paragraph III, Part I, Veterans Regulation No. 1 (a) or of peace-time service, suffering from service-connected diseases or injuries determined to need out-patient treatment; or suffering from associated non-service-connected conditions held to be aggravating disability due to a basic service-connected disease or injury and for which associated conditions adjunct treatment is authorized, will, when notified to report for out-patient treatment, including fitting of prosthetic appliances, be furnished transportation and necessary meal and lodging requests, except:

(1) Where the beneficiary resides in the town or city where the out-patient treatment is to be rendered, or in the vicinity thereof so that the said town or city may be considered his place of residence.

(2) Veterans comprehended under subparagraph (1) hereof may, however, be supplied station transportation (bus, etc.) or expenses of transportation by common carriers where the fare exceeds ten cents each way, when reporting for out-patient treatment, where such special authority has been granted certain stations by the Administrator, because of exceptional conditions. (February 23, 1938.)

(B) Out-patient physical examinations:

(5) When physical examination of a child of a veteran is necessitated upon allegation that the child is helpless or incapable of self-support because of mental or physical defect; or physical examination of a widow or dependent parent, entitled to compensation or pension, is required upon allegation of mental incompetency, the examination may be requested by the central office or field station concerned. Round trip transportation to and from a field station, with attendant if necessary, may be supplied. If the condition of such dependent forbids travel, a full time physician may be detailed from the field station to make the examination in the dependent's home; or, if economy can be effected thereby, the necessary examination may be made through a designated physician in the dependent's community. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R–6104. Authority for issuance of transportation, meal and lodging requests.—The officials specified in R. & P. R–6100, and subordinates designated by them are empowered to authorize transportation of claimants, beneficiaries and needed attendants, as provided. When transportation, meal or lodging requests are not used, reimbursement of actual and necessary travel expense may be allowed, (except in those cases where transportation requests were issued based upon a predetermination of mode of travel by the claimant or beneficiary) subject to the limitation that not to exceed $5 for meals and lodgings for one day, or, for fractional days not to exceed $1 for a single meal or $2 for a single lodging, may be allowed. Vouchers for reimbursement must be supported by properly executed receipts similar to those required by the travel regulations to support travel vouchers of employees.

(A) For officials authorized to countersign transportation, meal and lodging requests, see R. & P. 8406.

(B) Claim for reimbursement of travel expenses must be presented on the prescribed travel voucher form, supported by original travel order or certified copy thereof. Attendants will be considered as employees, so that the provisions of the Standardized Government Travel Regulations relative to the furnishing of receipts will apply to such attendants.

(C) In issuing authorizations to effect hospitalization or domiciliary care of veterans when, from the information available, the services of an attendant or attendants, or of an ambulance appears necessary, care will be taken to include these additional items of expenditures in the authorizations. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Cong.)

R–6105. Attendants.—An attendant or attendants, to accompany a claimant or beneficiary who is being admitted to or discharged from a facility, or is proceeding to or from out-patient examination or treatment, may be authorized when in the opinion of a chief medical officer or clinical director, or their designates, such attendance is necessary because of the mental or physical condition of the beneficiary. The assignment of attendants must be kept to the absolute minimum required for safe care of traveling claimants or beneficiaries. See R. & P. 6271 regarding travel precautions relative to psychotic or tuberculous beneficiaries.

(A) Persons not in the regular civilian employment of the Government may be authorized to act as attendants. Relatives of claimants or beneficiaries are not excluded from so acting, provided in medical judgment their services will be safe, convenient and in other respects advisable. However, while relatives assigned as attendants may be supplied necessary transportation, meal and lodging requests or (as in emergency admissions) may be reimbursed for those expenses, they will not be granted a per diem fee. When travel authorizations for attendants are issued and it is known that the authorized attendant is a relative of the beneficiary the provision for payment of fee will be stricken from the authorization. When the services of an attendant are authorized and the name or relationship of the attendant are not known it will be stipulated in the authorization, whether formal or informal, that no fee will be paid if the attendant is a relative of the beneficiary. In all cases in which fees are authorized to be paid to attendants the fiscal vouchers covering claims for such fees will bear a statement over the signature of the certifying officer "---------- Name of Attendant is not a relative of ---------- Name of Beneficiary."

A maximum fee of $5 per 24 hours of service or $1.25 per 6 hour period or fraction thereof may be authorized to be paid persons specified in this subparagraph other than relatives of beneficiaries and claimants for whom attendance is required, it being entirely the responsibility of the authorizing officer to determine whether an attendant is or is not a relative of the beneficiary or claimant. The authorizing officer may authorize payment of attendant's fee at any rate, less than the maximum rate of $5 per 24 hour period, for which the required service can satisfactorily be obtained in the community. Fees will be authorized to be paid only for the time actually necessary for the completion of duties by the attendant, but not in excess of the time required for travel by available common carrier; unless it is specified in the authorization that, because of the condition of the beneficiary or claimant, travel is to be performed by ambulance or special conveyance. In the latter event, authority may be granted for payment of attendant's fee on the basis of time actually required for completion of duty by the specified mode of transportation, without consideration of the travel time required for the duty through use of a common carrier. An attendant on a fee basis, after delivery of a claimant or beneficiary to the field station designated, will (unless instructed to accompany the beneficiary or claimant on his return to the place from which he proceeded) complete his return trip without delay and by the mode of transportation authorized. When conditions make it clearly necessary that a private physician act as an attendant, a fee not to exceed $10 per 24 hours of service, or $2.50 per 6 hour period or fraction thereof, may be authorized to be paid to such physician attendant. Upon the issuance of specific authority therefor, by the medical director, in an individual case, a fee of more than $10 but not to exceed $20 per 24 hour period, may be authorized to be paid to a private physician employed as an attendant. In addition to the per diem fee as herein provided, attendants appointed under this subparagraph will be furnished necessary transportation, meal and lodging requests. Claims for reimbursement of actual expenses for meals and lodgings will not be certified for payment unless (as in emergency admissions) such requests have not been issued or, if issued, are returned for cancelation, and satisfactory reasons for not using such requests as well as the fact of cancelation are shown on the reimbursement voucher.

(B) Persons in the regular civilian employment of the Government may be authorized to act as attendants and are entitled to transportation and other necessary traveling expenses, as hereinbefore stated, but are not entitled to a fee in addition to their usual salaries. This class of attendants may be allowed per diem in lieu of subsistence upon issuance of proper authorization therefor, and will not be issued meal and lodging requests. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Public 312, 74th Congress.)

R–6106. Purposes for which traveling expenses are to be authorized.—When allowable under R. & P. R–6102 and 6103, and when authorized by proper prior authority, claimants and beneficiaries of the Veterans' Administration may be supplied transportation and meal and lodging requests necessary, for the following purposes:

(G) The furnishing of transportation, meal and lodging requests to cover the rehospitalization of a beneficiary who has an uncleared discharge from a facility because of an infraction of discipline is not authorized except (1) when the rehospitalization is for an initial period of observation with examination, made for the convenience and upon the motion of the Government; or (2) when one year has elapsed since the most recent discharge for infraction of discipline; (3) if readmission to a facility is required, because of a medical emergency before the expiration of the period of exclusion provided for such infraction, the transportation to effect such rehospitalization will not be furnished, except as provided in R. & P. 6037. If, after such emergency admission the beneficiary remains until completion of treatment and regular discharge, return transportation to the point from which he proceeded may be supplied by the Government, provided he has against him only one uncleared infraction of hospital discipline. If he has more than one uncleared infraction of hospital discipline, return transportation will not be supplied in these circumstances unless one year has elapsed from the date of the most recent of such irregular discharges from hospital treatment. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R–6107. Authorization for routing of claimant or beneficiary to nearest station.—Unless, in the experience of a chief medical officer the most satisfactory procurement of a desired service requires departure therefrom, the policy will be to instruct claimants or beneficiaries to report for examination (including observation if necessary), or for treatment (medical or dental) including hospitalization if required, or for measurement or fitting or procurement of prosthetic or orthopedic appliances, to the regional office, facility or orthopedic workshop nearest the claimant's or beneficiary's home, even though such objective be outside of the regional territory in which the claimant or beneficiary resides; and the necessary travel in such circumstances is authorizable. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

ORTHOPEDIC AND PROSTHETIC APPLIANCES

R–6115 (F). Appliances of approved types will be supplied. Repairs or replacements thereof may be made, upon application and in accordance with governing procedure, whenever necessitated in medical judgment because of wear, loss or other sufficient reason. (February 23, 1938.)

(G) Retired officers and enlisted men of the regular establishment.—

(1) In compliance with an Executive order, effective December 1, 1930, relieving the Surgeon General of the Army of this duty, the Veterans' Administration under the provisions of Chapter 5, Sections 241 to 250, Title 38, U. S. Code, as amended, may provide an artificial limb or apparatus or commutation in lieu thereof, once every three years for each retired officer or enlisted man of the regular establishments, who shall have lost a limb or the use thereof through injury or disease incurred in line of duty in the military or naval service at any time; and to every civilian employee of the military or naval service who shall have lost a limb or the use thereof, through injury or disease incurred in line of duty as such, prior to September 7, 1916 (date of the United States Employees Compensation Act). An army nurse is considered a civilian employee within the meaning of the statute cited.

(2) Applicants may elect to receive, once every three years, either a necessary artificial limb or limbs, or commutation in lieu thereof, at the rates specified by law; but they will not be furnished with both an artificial limb or limbs and commutation in lieu thereof. Should the beneficiaries specified in this subparagraph elect to receive an artificial limb or appliance in kind, it will be furnished under an approved contract, if obtainable at a price not in excess of $125.00; if not, competitive bids therefor will be invited and award made to the lowest responsible bidder, provided the bid does not exceed $125.00.

(3) Repairs of artificial limbs supplied persons under subparagraph (G) (1) will not be made at Government expense. Replacements will not be authorized within the three year period specified for the furnishing of an artificial limb. (February 23, 1938.) V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series, and Pub. 312, 74th Cong.

DENTAL SERVICES

R–6120. Classes of claimants or beneficiaries entitled to dental examinations.—Dental examinations may be authorized for the following classes of ~~claimants~~ or beneficiaries, if considered necessary. Chief dental officers and others concerned will exercise proper judgment to avoid authorizing dental examinations unless a detailed dental report is essential for a determination of eligibility for benefits:—

(A) Veterans whose claims have been adjudicated as having a war-time service-connected dental disability, or a peace-time service-connected dental disability if honorably discharged on account of a disability incurred in line of duty or if in receipt of pension for a service-connected disability. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R–6122. Request for dental examination by medical examiner.—In out-patient dispensaries and at facilities, medical examining officers will not routinely refer all claimants appearing for an out-patient physical examination to the chief dental officer for dental examination, but will limit such reference to (1) those claimants who, in the opinion of the medical examining officers are in need of dental relief as adjunct to a service-connected physical disability; (2) those claimants for whom they desire a dental examination as an aid in making a diagnosis. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R–6129. Extent of dental relief.—The type and extent of dental relief in any individual case will be determined by a dental officer of the Veterans' Administration in accordance with the following principles:

(C) In Class III (adjunct and auxiliary) cases treatment will be rendered for those dental conditions which sound professional judgment indicates have a direct and material detrimental effect upon veteran's basic disability. If the treatment is to be rendered on an out-patient basis, the determination whether or not the dental condition in question is aggravating the basic service-connected disease or injury will be made by the chief medical officer. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R–6132. Approval of fees for special dental operations and prosthesis.—When it is necessary to authorize special dental or oral operations or the construction of special dental prosthetic appliances on a fee basis, prior approval of the medical director will be secured. The submission for approval will furnish information as to the necessity for the special operation or appliance; a detailed description thereof; the fee which the dentist proposes to charge; and an expression of opinion as to whether the fee is reasonable and fair, based upon a comparison with fees ordinarily charged for similar services in that locality, the difficulty of the operation requiring special ability, and the reputation of the dentist for such ability. If the proposed fee is considered to be excessive a fee for the services will be recomemnded by the submitting officer for approval. The report of dental and oral examination and copy of current rating if a Class I or Class II case will be inclosed with the submission. (For approval of special appliances in Veterans' Administration clinics see medical procedure. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

R–6135. Replacement of dental prosthesis.—(C) Dental prosthesis such as bridges and dentures furnished as adjunct or auxiliary relief, when requiring replacement through legitimate wear or deterioration, will be replaced upon determination as to the present necessity of replacement as adjunct or auxiliary relief.

If the veteran has previously been furnished prosthesis which he can not produce, affidavits and other information as prescribed in (B) above will be secured and forwarded to the medical director with the request for approval of outpatient adjunct dental treatment. If the prosthesis is to be furnished as adjunct or auxiliary on an in-patient basis the chief dental officer will satisfy himself that the appliances previously furnished was not destroyed, lost or otherwise disposed of due to the carelessness or neglect of the beneficiary. If he is of the opinion that the loss was occasioned by the carelessness or neglect of the beneficiary, the question of replacement will be referred to the medical director for decision, accompanied by the same information as required in (B) above. (February 23, 1938.) (V. R. 6 Series, V. R. 7 Series and Pub. 312, 74th Congress.)

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

Bureau of Mines.

REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE PRODUCTION AND SALE OF HELIUM FOR MEDICAL, SCIENTIFIC AND COMMERCIAL USE

INTRODUCTION

The Act approved September 1, 1937 (Public No. 411, 75th Congress, First Session), entitled "An Act Authorizing the conservation, production, exploitation, and sale of helium gas, a mineral resource pertaining to the national defense and to the development of commercial aeronautics, authorizing the acquisition, by purchase or otherwise, by the United States of properties for the production of helium gas, and for other purposes," reads in part as follows:

SEC. 3. (a) That the Army and Navy and other agencies of the Federal Government may requisition helium from the Bureau of Mines and make payments therefor from any applicable appropriations by advancing or repaying to and for the use of said Bureau proportionate shares of the expenses incident to the administration, operation, and maintenance of the Government's helium plants and properties.

(b) That helium not needed for Government use may be produced and sold upon payment in advance in quantities and under regulations approved by the President, for medical, scientific, and commercial use, except that helium may be sold for the inflation of only such airships as operate in or between the United States and its Territories and possessions, or between the United States or its Territories and possessions and foreign countries: Provided, That no helium shall be sold for the inflation of any airship operating between two foreign countries notwithstanding such airship may also touch at some point in the United States: Provided further, That such sales of helium shall be at reasonable prices (established by said regulations) based upon the cost of acquiring, developing, maintaining, and operating the Government properties and the payment of interest at a rate of not less than 3½ per centum per annum on capital hereafter expended (except from the special fund established in subsection (c) of section 3 of this Act) for properties, facilities, and helium-bearing gas lands, as are used for such helium production: Provided further, That notwithstanding the foregoing provision helium shall be sold for medicinal purposes at prices which will permit its general use therefor; and such sales of helium shall be upon condition that the Federal Government shall have a right to repurchase helium so sold that has not been lost or dissipated, when needed for Government use, under terms and at prices established by said regulations.

(c) All moneys received under this Act, including moneys from sale of helium or other products resulting from helium operations (except moneys received in payment for helium from Government departments or agencies under subsection (a) hereof), shall be credited to a special helium-production fund from which purchasers of helium may be reimbursed for payments for helium in excess of deliveries, and the Secretary of the Interior through the Bureau of Mines may draw on said fund to pay expenses of acquiring, administering, operating, maintaining, and developing helium properties. Amounts accumulating in said fund in excess of amounts the Secretary of the Interior deems necessary to assure payment of such expenses shall be deposited in the Treasury to the credit of miscellaneous receipts: * * *

Under the authority of the aforementioned provisions of law these regulations are issued, with approval of the President, to govern production and sale by the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, for medical, scientific, and commercial use, of the light gas, generally referred to as "helium" or "helium gas," which consists largely of the gaseous element, helium, but contains minor amounts of other gases as impurities. Such gas is produced in the Government-owned helium plant situated near Amarillo, Texas, and may be produced in the future at other plants owned or to be acquired by the Government.

Section 1. Definitions

Unless the context requires other interpretation, the following terms, as used in these regulations, shall have the meaning here given:

(a) Contained helium.—The actual quantity of the element, helium, contained in a mixture of that element and other gases.

(b) Purity (of helium).—The volume the contained helium in a mixture would occupy if not mixed with other gases, expressed in percentage of the volume of the mixture, both volumes being measured at, or reduced to, a pressure of 14.7 pounds per square inch absolute and a temperature of 70° Fahrenheit.

(c) Cubic foot of contained helium.—The quantity of contained helium that would occupy a volume of one cubic foot at normal atmospheric pressure (14.7 pounds per square inch absolute) and 70° Fahrenheit, if it were not mixed with other gases.

(d) Unit of helium.—One thousand (1,000) cubic feet of contained helium.

(e) Market helium.—Helium sold or to be sold under the provision of said Act which reads, "That helium not needed for Government use may be produced and sold upon payment in advance in quantities and under regulations approved by the President, for medical, scientific, and commercial use."

(f) Production outlet.—The discharge end of the pipe or pipes through which helium of about 98 percent purity, and at a pressure of not more than 2,500 pounds per square inch gage, leaves the production equipment or storage facilities of a Government helium plant.

(g) Actual cost per unit of helium.—The cost per thousand cubic feet of contained helium, computed as prescribed in Section 4 hereof, of market helium at the production outlet.

(h) Estimated cost per unit of helium.—An estimate of the actual cost per unit of market helium at the production outlet, prepared by the Bureau of Mines prior to the time when the actual cost per unit of helium can be determined.

(i) Service charges.—Charges for services rendered, materials furnished, or expenses incurred by the Bureau of Mines which are not directly attributable to activities required for delivering helium at the production outlet; these may include charges for unloading, handling, repairing, loading and hauling containers supplied by purchasers of market helium, use of containers if supplied by the said Bureau, cribbing freight cars, telegrams, and other expenses that are attributable directly to an individual contract, delivery, or shipment rather than to the common cost of producing helium and delivering it at the production outlet.

(j) Actual cost plus service charges (applicable to a given quantity of helium).—The sum of (1) the actual cost per unit of helium times the number of units in said quantity, plus (2) the service charges applicable to said quantity.

(k) Estimated cost plus service charges (applicable to a given quantity of helium).—The sum of (1) the estimated cost per unit of helium times the number of units in said quantity, plus (2) the estimated service charges applicable to said quantity.

(l) Deposit.—A sum of money to be supplied by a purchaser of market helium prior to the delivery of the helium, and to be deposited in the special helium-production fund authorized by Section 3 (c) of the said Act.

(m) Delivery schedule.—A schedule prepared by the Bureau of Mines showing the date or dates on which it expects to deliver helium under a contract. Such a delivery schedule may be modified by the Bureau of Mines as circumstances require and is not to be construed as a guarantee that delivery will be made as scheduled.

Section 2. General

(a) Helium not needed for Government use, and in quantities not exceeding those which the Bureau of Mines determines can be produced with facilities under its jurisdiction in accordance with good engineering practice, may be produced and sold under these regulations as market helium, but all such sales shall be subject to the Government's right of repurchase under the provisions of Section 8 hereof. Requisitions to meet needs of the Army and Navy and other branches of the Federal service shall always be paramount to applications for and sales of market helium.

(b) Nothing in these regulations shall be construed to make mandatory the production and sale of market helium by the Bureau of Mines. The Director of the Bureau of Mines may refuse to accept, and the Secretary of the Interior may refuse to approve, any application for purchase of market helium when they consider its acceptance or approval to be contrary to the intent of the Act, disadvantageous to the national defense, or inimical to the best interests of the Government.

(c) Other things being equal, in considering applications, contracting for sale, scheduling deliveries, and making shipments of market helium, in so far as practicable helium for medical use shall be given preference over helium for other non-governmental uses, and the Secretary of the Interior or the Director of the Bureau of Mines, in their discretion, may order interruption of deliveries of helium under any contract when, in their judgment, deliveries under another contract merit preference.

(d) Unless otherwise agreed to by the Bureau of Mines in writing, market helium to be sold under these regulations is for delivery to purchasers at a Government-owned helium plant to be designated by the Bureau of Mines. All sales of helium under any contract shall be complete upon delivery by the Government at the production outlet, or at such other point as may be agreed upon by the Bureau of Mines in writing, and the Bureau of Mines shall thereafter, with respect to helium so delivered, be acting for the purchaser as an agent merely.

(e) Contracts for market helium shall not be subject to cancellation or transfer by the purchaser, in whole or in part, unless authorized by an amendment or cancellation of such contract executed by the Director of the Bureau of Mines, and if such amendment or cancellation is with respect to more than 100 units of helium, the same shall not be effective unless approved by the Secretary of the Interior.

(f) Shipping containers for market helium sold hereunder shall be supplied by the purchaser of such helium, unless otherwise agreed upon by the Bureau of Mines in writing.

(g) Containers supplied by purchasers of market helium and filled by the Bureau of Mines shall be suitable for the intended use and shall be acceptable as containers for shipment by a common carrier in interstate commerce whether or not their shipment on such carrier is contemplated. The Bureau of Mines will not knowingly fill any container which cannot be shipped or transported, legally and safely, to its ultimate destination.

(h) In the interest of safety and efficiency in plant operation, containers and valves supplied by purchasers to receive helium to be delivered under pressure by the Bureau of Mines shall be of types and in condition acceptable to said Bureau. The Bureau's supervising engineer or other official in charge at any helium plant is authorized to refuse to fill any container when he considers its filling to be unsafe or inexpedient.

(i) In case a purchaser fails to have suitable containers at the Government helium plant in adequate time to receive any scheduled delivery of helium, the Bureau of Mines, at its election, may schedule that delivery for any later time suited to its operating program or eliminate the quantity of helium in that scheduled delivery from the amount of helium remaining to be delivered under the pertaining contract.

(j) Determinations of purity and quantity shall be by methods prescribed by or acceptable to the Bureau of Mines. The delivery of a quantity of helium within plus or minus two percent of that contracted for shall constitute a fulfillment of the contract on the Government's part, but payment shall be on the basis of the actual quantity of contained helium delivered as determined by the said Bureau's accepted methods of measurement.

(k) The Government shall be held blameless for delays in delivery of helium ordered, loss of containers, faulty or leaky containers, loss of helium in transit from whatever cause, variations in purity, or the character of any impurity which may be with the helium. The provisions of this paragraph shall apply whether containers are furnished by the purchaser or by the Government.

(l) Nothing in these regulations or in any sale or contract for the sale of helium or in any part of any such contract, regardless of the intended use or disposition of helium by any purchaser, shall be construed as authorizing the exportation of any helium within the meaning of the Act.

(m) These regulations are subject to amendment, with approval of the President, at any time.

Section 3. Application and Acceptance

(a) Persons, firms, corporations, associations or institutions who desire to purchase market helium under these regulations may make application therefor on an application form similar to that included in the form of contract shown in the appendix of these regulations. Copies of said application form will be furnished by the Bureau of Mines on request.

(b) The applicant shall supply to the Bureau of Mines, under oath or affirmation, on said form and supplemental papers, full information concerning the quantity of helium desired; the desired date of delivery; the contemplated use or disposition of the helium; whether the helium is to be exported and, if so, the export license procured from the Secretary of State or plans for procuring such license; the disposition of any helium previously purchased; anticipated future requirements, if any; types, condition, and ownership of containers and valves to be supplied; proposed method of shipment; destination of the helium; and any other data that may be needed by officials of the Department of the Interior and the Bureau of Mines to enable them to judge whether the need for the helium is bona fide, and whether the helium desired can be supplied in accordance with the intent of the said Act and these regulations, and under conditions of safe and efficient plant and gas-field operation. Also, if the helium is to be used for airship inflation, the applicant shall identify and describe the craft for which the helium is intended, supply full information regarding the proposed use of such craft (including full information concerning the proposed schedule of operations if flights are to be made outside the United States), and provide assurance that the said helium will be used for inflation of only such airships as operate in or between the United States and its territories and possessions, or between the United States or its territories and possessions and foreign countries, and that said helium will not be used for inflation of any airship operating between two foreign countries notwithstanding such airship may also touch at some point in the United States.

(c) Upon receipt of a properly executed application and the required information pertaining thereto, the Bureau of Mines shall determine the practicability of supplying the requirements under the conditions stated. If the said Bureau considers it impracticable or inadvisable to supply the helium as requested it shall so notify the applicant; otherwise, it shall schedule the helium for delivery (contingent upon final execution of a contract pursuant to the application), and supply the applicant with estimates of the cost per unit of helium, service charges applicable to the contemplated deliveries of helium, delivery schedule, and amount of the deposit or deposits required.

(d) If the applicant desires to purchase the helium under the terms of these regulations and considering the estimates and statements of conditions supplied by the said Bureau, he shall execute a contract covering purchase of the helium applied for. The form of such contracts is indicated in the appendix of these regulations. Said contract shall be forwarded to the Bureau of Mines, accompanied by an initial deposit in the form of a certified check for the amount required payable to the Treasurer of the United States, within ten days from receipt of estimates of the cost per unit of helium, service charges, and delivery schedule, and notice of the initial deposit required.

(e) Failure to execute and forward the said contract or to make the required initial deposit within the time allotted may nullify the delivery schedule at the discretion of the Bureau of Mines.

(f) Upon receipt of a properly executed contract accompanied by the stipulated initial deposit the contract will be forwarded for the consideration of the Director of the Bureau of Mines. If such a contract executed by the said Director is for more than 100 units of helium (100,000 cubic feet of contained helium) it shall also be forwarded to the Secretary of the Interior for consideration and shall not be binding until approved by him in writing. If the said contract is executed by the Director of the Bureau of Mines (and approved by the Secretary of the Interior if it is for more than 100 units of helium), the initial deposit will be placed to the credit of the special helium-production fund provided for by Section 3 (c) of the said Act. Otherwise the certified check will be returned to the applicant.

Section 4. Actual Costs and Service Charges

(a) After the close of each fiscal year (ending June 30) the Bureau of Mines shall compute, and submit to the Secretary of the Interior for approval, the actual cost per unit of helium for market helium sold during that year, determined by adding operating cost, depreciation, depletion, and interest, as defined below, for all properties that produced market helium during that year, and dividing the sum of money so determined by the total number of units of helium produced and sold as market helium, plus the number of units produced by Governmental agencies, by such properties during that year:

Operating cost.—The expenses (exclusive of those covered by service charges) incurred by the Bureau of Mines during such year in supervising, operating and maintaining such properties; less the returns credited or creditable to the special helium-production fund established by Section 3 (c) of said Act that are derived from residue natural gas or by-products from such properties sold during such year: Provided, however, that if in the judgment of the Secretary of the Interior deduction of all such returns gives an operating cost that is unduly low, all or any part of such returns may be eliminated from consideration in the determination of operating cost.

The expenses incurred, as computed for the determination of operating cost, shall take into account the expenditures (exclusive of those covered by service charges) for plant and gas-field operation and maintenance, including supplies and smaller items of equipment therefor, of the character which, prior to September 1, 1937, were customarily lodged against funds transferred by the Army and Navy and other Federal agencies for helium procurement and funds appropriated to the Bureau of Mines under the appropriation title "Gas production for helium plants", but not including expenditures for property and major facilities or items of equipment to be amortized through depreciation and depletion as hereinafter specified; and in computing said operating cost appropriate adjustments shall be made for increases or decreases in stocks of supplies and equipment held in the Bureau's plant and gas-field store rooms.

Depreciation.—A reasonable charge for the depreciation of any Government-owned plant and pertaining equipment used in production of market helium during said year (not including items covered by operating cost), computed on a basis that can be expected to amortize the cost of acquiring and developing such plant and equipment by the end of its productive life.

Depletion.—A reasonable charge for the depletion of any Government-owned helium-bearing gas properties used in production of market helium during said year (not including items covered by operating cost), computed on a basis that can be expected to amortize the cost of acquiring and developing such properties by the end of their productive lives.

Interest.—Interest for said year at the rate of 3½ per centum on capital expended after September 1, 1937 (except from the special fund established in subsection (c) of Section 3 of the said Act), for properties, facilities, and helium-bearing gas lands used for production of market helium during said year, and not yet amortized through charges for depreciation and depletion.

(b) Service charges shall be determined by the Bureau of Mines on the basis of the cost to the Government of rendering the service, making due allowance for contingencies, overhead expense, and intangible factors. As conditions permit, the said Bureau shall prepare schedules of charges for service items of substantially uniform cost, which schedules shall be made known to purchasers of helium and be effective until modified by the Bureau of Mines.

(c) The actual cost plus service charges for a fiscal year (for use in adjusting deposits as provided in Section 7 hereof) under each contract shall be:

(1) The actual cost per unit of helium for that fiscal year (as computed by the Bureau of Mines and approved by the Secretary of the Interior) times the number of units of helium delivered under that contract during said year, plus

(2) All service charges entered against that contract during said year:

Provided, however, That the minimum to be included in said actual cost plus service charges on account of the helium in any one shipment under such contract, and the delivery of such helium, shall be $10.00 plus all service charges attributable to that shipment.

Section 5. Estimated Costs and Service Charges

(a) On or before the beginning of each fiscal year, the Bureau of Mines shall prepare an estimate of the cost per unit of helium for that fiscal year, based on operating conditions and the expected volume of deliveries, as indicated by information received from Governmental departments, commercial interests using helium, and any other available sources. After approval of that estimate by the Secretary of the Interior it shall be the estimated cost per unit of helium for use as indicated in Section 6 hereof for computing deposits. Such estimates may be revised from time to time during the year as changing conditions may warrant, and each revised estimate, when approved by the Secretary of the Interior, shall become the estimated cost per unit of helium for use (until revised again) in computing deposits to accompany subsequent contracts and determining required additions to deposits under contracts previously made: Provided, however, that in computing the deposit required under an application for a quantity of helium large enough to have a material effect on the actual cost per unit of helium, the Bureau of Mines may use a revised estimate of the cost per unit of helium that has not yet been approved by the said Secretary; in which event, however, such revised estimate shall be submitted to the said Secretary for approval prior to or simultaneously with submission for final execution of the contract arising out of said application.

(b) Upon the receipt of each application for purchase of helium, the Bureau of Mines shall estimate the service charges applicable to such helium and its delivery, based upon the volume of helium to be delivered, types of containers to be supplied, method of transportation, and other pertaining factors; and the said Bureau shall make such estimates known to the applicant.

Section 6. Deposits

(a) The initial deposit to be made by the purchaser, before final execution on behalf of the Government of any contract for purchase of market helium, shall be one hundred twenty percentum (120%) of the estimated cost plus service charges applicable to the helium (and delivery thereof) to be delivered under such contract; said estimated cost plus service charges being,

(1) The estimated cost per unit of helium (as estimated by the Bureau of Mines and approved by the Secretary of the Interior) multiplied by the number of units of helium to be delivered, plus

(2) The estimated service charges applicable to the helium to be delivered:

Provided, however, that in no event shall the amount included for item (1) above be less than $10.00: Provided further, that if such a contract is for the purchase of more than 1,000 units of helium, the deliveries of which are to be extended over a period that in the judgment of the Bureau of Mines warrants application of this proviso, the initial deposit may be a sum not less than sixty percentum (60%) of the estimated cost plus service charges applicable to all helium to be delivered under said contract, or the amount estimated by the Bureau of Mines to be necessary to meet obligations incurred or to be incurred in producing and delivering the helium called for by such contract, whichever amount is the greater.

(b) In case the initial deposit under a contract is less than the said one hundred twenty percentum (120%) of the estimated cost plus service charges, or in the event that (as a result of an increase in the estimated price per unit of helium or for any other reason) the amount that has been deposited under a contract is less than the amount required to be on deposit under the following provisions of this subsection and deliveries of helium under that contract have not been completed, the purchaser shall deposit additional funds (in the form of certified checks payable to the Treasurer of the United States) at such times and in such amounts that at least 30 days in advance of any scheduled delivery under such contract the amount the purchaser has deposited under that contract shall equal or be greater than the following, to wit:

(1) One hundred percentum (100%) of the actual cost plus service charges applicable to all helium delivered under said contract for which actual costs have been determined, plus

(2) One hundred twenty percentum (120%) of the latest estimated cost plus service charges applicable to all helium delivered under said contract for which actual costs have not yet been determined, plus

(3) One hundred twenty percentum (120%) of the latest estimated cost plus service charges applicable to the estimated amount of helium to be delivered in the next scheduled delivery, plus

(4) Sixty percentum (60%) of the latest estimated cost plus service charges applicable to the amount of helium to be delivered under such contract subsequent to the next scheduled delivery:

Provided, however, that in lieu of making a supplemental deposit required by an increase in the estimated cost per unit of helium, the purchaser may accept a corresponding decrease (to be determined by the Bureau of Mines) in the quantity of helium subsequently to be delivered under such contract.

(c) In case any scheduled delivery of helium is not made because of failure of the purchaser to deposit adequate funds as hereinbefore required, the Bureau of Mines, at its election, may schedule that delivery for any later time suited to its operating program or deduct the quantity of helium in that scheduled delivery from the amount of helium remaining to be delivered under the pertaining contract.

Section 7. Adjustments of Deposits, Refunds, and Final Settlements

After the close of a fiscal year (ending June 30) and the computation by the Bureau of Mines and approval by the Secretary of the Interior of the actual cost per unit of helium for that year, and computation of service charges applicable under each contract, adjustments in deposits shall be made as follows:

(a) In the case of each contract under which no helium remains to be delivered and the actual cost plus service charges applicable to all helium delivered thereunder has been determined, the purchaser shall be entitled to receive (without interest) the excess, if any, that remains after one hundred five percentum (105%) of the actual cost plus service charges applicable to all helium delivered under said contract during the said fiscal year, and one hundred percentum (100%) of the actual cost plus service charges applicable to all helium delivered under said contract during any prior fiscal year, have been subtracted from the amount of money the purchaser has deposited under that contract; and the money deposited (exclusive of such excess if any) shall constitute full payment of the price for the helium delivered under said contract and the delivery thereof.

(b) In the case of each contract under which deliveries of helium have not been completed, or under which the actual costs plus service charges applicable to all deliveries have not been determined, the purchaser, at the option and in accordance with the determinations of the Bureau of Mines acting under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, may be entitled to receive (without interest) all or a part of the excess, if any, that remains after subtracting from the amount of money the purchaser has deposited under that contract the following, to wit:

(1) The actual cost plus service charges, as specified in Section 4 (c) hereof, for all helium delivered under said contract for which actual costs have been determined, and for the delivery of such helium, plus

(2) The amounts required to be on deposit under the terms of Section 6 hereof to cover helium delivered under said contract for which actual costs have not yet been determined, and to cover all helium remaining to be delivered under said contract, and to cover delivery of all such helium.

(c) Excesses due purchasers under the terms of subsections (a) and (b) of this Section 7 shall be paid to such purchasers out of the special helium-production fund authorized by Section 3 (c) of the said Act: Provided, however, that at the election of the purchaser any such excess may be left on deposit to the credit of the same contract or any other contract for purchase of helium from the Government to which said purchaser may be a party.

Section 8. Repurchase of Helium by Government

(a) Any market helium sold by the Bureau of Mines under these regulations that has not been lost or dissipated may be repurchased by the Government when needed for Government use, at the place where said helium is in use or storage.

(b) The price to be paid by the Government per unit of helium, for delivery at the said place of use or storage, for helium of 98 percent purity or better, shall be,

(1) The actual cost per unit of helium for the year in which said helium was purchased from the Bureau of Mines, less one half of one percent of said cost for each month or fraction thereof since the said helium was shipped from the Government plant, or

(2) The actual cost per unit of helium for market helium purchased from the Bureau of Mines during the fiscal year immediately preceding the repurchase, whichever of said costs is the higher:

Provided, however, that the said unit price of repurchase shall not be more than 20 percent greater or more than 20 percent less than the actual cost per unit of helium for the fiscal year in which the said helium was purchased from the Bureau of Mines.

For repurchased helium of less than 98 percent purity the unit price to be paid by the Government shall be the price as above determined less one percent thereof for each one percent that the purity is below 98 percent.

A premium of 50 cents per unit of helium, above the prices as above determined, shall be paid by the Government for helium which is compressed into cylinders or tank cars at 2,000 pounds per square inch or more, by the seller at the request of the Government; and such additional premium as the Secretary of the Interior may deem to be just compensation for savings to the Government in transportation charges may be paid in instances when the helium being repurchased is advantageously situated with respect to the contemplated point of Governmental use.

If the helium being repurchased is a mixture of helium from different shipments of market helium sold by the Bureau of Mines, the helium mixture on hand shall be assumed, for purposes of computing the repurchase price, to represent the latest shipments, or fractions thereof, that were incorporated into that mixture, considering the shipments in order of recentness until all helium on hand is accounted for.

Section 9. Nongovernmental Resale of Helium

(a) Before consummation of any resale of 100 units or more of market helium that has been sold by the Government under these regulations, whether the seller procured the said helium from the Bureau of Mines or from some other party, full information regarding such proposed resale shall be supplied by the reseller to the Bureau of Mines, in order that the Government, if it so desires, may exercise its right to repurchase said helium under the provisions of Section 8 hereof.

(b) Whenever 100 units or more of market helium that has been purchased from the Bureau of Mines under these regulations is resold, it shall be sold only with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, and such approval may be granted only if the party to whom the helium is to be resold informs the said Secretary fully concerning the proposed use and disposition of said helium and enters into a written agreement with the United States of America, as represented by the Secretary of the Interior, that such party will abide by all applicable terms and requirements of the Act and these regulations.

Section 10. Violations

Any person, firm, corporation, association, or institution which the Secretary of the Interior shall at any time find has violated any of the provisions of the Act or of these regulations may be denied thereafter, in the discretion of the said Secretary, any or all privileges to purchase helium from the Bureau of Mines.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

[A. A. A. Corn 1938—1]

ACREAGE ALLOTMENT OF CORN IN COMMERCIAL CORN-PRODUCING AREA

By the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, approved February 16, 1938, provides:

SEC. 327. * * * Not later than February 1, the Secretary shall ascertain and proclaim the commercial corn-producing area. The ascertainment and proclamation of the commercial corn-producing area for 1938 shall be made not later than ten days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 328. The acreage allotment of corn for any calendar year shall be that acreage in the commercial corn-producing area which, on the basis of the average yield for corn in such area during the ten calendar years immediately preceding such calendar year will produce an amount of corn in such area which the Secretary determines will, together with corn produced in the United States outside the commercial corn-producing area, make available a supply for the marketing year beginning in such calendar year, equal to the reserve supply level. The Secretary shall proclaim such acreage allotment not later than February 1 of the calendar year for which such acreage allotment was determined. The proclamation of the acreage allotment for 1938 shall be made as soon as practicable after the date of the enactment of this Act.

Whereas said Act contains, in section 301, the following definitions of terms here pertinent:

The term 'corn' means field corn.

(4) (A) 'Commercial corn-producing area' shall include all counties in which the average production of corn (excluding corn used as silage) during the ten calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year for which such area is determined, after adjustment for abnormal weather conditions, is four hundred and fifty bushels or more per farm and four bushels or more for each acre of farm land in the county.

(B) Whenever prior to February 1 of any calendar year the Secretary has reason to believe that any county which is not included in the commercial corn-producing area determined pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (A), but which borders upon one of the counties in such area, or that any minor civil division in a county bordering on such area, is producing (excluding corn used for silage) an average of at least four hundred and fifty bushels of corn per farm and an average of at least four bushels for each acre of farm land in the county or in the minor civil division, as the case may be, he shall cause immediate investigation to be made to determine such fact. If, upon the basis of such investigation, the Secretary finds that such county or minor civil division is likely to produce corn in such average amounts during such calendar year, he shall proclaim such determination, and, commencing with such calendar year, such county shall be included in the commercial corn-producing area. * * *

'Marketing year' means, in the case of the following commodities, the period beginning on the first and ending with the second date specified below:

Corn, October 1-September 30; * * *.

'Normal year's domestic consumption', in the case of corn * * *, shall be the yearly average quantity of the commodity, wherever produced, that was consumed in the United States during the ten marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such consumption is determined, adjusted for current trends in such consumption.

'Normal year's exports' in the case of corn, * * * shall be the yearly average quantity of the commodity produced in the United States that was exported from the United States during the ten marketing years * * * immediately preceding the marketing year in which such exports are determined, adjusted for current trends in such exports.

'Reserve supply level', in the case of corn, shall be a normal year's domestic consumption and exports of corn plus 10 per centum of a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, to insure a supply adequate to meet domestic consumption and export needs in years of drought, flood, or other adverse conditions, as well as in years of plenty.

Whereas said Act provides, in section 301 (c), that "The latest available statistics of the Federal Government shall be used by the Secretary in making the determinations required to be made by the Secretary under this Act.";

Whereas said Act was enacted on the 16th day of February, 1938; and

Whereas the Secretary of Agriculture having had reason to believe that certain counties bordering on the commercial corn-producing area as determined under subparagraph (A) of section 301 (b) (4) of said Act, and that certain minor civil divisions in certain counties bordering on such area are producing (excluding corn used for silage) an average of at least four hundred and fifty bushels of corn per farm and an average of at least four bushels of corn for each acre of farm land in the county or in the minor civil division, as the case may be, has caused reasonable investigation to be made to determine such facts with respect to such counties and minor civil divisions and to determine which, if any, of such counties or minor civil divisions are likely to produce corn in such average amounts during the calendar year 1938:

Now, therefore, be it known that I, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States of America, acting under and pursuant to, and by virtue of, the authority vested in me by the Act of Congress known as the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, approved February 16, 1938, upon the basis of such investigation and the latest available statistics of the Federal Government, do hereby ascertain, determine, and proclaim under sections 327 and 328 of said Act:

(1) That the commercial corn-producing area for the year 1938 embraces the following counties of the States specified, the counties listed under the heading "A" being the counties determined pursuant to subparagraph (A), and the counties listed under the heading "B" being the counties determined pursuant to subparagraph (B), of section 301 (b) (4) of said Act:

[Docket No. A-66 O-66]

NOTICE OF HEARING WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER REGULATING HANDLING OF MILK IN PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA, MARKETING AREA

Whereas under Public Act No. 10, 73rd Congress, as amended and as reenacted by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, notice of hearing is required in connection with a proposed marketing agreement or a proposed order, and the General Regulations, Series A, No. 1, as amended, of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, provide for such notice; and

Whereas the Secretary of Agriculture has reason to believe that the execution of a marketing agreement and the issuance of an order will tend to effectuate the declared policy of said act with respect to the handling in interstate and foreign commerce, and such handling as directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate or foreign commerce, of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Marketing Area;

Now, therefore, pursuant to the said act and said general regulations, notice is hereby given of a hearing to be held on a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Marketing Area, in the Betsy Ross Room, Benjamin Franklin Hotel, 9th and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on March 17, 1938, at 10:00 a. m. e. s. t.

This public hearing, which is to be held jointly with the Milk Control Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is for the purpose of receiving evidence as to the general economic conditions which may necessitate regulation in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act and as to the specific provisions which a marketing agreement and order should contain.

The proposed marketing agreement and the proposed order each embodies, in similar terms, a plan for the regulation of such handling of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Marketing Area as is in the current of interstate commerce. Among other things, the proposed marketing agreement and order provide for: (a) selection of a market agent; (b) classification of milk; (c) minimum prices; (d) payments to producers; (e) reports of handlers; (f) expense of administration.

Copies of the proposed marketing agreement and proposed order may be inspected in or procured from the Hearing Clerk, Room 0318, South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

Article 2. Exemptions Available to Certificates of Interest under Section 3 (b) of the Act

RULE 362. Limitation upon exemption.—Pursuant to Section 3 (b) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, but subject to the terms and conditions prescribed by Regulation B–T, certificates of interest, as defined in Rule 360, are added to the classes of securities exempted by Section 3 (a) of such Act; but no issue of which any certificate of interest sought to be exempted hereunder is part shall be exempted under Regulation B–T where the aggregate amount at which such issue is offered exceeds $100,000.

RULE 364. Contractual conditions to availability of exemption.—The exemption provided by Regulation B–T shall be available to an issuer, underwriter or dealer only upon condition:

(a) That prior to, or simultaneously with, the filing of the prospectus, the filing of which is required by Rule 370 (a), the issuer shall file with the Commission three copies of the trust indenture.

(b) That the trust indenture provides that it may be modified, altered, or amended only with the written consent of persons owning not less than a majority in face amount of the certificates of interest issued and outstanding at the time of modification, alteration or amendment.

(c) That the trust indenture provides that no sale, assignment, transfer, conveyance, mortgage, pledge, hypothecation or alienation of any part of the underlying securities shall be effected, without the written consent at that time of persons owning not less than a majority in face amount of the certificates of interest issued and outstanding, unless the cost price of such underlying securities to the trust, together with the cost price of any other underlying securities which within the preceding twelve-month period have been sold, assigned, transferred, conveyed, mortgaged, pledged, hypothecated, or otherwise alienated, is less than 10 per cent of the aggregate cost price of the underlying securities held by the trust immediately prior to such sale, assignment, transfer, conveyance, mortgage, pledge, hypothecation or alienation.

(d) That if the trust indenture provides for the redemption of any of the certificates of interest, it shall provide further that all certificates of interest issued or outstanding at the time of each redemption shall be redeemed proportionately.

(e) That the trust indenture provides that the total amount of monthly, annual, or other charges by, or payments to the fiduciaries and sponsors of the trust, either directly or indirectly, shall not, for any consecutive twelve-month period, exceed a sum equivalent to 7½% of the gross earnings to the trust for such period.

(f) That the trust indenture provides that each fiduciary shall by statute be subject to the supervision of some Federal, State, or territorial banking commission, or some body or official having similar supervisory powers.

(g) That the mark-up of each underlying security acquired by the trust from a sponsor of the trust, shall not exceed 30 per cent of the price at which such underlying security is sold to the trust.

(h) That the offering price of any certificate of interest shall not be in excess of the cost price to the trust of the underlying securities against which such certificate of interest has been, or will be, issued.

Article 3. Requirements for Issuer, Underwriter, or Dealer Seeking Exemption

RULE 370. Procedural conditions to exemption and relief from liability for non-registration.—The exemption provided by Regulation B-T shall be available to an issuer, underwriter, or dealer only upon condition:

(b) That such issuer, underwriter, or dealer, at the time of each initial offer by him to sell to any person any security sought to be exempted hereunder, shall deliver, or cause to be delivered, to such person a copy of an effective prospectus (as amended, if amended) describing such security and complying with the requirements of Rule 376; provided, however, that the term "offer to sell", as used in this paragraph (b), shall not be deemed to include a notice, circular, advertisement, letter or communication, written or by radio, if such notice, circular, advertisement, letter, or communication states from whom a prospectus may be obtained, and, in addition, does no more than identify the security, state the price thereof, and state by whom orders will be executed.

(c) That such issuer, underwriter or dealer, at the time of making any contract of sale for any security, sought to be exempted hereunder, shall deliver or cause to be delivered to each purchaser a copy of an effective prospectus (as amended, if amended) describing such security and complying with the requirements of Rule 376 unless a copy of such prospectus shall have been delivered to such purchaser at the time of the initial offer to sell.

(d) That the prospectus referred to in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this rule is effective at the time of each initial offer to sell by such issuer, underwriter, or dealer, and at the time such issuer, underwriter, or dealer makes each contract for the sale of, any security described therein.

Article 5. Suspension Orders and Their Effect

RULE 380. Suspension orders.—(a) If, at any time within ten days after the date upon which a prospectus is received by the Commission for filing, the Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that the prospectus is incomplete or inaccurate in any material respect, or includes any untrue statement of a material fact, or omits to state any material fact necessary to make the statements therein contained not misleading, or fails to comply with any of the requirements of Regulation B–T, the Commission may enter an order temporarily suspending the effectiveness of the filing of such prospectus pending a final hearing thereon. The Commission shall, promptly upon the entry of any such order, give notice to the person filing such prospectus: (1) that such order has been entered, and (2) that the Commission will, upon receipt of a written request from the person filing such prospectus, set the matter for hearing within twenty days after the receipt of such request, at a place to be designated by the Commission. Upon receipt of any such request, the Commission will forthwith set the matter for hearing accordingly, and will promptly give notice of the time and place thereof. If the Commission does not set the matter for hearing upon a date within such twenty-day period, the order for suspension then in effect shall, upon expiration of said twenty-day period, expire and be of no further force or effect. Such hearing may be continued from time to time for cause, but if the Commission does not enter an order permanently suspending the effectiveness of the filing of such prospectus within sixty days after such hearing is finally closed, the suspension order then in effect shall, upon expiration of said sixty-day period, likewise expire and be of no further force or effect.

(b) If, at any time after notice and opportunity for hearing, either at the written request of a person filing a prospectus, or upon motion of the Commission, the Commission finds that a prospectus, either as of the date of said prospectus or as of the date of the entry of any order provided for in this paragraph (b), is incomplete or inaccurate in any material respect or includes an untrue statement of a material fact, or omits to state any material fact necessary to make the statements therein contained not misleading, or fails to comply with any of the requirements of Regulation B–T, the Commission may enter an order permanently suspending the effectiveness of such prospectus, or, if an order has been previously entered pursuant to paragraph (a) of this rule and is still in effect, may make the suspension effected by such order permanent.

(c) If, before the hearing with respect thereto is concluded, the Commission finds that a prospectus has been amended to cure the objections specified in any temporary suspension order entered pursuant to paragraph (a) of this rule, or specified in any notice given pursuant to paragraph (b) of this rule, the Commission will thereupon terminate the proceeding which may have been instituted by any such temporary suspension order, or by any such notice, and give notice of such action to the person who filed the prospectus.

(d) All notices required by this rule shall be given to the person who filed the prospectus, and shall be given either by personal service or registered mail or confirmed telegraphic notice addressed to such person at the address given in the prospectus.

RULE 382. Effective date of prospectus—Effect of suspension order.—A prospectus, complying with the requirements of Regulation B–T, and particularly Rule 376, shall become effective on the eleventh day after the date upon which it is received by the Commission for filing, except that:

(a) If the Commission shall enter an order under Rule 380 (a) suspending the effectiveness of the filing of such prospectus within ten days after the date upon which it is received by the Commission for filing, the filing thereof shall not become effective for any purpose whatever until such proceeding is terminated, or such order for suspension expires.

(b) If the Commission shall at any time give notice of a hearing under Rule 380 (b), or enter an order under Rule 380 (b) suspending the effectiveness of such prospectus, said prospectus shall not be effective for any purpose whatever subsequent to the giving of such notice or during the period of such suspension.

Article 6. Withdrawal, Amendment, and Termination of Prospectus

RULE 390. Withdrawal of prospectus.—Any person who has filed a prospectus may apply to the Commission for an order consenting to the withdrawal of same, provided none of the securities described in said prospectus have been sold, and such person shall so represent to the Commission in writing. The Commission will enter an order consenting thereto unless it shall find that sales of the securities described in said prospectus have, in fact, been made.

RULE 392. When prospectus may be amended.—Any person who has filed a prospectus may, subject to the provisions of Rule 394, file amendments thereto, but only under the following conditions and in the following instances:

(a) In the event none of the securities referred to in said prospectus have been sold and the person filing the prospectus shall so represent to the Commission in writing; or

(b) In the event a temporary suspension order is in effect and the hearing with respect to the entry of a permanent suspension order has not been concluded; or

(c) In the event no suspension order is in effect, but notice has been given by the Commission pursuant to Rule 380 (b), and the hearing with respect thereto has not be concluded.

RULE 394. How prospectus may be amended.—Any amendment to a prospectus shall be filed in accordance with this rule and shall become effective only as hereinafter provided:

(a) The amendment shall be filed with the Commission in triplicate, and each copy shall bear the signature of the person who filed the prospectus, as well as every other person whose estimations or statements are modified or affected by such amendment.

(b) An amendment shall be made only by filing or substituting a wholly corrected prospectus, or by filing or substituting entire exhibits or pages, as amended.

(c) Any amendment complying with the requirements of this rule shall become effective at such time as the Commission may order.

RULE 396. Termination of effectiveness of prospectus.—The effectiveness of a prospectus shall terminate not later than seven months from the date thereof, but any person who has filed a prospectus may apply to the Commission for an order for the earlier termination of the further effectiveness thereof provided such person shall file with the Commission a statement that said prospectus will not be used further and that none of the securities described therein will be thereafter offered for sale, or sold. Upon such application the Commission will enter an order terminating the further effectiveness of such prospectus, unless it shall find such statement insufficient or that it is not appropriate in the public interest, or for the protection of investors, so to do.

By the Commission.

[Regulations No. 5, Amendment No. 5]

AMENDING CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE DISTILLED SPIRITS LABELING REGULATIONS WITH REFERENCE TO THE PROPER LABELING OF WHISKEY STORED IN REUSED COOPERAGE AND TO OTHER MATTERS

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 5 (e) of the Federal Alcohol Administration Act, as amended, Regulations No. 5, Relating to Labeling and Advertising of Distilled Spirits, as amended, are further amended as follows:

1. Article II, Section 21, Class 2 (a) of said regulations is amended to read:

CLASS 2. Whiskey.—"Whiskey" is an alcoholic distillate from a fermented mash of grain distilled at less than 190° proof in such manner that the distillate possesses the taste, aroma, and characteristics generally attributed to whiskey, and withdrawn from the cistern room of the distillery at not more than 110° and not less than 80° proof, whether or not such proof is further reduced prior to bottling to not less than 80° proof; and also includes mixtures of the foregoing distillates for which no specific standards of identity are prescribed herein. Those types of whiskey specified in subsections (a) through (j) below shall be deemed "American type" whiskeys.

(a) "Rye whiskey", "bourbon whiskey", "wheat whiskey", "malt whiskey", or "rye malt whiskey" is whiskey which has been distilled at not exceeding 160° proof from a fermented mash of not less than 51% rye grain, corn grain, wheat grain, malted barley grain or malted rye grain, respectively, and, if produced on or after March 1, 1938, stored in charred new oak containers, and also includes mixtures of such whiskeys where the mixture consists exclusively of whiskeys of the same type. "Corn whiskey" is whiskey which has been distilled at not exceeding 160° proof from a fermented mash of not less than 80% corn grain, stored in uncharred oak containers or reused charred oak containers, and not subjected, in the process of distillation or otherwise, to treatment with charred wood, and also includes mixtures of such whiskey.

2. Article II, Section 21, Class 2 (d) of said regulations is amended to read:

(d) (1) "Straight bourbon whiskey" is straight whiskey distilled from a fermented mash of grain of which not less than 51% is corn grain.

(2) "Straight corn whiskey" is straight whiskey distilled from a fermented mash of grain of which not less than 80% is corn grain, aged for the required period in uncharred oak containers or reused charred oak containers, and not subjected, in the process of distillation or otherwise, to treatment with charred wood.

3. Article III, Section 32 (c) (10) of said regulations is amended to read:

(10) Age of whiskey and straight whiskey, respective percentages of whiskey, straight whiskey and neutral spirits, and type of cooperage, in accordance with Section 39 below: Provided, That no label shall bear any statement relative to age or period of storage for any American whiskey (other than corn whiskey, straight corn whiskey, blended corn whiskey and blends of straight corn whiskey) produced on and after July 1, 1936, and prior to March 1, 1938, unless such whiskey has been stored in a charred new oak container.

4. Article III, Section 34 of said regulations is amended by adding at the end thereof two subsections to read:

(d) In the case of whiskey (as defined in Article II, Section 21, Class 2) and in the case of American type whiskey, which in whole or in part, is treated, on or after March 1, 1938, with wood chips through percolation or otherwise, during distillation, rectification or storage, there shall be stated in direct conjunction with the class and type designation the phrase "Colored and flavored with wood chips".

(e) In the case of whiskey (as defined in Article II, Section 21, Class 2) produced in the United States on or after March 1, 1938, and stored in reused cooperage, which has been distilled at not exceeding 160° proof from a fermented mash of not less than 51% rye grain, corn grain, wheat grain, malted barley grain, or malted rye grain, respectively, there shall be stated in direct conjunction with the class and type designation, in uniform lettering not greater than one-half the size of such designation, "Distilled from Rye (or Bourbon, Wheat, Malt or Rye Malt) Mash", as the case may be.

5. Article III, Section 39 (a) (1) of said regulations is amended to read:

(1) Whiskey, rye whiskey, etc.—In the case of the whiskeys defined in Article II, Section 21, Class 2 and Class 2 (a), if not mixed, the age of the whiskey; if mixed, the age of the youngest whiskey. The statement of age in both cases under this paragraph shall be as follows: "This whiskey is ------ (years and/or months) old".

6. Article III, Section 39 (a) of said regulations is amended by adding to the end thereof an unnumbered paragraph to read:

Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this subsection, in the case of whiskey (as defined in Article II, Section 21, Class 2), produced in the United States on and after March 1, 1938, and stored in reused cooperage, there shall be stated in lieu of the words "* * * is ------ (years and/or months) old", the words "* * * stored ------ (years and/or months) in reused cooperage", and in lieu of the words "* * * ------ (years and/or months) or more old", the words "* * * stored ------ (years and/or months) or more in reused cooperage".

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under Sections 7 to 17, inclusive, of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, and in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of Section 7 (a) of said Act in 1938, payments and grants of aid will be made for participation in the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program in accordance with the provisions of this bulletin and such modifications thereof or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The provisions of the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program are necessarily subject to such legislation affecting said program as the Congress of the United States may hereafter enact; the making of the payments and grants of aid herein provided are contingent upon such appropriation as the Congress may hereafter provide for such purpose; and the amounts of such payments and grants of aid will necessarily be within the limits finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of national participation. Any increase or decrease in rates of payments and deductions with respect to any crop or other item of payment made because of the extent of participation in the program in connection with such crop or item of payment will not exceed 10 percent.

The provisions of the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program contained in this bulletin are not applicable to (1)

Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and Alaska; (2) counties for which special agricultural conservation programs under said Act are approved for 1938 by the Secretary; and (3) public domain of the United States, including land owned by the United States and administered under the Taylor Grazing Act or by the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, and other lands in which the beneficial ownership is in the United States.

SECTION I. National and State acreage allotments and goals.—A. National goals.—The national goals in connection with the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program shall be as follows:

1. The following acreages of soil-depleting crops:
Cotton, 26,000,000 to 27,000,000 acres.
Corn, 94,000,000 to 97,000,000 acres.
Tobacco: flue-cured, 850,000 to 875,000 acres; burley, 450,000 to 475,000 acres; fire-cured and dark air-cured, 170,000 to 180,000 acres; cigar filler and binder, 85,000 to 90,000 acres; Georgia-Florida Type 62, 2,800 to 3,000 acres.
Potatoes, 3,100,000 to 3,300,000 acres.
Peanuts, 1,500,000 to 1,600,000 acres.
Rice, 825,000 to 875,000 acres.
Total soil-depleting crops, 275,000,000 to 290,000,000 acres.

2. The seeding and maintenance of soil-conserving crops on the cropland not required in 1938 for the growing of soil-depleting crops; the restoration, insofar as is practicable, of a permanent vegetative cover on 6,000,000 acres of land unsuited to the continued production of cultivated crops; and the carrying out of soil-building practices that will preserve and improve soil fertility and prevent wind and water erosion.

B. National and State acreage allotments and restoration land goals.—National and State acreage allotments of soil-depleting crops and State restoration land goals will be determined by the Secretary.

SEC. II. County acreage allotments and goals.—A. County acreage allotments of soil-depleting crops.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration with the assistance of State committees shall establish county acreage allotments for total soil-depleting crops, and for cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, potatoes, and peanuts for market, and goals for restoration land as hereinafter set forth. The soil-depleting acreage allotments for all counties in each State shall not exceed the applicable acreage allotment established for the State by the Secretary except as otherwise provided in this bulletin.

1. Total soil-depleting acreage allotments.—County acreage allotments of total soil-depleting crops shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of total soil-depleting crops among the counties in the State on the basis of the average acreage of soil-depleting crops grown in such counties in whichever of the periods of five or more consecutive years since 1927 the Agricultural Adjustment Administration finds it most representative of normal conditions and the base acreages of total soil-depleting crops established in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program, adjusted where necessary for farms for which provision was not made in 1937, with due allowance for trends in acreage of soil-depleting crops, farms for which the general crop acreage allotment will be as large as the usual acreage of general soil-depleting crops, and the relationship of the usual acreage of individual soil-depleting crops to the 1938 acreage allotments in counties where allotments for individual soil-depleting crops are established.

2. Cotton acreage allotments.—(a) County acreage allotments for cotton shall be determined as follows: The State acreage allotment of cotton (less 2 percent or such smaller part thereof as the Agricultural Adjustment Administration determines shall be required in the State in making allotments to farms on which cotton will be planted in 1938 but on which cotton was not planted in any of the years 1935, 1936 and 1937) shall be prorated among the counties in the State on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton during the five years, 1933 to 1937, inclusive, plus, in the applicable years, the acreage diverted from the production of cotton under agricultural adjustment and conservation programs: Provided, That there shall be added to the acreage allotment for each county so determined the number of acres, if any, required to provide an acreage allotment in such county of not less than 60 percent of the sum of (1) the acreage planted to cotton in such county in 1937, and (2) the acreage therein diverted from the production of cotton in 1937 under the agricultural conservation program.

(b) In any county where the Agricultural Adjustment Administration finds that there are one or more administrative areas which, because of differences in types, kinds and productivity of the soil or other conditions, shall be treated separately in order to prevent discrimination the county acreage allotment shall be apportioned pro rata among such administrative areas on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton in 1937 plus the acreage diverted from the production of cotton under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program, or, if the Agricultural Adjustment Administration determines that conditions affecting the acreage planted to cotton were not reasonably uniform throughout the county in 1937, then on the basis of the cotton soil-depleting base acreages established under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program. Allotments to the farms within each such administrative area shall be made by distributing the allotment for such administrative area in the manner provided in Section III for the apportionment of cotton county acreage allotments among farms.

3. Corn acreage allotments.—County acreage allotments of corn for counties in the commercial corn-producing area shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of corn among such counties in such State pro rata on the basis of the acreage of corn seeded for the production of corn in such counties during the ten years, 1928 to 1937, inclusive, plus, in applicable years, the acreage diverted under agricultural adjustment and conservation programs. If, on account of abnormal weather conditions, the acreage seeded to corn in a county in any year of such ten-year period was less than 50 percent or more than 150 percent of the average for the other nine years, such year shall be eliminated in calculating the average acreage seeded to corn for such county. The average acreage seeded in any county so determined shall be adjusted for trends in acreage by giving due consideration to the average annual increase or decrease in the acreage seeded to corn in the county as indicated by the acreage seeded to corn and diverted from the production of corn under agricultural adjustment and conservation programs during the last five years of the period 1928 to 1937, inclusive, as compared with the acreage seeded to corn during the first five years of such period.

4. Wheat acreage allotments.—County acreage allotments of wheat shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of wheat among the counties in such State pro rata on the basis of the acreage of wheat seeded for the production of wheat during the ten years, 1928 to 1937, inclusive, plus in applicable years the acreage diverted under agricultural adjustment and conservation programs. If, on account of abnormal weather conditions, the acreage seeded for the production of wheat in a county in any year of such ten-year period was less than 50 percent or more than 150 percent of the average computed for the other nine years, such year shall be eliminated in calculating the average acreage seeded for the production of wheat in such county. The average acreage seeded in any county for the production of wheat so determined shall be adjusted for trends in acreage by giving equal weight to the acreages seeded for the production of wheat and the acreages diverted from the production of wheat during the years 1935, 1936, and 1937, and to the acreages so seeded and diverted during the ten-year period 1928 to 1937, inclusive, as adjusted for abnormal weather conditions.

5. Tobacco acreage allotments.—County acreage allotments for each kind of tobacco shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of such kind of tobacco among the counties in such State on the basis of the total acreage planted to such kind of tobacco in the county during the years 1933 to 1937, inclusive, plus in applicable years the acreage diverted under agricultural adjustment and conservation programs, with such adjustments as are necessary to make correction for abnormal conditions of production, for small farms, and for trends in acreage, giving due consideration to seed-bed and other plant diseases during such five-year period.

6. Potato acreage allotments.—County acreage allotments of potatoes for counties in the areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as commercial potato-producing areas shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of potatoes among such counties in such State pro rata on the basis of the average acreage devoted to potatoes in such counties during the years 1933 to 1937, inclusive, taking into consideration trends in acreage on commercial potato-producing farms as reflected by the acreage planted to potatoes in 1937, as compared with the average acreage planted during such five-year period, and also taking into consideration the acreage of potatoes on non-commercial potato-producing farms.

7. Peanut acreage allotments.—County acreage allotments of peanuts for market for counties in the areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as commercial peanut-producing areas shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of peanuts among such counties in such State pro rata on the basis of the base acreages for peanuts established for such counties under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program, taking into consideration trends in acreage on commercial peanut-producing farms.

B. County restoration land goals.—County goals for restoration land shall be established by distributing the applicable State restoration land goal among the counties in the areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as areas subject to serious wind erosion and areas containing large acreages unsuited to continued production of cultivated crops, on the basis of the amount of land in such counties which was cropped at least once since January 1, 1930 but on which, because of its physical condition and texture and because of climatic conditions, a permanent vegetative cover should be restored.

C. County soil-building goals.—Insofar as practicable, county goals shall be established for particular soil-building practices which are not routine farming practices and which are most needed in the county in order to preserve and improve soil fertility and to prevent wind and water erosion.

SEC. III. Farm acreage allotments and goals.—The county committee, with the assistance of other local committees in the county, shall determine acreage allotments, restoration land goals, and soil-building practice goals, in accordance with provisions contained herein and instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The soil-depleting acreage allotments determined for the farms in a county shall not exceed the applicable county acreage allotments established for the county by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and the sum of the acreage allotments for farms furnishing required forms and information shall not exceed their proportionate share of the county acreage allotments.

A. Soil-depleting acreage allotments.—1. Total soil-depleting acreage allotment.—The total soil-depleting acreage allotment for any farm shall be established on the basis of good soil management, tillable acreage on the farm, type of soil, topography, degree of erosion, the acreage of all soil-depleting crops customarily grown on the farm, and, when the Agricultural Adjustment Administration finds it applicable, the acreage of food and feed crops needed for home consumption on the farm, taking into consideration allotments established for individual soil-depleting crops. The total soil-depleting acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotments determined for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors.

2. Cotton allotment.—(a) County cotton acreage allotments shall be apportioned among the farms in the county on which cotton was planted in any one of the years 1935, 1936, and 1937, in a manner that will result in a cotton acreage allotment for each such farm which is a percentage (which shall be the same percentage for all farms in the county or administrative area) of the land in the farm in 1937 which was tilled annually or in regular rotation exclusive of the acres of such land normally devoted to the production of wheat, tobacco, or rice for market or for feeding to livestock for market except that (1) for any farm with respect to which the highest acreage planted to cotton and diverted from the production of cotton in any one of the three years 1935, 1936, and 1937, is five acres or less, the cotton acreage allotment for the farm shall be such highest number of acres if the county cotton acreage allotment is sufficient therefor; (2) for any farm with respect to which the highest number of acres planted to cotton and diverted from the production of cotton in any one of the three years, 1935, 1936, and 1937, is more than five acres, the allotment for the farm shall not be less than five acres if the county cotton acreage allotment is sufficient therefor; (3) notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this paragraph (a), a number of acres equal to not more than 3 percent of the county acreage allotment in excess of the allotments made to farms on which the highest number of acres planted to cotton plus the acres diverted from the production of cotton in any of the years 1935, 1936, and 1937, was five acres or less and the number of acres required for allotments of five acres for each other farm in the county on which cotton was planted in 1935, 1936, or 1937 may be apportioned among farms in the county on which cotton was planted in 1935, 1936, or 1937, and for which the allotment otherwise provided is five acres or more but less than 15 acres and less than the highest number of acres planted to cotton and diverted from the production of cotton in any one of the years 1935, 1936, and 1937. In making such allotments under clause (3) in the preceding sentence consideration shall be given to the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton, crop rotation practices, and the soil and other facilities affecting the production of cotton, and such increases shall not be such as to increase the allotment to any farm above 15 acres. In no event shall the allotment for any farm under this paragraph (a) exceed the highest number of acres planted to cotton and diverted from the production of cotton in any one of the three years 1935, 1936, and 1937.

(b) That portion of the State acreage allotment not apportioned among the counties under Section II, subsection A, paragraph 2 (a), hereof shall be apportioned to farms in the State on which cotton will be planted in 1938 but on which cotton was not planted in any of the years 1935, 1936, and 1937, so as to result in comparable allotments to farms similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton, crop rotation practices, and the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton. The county committee shall report, through the State committee, to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the acreage required for the allotments to such farms in the county, together with such substantiating data as may be required by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration shall allot to the county the proportion of that part of the State acreage allotment reserved for this purpose which it finds reasonable on the basis of the data so reported.

3. Corn allotment.—Acreage allotments of corn shall be determined for farms in the commercial corn-producing area on the basis of tillable acreage, crop rotation practices, type of soil and topography. The allotment for any farm shall be comparable to the allotments recommended for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors.

4. Wheat allotment.—Acreage allotments of wheat shall be determined for farms on which wheat has been seeded for harvest in one or more of the years 1935, 1936, and 1937, on the basis of tillable acreage, crop rotation practices, type of soil and topography. Not more than 3 percent of the county wheat acreage allotment shall be apportioned to farms in such county on which wheat was not seeded for harvest in any one of the three years 1935, 1936, and 1937, on the basis of tillable acreage, crop rotation practices, type of soil and topography. The wheat acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotment determined for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors. No allotment shall be established for any class B farm for which the normal production of wheat for market is less than 100 bushels.

5. Tobacco allotment.—Acreage allotments for each kind of tobacco shall be determined on the basis of past acreage of each kind of tobacco with due allowance for the effects of abnormal weather conditions and plant-bed and other diseases; land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco. The tobacco acreage allotment for any farm on which tobacco was grown in one or more of the years 1934 to 1937, inclusive, shall be comparable with the allotments for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors: Provided, That in the case of flue-cured, Burley and fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco, special consideration shall be given to farms for which acreage allotments are small. The allotment for any farm on which tobacco is to be produced in 1938 for the first time since 1933 shall not exceed 75 percent of the allotment for other farms in the same community on which tobacco was produced since 1933 which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco.

6. Potato allotment.—In counties included in the commercial potato-producing areas allotments shall be determined for each farm normally producing potatoes excluding farms on which the acreage normally planted to potatoes for market is determined to be less than three acres. No potato acreage allotment shall be less than three acres. Potato acreage allotments shall be established on the basis of good soil management, tillable acreage on the farm, type of soil, topography, degree of erosion, production facilities, and the acreage of potatoes customarily grown on the farm. The potato acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotments for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors.

7. Peanut allotment.—In counties included in the commercial peanut-producing areas a peanut acreage allotment shall be determined for each farm on which peanuts for market were produced in any one of the years 1935, 1936, and 1937. Peanut acreage allotments shall be established on the basis of good soil management, tillable acreage on the farm, type of soil, topography, degree of erosion, and the acreage of peanuts for market customarily grown on the farm. The peanut acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotments for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors.

8. Rice allotment.—(a) A rice acreage allotment shall be determined for each farm on which rice is grown in 1938 on the basis of the rice acreage apportioned to the persons participating in the production of rice on such farm in 1938 and allocated by them to such farm, the acreage on the farm suited to rice production and for which water is readily available, and the acreage of rice customarily grown by such persons. The rice acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotments for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors.

(b) The State rice acreage allotment (less 1 percent or such smaller part thereof as the Agricultural Adjustment Administration determines shall be required in the State for apportionment as provided in (c) below) shall be apportioned by the State committee, in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, among the persons in the State who are participating in the production of rice in 1938 on the basis of their production of rice during the years 1933 to 1937, inclusive; land, labor, equipment, and water available for the production of rice; crop rotation practices, soil fertility, and other physical factors affecting the production of rice.

(c) That portion of the State rice acreage allotment not apportioned among farms pursuant to paragraph (b) above, shall be apportioned by the State committee, in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, among the persons in the State who are participating in the production of rice in 1938 but who did not participate in the production of rice in any one of the years 1933 to 1937, inclusive, on the basis of land, labor, equipment, and water available for the production of rice; crop rotation practices, soil fertility, and other physical factors affecting the production of rice.

9. General crop allotment.—A general crop acreage allotment shall be determined for each class A farm. Such general crop acreage allotment shall be the total soil-depleting acreage allotment in excess of the sum of (1) the individual crop acreage allotments established for the farm, and (2) the acreage of sugar beets grown on the farm in 1938.

B. Restoration land and soil-building goals.—1. Restoration land goal.—Restoration land goals shall be determined on the basis of the land on the farm which has been cropped at least once since January 1, 1930 but on which, because of its physical condition and texture and because of climatic conditions, a permanent vegetative cover should be restored.

2. Soil-building goal.—The soil-building goal for any farm shall be the number of units of soil-building practices equal to two-thirds of the number of dollars computed for the farm under Section IV, subsection C, with respect to the soil-conserving acreage for class A farms, the acreage of cropland with respect to which a payment of 70 cents per acre is computed for class B farms, and the commercial vegetable acreage, commercial orchards, and noncrop pasture land for all farms. The goal so established shall represent the number of units of applicable practices to be carried out on the farm. Insofar as practicable, the county committee shall determine for individual farms practices to be followed in meeting the goal which are not routine farming practices on the farm but which are needed on the farm in order to preserve and improve soil fertility and prevent wind and water erosion, and which will tend to accomplish the goals, if any, established for the county with respect to particular soil-building practices.

C. Posting of acreage allotments.—All acreage allotments established for farms in a county shall be posted or kept freely available for public inspection in the office of the county committee or county agricultural extension agent.

SEC. IV. Payment for full performance.—Payment will be made with respect to any farm for not exceeding soil-depleting acreage allotments, and for achieving soil-building and restoration land goals, in an amount which shall be the sum of the following:

A. Soil-depleting acreage allotments.—1. Cotton.—2.4 cents per pound of the normal yield per acre of cotton for the farm for each acre in the cotton acreage allotment; or, if the acreage planted to cotton is less than 80 percent of the cotton acreage allotment and the county committee finds that the failure to plant 80 percent of such cotton acreage allotment was not due to flood or drought, for 125 percent of the acreage planted to cotton.

2. Corn.—10 cents per bushel of the normal yield per acre of corn for the farm for each acre in the corn acreage allotment; or, if the acreage planted to corn is less than 80 percent of the corn acreage allotment and the county committee finds that the failure to plant 80 percent of such corn acreage allotment was not due to flood or drought, for 125 percent of the acreage planted to corn.

3. Wheat.—12 cents per bushel of the normal yield per acre of wheat for the farm for each acre in the wheat acreage allotment; or, if the acreage planted to wheat is less than 80 percent of the wheat acreage allotment and the county committee finds that the failure to plant 80 percent of such wheat acreage allotment was not due to flood or drought, for 125 percent of the acreage planted to wheat.

4. Tobacco.—The following number of cents per pound of the normal yield per acre of tobacco for the farm for each acre in the tobacco acreage allotment for each of the following kinds of tobacco:

Provided, That in the case of cigar filler and binder tobacco, if the acreage planted to such kind of tobacco is less than 80 percent of the acreage allotment therefor and the county commitee finds that the failure to plant 80 percent of the acreage allotment was not due to flood, drought, or plant-bed diseases, the payment shall be computed on 125 percent of the acreage planted to cigar filler and binder tobacco.

5. Potatoes.—3 cents per bushel of the normal yield per acre of potatoes for the farm for each acre of potatoes planted on the farm in 1938 not in excess of the potato acreage allotment.

7. Rice.—0.125 of a cent per pound of the normal yield per acre of rice for the farm for each acre in the rice acreage allotment, or if the acreage planted to rice is less than 80 percent of the rice acreage allotment and the county committee finds that failure to plant 80 percent of such rice acreage allotment was not due to flood or drought, for 125 percent of the acreage planted to rice.

8. General soil-depleting crops on class A farms.—$1.25 per acre, adjusted for productivity, for each acre in the general crop acreage allotment in excess of one-half of the sum of the cotton, Burley tobacco and fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco acreage allotments established for the farm.

B. Restoration land goals.—1. 50 cents per acre for each acre in the restoration land goal established for the farm.

C. Payments in connection with soil-building practices.—1. 50 cents per acre of cropland in the farm in excess of the total soil-depleting acreage allotment for the farm (applicable only to class A farms).

2. $1.50 per acre of the average acreage of land on which commercial vegetables were grown on the farm in 1936 and 1937.

3. $2.00 per acre of commercial orchards on the farm January 1, 1938.

4. (a) 2 cents per acre of noncrop open pasture land in the farm, plus $1.00 for each animal unit of grazing capacity (on a 12-month basis) of such pasture, in the North Central Region and in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and California.

(b) 3 cents per acre of noncrop open pasture land plus 75 cents for each animal unit of grazing capacity (on a 12-month basis) of such pasture, in North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, and Washington.

(c) 25 cents per acre of fenced noncrop open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland in the farm which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each five acres of such pasture land, in the East Central Region and States other than Texas and Oklahoma in the Southern Region.

(d) 40 cents per acre of fenced noncrop open pasture land, in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland in the farm, which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each five acres of such pasture land, in the Northeast Region.

5. 70 cents per acre of cropland on any class B farm in excess of the sum of (1) the corn, wheat, rice, potato, peanut, cigar filler and binder tobacco, and Georgia-Florida Type 62 tobacco acreage allotments established for the farm; (2) the acreage of sugar beets and sugarcane for sugar grown on the farm in 1938; (3) two times the cotton, flue-cured tobacco, Burley tobacco, and fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco acreage allotments established for the farm; and (4) in the Western Region the normal acreage of summer fallow for the farm, not in excess of the wheat acreage allotment established for the farm.

SEC. V. Payments for partial performance.—Payments computed for any farm under the provisions of Section IV shall be subject to all the following deductions which are applicable to the farm:

A. Deductions for excess acreages of soil-depleting crops.—1. Cotton.—5 cents per pound of the normal yield for the farm for each acre of cotton in excess of the cotton acreage allotment.

2. Corn.—5 times the payment rate specified in section IV for the normal yield for the farm on the acreage by which the corn acreage exceeds the corn acreage allotment.

3. Tobacco, potatoes, and peanuts.—(a) 5 times the payment rate specified in Section IV for the normal yield for the farm on the acreages by which the fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco acreages exceed the acreage allotment for such types of tobacco.

(b) 10 times the payment rate specified in Section IV for the normal yield for the farm on the acreages by which the acreages of flue-cured tobacco, Burley tobacco, cigar filler and binder tobacco, Georgia-Florida Type 62 tobacco, potatoes, and peanuts for market exceed the respective acreage allotments established for such crops, and on farms for which potato acreage allotments are not established in designated commercial areas on each acre by which the acreage of potatoes for market exceeds three acres.

4. Rice.—8 times the payment rate specified in Section IV for the normal yield for the farm on the acreage by which the rice acreage exceeds the rice acreage allotment.

5. Commercial vegetables.—In counties designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as counties where commercial vegetables and potatoes or commercial vegetables and cigar filler (type 41) or binder (types 51, 52, and 53) tobacco are grown generally on the same farms, a deduction shall be made from the payment with respect to any farm having a potato or cigar filler and binder tobacco acreage allotment, for each acre on which commercial vegetables are grown in 1938 in excess of the annual average acreage on which commercial vegetables were grown on the farm in 1936 and 1937 (adjusted, where necessary, for the effect of abnormal weather conditions on plantings in such years), such deduction to be at the rate applicable to the farm under this section V with respect to potatoes or cigar filler and binder tobacco, whichever is less. On farms where adjustments for abnormal weather conditions are made in the acreage of commercial vegetables grown in 1936 and 1937 as provided in this item 5, such adjusted acreage shall also be used under item 2 of subsection C of Section IV in computing the payment with respect to the farm.

6. Total soil-depleting acreage allotments.—The following applicable rate for each acre of soil-depleting crops in excess of the total soil-depleting acreage allotment, less the acreages for which deductions are made under items 1 to 5, inclusive, of this subsection A:

(b) 8 times the rate of payment with respect to the general soil-depleting acreage allotment if the farm is a class A farm and a wheat acreage allotment is not established therefor.

(c) $6.00 per acre if the farm is a class B farm and a cotton, corn, tobacco, peanut, potato or rice acreage allotment but no wheat acreage allotment is established for the farm.

B. Deductions for failure to carry out soil-building practices and conservation measures.—1. $1.50 for each unit by which the soil-building goal is not reached.

2. $1.00 for each acre of restoration land on which there are not carried out in 1938 conservation measures specified by the county committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

C. Deduction for failure to prevent wind and water erosion.—$1.00 for each acre of land, other than restoration land, in an area designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as subject to serious wind or water erosion hazards, with respect to which there are not adopted in 1938 methods recommended by the State committee and approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for the prevention of wind or water erosion.

D. Deduction for breaking out of native sod.—$3.00 for each acre of native sod or any other land which has been cropped but is not classified as cropland or pasture land which, in areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as being areas subject to serious wind erosion or areas containing large acreages unsuited to continuing production of cultivated crops, is broken out during the period November 1, 1937, to October 31, 1938, inclusive, unless the breaking out of such land is approved by the county committee as a good farming practice and an equal acreage of cropland on the same farm is restored to permanent vegetative cover, such acreage of cropland to be in addition to that designated as restoration land.

SEC. VI. Division of payments and deductions.—A. Payments and deductions in connection with acreage allotments and restoration land goals.—The net payment or net deduction computed for any farm with respect to the corn, cotton, rice, wheat, tobacco, peanut, potato or general crop acreage allotment shall be divided among the landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers in the same proportion (as indicated by their acreage shares) that such persons are entitled, at the time the crop is harvested, to share in the proceeds (other than a fixed commodity payment) of the corn, cotton, rice, wheat, tobacco, peanut, potato or general crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1938.

The net payment or net deduction computed for any farm with respect to the restoration land goal shall be divided in the same proportion that any payment with respect to the wheat acreage allotment for such farm is divided among landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers, provided that if no payment is computed with respect to a wheat acreage allotment for such farm, payment with respect to the restoration land goal shall be divided in the same proportion that any payment in connection with the general crop acreage allotment for such farm is, or would be, divided among landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers. In the event that restoration land is designated for a farm which is not operated by a tenant in 1938, payment, if any, with respect to such restoration land goal shall be made to the owner of such farm.

In computing such net payments and net deductions with respect to acreage allotments and restoration land goals, the deduction with respect to commercial vegetables (item 5, subsection A, Section V) shall be regarded as a deduction with respect to the potato acreage allotment and the cigar filler (type 41) or binder (types 51, 52, and 53) tobacco acreage allotment, and the total amount of deductions computed under Section V with respect to (1) soil-depleting crops grown in excess of the total soil-depleting acreage allotment (item 6, subsection A); (2) failure to prevent wind and water erosion (subsection C); and (3) breaking out of native sod (subsection D) shall be regarded (a) as deductions with respect to the wheat acreage allotment and the general crop acreage allotment on class A farms; (b) as deductions with respect to the wheat acreage allotment on class B farms for which a wheat acreage allotment is established; (c) as deductions with respect to individual crop acreage allotments and the restoration land goal on class B farms for which a wheat acreage allotment is not established; or (d) as deductions with respect to the soil-building goal on class B farms for which no individual crop acreage allotments or restoration land goal is established.

In the event that corn, cotton, rice, wheat, tobacco, peanuts, potatoes or general crops are not harvested in 1938 on the farm the payment, if any, with respect to the acreage allotment for such crop, or group of crops, shall be divided among the landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers in the same proportion that the county committee determines that such persons would have shared in the proceeds of such crop had such crop been harvested on the farm in 1938.

B. Payments with respect to soil-building practices.—The amount of payment earned in connection with the soil-building goal for the farm shall be paid to the landlord, tenant or sharecropper who carried out the soil-building practices. If the county committee determines that more than one such person contributed to the carrying-out of soil-building practices on the farm in 1938, such payment shall be divided in the proportion that the units contributed by each such person to such practices bears to the total units of such practices carried out on the farm in 1938. Each person contributing to the practice carried out on a particular acreage shall be deemed to have contributed equally to the units of such practice unless such persons establish to the satisfaction of the county committee that their respective contributions thereto were not in equal proportion, in which event such unit shall be divided in the proportion which the county committee determines each such person contributed thereto.

C. Proration of net deductions.—If with respect to any farm the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on the farm exceeds the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on the farm, the net deduction computed for any person on the farm shall be prorated among the other persons on the farm for whom a net payment is computed in the proportion in which the net payment computed for any person is of the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on the farm. If, with respect to any farm the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on the farm equals or exceeds the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on the farm, no payment will be made with respect to such farm and the amount of such net deductions in excess of the net payments shall be prorated among the persons on the farm in the proportion which the net deduction computed for any person is of the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on the farm.

SEC. VII. Increase in small payments.—The total payment computed under Sections IV to VI, inclusive, for any person with respect to any farm shall be increased as follows:

(1) Any payment amounting to 71 cents or less shall be increased to $1.00;

(2) Any payment amounting to more than 71 cents but less than $1.00 shall be increased by 40 percent;

(3) Any payment amounting to $1.00 or more shall be increased in accordance with the following schedule:

Amount of payment computed	Increase in payment	Amount of payment computed	Increase in payment

$8.00 to $8.99	3.20	$39.00 to $39.99	11.80

SEC. VIII. Reductions incurred on other farms.—A. Other farms in the same county.—If the deductions computed under Section V with respect to any farm exceed the payment for full performance on such farm computed under Section IV, any person's share of the amount by which such deductions exceed such payments shall be deducted from such person's share of the payments which would otherwise be made to him with respect to any other farms in the county which he operates or rents to other persons for a share of the crops produced thereon.

B. Other farms in the State.—If the deductions computed for any person with respect to one or more farms in a county exceed the payments computed for such person on other farms in the county, the amount of such excess deductions shall be deducted from the payments computed for such person with respect to any other farms in the State which he operates or rents to other persons for a share of the crops produced thereon, if the State committee finds that the crops grown and practices adopted on the farms with respect to which such deductions are computed are such as substantially to offset the contribution to the program made on such other farms.

SEC. IX. Deduction for association expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments with respect to any farm all or such part as the Secretary may prescribe of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by the county agricultural conservation association in the county in which the farm is located.

SEC. X. Materials furnished as grants of aid.—Wherever it is found practicable limestone, superphosphate, trees, seeds, and other materials, upon request of the producer, may be furnished by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as grants of aid to be used in carrying out approved soil-building practices which shall be counted toward meeting the soil-building goal for the farm. Wherever such materials are furnished, a deduction from the payment for the farm shall be made in the amount of the approximate cost of such material to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Such deduction shall be applied first to the payment computed for the person to whom such materials are furnished, and the balance, if any, of such deduction shall be prorated among the payments to other persons sharing in the payment with respect to the farm on which such materials were used.

In making a request for materials pursuant to this section the producer to whom such materials are furnished shall agree that in the event the amount of the deduction for the materials exceeds the amount of the payment with respect to the farm the amount of such difference shall be repaid by him to the Secretary.

SEC. XI. General provisions relating to payments.—A. Payment restricted to effectuation of purposes of the program.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person under the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program may be withheld (1) if he has adopted any practice which the Secretary determines tends to defeat any of the purposes of the program, (2) if, by means of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or any other device, or in any manner whatsoever, he has offset, or has participated in offsetting, in whole or in part, the performance for which such payment is otherwise authorized, or (3) if, with respect to forestland or woodland owned or controlled by him, he adopts any practice which the regional director finds is contrary to sound conservation practices. If on any class B farm for which no wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco, peanut, potato, or rice acreage allotment is established, the acreage seeded to soil-depleting crops in 1938 is in excess of 50 acres and in excess of the total soil-depleting acreage allotment, the deduction provided in paragraph 6 (c) of subsection A of Section V shall be applicable to such farm if the county committee determines that the increase in soil-depleting crops was not due to the rotation of crops normally followed on the farm.

In areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as areas subject to serious wind erosion in 1938, no payment will be made to any person who the county committee finds has been negligent and careless in his farming practices in 1938 to the extent that any farm which he owns or operates has become a wind erosion hazard to the community in which such farm is located.

B. Payment computed and made without regard to claims.—Any payment or share of payment shall be computed and made without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances (except as provided in subsection D of this Section XI) and without regard to any claim or lien against any crop, or proceeds thereof, in favor of the owner or any other creditor.

C. Changes in leasing and cropping agreements, reduction in number of tenants, and other devices.—If on any farm in 1938 any change of the arrangements which existed on the farm in 1937 is made between the landlord and the tenants or sharecroppers and such change would cause a greater proportion of the payments to be made to the landlord under the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program than would have been made to the landlord for performance on the farm under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program, payments to the landlord under the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program with respect to the farm shall not be greater than the amount that would have been paid to the landlord if the arrangements which existed on the farm in 1937 had been continued in 1938, if the county committee certifies that the change is not justified and disapproves such change.

If, on any farm, the number of sharecroppers or share tenants in 1938 is less than the average number on the farm during the years 1935 to 1937, inclusive, and such reduction would increase the payments that would otherwise be made to the landlord, such payments to the landlord shall not be greater than the amount that would otherwise be made, if the county committee certifies that the reduction is not justified and disapproves such reduction.

If the State committee finds that any person who files an application for payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program has employed any other scheme or device, the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment under any agricultural conservation program to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold in whole or in part from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund in whole or in part, the amount of any payment which has been or would otherwise be made to such person in connection with the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program.

D. Assignments.—Any person who may be entitled to any payment in connection with the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program may assign his interest in such payment as security for cash loaned or advances made for the purpose of financing the making of a crop in 1938. No such assignment will be recognized unless (1) the assignment is made in writing on a form prescribed by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and is acknowledged by the farmer before the county agricultural extension agent and filed with such agent; (2) the farmer files with the assignment an affidavit showing that the assignment is made to pay or secure an indebtedness incurred in connection with financing the making of a 1938 crop and not to pay or secure any pre-existing indebtedness; and (3) the person to whom such assignment is made certifies that the payment is being assigned without discount for such purpose.

Nothing in the provisions of this section shall be construed to give an assignee a right to any payment other than that to which the farmer is entitled nor shall the Secretary or any disbursing agent be subject to any suit or liability if payment is made to the farmer without regard to the existence of any such assignment.

E. Excess cotton acreage.—Any person who has an interest in a farm on which cotton is planted in 1938 and who makes application for payment with respect to any farm, shall file with such application a statement verified by affidavit that the applicant has not knowingly planted or caused to be planted during 1938 cotton on land in any farm in which he has an interest in excess of the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm for 1938 under Section 344 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 in connection with cotton marketing quotas, and that cotton was not planted in excess of such allotment by his authority or with his consent.

Any person who knowingly plants cotton on his farm in 1938 on acreage in excess of the cotton acreage allotment for the farm established in connection with cotton marketing quotas under Section 344 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 and regulations issued in connection therewith shall not be eligible for any payment under the provisions of the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program. A person shall be presumed to have knowingly planted cotton on his farm on acreage in excess of such farm cotton acreage allotment if notice of his allotment is mailed to him prior to the completion of the planting of cotton on the farm unless the farmer establishes the fact that the excess acreage planted to cotton was due to his lack of knowledge of the number of acres in the tract(s) planted to cotton. Such notice, if mailed to the operator of the farm, shall be deemed to be notice to all persons sharing in the production of cotton thereon in 1938.

F. Use of soil-conserving crops for market.—No payment will be made with respect to any farm unless on such farm in 1938 an acreage, not devoted to soil-depleting crops, is withheld from the production of soil-conserving crops for market, equal to the acreage by which the normal acreage of soil-depleting crops on such farm exceeds the larger of (1) the total soil-depleting acreage allotment for the farm or (2) the acreage devoted to soil-depleting crops on the farm in 1938: Provided, That payment shall not be denied any farmer for using such soil-conserving crops for market (1) if in the county in which the farm is located the number of cows kept for the production of milk or products thereof for market does not exceed the normal number of such cows; (2) if on such farm the number of cows kept for the production of milk or the products thereof for market does not exceed the normal number of such cows; or (3) if the Agricultural Adjustment Administration determines either (a) that the farmer has substantially complied with the provisions of this paragraph, or (b) that the county, as a whole, is in substantial compliance with such provisions.

Any farmer shall be deemed to have substantially complied with the provisions of the foregoing paragraph either (1) if the increase above normal in the number of dairy cows on his farm does not exceed two cows; or (2) if none of the soil-conserving crops to which such provisions are applicable is used for market other than through the disposition of dairy livestock for slaughter or through the disposition of less than ten percent of the milk, or products thereof, produced on the farm. A county, as a whole, shall be deemed to be in substantial compliance with such provisions if the increase above normal in the number of dairy cows in the county does not exceed ten percent.

The normal acreage of soil-depleting crops and the normal number of cows kept for the production of milk, or the products thereof, for market shall be determined for any farm in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration shall determine from the latest available statistics of the Department and shall announce the counties in which the number of cows kept for the production of milk, or the products thereof, for market exceeds by more than ten percent the normal number of such cows.

As used in this subsection F, the term "for market" means for disposition by sale, barter, or exchange, or by feeding (in any form) to dairy livestock which, or the products of which, are to be sold, bartered, or exchanged, and such term shall not include consumption on the farm. An agricultural commodity shall be deemed to be consumed on the farm if consumed by the farmer's family, employees, or household, or if fed to poultry or livestock other than dairy livestock on his farm, or if fed to dairy livestock on his farm and such dairy livestock, or the products thereof, are to be consumed by his family, employees, or household. As used in this subsection F, the term "soil-conserving crops" means grasses and legumes grown on cropland except those classified as soil-depleting under Section XIII hereof.

SEC. XII. Application for payment.—A. Persons eligible to file applications.—An application for payment with respect to a farm may be made by any person for whom, under the provisions of Section VI a share in the payment with respect to the farm may be computed and (1) who at the time of harvest is entitled to share in the crops grown on the farm under a lease or operating agreement, or (2) who is owner of such farm and participates thereon in 1938 in carrying out approved soil-building practices or in carrying out conservation measures designed to promote restoration of a permanent vegetative cover on restoration land.

B. Time and manner of filing application and information required.—Payment will be made only upon application submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right (1) to withhold payment from any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm which such person is operating or renting to another person for a share of the crops grown thereon, and (2) to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the regional director. At least two weeks' notice to the public shall be given of the expiration of a time limit for filing prescribed forms. Such notice shall be given by mailing the same to the office of each county committee and making copies of the same available to the press.

C. Applications for other farms.—If a person has the right to receive all or a portion of the crops or proceeds therefrom, produced on more than one farm in a county and makes application for payment with respect to one of such farms, such person must make application for payment with respect to all such farms which he operates or rents to other persons. Upon request by the State committee such person shall also file with the committee such information as it may request regarding any other farm in the State with respect to which he has the right to receive all or a portion of the crops or proceeds thereof.

SEC. XIII. Soil-Depleting crops.—Land devoted in 1938 to any of the following crops or uses or such other similar crops and uses as are designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration shall be classified as soil-depleting.

A. Land planted to the following crops for harvest in 1938:

1. Corn (including field corn, sweet corn, and popcorn, but excluding sewn or close-drilled corn used as a cover crop or green manure crop).
2. Tobacco (except that Georgia-Florida Type 62 tobacco shall be classified as provided in the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program Bulletin, Supplement No. 2).
3. Grain sorghums.
4. Cotton.
5. Sugar beets.
6. Sugarcane.
7. Rice.
8. Peanuts harvested for nuts.

B. Land planted to wheat harvested for grain or hay in 1938 or any other land planted to wheat between August 1, 1937 and July 31, 1938, except:

1. When, in the North Central Region, the acreage of such crop seeded in the fall of 1937 is pastured before May 1, 1938 and thereafter sufficiently pastured or tilled to prevent grain formation, or is tilled before May 1, 1938 in preparation for another crop or for a use other than the harvesting of the acreage of such crop for grain or hay; or
2. When, in humid areas other than in the North Central Region designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the acreage of such crop is used as a nurse crop or cover crop and is not harvested for grain or hay; or
3. When in designated non-humid areas of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, and New Mexico, the acreage of such crop seeded in the fall of 1937 is tilled, before a date to be specified by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, in preparation for another crop or in connection with an approved conservation measure, Provided, That in such areas the conservation measure to be instituted before the specified date shall be approved by the county committee and the land to be so handled shall be designated in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration; or
4. When the acreage is seeded to true type winter wheat in the spring of 1938 (prior to June 15) on non-irrigated cropland and such crop is used only as a pasture or cover crop (applicable only in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Utah); or
5. When the acreage of such crop is used as a green manure crop in orchards, or on commercial vegetable or potato land or such other land as may be designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

C. Land planted to oats (except when used in Washington and Oregon as a support crop for vetch or Austrian field peas harvested for seed), barley, rye, flax, emmer, speltz, or mixtures of these crops between August 1, 1937 and July 31, 1938, except:

1. When a good stand and good growth of such crop is used as a green manure crop in orchards, or on commercial vegetable or potato land, or such other land as may be designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration; or
2. When such crop is used as a nurse crop or cover crop and is not harvested for grain or hay and not used in any area in any other manner determined by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to be soil-depleting in such area.

D. Land planted in 1938 to buckwheat, sweet sorghums, Sudan grass, millet, or sown or close-drilled corn harvested for grain, seed, sirup, or silage, or used in any areas in any other manner determined by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to be soil-depleting in such area.

E. Land planted in 1938 to field peas harvested for peas or soybeans harvested for seed for crushing, or used in any area in any other manner determined by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to be soil-depleting in such area.

F. Land summer fallowed in the States of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Utah: Provided, however, That if such summer-fallowed acreage is seeded in 1938 to perennial grasses or perennial legumes in accordance with good farming practice such acreage shall not be classified as soil-depleting.

G. Land summer fallowed in any area if such summer-fallowed acreage is not protected from wind and water erosion by methods recommended by the State committee and approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The acreage of land which is devoted consecutively to two or more of the above soil-depleting crops in 1938 shall be counted as follows: If only one of such crops reaches maturity such land shall be regarded as devoted to the crop reaching maturity. If none of such crops reaches maturity or if more than one of such crops reach maturity and an individual crop acreage allotment is established for only one of such crops, such land shall be regarded as devoted to the crop for which an individual crop acreage allotment is established. If none of such crops reaches maturity and individual crop acreage allotments are established for two or more of such crops, the land shall be regarded as devoted to the last planted of such crops for which an individual crop acreage allotment is established. If two or more of such crops reach maturity and individual crop acreage allotments are established for two or more of such crops reaching maturity, the land shall be regarded as devoted to each of the crops which reached maturity and for which an individual crop acreage allotment is established. If two or more of such crops reach maturity or if none of such crops reaches maturity and individual crop acreage allotments are not established for any of such crops the land shall be regarded as devoted to the last planted of such crops.

The acreage of land which is devoted simultaneously to two or more of the above soil-depleting crops shall be divided among such crops on the basis of the land determined, in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, to be devoted to each.

In connection with determinations regarding the maturity of crops, canning peas will be deemed to have reached maturity when such crops are harvested for canning and field corn, sweet corn, and popcorn hogged off or cut for silage, fodder or other similar uses, will be deemed to have reached maturity.

If a corn acreage allotment is established for any farm, all acreages of field corn, sweet corn, and popcorn will be regarded as corn acreage for the purpose of determining whether the corn acreage allotment for such farm has been exceeded, except (1) any acreage of sweet corn contracted to be sold for canning; (2) any acreage of sweet corn sold for canning or roasting ears; and (3) any acreage of popcorn sold as popcorn.

In areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as areas where cropland is commonly divided into regularly-shaped fields, in order for a portion of a field (other than cropland strip-cropped, strip-fallowed or contour farmed) not to be classified as soil-depleting such portion of the field must be in a solid block contiguous to the side or end of the field and the line between such portion and the remaining portion of the field must be straight.

Land devoted to volunteer crops harvested shall be classified as if such crops were planted.

SEC. XIV. Soil-building practices.—Such of the soil-building practices listed in the following schedule as the Agricultural Adjustment Administration determines are adapted to any region and should be encouraged in such region shall count toward the achievement of the soil-building goal to the extent indicated therein, when such practices are carried out in 1938 in areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and in accordance with specifications issued by the regional director or by the State committee with the approval of the regional director. The areas designated for any soil-building practice shall be areas in which such practice is desirable and necessary as a conservation measure. The specifications issued shall be such as to assure that the soil-building practice will be performed in workmanlike manner and in accordance with good farming practice for the locality.

Practices carried out with labor, seed, trees, and materials furnished entirely by any Federal or State agency other than the Agricultural Adjustment Administration shall not be counted toward the achievement of the soil-building goal. If a portion of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in carrying out any practice is furnished by a State or Federal agency other than the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and such portion represents one-half or more of the total cost of carrying out such practice, such practice shall not be counted toward the achievement of the soil-building goal; if such portion represents less than half of the total cost of carrying out such practice, one-half of such practice shall be counted toward the achievement of the soil-building goal.

If trees are purchased from a Clark-McNary Cooperative State Nursery such purchases shall not be deemed to be paid for in whole or in part by a State or Federal agency.

SCHEDULE OF SOIL-BUILDING PRACTICES

A. Each of the following practices in the amounts specified shall be counted as one unit, provided that, when the materials specified in items 1, 2, or 3 are applied to biennial or perennial legumes, perennial grasses, winter legumes, lespedeza, crotalaria, or Natal grass seeded or grown in connection with a soil-depleting crop, only such proportionate part, if any, of the material applied shall be counted as is specified by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

B. Each acre of the following shall be counted as one unit:

1. Seeding biennial legumes, perennial legumes, perennial grasses (other than timothy or redtop), or mixtures (other than a mixture consisting solely of timothy and redtop) containing perennial grasses, perennial legumes, or biennial legumes (except alfalfa and permanent pasture mixtures qualifying under practice No. 1 of subsection C of this Section XIV).

2. Seeding winter legumes, annual lespedeza, annual ryegrass, crotalaria, sesbania, or annual sweet clover.

Green manure crops and cover crops (excluding (1) lespedeza, (2) any crop for which credit is given in 1938 under any other practice, (3) wheat on nonirrigated land except in humid areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and (4) such other crops as may be determined as not qualifiable for any area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration) of which a good stand and good growth is (1) plowed or disced under on land not subject to erosion, or if subject to erosion, such crop is followed by a winter cover crop, or (2) left on land subject to erosion or in orchards or on commercial vegetable or potato land, or on such other land as is designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

C. Each acre of the following shall be counted as two units:

1. Seeding hardy northern-grown domestic or Canadian alfalfa (applicable only in the Northeast Region).

2. Seeding permanent pasture mixtures containing a full seeding of legumes or grasses or both other than timothy and redtop (applicable only in the Northeast Region and on class B farms in the Southern Region).

3. Cultivating, protecting, and maintaining by replanting if necessary, a good stand of forest trees, planted between January 1, 1934, and January 1, 1938.

4. With prior approval of the county committee, improving a stand of forest trees under such approved system of farm woodlot management as is specified by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

5. Establishment of permanent vegetative cover by planting sod pieces of perennial grasses.

D. Each acre of the following shall be counted as five units:

1. Planting forest trees (including shrubs in protective plantings) provided such trees are protected and cultivated in accordance with good tree-culture practice.

2. Control of seriously infested plots of perennial noxious weeds, designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, on cropland in organized weed control districts, in accordance with good chemical or tillage methods.

3. Applying sand free from stones or loam to a depth of at least one-half inch on fruiting cranberry bogs.

E. Each two acres of the following shall be counted as one unit:

1. Summer legumes not classified as soil-depleting (interplanted or grown in combination with soil-depleting crops) of which a good stand and a good growth is left on the land or plowed or disced under.

2. Renovation of perennial legumes and mixtures of perennial grasses and legumes.

3. Seeding timothy or redtop or a mixture consisting solely of timothy and redtop.

4. Protecting muck land subject to serious wind erosion by establishing or maintaining approved shrub windbreaks.

Leaving on the land as a protection against wind erosion (only in wind erosion areas, which will be designated by the regional director) the stalks of sorghums or Sudan grass, classified as soil-depleting, where it is determined by the county committee that such cover is necessary as a protection against wind erosion and the operator's farming plan provides that such cover will be left on the land until the spring of 1939.

2. Restoration of farm woodlots, normally overgrazed, by non-grazing during the normal pasture season. Credit will not be allowed for more than two acres of woodland for each animal unit normally grazed on such woodland.

4. Stripcropping other than for protection of summer-fallowed acreage.

5. Protecting summer-fallowed acreage from wind and water erosion by contour or basin listing, stripcropping, or incorporating small-grain stubble and straw into the surface soil. No credit will be given for this practice on any farm when carried out on light sandy soils or on soils in any area where destruction of the vegetative cover has resulted in the land becoming subject to serious wind erosion.

G. Each six acres of the following shall be counted as one unit:

1. Controlling soil erosion by contour cultivation of intertilled crops (applicable only in the Northeast Region).

H. Each eight acres of the following shall be counted as one unit:

2. Basin listing (not on the contour). No credit will be given for this practice when carried out on protected summer-fallowed acreage or as a part of a seeding operation.

3. Natural vegetative cover or small-grain stubble of crops harvested in 1938 left on cropland not tilled after July 1, 1938, where it is determined by the county committee that such cover is necessary as a protection against wind erosion and the operator's farming plan provides that such cover will be left on the land until the spring of 1939 (applicable only in wind erosion areas in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, and New Mexico, such areas to be designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration).

SEC. XV. Normal yields and productivity indexes.—A. Normal yields of special soil-depleting crops.—The county committee with the assistance of other local committees in the county shall determine for each farm for which a cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco, peanut or potato acreage allotment is to be established a normal yield for each such crop in accordance with the provisions of this section and instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

1. Cotton.—(a) Where reliable records of the actual average yield of cotton per acre for the years 1933 to 1937, inclusive, are presented by the farmer or are available to the committee, the normal yield for the farm shall be the average of such yields adjusted, in the manner provided in subsection C below, for abnormal weather conditions.

(b) If for any year of such five-year period records of the actual average yield are not available or there was no actual yield because cotton was not planted on the farm in such year, the county committee shall ascertain from all the available facts, including the yield customarily secured on the farm, weather conditions, type of soil, drainage, production practices, and general fertility of the land, the yield which was or could reasonably have been expected on the farm for such year, and the yield so determined shall be used as the actual yield for such year under paragraph (a) of this subdivision 1.

(c) The average of all the yields so determined for all farms in a county or administrative area (weighted by cotton acreage allotments established for such farms) shall be adjusted so as to conform to the county (or administrative area) average yield established by the Secretary.

2. Corn and wheat.—(a) Where reliable records of the actual average yield per acre of corn or wheat, as the case may be, for the years 1928 to 1937, inclusive, are presented by the farmer or are available to the committee, the normal yield for the farm shall be the average of such yields adjusted for trends and adjusted in the manner provided in subsection C below for abnormal weather conditions, and

(b) If for any year of such ten-year period reliable records of the actual average yield are not available or there was no actual yield because the commodity was not planted on the farm in such year, the county committee shall ascertain from all the available facts, including the yield customarily secured on the farm, weather conditions, type of soil, drainage, production practices and general fertility of the land the yield which was or could reasonably have been expected on the farm for such year, and the yield so determined shall be used as the actual yield for such year under paragraph (a) of this subdivision 2. Where the productivity index most recently established for the farm in connection with the agricultural conservation programs is determined by the county committee to be an accurate reflection of the foregoing factors, the yield obtained by multiplying such index by the county average yield for such year shall be used as the actual yield for such year. If for any combination of years in such ten-year period reliable records of the actual average yield are not available or there was no actual yield during such years, the yield obtained by multiplying such index by the county average yield for such combination of years shall be the actual yield for each year of such combination of years.

(c) The average of all the yields so determined for all farms in such county (weighted respectively by the corn or wheat acreage allotments established for such farms) shall be adjusted so as to conform to the county average yield established by the Secretary.

3. Rice.—(a) Where reliable records of the actual average yield of rice per acre for the years 1933 to 1937, inclusive, are presented by the farmer or are available to the committee, the normal yield of rice for the farm shall be the average of such yields.

(b) If for any year of such five-year period records of the actual average yield are not available or there was no actual yield because rice was not planted on the farm in such year, the county committee shall ascertain from all the available facts, including the yield customarily secured on the farm, weather conditions, type of soil, drainage, production practices, and general fertility of the land, the yield which was or could reasonably have been expected on the farm for such year, and the yield so determined shall be used as the actual yield for such year under paragraph (a) of this subdivision 3.

(c) If the average of the normal yields for all lands planted to rice in 1938 in the State (weighted by the rice acreage allotments therein) exceeds the average yield per acre for the State during the period 1933 to 1937, inclusive, established by the Secretary, the normal yields for such lands, determined under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subdivision 3, shall be reduced pro rata so that the average of such normal yields shall not exceed such State average yield.

4. Tobacco, peanuts, potatoes.—(a) The normal yield of tobacco, peanuts for market, or potatoes, as the case may be, for any farms shall be the yield which may reasonably be expected from the land devoted to the production of the crop in 1938 with due consideration for type of soil, drainage, production practices, general fertility of the land and the yield of such crop customarily secured on the farm. The average yield for all farms in any county with respect to any such crop shall not exceed the county average yield for the crop established by the Secretary.

B. Productivity Indexes.—The Secretary shall establish for each county a county productivity index or per-acre rate which will vary among the counties as the productivity of the cropland in the county devoted to the production of general soil-depleting crops varies as compared with the productivity of cropland in the United States devoted to the production of such crops.

A productivity index or rate per acre shall be established in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for each class A farm by the county committee, subject to the approval of the State committee. Such productivity index or rate per acre shall be based upon the normal yield per acre for the farm of the major soil-depleting crop in the county as compared with the normal yield per acre for such crop in the county. Where the yield of the major soil-depleting crop in the county does not accurately reflect the productivity of a farm, the yield of a crop that reflects the productivity of the farm may be used, provided that the productivity index or rate per acre for such farm shall be adjusted, if necessary, so as to be fair and equitable as compared with the productivity indexes or rates per acre for other farms in the county having similar soils or productive capacity, and as contrasted with other farms in the county having different soils or productive capacity.

The average productivity index or per-acre rate for all farms in the county shall not exceed 100 or the county per-acre rate, respectively, unless it is determined that farms for which such indexes or rates per acre are established are not representative of all farms in the county and a variation from 100 or the county per-acre rate is approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

C. Adjustment for abnormal weather conditions.—In determining normal yields for cotton, corn, and wheat, respectively, if on account of drought, flood, insect pests, plant disease, or other uncontrollable natural causes the yield in any year of the five-year or ten-year period, as the case may be, as determined under subsection A, 1 in the case of cotton, or subsection A, 2 in the case of corn or wheat, is less than 75 percent of the average computed without regard to such year, such year shall be eliminated in calculating the normal yield per acre.

SEC. XVI. Appeals.—Any person who considers himself aggrieved by any recommendation or determination of the county committee with respect to any farm in which he has an interest may, within 15 days after notice thereof is forwarded to or available to him, request the county committee in writing to reconsider its recommendation or determination with respect to any of the following matters: (a) eligibility to file an application for payment; (b) any soil-depleting acreage allotment or soil-building goal; (c) the division of payment; or (d) any other matter affecting the right to or the amount of his payment with respect to the farm. The county committee shall notify such person of its decision in writing within 15 days after receipt of such written request for reconsideration. If such person is dissatisfied with the decision of the county committee he may, within 15 days after such decision is forwarded to or made available to him, appeal in writing to the State committee. The State committee shall notify such person of its decision in writing within 30 days after the receipt of the appeal. If such person is dissatisfied with the decision of the State committee, he may, within 15 days after such decision is forwarded to or made available to him, request the regional director to review the decision of the State committee.

SEC. XVII. State and regional bulletins, instructions, and forms.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration shall prepare and issue such State and regional bulletins, instructions, and forms as may be required in administering the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program.

1. Any other adjacent or nearby farm land operated by the same person (as part of the same unit with respect to the rotation of crops and with workstock, farm machinery, and labor substantially separate from that for any other land), the inclusion of which is requested or agreed to, within the time and in the manner specified by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, by the operator and all the owners who are entitled to share in the proceeds of the crops on any of the land to be included in the farm, which request and agreement shall be applicable to the designation of the land included in such farm both under the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program and under the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938; and

A farm shall be regarded as located in the county or administrative area, as the case may be, in which the principal dwelling is situated, or if there is no dwelling thereon, it shall be regarded as located in the county or administrative area, as the case may be, in which the major portion of the farm is located.

Class A farms are farms for which general crop acreage allotments are established and include:

1. All farms in the North Central Region and in North Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Class B farms means all farms which are not class A farms.

Cropland means farm land which is tilled annually or in a regular rotation, excluding commercial orchards, restoration land, and any land which constitutes, or will constitute if such tillage is continued, a wind erosion hazard to the community, but including any other land which has been planted since January 1, 1930 to permanent pasture or forest trees and which was classified as cropland under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program, and including also land planted to noncommercial orchards other than abandoned orchards.

Restoration Land means farm land, in areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as areas subject to serious wind erosion and areas containing large acreages unsuited to continued production of cultivated crops, which has been cropped at least once since January 1, 1930, and which is designated by the county committee as land on which, because of its physical condition and texture and because of climatic conditions, a permanent vegetative cover should be restored.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION.

[Order No. 34]

IN THE MATTER OF UNIFORM SYSTEMS OF ACCOUNTS FOR COMMON CARRIERS BY WIRE AND RADIO

The Commission at a meeting held on February 21, 1938, adopted the following order:

The Commission having under consideration the matter of uniform systems of accounts for common carriers by wire and radio;

Whereas recently pursued studies relating to the accounting for pensions and other forms of employees' benefits are indicative of the desirability of the institution or modification of certain pertinent accounting regulations; and

Whereas it appears that the most desirable results in this respect, from the viewpoints of employees, users, investors, and efficient management, can be obtained only if the Commission has readily accessible detailed knowledge of all features of the benefit plans that have been adopted by such carriers:

Now, therefore, particularly in view of the provisions of section 220 (a), regarding the prescribing by the Commission of any and all accounts, records, and memoranda; the provisions of section 219 (b), regarding the filing of special reports; and all other pertinent sections of the Communications Act of 1934:

It is ordered, That every common carrier by wire or radio subject to the said Act shall at the time, or within the limits of time, hereinafter stipulated, supply the following information:

1. Irrespective of the plan of related accounting now or at any time pursued, copies of the text (or if such does not exist, a comprehensive outline) of the original plan (adopted by respondent or to which respondent is or was a party) for pensions, sick benefits, disability benefits, death benefits, termination allowances, or any other benefits, paid or payable to active or retired employees, their representatives or beneficiaries; together with copies of the text, the dates, and effective dates of all amendments, modifications, abolishments, or other changes in all such plans as now are, or have been at any time in force.

2. In connection with every such benefit plan, further detailed copies or (only when the word "copies" is not appropriate) statements; (1) on original basis and (2) with respect to the content, dates, and effective dates of all amendments, modifications, abolishments, and other changes; in the following particulars:

(a) The facts, if any, that in the respondent's judgment establish a contractual relationship requiring the payment of pensions or other benefits.

(b) The declaration of trust under which a pension or other benefit fund, if any, has been established.

(c) The actuarial formulae (or processes stated in simplified form) governing the creation and continuation of each such trust or other similar fund or provident or other similar reserve as may be or has been established with a view to the payment of pensions or other benefits.

(d) The plan of accounting for each of the types of benefits (1) paid or (2) regarding the eventual payment of which provision has been made in the accounts.

It is further ordered, That with respect to all the foregoing matters, other than future changes, responses be filed within the thirty days next following the date of this order; and that with respect to every future change (in a benefit plan, trust agreement, actuarial formula, plan of accounting, or other matter hereinbefore specified) made or definitely contemplated, the Commission be advised at the earliest practicable date, Provided, That, in the event of any change actually made, such filing shall be within the thirty days next following the effective date of such change: And further provided That, in the event that any change will involve or produce a "change in accounting", the change shall not be made until after filing of the appropriate detailed documentary copy or statement with this Commission for its consideration and such action as it deems appropriate.

It is further ordered, That with respect to the matters treated in this order "change in accounting" shall mean every change in the benefit plan, actuarial procedure, plan of accounting itself, or otherwise, that will involve or produce changes in the amounts periodically entering any account for any reason other than a change in the amount of a payroll.

It is further ordered, That nothing contained in this order shall be viewed as changing or in any way affecting the requirements of any uniform system of accounts effective under the provisions of the Communications Act of 1934, but, in order to avoid duplicative requirements,

It is further ordered, That any carrier, which in answer to any order, accounting regulation, or request of this Commission has supplied one or more of the items of information sought by this order, shall be viewed as having responded properly with respect to the particular item or items after having made specific reference in answer to the item under this order to the responsive data otherwise supplied.

It is further ordered, That, in the event that any or all of the requirements of this order are not applicable to a carrier subject to the Communications Act of 1934, a response stating such fact shall be filed with this Commission within the thirty days next following the date of this order and that a carrier's status in this respect shall in no manner affect its responsibility for subsequent reportings in the event of future adoption, change, or other significant event or circumstance.

It is further ordered, That the term "changes" hereinbefore used shall include the variation (1) in the terms of the benefit plan; (2) in the accounting for the benefits; or (3) elsewhere, due to social security legislation, but for the purposes of this order, the payment of taxes pursuant to the Social Security Act shall not of itself be viewed as constituting adoption of, or becoming a party to, a benefit plan.

By the Commission.

Be it further resolved, That, it being deemed that this amendment is of an emergency character, said amendment shall be effective immediately.

Adopted by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board on February 28, 1938.

MACDONALD, AN INDIVIDUAL, ALEX MAIN, AN INDIVIDUAL, AND JACK FORRESTER, AN INDIVIDUAL, INDIVIDUALLY AND AS REPRESENTATIVE MEMBERS OF SAID ASSOCIATION, RESPONDENTS

FINDINGS AS TO THE FACTS AND CONCLUSION

Pursuant to the provisions of an Act of Congress approved September 26, 1914, entitled "An Act to create a Federal Trade Commission, to define its powers and duties, and for other purposes" (the Federal Trade Commission Act) and pursuant to the provisions of an Act of Congress approved October 15, 1914, entitled "An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies and for other purposes" (the Clayton Act), as amended by "An Act to amend Section 2 of the Act entitled 'An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies and for other purposes' approved October 15, 1914 as amended (U. S. C. Title 15, Section 13), and for other purposes" (the Robinson-Patman Act), the Federal Trade Commission, on August 18th, 1937, issued, and subsequently served, its amended complaint in this proceeding upon the respondents named in the caption hereof, charging them with the use of unfair methods of competition in commerce, in violation of the provisions of said Federal Trade Commission Act, and with acts and practices in violation of Sub-Sections 2 (a), 2 (d), and 2 (f) of Section 2 of said Clayton Act as amended.

After issuance and service of said amended complaint, respondents filed their answers thereto, making general denial of the substantial allegations of the complaint. Subsequently all the respondents petitioned the Federal Trade Commission for permission to withdraw said answers and to file in lieu thereof substitute answers to the complaint, in which substitute answers respondents admitted, for the purposes of this proceeding only, all the material allegations of said complaint except the facts alleged in Paragraph Seven, sub-sections 1 and 2, and Paragraph Eight, sub-section 3, of Count I, and the same allegations as adopted and made a part of Paragraph One of Count II of the Amended Complaint—all of which allegations were severally denied. Pursuant to permission granted by the Commission, said original answers were withdrawn by said respondents and said substitute answers were filed in lieu thereof. Said respondents also consented therein that the Commission might proceed to make its findings of fact without further proceedings and that an order might issue and be served upon the respondents requiring them to cease and desist from the unfair methods of competition alleged in the complaint. The said Commission having duly considered the above and being fully advised in the premises, finds that this proceeding is in the interest of the public and makes this its findings as to the facts and its conclusion drawn therefrom.

The above named respondents do not constitute the entire membership of the respondent "Manufacturers' Association" but are representative members thereof. All members of the respondent "Manufacturers' Association" were made parties respondent herein as a class of which those specifically named are representative of the whole. For convenience the above named respondents will hereinafter be referred to as members of the "Manufacturers' Association".

PAR. 3. The respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" cause their golf balls when sold to be transported to purchasers thereof located in the various states of the United States. They are in competition among themselves, except in so far as their said competition has been hindered, lessened, restricted or restrained or potential competition among them forestalled by their practices and methods hereinafter particularly described and set forth. There are other manufacturers and wholesalers of golf balls, who sell and distribute their said products in the various states of the United States, and who, in the ordinary course of their business, seek the same customers that are sought by the respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association." These non-member manufacturers and wholesalers also cause their golf balls to be shipped and transported from the various points of manufacture and sale in certain states through and into other states of the United States. They are also in competition among themselves and with respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" except in so far as their said competition has been hindered, lessened, restricted or restrained or potential competition forestalled as a result of the use of the practices and methods by the parties respondent hereinafter described. The respondent "Manufacturers' Association" and its officers are not engaged in commerce, but are engaged in unfair methods, hereafter described, which directly affect competition among respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" and non-member manufacturers and wholesalers of golf balls, and also directly affect the competition in the sale of golf balls, between and among retail dealers located in the various states of the United States engaged in the retail sale of said products.

PAR. 4. The respondent, Professional Golfers' Association of America, hereinafter for convenience referred to as "PGA", is an unincorporated trade association, with an office at 14 East Jackson Boulevard, in the City of Chicago, Illinois. The officers of said respondent "PGA" are respondents George R. Jacobus, President, Jack B. Mackie, Treasurer, and Tom Walsh, Secretary. Respondent "PGA" is a non-profit association organized and created for the purpose of promoting the game of golf and the general welfare and interests of its members who are engaged in the sale of golf balls and golf equipment.

Its membership consists of approximately 1500 of an estimated total of 2500 professional golfers who are engaged in the retail sale of golf balls and golf equipment throughout the country. Among the members of said respondent "PGA" are respondents C. M. Irwin, Tom Kerrigan, Joe Bradley, Jim Dante, Jack Fox, Jack Hagen, John Inglis,

R. C. MacDonald, Alex Main, and Jack Forrester, all individuals, engaged in the retail sale of golf balls and golf equipment. The above named members of said respondent "PGA" do not constitute the entire membership thereof but are representative members thereof. All members of respondent "PGA" were made respondents herein, as a class, of which those specifically named are representative of the whole. Said respondent members are hereinafter for convenience collectively referred to as respondent members of "PGA".

The respondent members of "PGA" are in competition with one another in the retail sale of golf balls to consumers in the various localities in which they respectively operate, except in so far as their said competition has been hindered, lessened, restricted or restrained or potential competition among them forestalled by the practices and methods of the parties respondent hereinafter specifically described and set forth. There are numerous other retailers of golf balls who are non-members of respondent "PGA" who are engaged in the sale of such products to consumers in the various localities and trade areas in the United States in competition with one another and with one or more of respondent members of "PGA", except in so far as such competition has been hindered, lessened, restricted or restrained or potential competition among them forestalled by the use of the practices and methods of the parties respondent hereinafter described. All or nearly all of respondent members of "PGA" and their competitors above mentioned are engaged in purchasing golf balls from manufacturers or wholesalers thereof which are transported from one state to and through other states to them as a result of such purchases and in reselling the same to customers located in the various trade areas in which they respectively operate. All of said respondent members of "PGA" are engaged in unfair methods, as hereinafter set forth, which directly and substantially affect competition among themselves, and between themselves and other retail dealers, and among the manufacturers and wholesalers of said products.

PAR. 5. The respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" own and control practically all the factories engaged in the production of golf balls in the United States and produce most of the golf balls sold and distributed in this country. The respondent members of "PGA" constitute a group of retailers of golf balls so large and influential in the trade as to be able by themselves and in cooperation with respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" to control and influence the flow of trade and channels of distribution in golf balls throughout the country, as well as the prices at which, and the terms and conditions under which non-member retailers of golf balls buy and resell such products.

PAR. 6. The parties respondent named herein have within the past several years agreed, combined and united in and pursued a common and concerted course of action and undertaking, among themselves and with others, to adopt, follow, carry out, enforce, fix and maintain throughout the United States, certain monopolistic prices, policies, sales methods, and trade practices, hereinafter described, which the said parties respondent have agreed to and pursued to the substantial or potential injury of some of such manufacturers, wholesalers and retail dealers and of ultimate purchasers and consumers of golf balls.

PAR. 7. The said monopolistic prices, sales methods, policies and trade practices referred to in the preceding paragraph and which were so adopted, fixed, and put into effect are as follows:

1. A policy and practice of coercing, in connection with the sale of golf balls to respondent members of "PGA", manufacturers and wholesalers of golf balls to enter into contracts with the respondent "PGA" providing for the payment of monies to the respondent "PGA" for the privilege of causing the letters "PGA" to be imprinted on the golf balls so sold.

2. A policy and practice of causing, permitting and allowing the respondent "PGA" to remit and pass along to its members a designated percentage of the monies paid by manufacturers and wholesalers to respondent "PGA" under the aforesaid contracts.

3. A policy and practice of causing, permitting, and allowing the respondent "PGA" to use the funds derived from the payment of monies under the aforesaid contracts for the purpose of promoting and creating a preference on the part of the purchasing public for golf balls having the letters "PGA" imprinted thereon to golf balls of equal quality and value offered for sale and sold by retail competitors of the respondent members of "PGA".

4. The policy and practice of requiring that all manufacturers and wholesalers of golf balls who manufacture and sell balls under the aforesaid contracts observe the provisions of said contracts with respect to the maintenance of uniform prices as between members of the respondent "PGA" and other retail dealer purchasers who are non-members of respondent "PGA" in the sale of their golf balls of equal grade and quality.

5. A policy or practice of granting, giving or allowing members of the respondent "PGA" a discount on purchases of golf balls commensurate with the designated percentage of the aforesaid payments to be received by them in lieu of said designated percentage.

6. A policy and practice of requiring that all manufacturers and wholesalers of golf balls who sell their products to members of respondent "PGA" refrain and abstain from giving, allowing or granting in any way or manner any rebate, discount, royalty, or refund in any manner or form to retail purchasers who are not members of respondent "PGA".

7. A policy and practice of persuading, coercing and compelling retail dealers in golf balls who are not members of respondent "PGA" to refrain, abstain and desist from selling golf balls at a price less than that designated by the parties respondent herein.

8. Generally, a policy and practice designed to and tending to monopolize the sale and distribution of golf balls in the parties respondent herein.

PAR. 8. For the purpose of making such sales practices, policies and pricing methods effective, and of requiring compliance therewith and observance thereof by all manufacturers, wholesalers, and retail dealers in golf balls throughout the United States, the parties respondent herein, acting through their officers, directors, committees, and individually, in furtherance of and in pursuance of the general plan, undertaking, and policy, have collectively as groups or individually done the following things:

1. Formulated, adopted, followed, carried out, enforced, imposed and made effective the policies, practices and methods described in the preceding paragraph.

2. Held official and unofficial meetings of said respondent associations and their members at which the policies and practices hereinabove described were discussed, adopted and agreed to, and issued bulletins, circulars, letters, price lists and other printed matter, and distributed the same among the members of said respondent associations and others, announcing the adoption of the policies, practices and requirements referred to and the imposition of the same upon all affected thereby.

3. Caused manufacturers and wholesalers of golf balls who sell their products to members of respondent "PGA" to enter into contracts with respondent "PGA" providing for the payment of money to respondent "PGA" for the privilege of causing the letters "PGA" to be imprinted on their golf balls.

4. Caused, permitted, and allowed the respondent "PGA" to remit and pass along to its members a designated percentage of the monies paid by the manufacturers and wholesalers to the respondent "PGA" under the aforesaid contracts.

5. Caused, permitted and allowed the respondent "PGA" to use the funds derived from the payment of monies under the aforesaid contracts for the purpose of promoting the interests and welfare of its members to the disadvantage of retail dealers in golf balls who are not members of said respondent "PGA."

6. Respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" have observed the provisions of the aforesaid contracts with respect to the maintenance of uniform prices as between members of the "PGA" and others than members of the "PGA" in the sale of golf balls of equal grade and quality to those sold to members of the "PGA" under the provisions of said contracts.

7. Respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" have given and allowed members of respondent "PGA" a discount on purchases of golf balls commensurate with the designated percentage of the aforesaid payments of money to be received by them in lieu of said percentage thereof.

8. Respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" refuse and refrain from giving, allowing, or granting in any way or manner any rebate, discount, royalty, or refund in any manner or form to retail dealer purchasers who are not members of respondent "PGA."

9. The parties respondent herein have persuaded, coerced and compelled retail dealers in golf balls who are not members of the respondent "PGA" to refrain, abstain and desist from selling golf balls at a price less than that designated by them.

10. Respondents generally have sought and have obtained promises and assurances of cooperation from one another in establishing and making effective the sales practices, policies and pricing methods hereinabove described.

11. The parties respondent generally have exchanged information with reference to their respective businesses and activities to be used in furtherance of the policies and methods referred to.

12. The parties respondent generally have supervised and investigated the practices and policies of retail dealers in golf balls, and have acted concertedly to maintain certain resale prices agreed upon, to control resale markets and to coercively require recalcitrant manufacturers, wholesalers and retail dealers to conform to such practices and methods.

PAR. 9. The capacity, tendency, and effect of said plan, agreement, undertaking, policies and methods, and the said acts and practices of said respondents in pursuance thereof, are and have been:

1. To monopolize in the respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" the business of manufacturing and of selling golf balls to retail dealers in the United States.

2. To monopolize in the respondent members of "PGA" the retail sale of golf balls to consumers in the United States.

3. To fix and maintain the prices at and conditions under which golf balls are sold by manufacturers and wholesalers thereof.

4. To fix and maintain the prices at and conditions under which golf balls are sold by retail dealers to consumers.

5. To bring about an unlawful discrimination in the prices at which golf balls of the same grade and quality are sold by manufacturers and wholesalers to retail dealers therein.

6. To unreasonably lessen, eliminate, restrain, stifle, hamper, and suppress competition in the golf ball trade and industry and to deprive the purchasing and consuming public of advantages in price, service, and other considerations which they would receive and enjoy under conditions of normal and unobstructed or free and fair competition in said trade and industry; and to otherwise operate as a restraint upon and a detriment to the freedom of fair and legitimate competition in such trade and industry.

7. To substantially increase the cost of retail dealer purchasers of golf balls.

8. To suppress, eliminate and discriminate against small business enterprises which are or have been engaged or desire to engage in manufacturing, selling or distributing golf balls.

9. To obstruct and prevent the establishment of new distributors of golf balls.

10. To suppress and eliminate all price competition among manufacturers and wholesalers in the sale of golf balls and among retail dealers engaged in the resale thereof.

11. To hamper and interfere with the natural flow of trade in commerce of golf balls to and through the various states of the United States; and to injure the competitors of individual respondents by unfairly diverting business and trade from them, depriving them thereof and otherwise driving or freezing them out of business.

12. To prejudice and injure manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers and others who do not conform to respondents' program or methods or who do not desire to conform to them, but are compelled to do so by the concerted action of respondents herein alleged.

PAR. 10. The above alleged acts and things done by the parties respondent have a dangerous tendency unduly to hinder competition in the golf ball trade throughout the United States, and to create a monopoly thereof in the hands of respondents and constitute unfair methods of competition in commerce within the meaning of Section 5 of an Act of Congress entitled "An Act to Create a Federal Trade Commission, to define its powers and duties and for other purposes", approved September 26, 1914.

PAR. 11. The parties respondent herein named have brought about and made effective a policy and system whereby respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" discriminates and have discriminated in price between different purchasers of golf balls of like grade and quality, in violation of Section 2a of the Clayton Act as amended by an Act of Congress approved June 19, 1936, entitled "An Act to amend Section 2 of the Act entitled 'An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies and for other purposes' approved October 15, 1914, as amended (U. S. C. Title 15, Sec. 13), and for other purposes."

The aforesaid discriminations in price between different purchasers of golf balls of like grade and quality were effected through the concerted action of the parties respondent herein through the formulation, adoption, and administration of a policy and practice of requiring the payment of monies to respondent "PGA" for the privilege of causing the letters "PGA" to be imprinted on golf balls which are sold to members of the respondent "PGA", a percentage of which monies to be passed along to the member purchaser with the knowledge and consent of the respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association"; or a policy or practice of requiring that the respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" give members of respondent "PGA" a discount or rebate on the purchase prices quoted to the retail trade on golf balls of like grade and quality; or a policy or practice requiring that the respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" quote and sell members of respondent "PGA" golf balls of like grade and quality to those offered and sold the non-member retail dealers at a price less than that at which they are sold to non-members retail purchasers.

PAR. 12. The respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" have contracted for the payment of, and have made payments of money to the respondent "PGA" to be used by said respondent "PGA" for the purpose of promoting the welfare and interest of their customers who are members of said respondent "PGA" in violation of Section 2 (d) of the Clayton Act as amended by an Act of Congress approved June 19, 1936, entitled "An Act to amend Section 2 of the Act entitled 'An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies and for other purposes' approved October 15, 1914, as amended (U. S. C. Title 15, Sec. 13), and for other purposes".

The aforesaid payments of money were effected through the payment of monies to the respondent "PGA" for the privilege of causing the letters "PGA" to be imprinted on golf balls which are sold to members of the respondent "PGA", and the said payments consist of that percentage of said monies which is not passed along to the respondent member purchasers of golf balls but is retained by the respondent "PGA" and used by it for the benefit, and promotion of the welfare of its respondent members. The said payments of money are not available, and are not made to any customers of the respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" who are not members of the respondent "PGA".

PAR. 13. The respondent members of the respondent "PGA" have knowingly induced said respondent members of the "Manufacturers' Association" to discriminate in price as aforesaid, and have knowingly received such discriminations in price on purchases of golf balls made by them, in violation of Section 2 (f) of the Clayton Act as amended by an Act of Congress approved June 19, 1936, entitled "An Act to amend Section 2 of the Act entitled 'An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies and for other purposes' approved October 15, 1914, as amended (U. S. C. Title 15, Sec. 13), and for other purposes".

PAR. 14. The general effect of the policies and practices requiring the systematic discriminations in price for golf balls of like grade and quality between customers in the same class as set forth in Paragraphs Eleven and Thirteen hereof has been or may be substantially to lessen competition and tend to create a monopoly in the manufacture, sale and distribution of golf balls, and to injure, destroy and prevent competition between and among manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of golf balls and to deprive the purchasing public of advantages in price, service and other considerations which might be received and enjoyed under conditions of normal and unobstructed or free and fair competition in said trade and industry; and to otherwise operate as a restraint upon and a detriment to the freedom of fair and legitimate competition in such trade and industry.

Conclusion

The aforesaid acts and practices of respondents have a dangerous tendency unduly to hinder competition in the golf ball trade throughout the United States, and to create a monopoly thereof in the hands of respondents and constitute unfair methods of competition in commerce within the meaning of Section 5 of an Act of Congress entitled "An Act to create a Federal Trade Commission, to define its powers and duties and for other purposes" approved September 26th, 1914; and the acts and practices, set forth in paragraphs 11 to 14 inclusive, of the said respondents are in violation of Section 2 (a), 2 (d) and Section 2 (f) of the Clayton Act as amended by an Act of Congress approved June 19, 1936, entitled "An Act to amend Section 2 of the Act entitled 'An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies and for other purposes' approved October 15, 1914, as amended (U. S. C. Title 15, Section 13) and for other purposes."

REGULATION 2.—ADMINISTRATION

SECTION 1. The Chief or Acting Chief of Bureau shall perform for and under the supervision of the Secretary, such duties as the Secretary may require in enforcing the provisions of the act and of these regulations.

REGULATION 3.—LICENSES

SECTION 1. PARAGRAPH 1. No person shall at any time carry on the business of a commission merchant, dealer, or broker without a license issued by the Secretary and countersigned by the Chief of Bureau which is valid and effective at such time.

PAR. 2. Any person who maintains one or more branches, as defined in regulation 1, has the option of operating all branches under the license of the parent organization or of taking out a separate license for each branch.

SEC. 2. Any person who desires to secure a license to carry on such business shall make application therefor on a form to be obtained from the Chief of Bureau or his representatives. Applications must be signed by the owner, partner, or, in the case of a corporation, an official duly authorized to do so.

SEC. 3. Each application shall be accompanied by the license fee of ten dollars ($10) in the form of a money order, bank draft, cashier's check, or certified check, made payable to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the application and fee shall be forwarded to the Chief of Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Thereafter the annual fee of ten dollars ($10) required by the act shall be remitted in the same manner.

SEC. 4. Copies of licenses may be issued on request upon the payment of a fee of $1 for each copy. Each copy shall contain the word "COPY" in conspicuous letters on its face and be certified by the Chief of Bureau as a true copy of the original.

SEC. 5. Thirty days or more prior to the anniversary date of a license, the Chief of Bureau shall mail a notice to the licensee at the latest address known to the Chief of Bureau, advising that the license will automatically terminate on its anniversary date unless the annual fee of $10 is paid on or before said date. A license which has automatically terminated because of failure of the licensee to pay the annual fee may be reinstated within thirty days after its automatic termination upon payment of a fee of $15.

SEC. 6. Upon receipt of an application accompanied by the proper fee for a license, the Secretary will, if the applicant is found to be eligible, issue a license certifying that the licensee is authorized to engage in the business of a commission merchant and/or dealer and/or broker. The fee so tendered, together with any arrearage fees and/or penalty shall be deposited as soon as practicable in a special deposit account, until the license is issued or denied or until the check or other form of remittance is determined to be valid. If the license is denied, the fee shall be returned or refunded, but, if issued, the fee and any arrearages and penalty shall, as soon as practicable, be deposited in or transferred to miscellaneous receipts and will not thereafter be subject to refund. Fees received for renewal and/or reinstatement of license shall be handled in the same manner as other fees mentioned herein.

SEC. 7. Any commission merchant, dealer, or broker engaged in business subject to the act, without a valid and effective license, will be permitted to settle his liability, if such violation is found not to have been willful, by paying the amount of fees accrued from the date the violation started to the date when application for license and fee is submitted, and a penalty not in excess of $25 as may be determined by the Chief of Bureau.

SEC. 8. Each license shall bear a serial number, the signature of the Secretary, the seal of the United States Department of Agriculture, and be countersigned by the Chief of Bureau. The licensee may place upon his stationery, trucks or business sign, an inscription that he is licensed under the act, but such inscription must not be of such form or arrangement as to be deceptive or misleading to the public, nor shall any such inscription be shown unless the person using the same has a license valid at the time.

SEC. 9. The licensee shall advise promptly the Chief of Bureau of any change of address and/or any change in the officers, partners, or ownership, or in the name in which the business is conducted. In case of a change in the ownership of a business, or in the name of a corporation, or in a partnership, such as the death, withdrawal or addition of a partner or partners, or the conduct of a business in a name different from that shown on the license, a new license is required.

SEC. 10. Arrearage fees to be paid by an applicant shall be computed on a basis of 1/12th of the annual fee of $10, or eighty-three and one-third cents (83⅓¢), per month or fraction thereof from the time the applicant should have been licensed to the date application and valid fee were submitted for a license.

REGULATION 4.—ACCOUNTS AND RECORDS

SECTION 1. Every commission merchant, dealer, and broker shall preserve for a period of 2 years the accounts, records, and memoranda required by the act fully and correctly disclosing all transactions involved in his business, including the true ownership of such business by stockholding or otherwise.

SEC. 2. Each licensee shall during ordinary business hours permit any duly authorized representative of the United States Department of Agriculture to enter his place of business and inspect any and all such records pertaining to such business as may be necessary to ascertain the facts material to the investigation of any complaint under the act. Any necessary facilities for such inspection shall be extended to such representative by the licensee, his agents, and employees.

SEC. 3. No representative of the United States Department of Agriculture shall, without the consent of the licensee, divulge or make known in any manner, except to other representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture who may be required to have such knowledge in the regular course of their official duties, or except insofar as he may be directed by the Secretary, the Chief of Bureau, or by a court of competent jurisdiction, any facts or information regarding the business of such licensee which may come to the knowledge of such representative through an examination or inspection of the business or accounts of the licensee, or unless the same is relevant and material to the issue in any hearing authorized by the act.

REGULATION 5.—PROCEDURE AS TO COMPLAINTS, HEARINGS, AND ORDERS—COMPLAINTS, INVESTIGATIONS, AND ANSWERS

SECTION 1. PARAGRAPH 1. Complaint charging violation of any provision of section 2 or section 9 of the act may be filed with the Chief of Bureau by any interested person, including any officer or agency of any State or Territory having jurisdiction over commission merchants, dealers, or brokers in such State or Territory and any employee of the United States Department of Agriculture. If such complaint is to be made the basis of a claim for damages, the complaint must be filed within 9 months after the cause of action accrues. The same facts may also be made the basis of a disciplinary complaint against a licensee complained of at any time within 2 years after the violation of the law occurred: Provided, however, That the 2-year limitation herein prescribed shall not apply to flagrant or repeated violations of the act.

PAR. 2. Complaints under the act may be filed informally by telegraph, by letter, or by a preliminary statement of facts setting forth the essential details of the transaction complained of. So far as practicable every such complaint should state:

(a) The name and address of each party and of his agent, if any, representing him in the transaction involved;
(b) Kind of produce shipped;
(c) Date of shipment;
(d) Car initial and number, if car lot;
(e) Shipping and destination points;
(f) Quantity shipped;
(g) Quality or grade of each kind of produce;
(h) If a sale, state: Sale price; amount actually received;
(i) If a consignment, state: Reported proceeds; gross; net; date;
(j) Amount of damages claimed;
(k) Statement of material facts, including terms of contract.

PAR. 3. The complaint must be accompanied by true copies of all available papers relating to the transaction complained about, including shipping documents, letters, telegrams, invoices, manifests, inspection certificates, accounts sales, and any special contracts or agreements.

PAR. 4. In complaints involving damages in connection with the sale or purchase of produce, the complainant will be required to furnish information tending to show the existence of a contract.

PAR. 5. Upon receipt of all of the information and supporting evidence submitted by the complainant, the Chief of Bureau shall make such investigation as in his opinion is justified by the facts. If such investigation discloses that no violation of the act has occurred, the matter will be dropped and the complainant so advised.

PAR. 6. If the statements in the informal complaint seem to warrant such action, the Chief of Bureau shall call upon the party complained against to state his side of the controversy in an effort to effect an amicable adjustment of the claim. Should such adjustment not be made and the information secured by correspondence or investigation indicate the probability of a violation of the act, further proceedings will be based upon formal complaint, either for damages filed by the aggrieved party or for disciplinary action filed by any person authorized in section 6 (b) of the act. In the latter case, the Chief of Bureau may proceed with the handling of the complaint without further action by the person originally filing the complaint, except as he may be subpenaed as a witness in the case of his deposition taken without expense to him.

PAR. 7. Formal disciplinary complaints, that is, complaints which do not involve claims for damages, shall be filed in such form as may be prescribed by the Chief of Bureau and shall set forth the grounds for alleging a violation of the act.

PAR. 8. If the procedure provided in paragraph 6 of this section fails to effect an amicable adjustment and indicates the probability of a violation of the act, the complainant shall be required to submit a formal complaint to the Chief of Bureau setting forth the information and accompanied by the papers indicated in paragraphs 2 and 3 of this section, and stating the amount of damages claimed, with the basis therefor and the method of determination. Three additional copies shall be furnished for filing and service on the respondent. If there is more than one respondent, a further copy shall be furnished for each of the additional respondents.

PAR. 9. If formal complaint for reparation is filed by a nonresident of the United States, complainant shall first file a bond in double the amount of the claim either with a surety company approved by the Treasury Department of the United States as surety or in double the amount of the claim with two personal sureties, each of whom shall be a citizen of the United States and shall qualify as financially responsible for the entire amount of the bond. The bond shall run to the respondent and be conditioned upon the payment of costs, including reasonable attorney's fees for the respondent if the respondent shall prevail, and any reparation award that may be issued by the Secretary against the complaint or any counterclaim by respondent, provided, that the furnishing of a bond shall be waived if the complainant is a resident of a country which permits filing of a complaint by a resident of the United States against a citizen of that country without the furnishing of a bond.

PAR. 10. If the formal complaint, either disciplinary or involving claim for damages, appears to be in proper form, it shall be transmitted by the Chief of Bureau, together with the Bureau's entire file relating to the case, to the Solicitor of the Department, who, if he determines that the complaint is in proper form, shall serve a copy thereof upon the party complained against, who shall be referred to as the respondent.

PAR. 11. In making service of the complaint, respondent will be called upon to file an answer thereto, in triplicate, within 10 days from date of such service.

Hearings

SEC. 2. PARAGRAPH 1. Upon failure or refusal of the respondent to explain satisfactorily in writing or to make such reparation as is satisfactory to the complainant, the Solicitor of the Department may order a public hearing upon the matter before an examiner for the Department, and due notice of such public hearing shall be given by the Solicitor to the person concerned, which hearing shall be held in any place in which the party complained of is in business.

PAR. 2. In such a public hearing, the complainant and the respondent may appear personally or by counsel. In such proceedings, the burden of proof is upon the complainant. Representatives of the Department who may have knowledge of any fact in the case, and any other persons having information, accounts, records, or memoranda relating to the subject of the complaint, may be subpenaed to testify or furnish evidence at such hearing by deposition.

PAR. 3. In a hearing on any complaint, the Secretary or any officer or employee designated by him may sign and issue subpenas, administer oaths, examine witnesses, take depositions, receive evidence, and require by subpena the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of such accounts, records, and memoranda as may be material for the determination of any complaint under the act.

PAR. 4. Amendment of any pleading will be allowed by the Solicitor of the Department prior to the hearing or by the examiner at the hearing if such amendment is not prejudicial to the other party and is deemed proper by the Solicitor or such examiner; otherwise it will be refused.

PAR. 5. Where the amount of damages claimed does not exceed $500, a hearing need not be held unless deemed necessary or desirable by the Chief of Bureau or the Solicitor, or granted upon application of complainant or respondent setting forth the peculiar circumstances making such hearing necessary for a proper presentation of the case. Proof in support of the complaint and the answer may be supplied in the form of depositions or verified statements of fact. Complainant's opening statement of facts should be mailed to the Solicitor within fifteen days following receipt of the Solicitor's notice that the case is to be submitted without a formal hearing. Respondent will have fifteen days from receipt of complainant's opening statement in which to mail an answering statement of facts, and complainant will then have five days from receipt of respondent's answering statement in which to mail a reply thereto. All such statements must be furnished in triplicate. Application for the furnishing of proof in deposition form must be promptly made and the information furnished as required by regulation 5, section 3. Either party failing to furnish proof in the manner and within the time above specified, unless such time has been extended, will be deemed to have waived the furnishing thereof, and the disputed issues of fact and law may, subject to paragraph 8 of this section, be considered and decided upon the pleadings and attached exhibits, together with such proof as the opposing party may furnish.

PAR. 6. Where the amount of damages claimed in a complaint is greater than $500 but does not exceed the sum of $2,000, both parties may, by the filing of a waiver of hearing, consent to the submission of the case to the Secretary upon sworn statements of facts, depositions, supporting exhibits, and other records comprising the file in the case made by the Bureau in connection with its preliminary investigation of the complaint, in lieu of a record made at a public hearing provided for in the preceding paragraphs 1 to 3, inclusive. If the respondent, after notice of his right to apply for or waive a formal hearing, fails to indicate within the time provided therefor in such notice whether he desires to apply for or to waive such hearing, the case may proceed as though he had filed a waiver. Where such waiver is filed, complainant may, within 15 days after receipt of notice that both parties have waived hearing, file with the Department an original and two copies of its verified statement of facts in support of the allegations of the complaint, and an additional copy for each respondent in excess of one. The Department will make service thereof upon respondent, who will then have 15 days within which to file, in like manner, an original and two copies of its answering statement of facts. Complainant will then have 5 days within which to file a reply to respondent's answering statement. If either party feels that his explanation already made is sufficient and desires to waive the making of a further statement, he shall promptly so advise the Department. Upon full submission of the case, as herein provided, the Secretary will then consider such records and enter findings of facts and make an appropriate order in the same manner and which shall have the same force and effect as if entered upon a record made at a public hearing.

PAR. 7. When a complaint has been regularly served upon the respondent therein named and such respondent thereafter fails or refuses to file an answer thereto within the allotted time, the verified complaint and attached exhibits, if any, may, subject to paragraph 8 of this section, be accepted both as a pleading and as proof.

PAR. 8. In any case, the Chief of Bureau or the Solicitor may call for the submission of additional evidence or further investigation of the facts at any time prior to decision by the Secretary if such additional information is deemed necessary to a fair determination of the matter.

PAR. 9. Any fact developed as a result of an investigation, either in person or by correspondence, under the authority of the Chief of Bureau shall be considered by the Secretary as part of the evidence: Provided, That a copy of the investigator's report and of all evidence secured by correspondence shall have been submitted to both parties. Any rebuttal evidence submitted by either party shall be (1) by verified statement of facts, if within the knowledge of the party to the proceeding who submits the statement, or (2) by deposition, if within the knowledge of some one else, all of which shall also be considered by the Secretary.

Depositions

SEC. 3. PARAGRAPH 1. The testimony of any witness who is or will be unable to appear in person at a hearing may be taken in deposition form. Either party, complainant or respondent, may apply to the Department in writing for an appropriate order, in which application the case should be identified by the names of the parties and docket number and give:

(1) The name of each witness whose deposition is to be taken;

(2) The name and address of a notary public or other person who is authorized to administer oaths before whom such witness or witnesses may testify;

(3) An accurate description of the place where such deposition or depositions will be taken, such as street, office building, and room therein.

PAR. 2. Such witness or witnesses and the notary public or other person designated to take a deposition, unless he be an employee of the Department, shall severally be entitled to the fees authorized by section 13 (e) of the act, which fees shall be paid by the party at whose instance the deposition was taken.

Final Order

SEC. 4. PARAGRAPH 1. If, after hearing has been held or waived in complaints where the damages claimed exceed $500 and on complaints where damages do not exceed $500 not requiring hearings as provided by section 6 (c) of the act, the Secretary determines that the respondent has violated any provisions of section 2 of the act he will, unless reparation has already been made to complainant, determine the amount of damage, if any, to which the complainant is entitled as the result of such violation and will make an order directing respondent to pay to complainant such amount on or before the date fixed in the order. He will also issue such disciplinary order as the facts warrant.

PAR. 2. Any order of the Secretary other than for the payment of money shall be effective not less than 10 days from and after the date the order is signed.

PAR. 3. Any order for reparation shall state the period which shall be allowed for the payment of such reparation.

PAR. 4. If either party appeals from a reparation order entered by the Secretary without formal hearing as provided in section 6 (d) of the act, the suit shall be filed in the District Court of the United States for the district in which the respondent is located.

Petitions for Rehearing

SEC. 5. PARAGRAPH 1. Application for further hearing in a proceeding before final submission must be by petition within 30 days from the date of hearing or for reopening a proceeding after final submission must be by petition within 30 days from the date of such final submission. Such petition shall state specifically the grounds relied upon and the petitioner must show that service of a copy thereof has been made upon the adverse party. Such adverse party may have 20 days in which to file objections with the Chief of Bureau and to serve a copy thereof on the petitioner.

PAR. 2. If the application be for further hearing before final submission or for reopening a proceeding to take further evidence, the nature and purpose of the evidence to be adduced must be briefly stated and it must appear not to be merely cumulative.

PAR. 3. After an order has been issued the Secretary will consider an application for the reconsideration of such order when a written petition for such proceeding is filed with the Chief of Bureau within 15 days after such order has been served upon petitioner, provided such petition sets forth, (1) some fact or facts which disclose that the damages awarded are excessive or inadequate, or (2) the discovery of material evidence, together with a statement thereof, which was not available to petitioner prior to the hearing, or (3) the statement of some fact or facts which prima facie show that the proceedings did not conform to the requirements of the law.

REGULATION 6.—SUSPENSION AND REVOCATION

SECTION 1. Whenever the Secretary determines, as provided in section 6 of the act, (a) that any commission merchant, dealer, or broker has violated any of the provisions of section 2, or (b) that any commission merchant, dealer, or broker has been found guilty in a Federal court of having violated section 14 (b) of this act, the Secretary may publish the facts and circumstances of such violation and/or suspend the license of such offender for a period not to exceed 90 days, except that, if the violation is a flagrant or repeated violation of such provisions, or if it be found that the licensee has committed one of the offenses set forth in section 8 (b) or (c) of the act, the Secretary may revoke the license of the offender.

SEC. 2. Whenever the Secretary determines that a licensee has failed or refused to keep such records as are prescribed in section 9 of the act, the facts and circumstances may be published and the license of the offender suspended for a period not to exceed 90 days by order of the Secretary.

SEC. 3. Upon the failure or refusal of any licensee to permit the inspection of accounts, records, and memoranda material to a complaint, the facts and circumstances incident thereto may be published and the license of the offender suspended until such permission is given.

SEC. 4. Upon failure of a licensee against whom a reparation order has been issued to show to the satisfaction of the Chief of Bureau within 5 days from the expiration of the period allowed for compliance with such order that he has either taken an appeal as authorized by section 7 (c) of the act or has made payment in full or has filed a petition for rehearing or reargument as provided in section 5 of regulation 5, the Chief of Bureau shall notify the licensee that his license is suspended automatically at the end of the 5-day period until such time as he has shown to the satisfaction of the Chief of Bureau that he has paid the amount specified with interest.

SEC. 5. Immediately upon the issuance of an order of suspension or revocation the Chief of Bureau will cause general publicity to be given to the action in order that those doing business with the person whose license shall have been suspended or revoked may take due notice thereof.

SEC. 6. PARAGRAPH 1. Whenever the Secretary shall order the suspension or revocation of a license, the person against whom such order is directed shall be served by the Chief of Bureau with a copy of the order and be notified of the effective date thereof.

PAR. 2. Except in the case of any license automatically suspended by the act, a reasonable time, not less than 10 days between the date of issuance and the date upon which the order of suspension or revocation becomes effective, shall be stated in the order within which the licensee may make all necessary arrangements with some other person, whose license shall not have been either suspended or revoked, to safeguard the interests of consignors or other innocent parties whose property or business may be affected by such suspension or revocation and to terminate the affairs and business of such licensee relating to the handling of perishable agricultural commodities in commerce.

PAR. 3. After the revocation of his license or during the effective period of any suspension thereof the licensee shall not either directly or indirectly through any agent, employee or otherwise, carry on the business of a commission merchant, broker, or dealer until his status as a licensee has been restored.

PAR. 4. The suspension or revocation of a license shall not prevent the licensee from collecting amounts due on his contracts or in connection with transactions in which he acted as an agent and remitting the same promptly to his principals and obligees.

REGULATION 7.—SERVICE OF COMPLAINTS AND ORDERS

SECTION 1. Service of any complaint or order required by the act or prescribed by these regulations shall be deemed sufficient if made by registered mail or personally upon the licensee or upon his attorney. Service so made upon any member of a partnership or any officer of an association or corporation shall be sufficient. Personal service includes leaving notice at the last address furnished the Chief of Bureau in compliance with these regulations or at the last and usual place of abode of any member of a partnership or officer of an association or corporation.

REGULATION 8.—TRADE TERMS AND DEFINITIONS

SECTION 1. Unless otherwise defined, the following terms when included in a contract or communication involved in any investigation made or hearing held pursuant to this act shall be construed, respectively, to mean:

PARAGRAPH 1. The term "Today's shipment", or shipment on a specified date (such as shipment September 12), shall mean that the goods referred to shall be under billing by the transportation company the day the order is given or on the date specified in time to be picked up by a train scheduled to move that day's loadings from the shipping point provided that such train shall leave the first pick-up point on its schedule before midnight of the day the order is given.

PAR. 2. The term "Tomorrow's shipment" or "Immediate shipment" shall be deemed to mean that the shipment referred to shall be under billing by the transportation company in time to move on a transportation facility scheduled to leave not more than 24 hours later than allowed under "Today's shipment."

PAR. 3. The term "Quick shipment" shall be deemed to mean that the conditions of the offer, order, or confirmation will be met if the shipment is under billing by the transportation company in time to move on a transportation facility scheduled to leave not more than 48 hours later than that allowed under "Today's shipment."

PAR. 4. The term "Prompt shipment" shall be deemed to mean that the conditions of the offer, order, or confirmation will be met if the shipment is under billing by the transportation company in time to move on a transportation facility scheduled to leave not more than 72 hours later than allowed under "Today's shipment."

PAR. 5. The term "Shipment first part of week" or "Early part of week" shall be deemed to mean that the produce referred to shall be under billing by the transportation company in time to move on a transportation facility scheduled to leave Monday or Tuesday of the week specified, subject to the same provisions with reference to cars picked up after midnight of the day specified as apply to "Today's shipment."

PAR. 6. The term "Shipment middle of week" shall be deemed to mean that the produce referred to shall be under billing by the transportation company in time to move on a transportation facility scheduled to leave Wednesday or Thursday of the week specified, subject to the same provisions with reference to cars picked up after midnight of the day specified as apply to "Today's shipment."

PAR. 7. The term "Last of week" or "Latter part of week" shall be deemed to mean that the produce referred to shall be under billing by the transportation company in time to move on a transportation facility scheduled to leave on Friday or Saturday of the week specified, subject to the same provisions with reference to cars picked up after midnight of the day specified as apply to "Today's shipment."

PAR. 8. The provisions "Shipment as soon as possible" or "As soon as cars can be secured" shall be deemed to mean that the shipper is uncertain as to when the shipment can be made but expects to make it within a reasonable time and will make it as soon as possible. But in any case where these words are so used the buyer shall, at any time after 12 days from the date the order is given, have the right to cancel the order or contract of sale provided notice of his decision so to cancel shall have been received by the shipper before shipment has been made.

PAR. 9. The term "f. o. b." (for example, "f. o. b. Laredo, Tex.", or even "f. o. b. California") shall be deemed to mean that the commodity quoted or sold is to be placed free on board the car or other agency of through land transportation at shipping point, in suitable shipping condition (see definitions of "suitable shipping condition", sec. 2, pars. 10 and 11 of this regulation) and that the buyer assumed all risks of damage and delay in transit not caused by the shipper, irrespective of how the shipment is billed. The buyer has the right of inspection at destination before the goods are paid for, but only for the purpose of determining that the produce shipped complied with the terms of the contract or order at time of shipment subject to the provision covering suitable shipping condition. This right of inspection does not convey or imply any right of rejection by the buyer because of any loss, damage, deterioration, or change which has occurred in transit.

PAR. 10. "Suitable shipping condition" in relation to direct shipments shall be deemed to mean that the commodity, at time of billing, shall be in a condition which, when shipment is handled under normal transportation service and conditions, will assure delivery without abnormal deterioration at the destination specified in contract of sale.

PAR. 11. "Suitable shipping condition" in connection with reconsigned or rolling cars shall be deemed to mean that the commodity, at time of sale, shall meet the requirements of the definition of this phrase provided for application to direct shipments in paragraph 10 of this regulation.

PAR. 12. The term "F. O. B. acceptance" shall be deemed to mean the same as f. o. b. except that the buyer assumes full responsibility for the goods at shipping point and has no right of rejection on arrival, nor has he any recourse against the shipper because of any change in condition of the goods in transit, unless the goods when shipped were not in suitable shipping condition. (See definitions, sec. 1, pars. 10 and 11 of this regulation.) The buyer's remedy under this method of purchase is by recovery of damages from the shipper and not by rejection of the shipment.

PAR. 13. The term "F. O. B. Acceptance final" shall be deemed to mean that the buyer accepts the commodity f. o. b. cars at shipping point without recourse.

PAR. 14. The term "F. O. B. steamer" shall be deemed to mean that the commodity bought or sold is to be placed free on board the steamer at shipping point in accordance with the terms of the contract and that the buyer assumes all responsibility and risk of damage thereafter.

PAR. 15. The term "F. A. S. steamer" shall be deemed to mean that the commodity bought or sold is to be delivered free alongside the steamer in accordance with the terms of the contract and that the buyer assumes all responsibility and risk of damage thereafter.

PAR. 16. The term "Delivered" or "Delivered sale" shall be deemed to mean that the commodity quoted or sold is to be delivered by the seller on board car, or on dock if delivered by boat, at the market in which the buyer is located, or at such other market as agreed upon, free of any and all charges for transportation or protective service. The seller assumes all risks of loss and damage in transit not caused by the buyer. For example, a sale of "U. S. No. 1 potatoes delivered Chicago" means that the potatoes when tendered for delivery at Chicago shall meet all the requirements of the U. S. No. 1 grade as to quality and condition.

PAR. 17. The term "In transit", "Roller", or "Rolling car" shall be deemed to mean that the commodity referred to is in possession of the transportation company and under movement from shipping point when the quotation is made, and that the car is moving over a route in line of haul between the point of origin and the market in which delivery is to be made, and has been so moving since date of shipment without any delay attributable to the shipper or his agent. If a roller, or rolling car, or car in transit is sold f. o. b. shipping point, the buyer will be deemed to assume only the lowest authorized all-rail freight charges applicable between the point of origin and the destination stated in the contract of purchase, together with car rental and refrigeration and heater charges, if any; provided that the kind and extent of the protective service required by the shipper's instructions to the carriers are specified in the contract. But the buyer shall not be deemed to have assumed any demurrage, storage, detention, icing, or heater charges, or diversion or reconsignment charges, that would not have accrued had the car been originally shipped direct to the destination named in the contract of purchase.

If the carrier fails to accomplish diversion when properly notified, and such notification has been duly acknowledged by the carrier, the contract of sale shall be deemed to have become null and void unless otherwise specifically provided.

PAR. 18. The term "Tramp car" or "Tramp car sale" shall mean that the commodity has left the shipping point under a bill of lading issued prior to the day on which the quotation is made and has moved or is moving over a route out of line of haul with the market in which it is to be delivered or in which it is being offered or quoted, or which has been moving over a route in line of haul between the point of origin and the market in which it is to be delivered or in which it is being offered or quoted, but has been delayed in transit by the shipper, or has been held by the transportation company at diversion or other points en route awaiting instructions from the shipper and by such holding or delay has missed scheduled movement between point of shipment and the market in which it is to be delivered as the result of the transaction in question. But if sold f. o. b. shipping point, the buyer assumes only the lowest authorized all-rail freight charges applicable between the point of origin and the destination stated in the contract of purchase, together with the car rental and refrigeration and heater charges, if any; provided, that the kind and extent of the protective service required by shipper's instructions to the carriers are specified in the contract. But the buyer shall not assume any demurrage, storage, detention, icing, or heater charges, or diversion or reconsignment charges, that would not have accrued had the car been originally shipped direct to the destination provided in the contract of purchase.

If the carrier fails to accomplish diversion when properly notified, and such notification has been duly acknowledged by the carrier, the contract of sale shall be deemed to have become null and void unless otherwise specifically provided.

PAR. 19. The term "Rolling acceptance" shall be deemed to mean that the buyer accepts at time of purchase a commodity which is in the possession of the transportation company and under movement from shipping point, under the terms and conditions described in paragraphs 17 and 18 of this regulation, except that the buyer assumes full responsibility for transportation of the goods from time of purchase, has no recourse against the seller because of any change in condition after time of purchase unless the goods when shipped were not in suitable shipping condition, and has no right of rejection on arrival. The buyer's remedy under this method of purchase is by recovery of damages from the shipper and not by rejection of the shipment. By agreement between the parties, however, the purchase may be made subject to inspection at any specified point while the car is rolling or in transit and the point at which the buyer will assume transportation charges may be specified without affecting the time of acceptance of the commodity.

PAR. 20. The words or term "Track sale" or "Sale on track" shall be deemed to mean that when a commodity is sold on track after arrival at destination, the buyer shall be considered to have waived any right to reject the commodity so purchased upon receipt by him or his duly authorized representative, from the seller or his duly authorized representative, of the bill of lading, delivery order, or other document enabling him to obtain the goods from the carrier.

The foregoing shall not be construed as depriving the buyer of a right to reparation when the unloading of the car shall demonstrate that a part of the lading which was not accessible to inspection was of a quality or condition much inferior to that portion which was accessible to inspection; but notice of intention to file claim for reparation must be given seller within 24 hours after receipt by buyer of delivery order or bill of lading.

If the seller gives the date of arrival when quoting price, the buyer shall assume all charges that accrue on the shipment from the date of its arrival in the absence of any written memorandum of sale to the contrary. If the seller fails to furnish the date of arrival when quoting price, in the absence of any written memorandum of sale which includes the date of arrival or specific written statement as to who shall assume such charges as have accrued after arrival, the buyer may assume that the shipment arrived at point of sale on the day and date upon which the purchase was made, and shall be liable only for such charges as would properly attach to a shipment arriving on date it was purchased.

PAR. 21. The abbreviations "C. A. F.", "C. A. C.", and "C. I. F." shall be deemed to mean "cost and freight," "cost and charges," and "cost insurance and freight," respectively. When a sale is made c. a. f. it shall be deemed to mean the same as an f. o. b. sale except that the selling price includes the correct freight charges to destination. C. a. c. sales shall be deemed to be the same as f. o. b. sales except that the selling price includes the correct freight and refrigeration or heater charges to destination. C. i. f. sales shall be deemed to be the same as f. o. b. sales except that the selling price includes insurance and the correct freight, refrigeration, or heater charges to destination.

PAR. 22. A "carload" or "car lot" or "car" when referred to in offers, quotations, or sales in which the quantity is not more definitely specified, and in the absence of well-established trade custom or standard as to size of a "carload" of the commodity in question, shall be deemed to mean not less than the lowest minimum quantity required by the carrier's tariff applicable to the movement, and not more than 10 percent in excess of such lowest minimum tariff requirements, except that where carrier's tariffs provide alternative rates and minima, the buyer shall state which tariff minimum must be observed, and in event of failure so to do, the shipper may exercise his discretion, in no case, however, exceeding the higher tariff minimum quantity, except only such variations therefrom as are permitted in this paragraph.

PAR. 23. The term "Shipping-point inspection" shall be deemed to mean that the seller is required to obtain Federal or Federal-State certification, or such private inspection as has been mutually agreed upon, to show the compliance of the lot sold with the quality and/or condition specifications of the contract and that the seller assumes the risk incident to incorrect certification.

PAR. 24. The term "Shipping-point inspection final" or the words "Inspection final" following the name of the State or point as "California inspection final", shall be deemed to mean that the seller is required to obtain Federal or Federal-State certification, or such private inspection as has been mutually agreed upon, to show the compliance of the lot sold with the quality and/or condition specifications of the contract and that the buyer assumes the risk incident to incorrect certification and is without recourse as to quality and condition.

PAR. 25. The term "Subject approval wired government inspection" shall be deemed to mean that the seller is required to obtain Federal or Federal-State certification, or such private inspection as has been mutually agreed upon, and to correctly communicate, by wire or other agreed means, the statements on the certificate as to quality, condition and grade, and other essential information, whereupon the purchaser upon approval thereof will be deemed to have accepted the commodity without recourse as to quality and condition.

PAR. 26. The term "Guaranteed advance," as used in connection with an advance payment on consigned produce, shall be deemed to mean that the party making the advance guarantees that the net proceeds to the consignor shall at least equal the amount so advanced, and in any case where a guaranteed advance is made the consignor cannot be held liable for any deficit resulting from the sale of the produce, if such deficit is not occasioned by or contributed to by some act or acts of the consignor.

PAR. 27. The term "Accommodation advance," or "Regular advance," as used in connection with an advance of money or credit against anticipated net proceeds to be realized from the sale of consigned produce, shall be deemed to mean that the shipper has received an advance of money or credit and if the consigned produce does not sell for enough to cover the cost of transportation and handling, including customary or agreed commission and the advance made to him, the shipper must return to the one making the advance a sum equal to the deficit sustained.

PAR. 28. The term "Price arrival," in the absence of a contrary specific understanding, shall be deemed to mean that the produce is shipped either direct to the customer or to an agent of the shipper, for the benefit of the customer, the price to be subject to agreement between the customer and the shipper upon the arrival of the goods at the customer's destination and with sufficient time being permitted for inspection.

PAR. 29. The term "F. O. B. inspection and acceptance arrival" shall be deemed to mean that the commodity quoted or sold is to be placed by the seller free on board car or other agency of through transportation at shipping point, the cost of transportation to be borne by the buyer, but the seller to assume all risks of loss and damage in transit not caused by the buyer who has the right to inspect the goods upon arrival and to reject them if upon such inspection they are found not to meet the specifications of the contract of sale at destination. The buyer may not reject without reasonable cause. Such a sale is f. o. b. only as to price and is on a delivered basis as to quality and condition.

PAR. 30. The term "F. O. B. sale at delivered price" shall be deemed to mean the same as f. o. b. except that transportation charges from shipping point to destination shall be borne by the seller, that is, the sale is f. o. b. as to quality and delivered as to price.

REGULATION 9.—SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS

SECTION 1. Sundays and legal holidays shall not be included in the computation of the 5-day period provided in section 7 (d) of the act, nor in connection with the periods defined in regulation 1, section 3, paragraphs 11, 12, and 13, except if the notice of arrival of the produce is received by the purchaser on Sunday or a legal holiday, the 24-hour period shall begin to run at 12:01 a. m. the succeeding day, and regulation 8, except section 1, paragraph 1, of said regulation 8.

SEC. 2. Sundays and legal holidays shall be included in the computation of time in all other periods mentioned in the act or in these regulations.

PERMITS—RESTRICTIONS ON TRAPPING, ETC.

Permits for the public trapping of muskrats, herein authorized, may be issued without charge by the Superintendent of the Upper Mississippi River Wild Life and Fish Refuge to any qualified person. The issuance of such permits and the privileges conferred thereby shall be further subject to the following restrictions:

1. In the issuance of permits hereunder, preference will be given to persons who have been bona fide residents for a period of six months last past within or near the Refuge.

2. Not more than one permit will be issued to the same individual.

3. Before any permit may be issued, the applicant shall exhibit to the said Superintendent or his representative a valid trapping license from the State in which such trapping is to be conducted, and the applicant shall, in his application for permit, make a sworn statement as to his period of residence in the civil township, village, or city in which he claims such residence.

4. Permits will be valid and authorize public trapping only on the dates specified in the permit.

5. Muskrats may be taken on the Refuge only with traps for capturing the animals alive, or with ordinary spring steel or other traps the use of which is approved by the Superintendent or his authorized representative. The possession or use within the boundaries of the Refuge of a muskrat spear, or of any similar device by means of which muskrats may be speared, or of any trap or device that does not comply with the requirements of these regulations is prohibited. Prohibited traps and devices found on the Refuge, if not removed therefrom by the owner thereof upon the direction of the Superintendent, will be seized by the Superintendent or his representative.

6. No person shall hunt muskrats with a gun or the aid of a dog, or disturb or molest any muskrat house or muskrat feeding house.

7. To run a trap line or to visit traps between sunset and one-half hour before sunrise is prohibited, but each permittee shall visit and inspect each of his traps within the Refuge at least once each day, and at the close of the trapping season each trap shall be taken up and removed from the Refuge.

8. Birds and mammals, other than muskrats, found alive in such traps shall be immediately liberated. Birds or mammals, other than muskrats, found dead or mortally injured, shall be immediately turned over to the Superintendent or his representative.

9. Trappers may not cut any growth on the Refuge except willows for use as trap stakes or drags.

10. Whenever it shall appear advisable for the proper administration of the Refuge, the Superintendent may, in his discretion, terminate trapping on the entire Refuge or any portion thereof, within three days after giving notice to that effect. Thereupon all outstanding permits for trapping muskrats on the area or areas affected shall become null and void.

11. Each permittee not later than April 30, 1938, shall submit to the Superintendent of the Upper Mississippi River Wild Life and Fish Refuge, Winona, Minnesota, a report correctly stating the total number of muskrats taken on the Refuge under the permit during the season, together with the name and address of each person or firm to whom such pelts thereof were disposed of and the number disposed of to each such person or firm.

Failure of a permittee to comply with any of the above provisions, or the violation by him of any of the regulations issued under authority of the Act of June 7, 1924 (43 Stat. 650), establishing said Refuge, or of any State laws or regulations applicable to trapping on said Refuge, shall not only render the offender subject to prosecution under said laws or regulations, but shall be sufficient ground for refusal of a permit to such offender during the Federal muskrat trapping season next following on said Refuge, or of any other use or privilege on the Refuge for which a permit may be required by regulations.

This Order shall become effective on March 2, 1938.

STANDARDS UNDER THE TEA ACT

The following standards prepared and submitted by the Board of Tea Experts are hereby fixed and established as standards under the Tea Act for the year beginning May 1, 1938, and ending April 30, 1939:

(1) Formosa Oolong.
(2) Formosa Black.
(3) Congou.
(4) Java (to be used for all fully-fermented teas excepting China, Japan, Formosa).
(5) Japan Black.
(6) Japan Green.
(7) Japan Dust.
(8) Gunpowder (to be used for all China green teas).
(9) Scented Canton (to be used for all scented teas).
(10) Canton Oolong.

These standards apply to tea shipped from abroad on or after May 1, 1938. Tea shipped prior to May 1, 1938, will be governed by the standards which became effective May 1, 1937.

As standards are now set for the fully-fermented teas Formosa Black and Japan Black, regulation 20 under the Tea Act was modified in 1935 to omit the statement: "Should Japans be made as fermented teas, they are to be examined in comparison with the Congou standard." The Japan and Formosa fermented teas should be judged by their respective standards.

Regulation No. 26 under the Tea Act was amended in 1930 to include Formosa Oolong and as amended reads as follows:

"(26) In the case of Ceylon, India, Java, Sumatra, and Formosa Oolong teas the needle leaf and Pekoe tips shall be separated by passing them, together with the dust, through a No. 26 sieve of No. 30 brass wire, after the tea has been sifted through a No. 16 sieve."

CLASS AND TYPE DESIGNATIONS OF CORDIALS OR LIQUEURS

MARCH 3, 1938.

To All Bottlers of Distilled Spirits:

The attention of all bottlers of distilled spirits is called to the following interpretations of the regulations with respect to class and type designations of cordials or liqueurs, and to the use upon any distilled spirits labels of references to the absence of artificial coloring or flavoring material:

1. Appropriate type designations for cordials or liqueurs.—The industry has heretofore been advised, in connection with the labeling of cordials or liqueurs, that no type designation may be utilized where such designation, in conjunction with the class designation, would tend to confuse the consumer as to the true identity of the product. For example the Administration has refused to authorize any cordials or liqueurs, regardless of composition, to be marketed under such designations as "Whiskey Liqueur," "Brandy Cordial," "Rum Liqueur" or "Gin Cordial."

The Administration recognizes, however, that a liqueur may properly bear, as a part of its designation, the name of another distilled spirit where such use would not tend to confuse the consumer as to the true identity of the product. No objection has, therefore, been interposed to the use of such designations as "Rock and Rum Liqueur," "Rock and Rum Cordial," "Rock and Rum," "Rock and Gin Liqueur," "Rock and Rye Liqueur," "Rock and Rye Cordial" and "Rock and Rye."

Of course, no product may bear the designations "cordial" or "liqueur" unless it conforms to the standards of identity for such products as prescribed in Section 21, Class 6 of Regulations No. 5.

2. Composition of "Rock and Rye" and similar products.—It has recently been called to the Administration's attention that products manufactured from neutral spirits or brandy, and containing little or no rye whiskey, are being marketed under labels designating the product as "Rock and Rye," "Rock and Rye Liqueur," or "Rock and Rye Cordial." A similar situation appears to exist in some cases with respect to products designated as "Rock and Rum," "Rock and Rum Cordial" and "Rock and Rum Liqueur." This practice should be immediately discontinued.

The Administration feels that these designations convey to the consumer's mind a definite impression with respect to the ingredients used in the manufacture of the product. The designations "Rock and Rye," "Rock and Rye Liqueur," and "Rock and Rye Cordial" all denote products manufactured from rock candy, or rock candy syrup, and having a predominate rye flavor derived from rye whiskey. Likewise the designations "Rock and Rum," "Rock and Rum Liqueur," and "Rock and Rum Cordial" denote products manufactured from rock candy, or rock candy syrup, and having a predominant rum flavor derived from rum. Manufacturers of cordials and liqueurs are, therefore, advised that under the regulations of the Administration no product which contains any distilled spirits other than rum may be designated as "Rock and Rum," "Rock and Rum Liqueur," or "Rock and Rum Cordial." Likewise no product may be designated as "Rock and Rye," "Rock and Rye Liqueur" or "Rock and Rye Cordial" if it contains any distilled spirits other than (a) rye whiskey, (b) straight rye whiskey, (c) blended rye whiskey or (d) spirit whiskey composed of not less than 51% of rye whiskey.

3. References to the absence of artificial color and flavor.—Representations have been made to the Administration by manufacturers of cordials, liqueurs and other products to the effect that the statements "not artificially colored" and "not artificially flavored", now appearing upon the labels of competitors' products, are disparaging. After carefully considering these complaints, and upon the basis of information now at hand with respect to competitive marketing practices, it has been determined that these statements are, in fact, disparaging within the meaning of Section 41 (a) (2) of Regulations No. 5. All bottlers of distilled spirits now using labels upon which appear the statements "not artificially colored" or "not artificially flavored" are, therefore, advised to revise the same promptly, and obtain new certificates of label approval. In view of the fact that the labels referred to have heretofore been approved by the Administration, a reasonable time will be allowed within which to make the necessary adjustments to conform to this ruling.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA 2½ PERCENT TREASURY BONDS OF 1948

DATED AND BEARING INTEREST FROM MARCH 15, 1938; DUE SEPTEMBER 15, 1948; INTEREST PAYABLE MARCH 15 AND SEPTEMBER 15

I. Offering of Bonds

1. The Secretary of the Treasury, pursuant to the authority of the Second Liberty Bond Act, approved September 24, 1917, as amended, invites subscriptions, at par, from the people of the United States for 2½ percent bonds of the United States, designated Treasury Bonds of 1948, in payment of which only Treasury Notes of Series C-1938, maturing March 15, 1938, may be tendered. The amount of the offering under this circular will be limited to the amount of Treasury Notes of Series C-1938 tendered and accepted.

II. Description of Bonds

1. The bonds will be dated March 15, 1938, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of 2½ percent per annum, payable semiannually, on September 15, 1938, and thereafter on March 15 and September 15 in each year. They will mature September 15, 1948, and will not be subject to call for redemption prior to maturity.

2. The bonds shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority, except (a) estate or inheritance taxes, or gift taxes, and (b) graduated additional income taxes, commonly known as surtaxes, and excess-profits and war-profits taxes, now or hereafter imposed by the United States, upon the income or profits of individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations. The interest on an amount of bonds authorized by the Second Liberty Bond Act, approved September 24, 1917, as amended, the principal of which does not exceed in the aggregate $5,000, owned by any individual, partnership, association, or corporation, shall be exempt from the taxes provided for in clause (b) above.

3. The bonds will be acceptable to secure deposits of public moneys, but will not bear the circulation privilege and will not be entitled to any privilege of conversion.

4. Bearer bonds with interest coupons attached, and bonds registered as to principal and interest, will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000. Provision will be made for the interchange of bonds of different denominations and of coupon and registered bonds, and for the transfer of registered bonds, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

5. The bonds will be subject to the general regulations of the Treasury Department, now or hereafter prescribed, governing United States bonds.

III. Subscription and Allotment

1. Subscriptions will be received at the Federal Reserve banks and branches and at the Treasury Department, Washington. Banking institutions generally may submit subscriptions for account of customers, but only the Federal Reserve banks and the Treasury Department are authorized to act as official agencies. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to close the books as to any or all subscriptions or classes of subscriptions at any time without notice.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to reject any subscription, in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount of bonds applied for, to make allotments in full upon applications for smaller amounts and to make reduced allotments upon, or to reject, applications for larger amounts, or to adopt any or all of said methods or such other methods of allotment and classification of allotments as shall be deemed by him to be in the public interest; and his action in any or all of these respects shall be final. Subject to these reservations, all subscriptions will be allotted in full. Allotment notices will be sent out promptly upon allotment.

IV. Payment

1. Payment at par for bonds allotted hereunder must be made or completed on or before March 15, 1938, or on later allotment, and may be made only in Treasury Notes of Series C-1938, maturing March 15, 1938, which will be accepted at par, and should accompany the subscription.

V. General Provisions

1. As fiscal agents of the United States, Federal Reserve banks are authorized and requested to receive subscriptions, to make allotments on the basis and up to the amounts indicated by the Secretary of the Treasury to the Federal Reserve banks of the respective districts, to issue allotment notices, to receive payment for bonds allotted, to make delivery of bonds on full-paid subscriptions allotted, and they may issue interim receipts pending delivery of the definitive bonds.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury may at any time, or from time to time, prescribe supplemental or amendatory rules and regulations governing the offering, which will be communicated promptly to the Federal Reserve banks.

MODIFICATION OF GRAZING REGULATIONS FOR NAVAJO AND HOPI RESERVATIONS

JANUARY 28, 1938.

Mr. E. R. FRYER,
Supt., Navajo Agency.

DEAR MR. FRYER: Reference is made to your letter of January 21 recommending certain modifications to the General Grazing Regulations approved December 28, 1935, covering the trespassing of livestock on Indian reservations.

Owing to the fact that the General Grazing Regulations of the Indian Service have been superseded by the Grazing Regulations for the Navajo and Hopi Reservations approved June 2, 1937, it appears that the modification of the General Grazing Regulations with respect to trespass would not clearly authorize the enforcement of such general trespass regulation on the lands of the Navajo jurisdiction; and that the protection of the Navajo and Hopi grazing lands from the trespass of unpermitted stock can best be accomplished through the modification of the Grazing Regulations for the Navajo and Hopi Reservations.

Accordingly you are hereby advised that Section 5 of the grazing regulations approved June 2, 1937, is hereby amended to read as follows:

5. The Superintendent is authorized to assess and collect trespass fees and, with the consent of the tribal council of the Navajo Indians, he may also assess and collect grazing fees upon all stock owned in excess of the base preference number and upon all non-productive stock owned below the base preference number. The tribal authorities of the Hopi Indians may also assess and collect similar grazing fees in accordance with the terms of the constitution and by-laws and charter of the Hopi Indians.

All livestock found running on tribal lands of the Navajo and Hopi Reservations without a permit duly issued shall be considered in trespass, and the Superintendent is authorized to refer either to the proper tribal authorities or to the United States Attorney or other appropriate officer of the Departmen of Justice the matter of instituting legal proceedings based on such trespass.

If the Superintendent shall find that a condition of overgrazing and waste on tribal land is aggravated by the presence of stock not grazed under a permit duly authorized and not required for the use and subsistence of the Indians, he shall cause to be served upon any Indian claiming ownership of such stock a notice in writing ordering the removal of such stock. If within ten days after the issuance of such notice the Indian claimant has not removed the said stock from the reservation or shown cause why such stock should not be removed, said stock shall be considered in trespass, and the Superintendent is authorized forthwith to remove and sell all such stock and to deposit the proceeds thereof in an individual Indian account to the benefit of the Indian claimant. (U. S. Code, Title 25, Sec. 192.)

Instructions.—Trespass fees which equal the value of the forage consumed, damages to property injured or destroyed, and salaries and expenses of employees incurred in investigation, report, and prosecution of the case should be sought in addition to the penalty prescribed by law for unauthorized use of the range or failure to remove a stipulated number of unpermitted stock from the range by the date specified by the Superintendent or his authorized representative. All grazing fees on the Navajo Reservation must be paid to the District Supervisor or to the Superintendent and deposited in accordance with the fiscal regulations. All grazing fees shall be payable on or before December 1st, which shall be considered as the beginning of the permit year. All grazing fees on the Hopi Reservation shall be collected and deposited in accordance with the provisions of the constitution, by-laws and charter after the organization of the Hopi Indians has been completed. Until the tribal organization has been completed the grazing fees shall be collected and deposited as on the Navajo Reservation.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN COLLIER, Commissioner.

IN THE MATTER OF P. J. MANGAN, 411 ERIE COUNTY SAVINGS BANK BLDG., BUFFALO, NEW YORK

ORDER REVOKING REGISTRATION

P. J. Mangan, a sole proprietorship, hereinafter called the registrant, having filed with the Commission on February 19, 1936 an application for registration on Form 1-M pursuant to Rule MA2 of the rules then governing the over-the-counter markets; and the said registration having become effective on March 20, 1936, in accordance with the Commission's rules and regulations; and the said registrant having become registered under Section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange

Act of 1934, as amended, by virtue of the provisions of Section 10 of the Act of Congress approved May 27, 1936, providing for the registration of over-the-counter brokers and dealers; and

The Commission having reasonable grounds to believe that the said registrant, during the period from July 22, 1936 up to and including December 15, 1937, has wilfully violated the provisions of Sections 5 (a) and 17 (a) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, in the sale of securities of the Ross Red Lake Gold Syndicate; and that the said registrant is permanently enjoined by decree of the United States District Court for the Western District of New York, entered with his consent on or about February 9, 1938, from engaging in and continuing certain conduct and practices in connection with the purchase and sale of securities; and that it is in the public interest to revoke the said registration; and having ordered that a hearing be held for the purpose of determining whether or not the said registration should be revoked pursuant to Section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended; and

The said registrant, on December 27, 1937, having filed with the Commission a consent in writing to the revocation of said registration and having waived notice and opportunity for hearing in connection therewith, and the Commission having duly considered the matter and being fully advised in the premises;

It is ordered, Pursuant to Section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, that the registration of P. J. Mangan as a broker or dealer transacting business on over-the-counter markets be and the same is hereby revoked.

60.1. DEFINITIONS

60.100. Civil Airway: A civil airway is a route in the navigable airspace designated by the Secretary of Commerce as a route suitable for interstate or foreign air commerce and includes the airspace located vertically above an area on the horizontal plane contained within lines encircling each terminal airport, intermediate airport, and other intermediate point, specified on such airway within a radius of 10 miles from the center of such airport or other specified intermediate point and also contained within two parallel lines located 10 miles from the center line connecting the terminal airports by way of each intermediate airport or other intermediate point specified to designate the route of such airway. Each civil airway shall also include the terminal and intermediate airports, emergency landing fields and all other air navigation facilities located, or which may be hereafter located and established, within the said area. No civil airway shall include an airspace reservation, or any part thereof, set aside and protected pursuant to the provisions of Section 4 of the Air Commerce Act of 1926, the navigable airspace above non-territorial waters, nor the navigable airspace above foreign territorial lands or waters. (For a list of civil airways, see CAR 60.20.)

60.101. Airspace Reservation: An airspace reservation is the airspace located vertically above an area on the surface of the land or water designated and set apart by an executive order of the President or by a State for purposes of national defense or for other governmental purposes. (For a list of airspace reservations, see Appendix A and B.)

60.102. Control Airport: A control airport is an airport which has been so designated by the Secretary to provide for the safety of aircraft moving in interstate or foreign air commerce. (For a list of control airports, see CAR 60.21.)

60.103. Control Zone: A control zone is the airspace above an area within a circle with a radius of 3 miles drawn from the center of a control airport: Provided, however, That if a radio directional aid station designed to direct air traffic to the control airport is more than 3 miles from the center thereof, then the control zone is extended above an area one-half mile on each side of a line projected from the center of such airport to such radio aid.

60.105. Control Zone of Intersection: A control zone of intersection is the airspace above an area within a circle with a radius of 25 miles drawn from the center of the zone of intersection as specified in CAR 60.106 (a), (b), or (c).

60.106. Center of Control Zone of Intersection: The center of a control zone of intersection is:
